Rushees, waiting in front of the sorority houses for the parties to begin, were a common sight around the Centenary campus during last week. These girls attended the novelty parties Wednesday night, September 14.

Rush Week Climaxed With Pledging of 59 Girls

Sorority rush week was climaxed Saturday morning, September 17, with the pledging of 59 girls by the three campus sororities. The activities leading up to the exciting finale included a Panhellenic open house, sorority open houses, theme parties, and the final preference parties.

Ninety-six girls registered at the Panhellenic Open House Monday night in the Moore Student Center. Jane Illgenfritz, president of Panhellenic, explained the purposes of Panhellenic and the general rush rules. This was followed by a coke party which gave the girls a chance to meet representatives from the various sororities.

Open Houses Tuesday afternoon afforded the girls a chance to see the interior of the sorority houses and to meet the members.

20's, Owls, Rifles

Wednesday and Thursday nights the Alpha Xi Delta house was reminiscent of the Roaring Twenties, taking the rushees back to the days when Mother was a flapper. "Bathtub Gin" was served from a candlelit "Speakeasy" and Nora Bess Stafford, class of 1960, charlestoned to the music of "The Varsity Drag". College pennants and silly signs decorated the walls and flapper dresses and long beads suggested the day of the "It" girl.

The Chi Omega's transported the rushees to the land of Siam with their production of "The Owl and I." The house was decorated in an oriental theme, complete with a stone lion in front of the house. The rushees were greeted by the "Little White Owl," who was portrayed by Grace Jackson. The oriental theme was carried out with siamese costumes and fortune cookies. The rushees were entertained with a skit featuring Helen Gully as "most excited Centenary rushee."

At the Zeta Tau Alpha House the rushees were treated to an authentic theater party. They were escorted to their seats by ushers dressed in black shorts and white blouses. Nancy Evans, the star from Hollywood, arrived at the party with a police escort. She appeared in the play "Annie Get Your Bid" which dramatized her transition from a gun-toten hill-billy to a Hollywood star. Following the show the rushees were entertained at an after-theater party, complete with "gingerale martinis".

The final parties on Friday night took on a more serious nature, as each group strove to present the ideals of sorority life to the rushees. The Alpha Xi Delta House became an evening Rose Garden. Candelabra, a garden swing, trellises entwined with pink roses, and a wishing well outside the door composed the decorations. The Chi Omega's were hosts at their traditional White Taper Tea, and the Zeta's entertained in Zeta Heaven.

Pledging Saturday

Girls pledging Alpha Xi Delta are: Joane Mills, Julie Schmidt, and Jennifer Victory, all of Shreveport; Jimmie Beuhler, Alexandria; Celia Butler, Texarkana, Ark.; Meryal Campbell, Baton Rouge; Beth Frey, Saline; Phyllis Heller, Barksdale Air Force Base, and Carolyn Ratcliff, Natchez, Miss.

Shreveporters pledged to Chi Omega are Betty Jean Campbell, Juanita Donelson, Suzanne King, Melanie Martin, Lois Thayer, Madeline Trichel, Gayle Williams and Mary Ann Youngblood. Out-of-town coeds pledged to Chi Omega are the following: Dianna Ammons, Many; Patt Byrd, New Orleans; Heather Dodson, Running Announces Lyceum Programs

Joseph M. Running, chairman of the Lyceum committee, has announced that four events have been booked for this year's lyceum series. The first program, which is scheduled for Oct. 27, will be a concert given by Ferrante and Teicher, duo-pianists, in the Haynes Memorial Gymnasium. The duo-pianists travel with their own trailer, and will bring their matched Steinway pianos to the campus for the recital.

On Thursday, January 12, Anna Russell, famed comedienne and musical satirist, will also entertain in the gymnasium. Trained as a concert singer, Miss Russell chose to enter the field of comedy and has gained a wide reputation for her recordings and her personal appearances.

Myra Kinch and her company of dancers will present a program of classical and modern dance numbers in the gymnasium, Tuesday, Feb. 7. The company includes four dancers and a piano accompanist.

The New York Woodwind Quintet, which consists of flute, oboe, clarinet, bassoon and French horn, will appear Thursday, March 16, in the gymnasium. During the afternoon of their booked date here, the quintet will conduct a clinic for woodwind players at 2 p. m. in the gym. The Lyceum events are selected by the members of the Lyceum committee.

TEN NEW MEMBERS JOIN 1960 FACULTY

There will be ten new faculty members teaching at Centenary for the academic year 1960-61. Three of them will be teaching in the evening division.

The new faculty members are as follows: Orlin Corey, head of the speech and drama department; Donald Danvers, instructor in mathematics; Ronald Dean, assistant professor of music; James R. Dowell, director of student procurement and alumni affairs; John L. Gates, instructor in physical education; Robert MacCurdy, head of the department of education and psychology, and Dr. Walter S. Ritchie, chemistry instructor.

Those in the evening division are as follows: Arnold J. Faulk, who will teach a course entitled "Introduction to Social Welfare"; Mrs. Shirley Stanton Brown, who will teach a course in Spanish conversation; and Robert J. Weddle, who will teach petroleum accounting.

Orientation Week Informs Freshmen of Centenary

Orientation of freshman students to campus life opened Monday, September 12, on the Centenary Campus, where the program of meetings, discussions and social events continued through the week.

Freshmen met in the Brown Memorial Chapel Monday at 8:30 a.m. for a morning inspirational period conducted by Reverend Don Guynes, religious activities director at Centenary. This service was followed by a general assembly at which President Joe J. Mickle and Dr. Leroy Vogel, Dean of the College, addressed the new freshmen. The rest of the morning was spent administering placement tests in mathematics and English to entering freshmen.

Monday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock freshmen were invited to the Moore Student Center to learn about the various organizations on the Centenary Campus. Displays were set up and representatives from each group were available to answer questions.

Tuesday morning began with another morning inspirational, after which freshmen were introduced to their faculty advisors and discussed scheduling of classes with them prior to registration Wednesday, September 14. Pastors of the Shreveport churches met with the new students at an informal reception in the Moore Student Center Tuesday night at 8 p.m.

Dr. Joe J. Mickle addressed the freshman at 8:30 a.m. Thursday, at a special convocation in the Brown Memorial Chapel. Student Senate representatives explained the student government and the honor system. That evening all students were invited to the student center for a free showing of the movie "Teahouse of the August Moon".

Climaxing the week of orientation was the "Howdy Dance" in the Moore Student Center Saturday night at 9 p.m. Freshmen and upperclassmen were invited to attend. Playing in the band that night were Jackie Carpenter, class of 1960; Bob Blankenship, currently attending Centenary; and Rule Curtis Beasley.

BSU Will Sponsor Noonspiration

The Baptist Student Union is sponsoring a series of devotional meetings Monday thru Thursday at Noonday. These 20-minute inspirational meetings are open to all students, reports Bill Darrow, BSU Devotional Chairman. The week of Monday, September 26 thru the 29th is under the theme "Christ - The Lord of All," and speakers include Marcellus Pierce, Pre-Med student of Centenary; Raymond Kelley, Insurance Salesman; and George McGovern.

International Breakfast

All of the Overseas and International students are extended a special invitation to a breakfast at the Baptist Student Center on Thursday, September 29, at 6:45. Joy Lambert reports that this meeting is well attended by all of the Foreign Students. Richard Haynes states that it is the only non-conflicting meeting scheduled during the whole school year. Bill Dyal, Missionary to Costa Rica, is scheduled to speak. Students will be out in time to attend their 7:50 classes. Sandra Poss, Enlistment Chairman of the BSU, invites all of the Baptist and International Students to participate. Faculty and staff members are invited, and reservations are being taken at the office of Robert W. Childress in the Baptist Student Center.

Dorm Girls Meet In James For "Get Acquainted" Party

The women dormitory students at Centenary met in James Dormitory at 9:00 Sunday night, September 18, for a get acquainted party.

Jeanne Sealy introduced the Dean of women, Mrs. Lineberger; the house mothers of the three women's dormitories: Mrs. Hays of Hardin; Mrs. Reid of James; and Mrs. Thompson of Sexton. Also introduced was the substitute housemother for all the women's dormitories, Mrs. Carter.

The president of each dormitory was then introduced and each presented talent from her dorm. Judy Hebert, president of Hardin Hall, introduced Lorine Crenshaw, who sang a very cute song entitled "One Hundred Easy Ways to Lose a Man." Barbara MacMillan sang "We Kiss in a Shadow" from "The King and I". Helen Gulley, presented by Gen Compton, president of James Dormitory, sang two songs of the oil field written by a friend of hers in Beaumont, Texas. Sarah Liberto, president of Sexton Hall, first presented the Sexton combo who played "I Could Have Danced All Night." Members of this impromptu combo were Patt Byrd, Gail Southerland, Barbara Hargraves, and Marcia Stewart, borrowed from James. Our exchange student from Norway, Anne Marie Langvalle, played a very beautiful song of her native country. Then a mixer game of short skits was played. Punch and cookies were served at the end of the skits. The refreshments were eaten on the porch and the students joined in song.

The crazy name tags, the entertainment, the skits, the refreshments, and the song fest all contributed to a nice meeting.

Sexton Hall Elects Council

Sexton Hall, the new women's dormitory, is in use for the first time this fall. The residence, named for the late Dr. George Sexton, former president of Centenary, provides housing for eighty-four women students. At present, fifty-eight women are living there.

At a general dormitory meeting Sunday night with Sarah Liberto, President, presiding, a slate of council members was chosen for the year 1960-1961. The following officers were elected: Barbara Adair, Vice President; Ruthanne Cozine, Secretary; Sharon Blevins, Treasurer; Diana Laney, Publicity Chairman; Carol Mangham and Brenda Nations, Sophomore Representatives; Judy Balliet and Betty Thornton, Freshmen Representatives.

Centenary Choir Meets At Hodges

Dedication Lodge in Hodges Gardens was the scene again this year for the Centenary College Choir Camp. From September first through the tenth, forty-eight singers and director Cheesy Voran got back into vocal, physical and mental shape for a busy fall semester. Each of the ten days was spent in a general schedule of six through eight hours of vocal rehearsal, one hour of section rehearsal, one hour of lecture, and 2 hours of recreation on the waterfront. Trips to the Gardens, group picture-taking, church in Many on Sunday morning, and an informal concert varied the schedule from day to day.

Each morning from Monday through Friday an hour was spent with Madeline Marshall of the Julliard School of Music in New York, who instructed the Choir in English diction. Mrs. Marshall is widely known in her field, and has worked with singers in the Metropolitan and other opera companies. She conducts classes at both Julliard and Union Theological Seminary in New York.

New Songbirds

Nineteen singers will be with the Choir for the first time this year. In the soprano section the new members are: Bejie Sandlin from Mt. Pleasant, Texas; Jerre Rainwater from Springdale, Ark.; Susie Smith from Vivian, La.; Clarene Carver from Lake Charles, La.; La Nelle Dean from El Dorado, Ark.; and Barbara McMillin from De Ridder, La.

Linda Dodson from Camden, Ark.; Carolyn Carver from Lake Charles, La.; Barbara Hargraves from Beaumont, Texas; Sharon Blevins from Joaquin, Texas; Dianna Ammons from Many, La.; and Jean Netterville from Baton Rouge, La., are new alto members. Lynn Gulley from Beaumont, Tex.; Bob Norris from Shreveport; Ken Gordon from Shreveport; George Wilford from Beaumont, Tex., and Jerre Joiner from Shreveport, are new bass members.

The Choir has two new accompanists this year. They are sophomore Sandy Lawn from West Monroe, La., and Pat McFarland, freshman, from Shreveport.

Yoncopin Proofs

The proofs of the pictures taken at registration are back from the photographer and may be picked up Monday, September 26, upstairs in the Moore Student Center in the Yoncopin Office.

Proofs may also be picked up Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday of next week during the free period.

Student Senate Minutes

The Student Senate Meeting was held in the Moore Student Center at 6:00 p. m. Sunday, September 11. The meeting was called to order by the President, Jim Daigle. Others present were Anne McLaurin, Ralph Mason, James Goins, Jean Netterville, G. B. Watson, Barbara Bourdier, Don Tyler, and Brenda Bailey.

The Student Senate Rules were then read. It was decided that Rules 6 and 7, which deal with the election of the Student Senate Sponsors and recommendation of members for the Student-Faculty Committees, be reworded to change time of these selections. Instead of September they shall be selected at the last meeting of the school year.

A committee to plan the theme of Kangaroo Kourt was appointed. The members are Barbara Bourdier, Jean Netterville, Anne McLaurin, and Brenda Bailey. The Master of Ceremonies will be Jack Mulkey.

A motion was made to have Freshmen Week October 10-15.

Kangaroo Kourt Tuesday, October 11, 10:30 A. M.

Tug-O-War Friday, October 14, 9:40 A. M.

Dance Friday, October 14

Class elections were then discussed. A motion was made to petition for nominations rather than having class meetings. The petition will require 25 signatures by members of the same class. The petitions are due in the office of the Dean of Students on September 30, and the elections will be held on October 3.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
Brenda Bailey
Student Senate Secretary

Notice To Organizations

The Conglomerate staff wishes to give all groups on campus an equal opportunity for publicity. In order to do this with benefit to all, we would like to request the co-operation of everyone. Our reporters do a good job of keeping up with all the news, but part of the responsibility of publicizing an organization rests with the organization itself. We would like to request that each group elect a reporter who will be responsible for seeing that his group is publicized. After he is elected, please turn his name into the Conglomerate office. If we do not have the name of a reporter to contact for an organization, we cannot be responsible for that group's publicity.

In reporting stories to the paper, please follow the few rules listed below:

1. Have your releases typewritten and double-spaced, if possible.
2. Spell all names correctly and include the correct home town of every student mentioned in the story.
3. Have the story in the Conglomerate office no later than the deadline, Monday noon.

Girls who attended the Aufait coke party at Mrs. Fannie Lee Nichols' house Wednesday, September 14, form a Congo line for the photographer. This was one of the three parties sponsored by Aufait last week.

Aufait Sponsors Three Parties For Independant Centenary Girls

Aufait, organization for independent women on campus, sponsored several parties last week for new girls interested in the group.

Black diamon-shaped invitations, resembling the Aufait pin, announced the dinner party held at the Town and Country Motel, Monday night, September 12. The group dined on the patio overlooking the swimming pool.

Wednesday night featured a coke party at the home of Mrs. Fannie Lee Nichols, one of the Aufait sponsors. Entertainment was provided by Lorine Crenshaw, who, accompanied by Mrs. Nichols, sang several show tunes, and later led group singing around the piano.

Saturday afternoon brought more fun as the girls drove to the home of the senior R. S. Barnwells on Lincoln Drive. The activities centered around the lovely playhouse and swimming pool. A poolside hotdog supper climaxed the afternoon.

Members, guests, Mrs. Helen Linberger and Mrs. Nichols, sponsors; Mrs. Russell Maddox, Mrs. Ogan Gajdos, and Mrs. Enrico Brocato, alumnae, attended the week's parties.

Willingham Attends Theology School

Dr. John Willingham, English professor and advisor to Canterbury Club, attended the Faculty Summer School in Theology and Religion located in Cambridge, Mass. He was one of thirty faculty advisors chosen from throughout the United States to attend this meeting. The course was sponsored by the Church Society for College Work, whose headquarters are in Washington, D. C.

The specific study set up for the group was the epistles of Paul, but there were also daily classes in religion and training in the services and music of the church. The advisors spent some time at Harvard University doing research in particular fields, and Dr. Willingham worked as chairman of a committee to promote religious orientation within college curriculum.

Lions Present PASSION PLAY

Humility and artistic ability are the necessary qualifications for each of the actors that will participate in Shreveport at the Municipal Auditorium in the American version of the world famed Oberammergau Passion Play.

The spectacular stage production opens Tuesday, September 27, for a four-day run with evening performances at 8:15 p. m. Special student matinees are scheduled Tuesday and Wednesday, September 27 and 28, at 1:30 p. m., and students are admitted for 75c.

The Oberammergau Passion Play traces its origin back to the year 1634 when it was presented by the village of Oberammergau as the fulfillment of a religious vow. This original American version is now presented on its fourth transcontinental tour. Val Balfour, famed portrayer of the Christus, is seen in the leading role supported by a huge cast.

Girls pledging Zeta Tau Alpha from Shreveport are the following: Ginger Chapman, Louie Griffith, Lou Johnson, Jane Jones, Mary Anne Moore, Bonnie Schwartz, Marie Stoddard, Sandra Stokes, Nancy Thigpen and Annette Wimberly. Also pledging Zeta were Judy Balliet, Baton Rouge; Beth Catton, Pean Air Force Base, New Hampshire; Linda Dodson, Camden, Ark.; Nell Forsyth, Carthage, Tex.; Ellen Godbold, New Orleans; Jane Hebert, Leesville; Ann Hogan, Dallas, Tex.; Carolyn Lapleau, Midland; Patricia Susan McHugh, New Orleans; Brenda Nations, Springhill; Nancy Parker, Center, Tex.; Joyce Shealy, Corpus Christie, Tex.; Betty Sims, Longview, Tex.; Page Tiller, Metairie, and Lucille Walsh, Baton Rouge.

Corey To Head Speech Department

Orlin R. Corey, former Associate Professor of Speech at Georgetown, Kentucky, has assumed his duties as Head of the Department of Speech and Dramatics at Centenary.

A native of Oklahoma, a navy veteran of World War II, and a graduate of Baylor University, where he studied at the famous Baylor Theater under Paul Baker, Reynold Arnould, and Charles Laughton, Corey received the B. A. and M. A. degrees in drama and history. He has studied intensively in Europe, in Paris, and in London; at the Central School of Speech and Drama with Gwynneth Thurburn and Walter Hudd; and at the University of London.

Played World's Fair

Mr. Corey went to Georgetown College in 1952, and became director of the Maskrafters, a student drama group, in 1954. His career has been characterized by a keen interest in religious drama. His productions of religious plays have been widely toured in the southeast and southwest for the last dozen years. In 1958, he toured a production of his work, "The Book of Job," at the Brussels World's Fair, and to churches in England and Wales. For the last two summers this production has been playing in an outdoor theater at Pine Mountain State Park in Pineville, Kentucky.

BSU To Attend State Convention

Centenary students will board a Trailways Bus to attend the State Baptist Student Union Convention in Lake Charles on Friday, October 7th, at 3 p.m. Quite a bit of interest in the activities of the week-end are being generated, reports Richard Haynes, President of the Centenary Baptist Student Union. The Theme is "Committed to His Lordship," and speakers and students are to number close to a thousand. The students from the Shreveport colleges are to gather at the Northwestern School of Nursing at 3 p.m. at 1427 Kings Highway and return on Sunday at 3 p.m. Robert Snead, former Centenary Choir soloist, is to lead the All-State Choir with representatives from all of the colleges and universities in the state. Diane Caldwell, Publicity Chairman of the Centenary BSU, states that fried chicken suppers will be prepared for those who travel on the bus. Joy Lambert, Vice President of the Centenary BSU and former summer missionary to Arizona, quoted the price of six dollars plus meals as being the expenses of the week-end. Homes will be opened by the people of Lake Charles. Bill Darrow requests that all who plan to go, get their reservations into the Baptist Student Center Office to Robert W. Childress by Tuesday, October 4th.

Once again Centenary is active with the thrills of new pledges, renewed acquaintances, transfer students, and freshmen beanies.

Some of the students who were brave enough to tackle summer school were: Sallie Clingman, Virginia Bobbitt, and Annette Shirey who kept close watch on the Centenary Campus. Lon McAnnally and Grace Jackson enjoyed a summer at the University of Colorado. Sarah Liberto attended L.S.U. and Maury Johnston, Joy Camerer and Nancy Stobaugh studied at Little Rock University.

This summer Phillip Butcher saw lots of sights in Europe, including the Riviera. Sounds like fun! We are glad to have Marie Nelson back from South Africa. No, a lion didn't bite Marie. He injured hand was caused by a car accident.

Hard working "army men" this summer were Ralph Mason, Ken Bond, Gene LeCaze, and Bob Moore who attended ROTC camp at Fort Hood, Texas. Also over Texas way, Bob Hamilton worked at a ranch in West Texas.

Sara Hitchcock spent the summer in Mass. working at a girls' camp, while Jay Lang was seen around Shreveport.

"Yogi" Ferrari and Glen Cothern had interesting jobs this summer. "Yogi" was a "pipe poker" at Natchez and Glen drove a truck, which might explain the pounds he has gained.

Furman Barnes, Tommy Brewerton and George Hamilton spent an enjoyable vacation in Mexico, while Don Couvillion counceled at a boys' camp in North Carolina.

Zeta Tau Alpha sorority was represented at their national convention held in Quebec, Canada, by Linda Rossett and Betty Jo Towery. Chi Omegas journeying to convention at the majestic Greenbrier Resort in White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia were: Jane Ilgenfritz, Catherine Chesney, Betty Schmidt, Winnifred Fair, Nancy White, and Carol Reichelt.

The new faces without beanies around the campus are probably transfer students. We want to say a great big welcome to them. Some of the new faces are: Ada Koenig-Randolph Macon, Carolyn Kendrick-University of Ark., Ann McEachern-Southwestern University, Betty Sims and Judy Lawrence-Oklahoma University; Gary Montgomery and Anita Thomasson-Louisiana Tech, Linda Fox-Kilgore, Margie Hooper-S.M.U., George Williford-Lamar Tech and Carolyn and Clarene Carver-McNeese. We also welcome Helen Gulley back from Texas University. Diane Caldwell, it's great to have you back with us! Huh, Tim?

We welcome the newly-wed students back on campus also. Congratulations go to Lawrence and Beverly Paul Washaka, Ken and Gail Stimpert Bond, Dick and Marilyn Hendrix Moorehead, Richard and Jeanette Crocker Herrman and Jimmy and Gail DeLaney Slater. Congratulations also go to Dee Akins and Margaret Powell who have announced their engagement. Anne McLaurin is now showing off the Phi K A pin she received this summer, and Peggy Elliot is sporting a sparkler on her left hand.

Seen cheering from the sidelines of the recent L.S.U.-Aggie ballgame were Sammie Kay Smith, Bill Johnson and Sandy Vickers. They reported seeing Spiro Cosse, Warren West, Fuller Bazer and Steve Victory while they were there.

Another ballgame of interest to Centenary students was the Bolton-Fair Park game. Some of the "grandstanders" were, Durwood Winfree, Bobby Ross, Barry Petree, Jim Mitchell, Mike Sport, Johnny Lawrence, Mike Hayes, George Gilmer, Doug Howard and Fred Schwendimann.

The annual Howdy Dance was held Saturday night in the Student Center. Everyone enjoyed the fine entertainment by the students. Some of those gliding across the floor were: Bob Bishoff, Gail Walker, Bejie Sandlin, Don Tyler, Nancy Lecky, Barry Nelson, Paul McMahn, LaNell Dean, Jane Hebert, Gene LaCaze, Ralph Mason, Nancy Evans. Dave White was busy meeting as many new pledges as possible.

Johnny Shankle is unique because he is the only freshman to have his head shaved by Jill Landis while sitting on the James Dormitory patio.

New Zeta pledges enjoyed the slumber party Saturday night while they played bridge and listened to the stereo. When Nancy Evans couldn't sleep and finally went home at 4 a. m., we understand that Jane Jones, Beth Catton and Ann Hogan were still wide awake.

Alpha Xi's were entertained at their party with the antics of Jennifer Victory, Carolyn Ratcliff, JoAnn Mills when they did a good job of messing up, the alma mater, while Phyllis Heller gaily swung from the rafters.

Chi Omegas were delighted with the entertainment provided by their new pledges at the Saturday night slumber party. Juanita Donelson and Suzanne King sang an original version of "Mary Had a Little Lamb". Joan Williams, Dianna Ammons, Melanie Martin, and Bejie Sandlin composed and sang a song.

New Freshman basketball players still sporting full heads of hair are: Stan (Sleepy) McAfooses, R. V. Locksoor, Cecil Upshaw, Denis Kile, Jimmy Williams, and Jim (Snake) Pipins.

All the dormitory girls enjoyed a party Sunday night. Patt Byrd and her bongo drums, Gail Southerland's piano playing, Barbara Dell Hargraves' singing and Becky Graham's impersonation of Dean Allen were hits of the entertainment.

We are happy to have Anne Marie Langvalle from Oslo, Norway with us this year.

Congratulations to newly initiated Zetas: Mary Allen, Edith Elliott, Mary Bostick, Judy Bayless and Jane Hanks.

Congratulations to the new KA initiates: Mike Ramming, Bill Johnson, Bob Sorensen, and Jack Jeter.

Personalities

Freshmen Serenade Faculty

By BUTCHIE McCUISTION

Happy-go-lucky Nancy Lecky comes singing her way from El Dorado, Arkansas. She received excellent training for the Centenary Choir as a soprano in the El Dorado High School Mixed Chorus and Madrigal Singers. She was also an active member of the Student Council and Thespian Dramatics Clubs, and served her senior year as Vice-President of the Anchor Club.

Nancy and Kenneth Gordon, another of our freshmen personalities, had their first taste of freshmen hazing the other day when a number of upperclassmen "volunteered" them to join in a duet and sing "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" to Dr. and Mrs. Clark.

Tall Texan

Kenneth Gordon, a Tall Texan from Jefferson sang in many assemblies during his high school career. At present, when he is not serenading the professors, Ken sings bass in the Centenary Choir. Active in athletics in high school, Ken made All-District in track and Honorable Mention All-District in football. He also served as Vice-President of his senior class. Ken is now busy trying to divide his time among sports, the Choir, girls, and studying business administration.

Artistic Arkansan

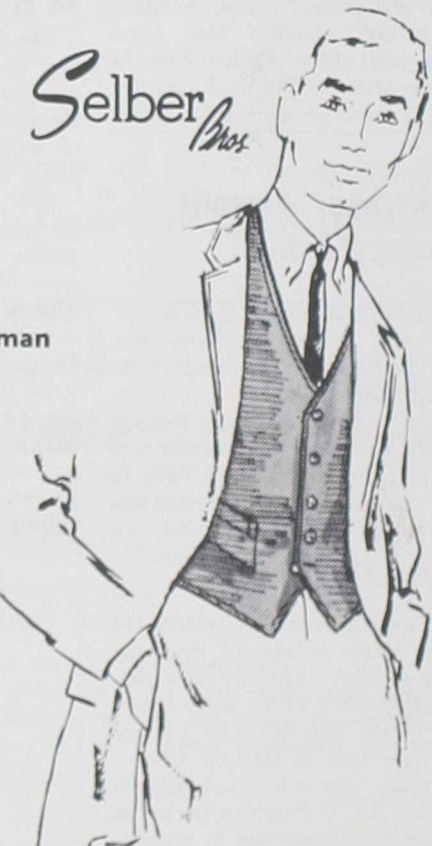

Linda Dodson is another member of the ever-growing Arkansas delegation to Centenary. In her hometown of Camden, Linda was a member of the Acapella Choir, Thespian Dramatics Club, Quill and Scroll, and Future Teachers of America. An art major, Linda was art editor of her high school yearbook, and an officer of the Art Club. She sang with a girls' trio and in several operettas. At choir camp in Hodges Gardens this summer, Linda and Nancy Lecky had the same problem. At a preview concert given the last night of camp for Mr. Hodges and several prominent guests, Linda and Nancy both had to wear dresses much too large for them. They really didn't mind the inconvenience until they began to talk to the guests between numbers. Then the girls found that every time they tried to turn from one person to introduce themselves to another, they would be unable to move because the guests were standing on their dresses.

Model Freshman

Lynn Gulley raised his voice loud and clear on "The Eyes of Texas" at the Howdy Dance, for Lynn is another one of those enthusiastic Texans from Beaumont. Before coming to Centenary, Lynn entertained in high school assemblies, and now sings bass in the Centenary Choir. He was an active member of DeMolay, and also participated in football and track. Lynn says he has really been a model freshman and hasn't made any mistakes except small ones, like introducing Jerry Jouett as Jim Daigle, President of the Student Senate.

Rushees and frat men mingle at the annual IFC smoker, Wednesday night in the Moore Student Center. This gathering introduced rushees to fraternity life at Centenary.

Fraternity Rush Opens With IFC Smoker September 21

Fraternity rush week officially opened Wednesday night, September 21, at 6 p. m. in the Moore Student Center with the Interfraternity Smoker.

Buddy Daily, president of the Interfraternity Council, presided at the Smoker, which was attended by all the members and pledges of the fraternities and fifty-nine rushees. A representative from each of the fraternities told the rushees about his fraternal organization and financial obligations. Guest speaker for the evening was David Bat, a member of the Shreveport Chamber of Commerce, who spoke about the meaning of fraternity membership.

KA's Old South

Kappa Alpha was host to rush girls at their fraternity house Thursday evening from 6:30 to 8:30 p. m. Highlight of the evening was the showing of films and slides on the traditional Kappa Alpha "Old South Ball." Pictures of life in the Old South decorated the walls.

At the Kappa Alpha dance Friday night, rushees were decked out in red taffeta vests with gold KA letters on them and active wore crimson arm bands marked with KA in gold. Rush girls wore little crowns painted in such a way that they glowed in the dark. Special "black lighting" made anything white stand out in the dim light. Revolving mirrored balls completed the decorations. Entertainment was provided by Patsy West, "Pud" Paul Waschka, and a group of four boys who called themselves the "Cotton Pickers." Sandra Boddie, the Kappa Alpha Rose, was introduced to the rushees.

Sig Patio Party

Kappa Sigma entertained rush girls Saturday afternoon from 3 to 5 p. m. at the house of Jay Lang. The afternoon was climaxed by group-singing around the piano.

Saturday night, September 24, the Kappa Sigma house was decorated with palms, Japanese lanterns, and patio tables with red checkered tablecloths. Rushees were entertained with songs by Kay Cooper, Fred Schwendimann, Helen Gulley, Lyndra Pate, and Don Tyler. During the intermission, Jim Daigle presented a dozen roses to the Kappa Sigma house mother, and an orchid to Jane Ilgenfritz, the Kappa Sig Sweetheart.

Fraternity rush week comes to a close this weekend with the Kappa Sigma banquet Friday, September 30, and the Kappa Alpha banquet Saturday, October 1. Bids will be issued Monday, October 3.

Dick Johns to Head Kappa Chi

The first meeting of Kappa Chi, an organization for students interested in full time religious vocations, was held Tuesday, September 20. It consisted of a short meeting, a devotional, a social period, and a picnic supper supplied by Dr. and Mrs. Pomery.

Officers of Kappa Chi are as follows: Dick Johns, President; Carolyn Denison, Vice President; LaVerne Burks, Secretary; Leland Wade, Treasurer; Alice Ruth Herrington, Publicity; Don Farley, Fellowship Team

Chairman; Ryan Horton and Indi Nichols, Quest Chairmen.

One Kappa Chi project is Quest, an interdenominational devotional held in the small chapel at six-fifteen each evening Monday through Friday. All Centenary students are urged to participate actively in Quest.

Meetings of Kappa Chi will be held on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month at seven p.m. in the chapel.

Corey Announces "Murder" Cast

Orlin R. Corey has announced the acting and technical positions for T. S. Eliot's "Murder In The Cathedral," which will be presented Nov. 10 through 19 at the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse.

John O. Williams has the lead role of Thomas Becket. He is supported by Bob Shy, Jim Foster, Wiley Cameron and Ray Chabeau, who have dual roles of Tempters in Act One and Knights in Act Two.

The Priests are played by Don Farley, Ronald Radzikowski, and Kenneth Gordon. Charles Earnest appears first as a messenger and later as a priest.

New Scholarship Fund Established

The board of directors of First Federal Savings and Loan Assn. has recently established the Philip Lieber-First Federal Savings and Loan Assn. Scholarship at Centenary College. The scholarship, endowed with a gift of $10,000, interest from which is to be used to cover tuition to Centenary for a worthy student planning to major in business, was established in tribute to Lieber, who served as president of First Federal, but who retired from the position, and now serves as chairman of the board.

The first Centenary College student to receive the scholarship is Ned Allen Ford of Jefferson, Texas, now enrolled as a freshman at Centenary. The son of Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Ford, Sr., of Jefejrson, he is planning to major in business administration. He is a graduate of Jefferson High School, where he was a straight "A" student, president of the National Society, delegate to Boys' State, and for two years unanimous choice for all-district basketball player.

Dean Leroy Vogel of Centenary College, a member of the board of directors of First Federal, assisted in completing arrangements for establishment of the scholarship.

The scholarship committee on the local campus selected Ford as the first winner of the award.

Jackie Roset and Gary Montgomery, who are in charge of the bulletin board behind the SUB, want to remind everyone to be "calendar conscious" this year.

Petitions Due Today; Elections Will Be Monday

Candidates vying for class offices have been circulating petitions throughout this last week in preparation for elections to be held Monday, October 3, in the Moore Student Center.

In contrast to last year's verbal nominations of officer candidates at separate class meetings, this year's candidates will be placed in nomination by the presentation of a petition stating their desire to run for a class office, accompanied by the signatures of at least twenty-five class members who endorse his candidacy.

Petitions must be returned to the Office of the Dean of Students no later than 2 p.m., Friday, September 30, if a candidate wishes to have his name placed on the ballot.

Elections will be held Monday, October 3, from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Student Center, and runoffs will occur on Wednesday, October 5. Each class will elect a President, Vice-president, Secretary, and Treasurer.

The president of each of the four classes will be a member of the Student Senate. Vice-presidents will serve on the Student Center Committee, a newly-formed body, sponsored by the Student Senate. This committee will be in charge of activities at the Moore Student Center and will include a representative from each of the campus organizations. Mrs. Fannie Lee Nichols, Activities Director, will work with the committee.

Centettes Make Plans for 1960

The first meeting of the Centettes, Centenary pep club, was held in room 114 of the Science Building at 10:30 A. M. on Tuesday, September 20. Leading the squad this year are the officers elected last spring: President, Judy Rhodes; Vice-President, Patsy West; Secretary, Fran Loran; Treasurer, Louella Bains; and Publicity Chairman, Pat Lavigne. Mrs. Fannie Lee Nichols and Miss Mary Francis Estes are faculty advisors for the group.

To acquaint new students with the Centettes and its purpose, the basketball team was introduced, projects were discussed, committees planned, and the constitution and rules explained so that every prospective member would fully understand her duties as a part of the organization. Later in the meeting, Coach Sigler spoke to the girls of the team's interest in the pep squad and of the real importance of good team support by the whole student body, as sparked by the Centettes.

Some of the pep squad's plans for the year as presented at the meeting were: tags, posters, pep rallies, etc. to promote school spirit; ushering for all home games; at least two bus trips to out-of-town games; and the freshman-varsity game coming up soon.

About seventy girls were at the meeting Tuesday. Any other women students taking at least twelve hours and interested in the Centettes will be welcome at the meetings every Tuesday at 10:30, in S114.

Yoncopin Retakes

Any students who haven't had their pictures taken for the Yoncopin, or any who wish to have the proofs retaken (with nominal charge) may go to Shorter Studio, 1409 Fairfield.

Tues. - Oct. 4 3:30-6:00 p.m.
Wed. - Oct. 5 3:30-6:00 p.m.

Elections Deserve Thought

As the time for election of class officers draws near, we need to consider the important role which class officers will play in Centenary campus life this year.

Perhaps this year, more than in the past, class officers will determine the success or failure of the student activities. The recent formation of the Student Center Committee has shifted the responsibility of campus activities from the administration and the student body officers to the class officers. Under the direction of the class vice presidents, all Student Center activities will be planned. And, as always, class presidents will serve as a vital part of the Student Senate, their duty being to coordinate the interests and ideas of the separate classes and to provide communication between the Student Senate and the individual members of each class.

It becomes necessary then that every person voting in a class election be familiar with the qualifications and personality of each candidate. Does he have the grade average which would permit him to fulfill his office without neglecting his academic work? Are his personality and character in keeping with the office he seeks?

The duty of the student does not end with the election of competent class officers. He must then be ready to lend his support in helping his officers carry out their responsibilities.

Reporter Roves Campus About Nixon-Kennedy Debates

After the Nixon-Kennedy debate on television Monday night, one of our reporters interviewed people in the Sub as to their reactions to this new idea in pre-election campaigning. A report of their comments will be a regular feature after each of the forthcoming debates.

Vicki Grigsby — "Nixon 'stomped' Kennedy in the debate. Everything he said carried more weight than his adversary, and his comebacks completely checked the Democrat."

David Smith — "It is very unusual that the two candidates should come together for such a debate. It gave the country a chance to note their different qualities and should have been a procedure long ago."

Bill Robinson — "Kennedy and Nixon agreed that their goals were the same, but their paths of achievement were different."

Joe La Grone — "Kennedy had a more instantaneous reply to spot questions. Nixon had a more conservative attitude toward education."

Brenda Bailey — "It was good to be able to see the differences in the candidates, although both candidates seemed equally intelligent. I refuse to state my preference at this time."

Riley Wallace — "Nixon had the best arguments, although both sliced each other unmercifully."

Melanie Martin — "Nixon seemed to be slamming the Democrats through the Truman Administration."

Juanita Donelson — "In most of the speeches which Nixon made when he followed Kennedy, he seemed to be belittling Kennedy, although I know it is hard to avoid this when you follow someone. I do think he should have tried to have a stronger, more affirmative speech."

English Proficiency Test

The English Proficiency Test will be given on Monday, October 3, in Room 114 of the Science Building from 8:00 A. M. to 10:00 A. M. The following people must take the test:

1. All juniors who did not have a "B" average in Freshman English.

2. All seniors who neglected to take the test as juniors, or who failed the test then.

Those persons taking the test should bring to S-114 pen, ink, lined notebook paper, and a dictionary.

The passing of this test is a requirement for graduation.

Any questions about the test may be directed by Dr. Lee Morgan of the English Department.

N. Y. Trip To Climax Magazine Contest

Mademoiselle magazine has announced that its 1960-61 College Board Contest is now open to women undergraduates who are regularly enrolled in an accredited college. The contest offers a chance of winning a Guest Editorship and a trip to New York to work on the magazine for the month of June. Twenty girls will be selected for this honor.

To qualify for membership, a girl may write a criticism, of 1,200 words or more, concerning the editorial section of a current issue of Mademoiselle, or depict in words or drawings the follies of her campus.

November 30 is the deadline for submitting the tryout assignment. Girls entering the contest will be notified by January 1, 1961, whether their tryout has been accepted. If a girl's tryout assignment is accepted, she will become an official campus reporter for Mademoiselle. From these official reporters will be chosen the final staff for the college issue. Interested girls may get more detailed information by writing to College Board Contest, Mademoiselle, 575 Madison Avenue, New York 22, requesting the Contest Rules Book.

Notice

Jackson Library will be open every Sunday, 2 p.m. to 6 p.m.

AED Elects Officers

Alpha Epsilon Delta, the honorary premedical society at Centenary, announced its election of new officers for 1960 last week.

Those elected were: President — Rod Yeager; Vice-president — Sandra Whitlock; Secretary — Jimmy Lu; Treasurer — Charles Griffith; Historian — Janos Voros; and Reporter — Judy Hebert.

AED is a national organization which affords recognition for high scholarship to students in pre-medicine and related fields, including dentistry, medical technology and physical therapy. Emphasis is placed on the importance of pre-medical training in careers in medicine, and students are given opportunities to hear professional men in medicine speak on a variety of subjects.

Student Senate Minutes

The Supper Meeting of the Student Senate was held in the Cafeteria at 5:15 on Wednesday, September 21. The meeting was called to order by the President, Jim Daigle. Others present were Anne McLaurin, Ralph Mason, James Goins, Jean Netterville, G. B. Watson, Barbara Bourdier, Don Tyler, Brenda Bailey, and Dean Allen.

A letter from Mr. Corey asking permission to accept the new dramatics club was then read. This was unanimously approved by the Senate and was then turned over to the Student Affairs Committee for approval.

The opinion has been expressed by students that the library should be kept open on Sunday. It was moved and seconded that the Senate recommend that the library remain open from 1 to 5 on Sunday afternoon.

It was suggested that we have our Nameband Dance in conjunction with Homecoming, which will be held on December 15, when the Gents play the Rice Owls. The dance will be held from 10 until 1.

There being no further business the meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
Brenda Bailey
Student Senate Secretary

In the past the paper was always brought out on Fridays. Last week, after the paper had appeared on Monday, many people expressed the view that they liked this arrangement better. This week the paper is being brought out on Friday as usual. We would like the students to decide which day they prefer and to tell us in the coming week.

W. R. A. Announces Tentative Schedule

The officers of W. R. A. will elect a Vice-President from four nominees, two from Zeta Tau Alpha and two from the Methodist Student Movement. The Vice-President will be elected from one of these groups because these organizations do not hold an office on the council.

Each organization may now have only one representative on the council; however, an alternate may come as a non-voting member. Her presence is not compulsory, except in the absence of the representative. This is a new rule recently adopted by the council.

MSM Welcome Party Opens School Year

The Methodist Student Movement Welcome Party on September 22 opened this year's "swinging" schedule of events. In an informal atmosphere at the spacious YMCA Camp, 75 participants ate, sang, and danced.

Most of the students at the welcome party met each other during the ice breaker, human bingo.

George Wilfred and Jill Landis stirred up enthusiasm with their spirited song leading. Dick Johns then wore out the crowd by leading them in some rather strenuous dancing. Enthusiasm, fun and excitement are also part of the new MSM emphasis on being an important part in the lives of Methodist students in this college.

Gent Basketball Lifting Weights

Members of the varsity and freshmen basketball teams say they are "sore all over." The Gents are currently involved in a weight-lifting program introduced this year by Coach Orvis Sigler. This program is expected to be a great help in pre-season conditioning, which begins October 15.

Workouts for the weight program are being held at the Athletic Club of Shreveport under the tutelage of weight-lighting expert Billy Golden.

Playhouse Plans Season's Dramas

Five dramas, varied in style and period, are planned for the 1960-61 season at the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse of Centenary College.

Orlin R. Corey, head of the speech and drama department, said he will open his first season with the production of T. S. Eliot's "Murder In The Cathedral." Corey said the play will open on Nov. 10 and run through Nov. 19.

A new departmental policy will be inaugurated with the second production, "Cry Dawn In Dark Babylon," by P. W. Turner. Corey said this sixty-minute play, of deep religious significance, will be presented on the campus Dec. 8 through 10. Starting Jan. 1, 1961, and carrying through June, Corey plans to tour the play throughout the Ark-La-Tex area. He explained that the drama will be presented in churches in the tri-state area (Continued on page 4)

Exchange Student Views America

"I've always heard that everything in America was so much bigger than in other places — and it is!"

This is just one impression Anne-Marie Langvall, 21-year-old exchange student from Oslo, Norway, has received from three weeks of living in the United States.

Anne-Marie came to Centenary after applying to the Institution of International Education in New York, through which she received a Bath-Rotary Scholarship and a Fulbright Travel Grant. She was one of forty students chosen from 800 applicants in Norway to receive one of these grants.

Anne-Marie and her parents attended the Seventh Day Adventist Church in Norway, where Anne-Marie was also a member and leader of the Junior Missionary Volunteers, a group similar to our Girl Scouts. Anne's accomplishments include the ability to play the piano very well and to speak several languages. Besides her native language and English, which she speaks fluently, she also has a command of German, French, Danish, and Swedish.

After graduating from the Norwegian "gymnasium," Anne-Marie studied for a year at Newbold College in England. Last year she taught English, German, history, geography, and Norwegian to senior high school students in Oslo. She is now a sophomore and is studying English literature, American literature, American diplomatic history, American intellectual history, and educational psychology. When she completes her year at Centenary, Anne-Marie will return to Norway to obtain a degree from the University of Oslo and to continue her teaching career after graduation.

Returning to Anne-Marie's thoughts of the United States, she remarked that another thing that impressed her was the heavy traffic in the cities and on the highways. She also noticed the many swimming pools at the various motels along the way from New York to Shreveport. She found the scenery of the country very lovely, and sections reminded her of a tropical area.

But beneath these materialistic viewpoints, Anne-Marie found something that meant far more to her than the "bigness" of America. "I was pleased to find everyone so friendly. I like your country, your school, and I'm so very happy to be here."

When asked what she hoped to gain most from her experiences here in America, she replied, "I think a very important and vital part of one's education is traveling and meeting people, and I feel fortunate that I have the chance to do so."

Meet the 1960-61 Freshman Cagers

By MIKE RAMMING

Freshmen coach Doug Mooty will be putting most of the burden on the capable shoulders of the following players.

CECIL UPSHAW—6' 6"

Cecil comes to the Gents from Bossier City's state championship team of 1960. At Bossier, Upshaw averaged 17 points per game while dragging down 11 rebounds per outing. The versatile Upshaw was an all-state choice in baseball, as well as basketball.

R. V. LOCKWOOD — 6' 3"

Another Louisiana product, R. V. played his prep ball in Spearsville, where he played to an average of 24 points per game. He was an all-state selection in basketball and baseball. Lockwood, nicknamed "B.V.D.", is expected to be an outstanding rebounder for the frosh.

JIMMIE PIPPEN — 6' 2"

Joining the clan of Midwestern hoopsters already at Centenary, Pippin resides in Crossville, Illinois. Jimmie ripped the cords at a 17 point per game clip and impressed railbirds with his fine speed. He was a two-year member of his all-conference team.

STAN McAFOS — 6' 0"

From the basketball hotbeds of Illinois comes the probable "go man" in the Gentlet fast break. Stan prepped at Alton High where he dumped in 17 points per contest. He was an Illinois all-state mention.

DENNIS KILE — 6' 3"

Joining former Bossier City teammate, Cecil Upshaw, Dennis might well be the quarterback of the frosh roundballers. Dennis was also a polished football player and was an all-state player in football and basketball. Also a welcome to his pretty wife, Donna.

JIMMY WILLIAMS — 6' 3"

A product of Shreveport's Byrd High School, Jimmy will be the lone Shreveporter on the Gent basketball scene. His scoring average was 16 per game while his rebounding pace was 10 per game. Williams was a member of the all-state team. He is also a fine baseball prospect.

Also trying for positions on the frosh squad will be Gery Riser, Castor; Ted Boddie, Shreveport; Linus Lopez, Shreveport; Jackie Jackson, Logansport; and Allen Ford, Jefferson, Tex.

By CAROL REICHELT

The big word again this week is "rush." This time it is Fraternity rush. Beginning with the "smoker" on Wednesday night, the rushees and fraternity men have been busy with many activities.

Friday night the Kappa Alphas entertained with a lights-out party. Strobe lighting showed off KA vests and crowns. Featured entertainment included four "Cottonpickers" — Bob Moore, Bob Gayner, Ralph Mason, Buddy Daily. Patsy West talked "Coonie Talk." And Beverly Waschka gave a monologue. Some of those joining in on the fun were: Doug Howard, Rodney Hart, Judy Rhodes, Louella Bains, Jill Landis, Denise Freeman, Larry Jones, Jim Oldson, Suzanne King and Jane Jones.

Saturday night the Kappa Sigmas grabbed the spotlight with their rush dance. The patio was decorated with tables, lanterns and plants. Entertainment was provided by: Lyndra Pate, Helley Gulley, Don Tyler, Kay Cooper and Fred Schwendimann. Some of those dancing were: Riley Wallace, Scott Roberts, Barbara Bourdier, Betty Thornton, Harvey Long, Mary Allen, Barry Bolack, Don Adair, Butchie McCuiston, and Catherine Chesney.

Winifred Fair, Judy Thurmon, and Frankie Stokes made a little trip to A. and M. this weekend, we understand. Anne McLaurin visited "friends" in New Orleans, and Marcia Stewart went to Baton Rouge. Joy Lambert and Carol Tyler spent an interesting weekend in Logansport.

We roll out the welcome mat to all the transfer students from Georgetown College in Georgetown, Kentucky. They are: Ruthanne Cozine, George Bryan, Bob Shy, Ann Sherman, and David Gibson. We are also happy to have with us Edwinna Hubert from Belhaven College in Mississippi, Ed Willis from Southwestern University, Georgetown, Texas, and Jimmy Smith from Louisiana Tech.

Congratulations go to Bob Moore and Faye Cox and to Linda Brown and Hoot Evers on their engagements.

Special congratulations go to Sandra Boddie, who has been elected as Kappa Alpha Providence Rose for the state of Louisiana.

Seen sailing in the rain Sunday on Cross Lake were: Jimmy Mitchell, Marcus McCrary, Eric Bishop, Keith Simmons, Tommy Brewerton, Jimmy Tonn, and John Cowan.

The Alpha Xi Deltas enjoyed a tea for their actives and pledges last Thursday.

B.S.U. state convention — October 7, 8, 9 — Lake Charles.

Mary Ann Youngblood is offering surfboard lessons. This is a little trick she picked up in Hawaii this summer.

The Y.M.C.A. camp was the scene of the ZTA supper held for pledges and actives Monday night.

Many thanks to Becky Graham who did the telephone design for Carol's Corner.

Freshmen, where are your beanies?

Phi Beta Plans Rush, Audition

Phi Beta, music and speech fraternity, has made many plans for the coming school year. Leading all activities of the fraternity will be Edith Elliott, president, assisted by the vice president, Ruth Raush. The other officers are: Angelina De Fatta, secretary; Betty Jo Towery, treasurer; Virginia Bobbitt, historian; Janet Gholson, projects chairman; and Carolyn Teranova, program chairman.

Phi Beta's plans include a variety show to be performed with Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia. There will also be a candy sale and a rummage sale. Plans are being made for a rush party and the auditioning of rushees.

Personalities

Personalities Are Sports-Minded

By ELSA ROQUIN

"I'm just a general guy," remarked Ralph "Yogi" Ferrara when asked about his interests. Yogi, a little shy about listing any activities, was a member of the freshman basketball team last year — and I might add "quite an asset." He will be continuing basketball this year as a member of the varsity squad.

Yogi, a sophomore, pre-med student and Kappa Sigma pledge, hails from Freeland, Pennsylvania. "My name hasn't always been 'Yogi', he stated, "but thanks to another member of the basketball team and to the popular T. V. program 'Yogi Bear,' it now is."

When asked about any dislikes he might have, the first and only thing to flash across Yogi's mind was ENGLISH.

Run Over By Skiis

"My favorite pastime," says Judy Rhodes, "is water skiing." One of the funniest things that happened to me this summer took place while my twin sister Jane and I were skiing double. We were crossing back and forth behind the boat and doing pretty well, I thought, when suddenly I saw Jane speeding toward me — then over me. This was my first, and I hope my last, experience of being run down by a pair of water skiis."

on weekends, when such tours will not interfere with the classwork of the student participants.

"This program of living drama on tour from the Playhouse to audiences in cities and towns within a radius of 250 miles of Shreveport will be an annual feature of the department of drama and speech in the future," Corey said. "Such tours will provide the student participants with valuable experience, but also will enable out-

Judy, a junior from Shreveport is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha and co-treasurer of same. She is president of the Centettes, Centenary's Pep Squad, and participates in intramurals. Besides all this, Judy is presently employed as a secretary for American General Life Insurance Company.

Visits Fish Pond

"The fish pond — that's the only thing I dislike at Centenary," stated Geneva Jones. "I've already been in, as have quite a few other freshmen."

Geneva, a freshman from Alexandria is already showing a great interest in campus activities. She is a Chi Omega pledge, member of the Pep Squad and the Centenary Club. Geneva was also very active in high school. She was a member of the National Honor Society, Future Teachers of America, and elected Ideal Booster of the Boosters marching squad.

"The only confusing and funny — that is to me — event that has happened this school year is when I attended P.E. class last Friday and learned that it wasn't held on Fridays."

Donates Fish

Buddy Daily, senior from Shreveport will be heading the Kappa Alpha order this year as president. Among the many activities that Buddy has participated in during his years at Centenary are the Biology Club, intramurals, Vice-President of the Student Senate last year, and class officer in his Sophomore year.

Buddy lists dove hunting and fishing as his favorite activities. His fondness for fishing and sharing it with others was demonstrated last year when he gave Dr. Warters one of his catch. The head of Buddy's prize fish was preserved by Dr. Warters and is still in the Science Building.

Newly elected class officers were announced by the Student Senate after run-off elections Wednesday, October 5.

Serving as senior class officers are: Buddy Daily, president; Linda Rosett, vice-president; Anita Thomasson, secretary; and John Williams, treasurer.

Heading the junior class is Tim Temple as president; Kay Cooper, vice-president; Sara Hitchcock, secretary; and Jerry Jouett, treasurer, will complete the juniors' executive board for 1960.

Those officers selected by the sophomore class were: Ralph Ferrari, president; Charlotte Stodghill, vice-president; Linda Kay Ellington, secretary; and Hoyt Bain, treasurer.

Mike Sport, along with Joan Williams, vice-president; Sandra Stokes, secretary; and Don Adair, treasurer, will serve the freshman class this year.

Nominees included on the run-off ballots were: Freshmen Doug Howard, Beth Catton, Melanie Martin, and Ken Gordon; Sophomores Bob Gaynor, Nancy Evans, Elsa Rocquin, and Mike Ramming; Junior, Bill Johnson; and Seniors Jack Mulkey and Nancy White. Other nominees included on the first ballot were: Derwood Winfree, Ann Hogan, Dorothy Risinger, Sharon Blevins, Paul Marshall, Robert Gillan, and James P. Williams of the Freshman Class; Ryan Horton, Roxie Lewis, Jackie Rosett, LaVerne Burks, Jerre Rainwater, and William Nelson of the Sophomore Class; Terrell Rourk, Janet Gholson and Judy Rhodes of the Junior Class; and Talley Pledger, Beverly Wingo, Jill Landis, and David Graham of the Senior Class.

Banquets Held Fri., Sat., Fifty Pledge Fraternities

Fraternity Rush climaxed its second week of activities with two banquets at which Kappa Sigma and Kappa Alpha fraternities hosted their rushees.

Kappa Sigmas met at the Kappa Sigma house at 7:30 p. m., Friday, September 30 and then went to The Shreveporter for their banquet. The Reverend Tracy Arnold gave the Invocation. After dinner Mrs. Whitmer, Kappa Sig housemother made a short speech. Guest speaker for the evening was Dr. John Melton, minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Baton Rouge. Dr. Melton has travelled all over the world on government missions, visiting such countries as Japan, Russia, China, England, and East and West Germany. Jim Daigle, Grand Master of the local Kappa Sigma chapter, followed Dr. Melton on the program, and spoke on the subject "What Kappa Sigma Means to Me". During the evening, Alumni presented Jim with a Senior ring in recognition of his outstanding leadership in Kappa Sigma during his Junior year.

Kappa Alpha held their banquet at 7:30 p. m., Saturday, October 1, at The Shreveporter. Dr. Bryant Davidson, head of the Department of History and Philosophy at Centenary, was guest speaker at the banquet. Mr. Leroy Scott, Kappa Alpha Alum, also spoke on the History of Kappa Alpha. Honorary guests included: Mrs. D. C. Richardson, KA housemother; Miss Sandra Boddie, Kappa Alpha Rose; and Mr. Henry O'Neal, recently appointed chapter advisor who begins his 36th year as a chapter advisor in 1960.

Bids were issued at 1:30 p. m., Monday, October 3. Those pledging Kappa Alpha were Eric Bishop, Ashdown, Arkansas; Tommy Carter, Shreveport; Bill DeLoach, Shreveport; Lynn Gulley, Beaumont, Texas; Rodney Hart, Shreveport; Vernon Hastings, Shreveport; Bob Hawkins, Shreveport; Pratt Hayes, Welsh; Doug Howard, Metairie; Kenneth Hunt, Shreveport; Larry Jones, Baton Rouge; Bill McCaa, Shreveport; Bob McCrae, Zachary; Marcus McCrary, Shreveport; Paul Marshall, El Dorado, Arkansas; Barry Petree, Shreveport; Jimmy Tonn, Elton; Don Townsend, Ruston; Malcolm Wallace, Shreveport.

The following students have received bids from Kappa Sigma Fraternity: Don Adair, East Bernard, Texas; Hoyt Bain, Shreveport; Barton Baker, Kaplan; Bob Bishoff, Karnak, Texas; Barry Bolack, Eunice, La.; Roger Box, Shreveport; John Brewer, Arcadia; Warren Constant, Bunkie; Larry Cowley, Shreveport; Johnny Cowen, Midland; Robert Edler, Margaret, New Jersey; Robert Gillan, Shreveport; David Glass, Baton Rouge; Ken Gordon, Jefferson Texas; Mike Hayes, Crowley; Tommy Head, West Monroe; Jimmy Henderson, Bogalusa; Jess Hoffpauir, Shreveport; Harvey Long, Shreveport; Bill Martin, Shreveport; Jimmy Mitchell, Shreveport; Jim Oldson, Shreveport; Charlie Powell, New Iberia; Chat Reed, Shreveport; Leonard Riggs, Longview, Texas; Scott Roberts, Shreveport; Johnny Shankles, Beaumont, Texas; Mike Sport, Marshall, Texas; Riley Wallace, Jerseyville, Illinois; Jimmy Williams, Shreveport; Derwood Winfree, Dallas, Texas.

L. H. A. Grants

The Louisiana Heart Association is now accepting applications for research grants by college students. Applications may be obtained from Dr. Mary Warters, representative on this campus. The deadline for these applications is October 14.

Frosh Week Begins Oct. 11

Once again Freshman Week is upon us. The Student Senate sponsors these three main activities of the week.

Kangaroo Kourt, to be held Tuesday, October 11, at 10:30 a. m. in the Greek Amphitheatre, has Jack Mulkey as master of ceremonies. Freshmen are required to attend and advised to wear their beanies.

The Freshman-Sophomore Tug of War will be held at 9:40 Friday morning in front of the Science building. Tradition decrees that the President of the Freshman Class will again lose his hair if the sophomores win. Just a word of warning, Mr. President; last year the sophomores did win.

Friday night, the Freshman Dance will be held in the Moore Student Center. This dance, in honor of the Freshmen, is for all students.

Freshmen — the week can be fun if approached in the right manner.

Greek Pledges Elect Officers

Pledge class officers for Zeta Tau Alpha, Chi Omega, and Alpha Xi Delta were elected this week.

The Chi Omega officers are as follows: Melanie Martin, president; Joan Williams, vice-president; Heather Dodson, secretary; Suzanne King, treasurer; Dianna Ammons, chaplain; Bettye Jean Cambell, and Nancy Leckey, Junior Panhellenic representatives.

The Zeta pledge officers are the following: Annette Wimberly, president; Lucille Walsh, vice-president; Ann Hogan, secretary; Ellen Godbold, treasurer; Page Tiller, historian; Ginger Chapman, Devotional Chairman.

Premedical students planning to take the Medical School Admissions Test on October 29 should see Dr. Warters immediately about an application. Applications are due two weeks prior to the taking of the test.

AED Plans Annual Open Meeting

Alpha Epsilon Delta, the honorary premedical society, extends an invitation to all Centenary students who are planning careers in medicine, dentistry, and allied fields, to attend the AED Annual Open Meeting to be held on Thursday, October 13, at 7:30 p. m. in room 114 of the Science Building.

It is the hope of Alpha Epsilon Delta, that the program offered at the Open Meeting will stimulate a better appreciation of the importance of preprofessional education in the study of medicine.

Two prominent Shreveport doctors will address the students attending the Open Meeting. Dr. W. F. Drummond, an alum of the Alabama Alpha Chapter of AED, will speak on "The Importance of Premedical Education's Part of the Study of Medicine". Dr. Allen J. Tomlin will also speak on the same subject in relation to pre-dental training.

Dr. Mary Warters, faculty advisor of AED will then explain the program for premedical and predental education at Centenary College, and Rod Yeager, president of AED, will discuss the role of Alpha Epsilon Delta in the premedical and predental program.

Refreshments will be served after the meeting and students will have an opportunity to talk with the guest speakers.

"Rhapsody" Dates, Clothes Spark Choir

"Save 1 and 2 for Rhapsody In View" is the slogan for the 1st and 2nd of November when the Choir will present its annual fall concert. Presenting the choir in its first formal concert of the year, the program will be held in the Byrd High School Auditorium and will feature selections of both sacred and secular nature.

New additions are being made this fall to the wardrobe of the Centenary College Choir. Consisting previously of two suits for the men and three dresses for the ladies, the wardrobe will soon contain three mens' suits and five ladies' dresses.

In their new outfit the men will be dressed in brown: a coca brown formal evening coat, complimented by beige trousers. This will add a gay change to the other two outfits: one a black formal evening coat and vest with striped trousers; the other a dinner jacket and black trousers. Keeping these clothes in good condition and handling the many accessories such as ties and collar buttons is the man-sized job which belongs to Jim Clancy and Barry Nelson and Paul McMahan.

Butchie McCuiston, Jackie Rosett and Jean Netterville will be in charge of the ladies wardrobe this year. The two new dresses they will handle are modified Grecian style with a softly the traditional floor length. Both are a flowing skirt. One set is of chiffon in an American Beauty Rose red. The other is an aqua hue adorned with rhinestone trim at the scoop neckline. Accessories in the wardrobe include earrings, gloves and shoes. These dresses will add variety to the sets of pink, white and blue already in the wardrobe.

"B. C." Goes To College!

Civil Service Exam Given Oct. 15

Announcement has been made by the United States Civil Service Commission that applications for the 1961 Federal Service Entrance Examination are now being accepted. Through this examination young people of college caliber may begin a career in the Federal Civil Service in one of some 60 different occupational fields.

College juniors, seniors, and graduates, regardless of major study, and persons who have had equivalent experience are eligible to take the examination. Starting salaries will be either $4,345 or $5,355 a year depending on the qualifications of the candidate. Management Internships will also be filled from this examination with starting salaries of $5,355 and $6,435 a year.

The first written test will be held on October 15 for those who apply by September 29. Five additional tests have been scheduled for this school year. Dates are November 19, 1960, January 14, February 11, April 15, and May 13, 1961.

Acceptance of applications for Management Internships will be closed on January 26, 1961. For all other positions, the closing date is April 27, 1961.

Interested persons may obtain further information from the following representatives of the Federal Civil Service who will be at the Placement Office on October 11, 1960.

Mr. G. A. Johnson, Personnel Officer, Veterans Administration Center, Shreveport, Louisiana.

Mr. J. S. Goff, District Manager, Social Security Administration, Shreveport, Louisiana.

Mr. Samuel C. Wilson, Wage, Hour & Public Contracts Field Office, Shreveport, Louisiana.

Enjoying The Green Life

You upperclassmen who have just pushed one of the bald ones out of a chair might think that I'm going to start off by criticizing all upperclassmen. You're wrong. I think you're doing a fine job as quasi-gods, a little tarnished, but just as loud as ever.

The thing that's bothering me is whether or not everybody had to start all this by being a freshman. There are some inconveniences but they are all but outweighed by the privilege that all frosh have, walking in the wet grass when the heralds sound the approach of one of the golden ones. I don't mind doing that, but I do object to the toll booth set up at the entrance to the book store.

Morning to a frosh is an exciting experience. It's almost like being at home and having a family of 62. It all starts with the usual scalp massage and inspection showing that it's grown out another 23mm. The cafeteria is a fine place to impress upperclassmen. They even let you take their trays back, and open doors. Why, the other day, without even asking, one of them let me clear a table in the SUB. (There were only 3 at the table.)

Most frosh figure the big guys like to feel important. That's not true. I made the mistake of asking what I thought was another freshman for the time. It turned out that he had something to do with some senate, even though he was shorter than me, but with no physical violence as would be expected, he said "aw, giddadahere!"

I feel pretty safe now. All you have to do to be an upperclassman is buy a wig and take voice lessons and nobody will know the difference unless maybe you forget to slap other upperclassmen on the back.

Poetry Anthologies To Be Published

Centenary students who are interested in publishing original poetry works may contribute poems to two Anthologies to be published in 1961.

The American College Poetry Society is compiling their fourth semester anthology of outstanding college poetry.

Contributions must be the original work of the student, submitted to Alan C. Fox, care of the Society, Box 24463, Los Angeles 24, Calif. The entrant's name, address, and school must be on each page. Poems, which may deal with any subject, may not exceed 48 lines, nor may any individual submit more than five poems. All entries must be postmarked not later than midnight, Dec. 9, 1960, to be considered and the decision of the Society judges is final.

The National Poetry Association is also sponsoring an anthology. Any student wanting to submit his verse to the College Students' Poetry Anthology should do so by November 5. There are no limitations as to form or theme. Shorter works are preferred by the Board of Judges, because of limited space.

Each poem must be typed or printed on a separate sheet, and must bear the name and home address of the student, as well as the name of the college attended.

All entries should be mailed to National Poetry Association, 3210 Selby Avenue, Los Angeles 34, Calif.

Westminster, MSM, Canterbury Become Active

The Westminster Fellowship, a religious organization for Presbyterian students, has been recently reorganized on Centenary campus. The first meeting of this semester was held Sunday night, October 2, in the old Religious Education Building. The sponsor of the group is Miss Ethel Howe, Director of Christian Education at the First Presbyterian Church of Shreveport. Meetings are to be held every Sunday night from 6:00-7:00 P.M. A variety of programs are being planned. All interested students are invited to attend.

Canterbury Open House

Over fifty people were present at the Canterbury Club open house on Sunday, October 2, from three to five. The clergy attending included the Reverends Comegys, Plumley, Sykes, Brown, Hipwell, and Chambliss.

Guests were conducted on a tour of the new building and shown the many new features which are to be available to all Canterbury members. After the tour everyone had punch and cookies, which were served by the Canterbury Club members.

MSM Motive

The second M.S.M. meeting of the year was off to a start with an hour of fellowship and fun in order to become better acquainted with one another.

Dr. Virginia Carlton, an enthusiastic backer of "Motive Magazine," was the guest speaker for the evening. She introduced Motive as a contemporary expression of prose and art related to Christianity and the university situation.

An explanation of the budget was given by Earnest Heard, after which pledges were made.

Red, black and white circles told a symbolic story of the Methodist Student Fellowship Fund in the movie "The Same Old Circle."

Student Senate Minutes

The Student Senate Meeting was held in the Moore Student Center at 5:45, Wednesday, September 28. The meeting was called to order by the President, Jim Daigle. Others present were Anne McLaurin, Ralph Mason, Brenda Bailey, James Goins, Jean Netterville, G. B. Watson, Barbara Bourdier, Don Tyler, and Dean Allen.

A report on Kangaroo Court was made. The committee told of plans and asked the Senate members to turn in names of Freshmen who had violated rules.

Mrs. Rogers of Music Corporation of America came to get suggestions for the Nameband Dance. The Senate gave her the date of December 15, and an alternate date of March 24.

There being no further business the meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
Brenda Bailey
Student Senate Secretary

Alpha Epsilon Delta Initiates Sept. 29

Alpha Epsilon Delta, the honorary premedical society held initiation on Thursday, September 29. The new initiates are Mrs. Martha Hawkins and Mrs. Lucy Carpenter, both of Shreveport. The requirements for initiation are: completion of three semesters of work at Centenary; a major in premedical curriculum, which includes the fields of dentistry, medical technology, physical therapy, etc.; a 2.8 overall average; and a 3.0 average in science courses.

After initiation Rod Yeager, president, conducted a business meeting during which future plans for programs and field trips were discussed.

Another basketball season is almost upon us. The Centenary varsity team is raring to go and asks only for the support of all Gent fans.

'60 '61 Gents Boast Size, Depth

By MIKE RAMMING

The success of any college basketball team will hinge largely on two factors, its size and depth. Centenary Coach Orvis Sigler should have plenty of both to work with this year in the rapidly approaching cage campaign.

Sigler's "big men" will consist of eight players. The biggest of the big are 6' 9" Harry Wuennenberg and 6' 8" Jackie Crawford. Joining these tree toppers will be 6' 7" Ralph Ferrari, 6' 6" Dale Van Bibber, 6' 6" Wayne Dubose, 6' 5" Ralph Mason, 6' 5" Riley Wallace and 6' 5" Mike Ramming.

Providing speed and ability in the Gent backcourt this year will be seven talented roundballers. This group includes 6' 3" Glenn Cothorn, 6' 3" Ford King Jr., 6' 2" Willard Moore, 6' 2" Don Ensley, 6' 2" John Lukasik, 6' 1" John Vasilopoulos, and 6' 0" Jerry Callens. The Gent roster shows no player less than six feet tall.

Another facet of basketball success is experience, which the Maroon and White have plenty of. Three starters return from last year's team. Once again in the Gent lineup will be Senior Jackie Crawford; Senior Glenn Cothorn; and Junior Dale Van Bibber. The experience does not end here, however. Also returning from last years club will be Senior Wayne Dubose, Senior Ralph Mason, Senior John Vasilopoulos, Junior Ford King, and Junior Mike Ramming.

A big boost is expected from Pleasant Hill's Jerry Callens, who is back in a Gent uniform after a year's absence. Many Gent fans will remember Jerry's brilliant freshman play of two years ago when he poured in 17 points per contest.

Coach Doug Mooty's very successful freshman team of last year will send six fine players to the varsity squad. Riley Wallace, Ralph Ferrari, Willard Moore, Don Ensley, Harry Wuennenberg, and John Lukasik make the big jump to the varsity this year.

The training department will be in the very capable hands of Pegram McCreary. "Mac" worked in the training room at Tulane before joining the Centenary crew last year.

Serving as manager once again will be Andy Teal. Hailing from Tennessee, Andy is now a veteran manager as this will be his second year of service in this capacity.

Once again the Gent Schedule is tougher than ever. Several new perennially strong cage teams have been added to the already powerful list of Gent foes. Among these additions are T. C. U., Tampa, Air Force Academy, Memphis Christian Brothers, East Texas State, and East Tennessee. Back once again will be the likes of Miami, Oklahoma City, Texas A. and M., and Tulane.

December will once again bring the Gulf South Classic to Shreveport with Centenary acting as host. The finest array of talent in the Classics history will be on hand this year. The field of teams includes Mississippi, Georgetown, South Carolina, West Texas State, Middle Tennessee, Northwestern of La., Louisiana Tech, and our own Centenary Gents. The tournament will be a three day affair beginning December 28 at the Hirsch Memorial Youth Center.

The outlook for the Gents is bright and we can all make it brighter by supporting our team at home and on the road. The Gents make their debut December 3rd when they play host to East Texas State here in Shreveport.

Rocquin VP Of WRA

The officers of W. R. A. have elected a new Vice-President, Elsa Rocquin, four nominees, two from Zeta Tau Alpha and two from Methodist Student Movement. The Vice-President was elected from one of these groups because these organizations do not hold an office on the council. The council has also decided to begin intramural games at 6:00 p. m. instead of the usual 5:45. This is to be a trial procedure.

The following is a tentative schedule of the W. R. A. Intramural Program for the year 1960-61:

Chi Omega Pledges Honored At Supper

Chi Omega pledges were honored at a buffet given by the Alumni, Wednesday night, October 5. The event took place at the home of Mrs. James Gavin on Richmond Drive.

The entertainment provided by the actives was a rush skit entitled, "The Owl and I". Those participating were: Grace Jackson, Helen Gulley, Jane Ilgenfritz, Anne McLaurin, Winifred Fair, Brenda Bailey, Peggy Foster, Becky Graham, Gail Yarbrough, and Carolyn Searcy.

Schwendimann To Be Chief-Justice Of Honor Court

The Honor Court for this school year has announced the following officers: Chief Justice, Fred Schwendimann; Associate Justice, Richard Herrman; Clerk of Court, Lynda Rossett; members, Jimmy Hughes and Kay Cooper; Alternate members, Gen Compton and Al Holland. The faculty sponsor is Dr. Carlton. All meetings of the Honor Court will be announced in the Conglomerate.

Although most students are aware that the Honor System is in force on Centenary campus, many of them do not fully understand the reasons behind the adoption of it. This year the Student Senate requests that all students keep the following values in mind in regard to the Honor System.

1. That the standards of the college will be raised socially, morally, and academically.
2. That a better relationship between faculty and students will result.
3. That students will be encouraged to develop a sense of responsibility.
4. That the student body will accept disciplines in honesty and integrity as a fundamental part of their education.
5. That the value of the degree earned at Centenary College will be increased as a result of the adoption of an honor system.
6. That the prestige of the college will be improved.
7. That there will be a general moral improvement in every area of college life.

9 Pledge Aufait

Aufait has again been using its wonderful clubhouse, courtesy of the R. S. Barnwells. At the meeting Saturday evening nine girls were pledged. They are Barbara Adair, East Bernard, Texas; Edie Canard, Baker; Julie Creel, New Orleans; Diana Laney, El Dorado, Ark.; Judy Matthew, Smackover, Ark.; Kay Nicholson, Baton Rouge; Sue Sanders, Minden; Muriel Vonderhaar, New Orleans; and Dot Wise, Haynesville. Mrs. Bryant Davidson and Mr. and Mrs. Gates were chaperons at the party.

Hearn's
SHREVEPORT

In this issue of The Conglomerate we are beginning a new feature series which will honor a member of either The Conglomerate or Yoncopin staff to better acquaint students with the people behind the publications.

Selected for "Hats Off" this week is a senior member of The Conglomerate well known in the school of medicine!

Before coming to Centenary her sophomore year, our student lived in Guam where she graduated as Salutatorian of her high school and attended the Territorial College of Guam. Previous to this, she lived in Munich, Germany and traveled elsewhere in the Eastern hemisphere.

Now, as a student at Centenary, she has proved to be a deserving person as well as an interesting one. An outstanding student scholastically, she was selected a member of the Maroon Jackets, an especially high honor for senior women at Centenary, and holds the office of vice president for that organization. In addition to this office, she is vice president of Alpha Epsilon Delta, pre-med fraternity, vice-president of Hardin Hall dormitory, and vice-president and pledge trainer for Alpha Zeta Delta sorority.

She is News Editor for The Conglomerate, a member of Alpha Sigma Chi, honorary chemistry fraternity, the Methodist Student Movement, and the Women's Recreational Association. As a sophomore she was a member of Alpha Sigma Phi.

She is majoring in biology and plans to spend one year at the Confederate Memorial Hospital in Shreveport preparing for future work in medical technology.

So . . . for your scholarship, leadership, and faithful work on The Conglomerate staff, we take our hats off to you . . . Sandra Whitlock.

Foster To Speak On Foreign Affairs

Mr. H. S. Foster will be present at a "fireside" discussion session being set up for him on Thursday, October 13th, at 3:00 p. m., in the Moore Student Center.

Mr. Foster is currently director of the Public Opinion Studies Staff which is responsible for preparing analyses of American public opinion on foreign affairs. He will answer questions on the results of his studies and other related subjects.

Faculty and students are invited to be present for the occasion.

Intramural Football Campaign Opens

The 1960 intramural football season opened Thursday, October 6th, with a field of nine teams participating. M. S. M., B. S. U., Golden Pheasants, Ku Klux Klan, Kappa Alpha, and Kappa Sigma will be sending their respective charges onto the field this fall.

The entire mens' intramural program will be under the direction of Mr. Larry Gates, who joined the Centenary faculty this year as physical education instructor.

Games will be played on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday nights of each week. These skirmishes are to begin at 5:15 P. M. Schedules will be posted on the bulletin board in Haynes Gymnasium opposite the main entrance.

This is the B-52. Advanced as it may be, this airplane has one thing in common with the first war-galleys of ancient Egypt . . . and with the air and space vehicles of the future. Someone must chart its course. Someone must navigate it.

For certain young men this presents a career of real executive opportunity. Here, perhaps you will have the chance to master a profession full of meaning, excitement and rewards . . . as a Navigator in the U. S. Air Force.

To qualify for Navigator training as an Aviation Cadet you must be an American citizen between 19 and 26½—single, healthy and intelligent. A high school diploma is required, but some college is highly desirable. Successful completion of the training program leads to a commission as a Second Lieutenant . . . and your Navigator wings.

If you think you have what it takes to measure up to the Aviation Cadet Program for Navigator training, see your local Air Force Recruiter. Or clip and mail this coupon.

Well, things are in full swing at Centenary now. Freshmen have found all their classrooms (we hope) and upperclassmen have caught up with the latest summer news.

A big congratulations goes to both the fraternity actives and new pledges.

Proud wearers of the Kappa Alpha pledge pin are: Don Townsend, Rodney Hart, Marcus McCrary, Paul Marshall, Pratt Hayes, Bill DeLoach, Ken Hunt, Malcolm Wallace, Jimmy Tonn, Vernon Hastings, Bob Hawkins, Bill McCaa, Barry Petree, Lynn Guley, Larry Jones, Tommy Carter, Doug Howard, Bob McCraime and Eric Bishop.

New Kappa Sigma pledge pins were placed on: Robert Edler, Chat Reed, Don Adair, Bob Bishoff, Barry Bolack, Barton Baker, Johnny Cowen, Larry Cowley, Warren Constant, Hoyt Bain, Dave Glass, Mike Hayes, Charles Powell, Harvey Long, Leonard Riggs, Johnny Shankles, Mike Sport, Derwood Winfree, Scott Roberts, Jimmy Williams, Jim Mitchell, Roger Box, Bill Martin, Robert Gillen, Jim Oldson, Jess Hoffpauir, Jimmy Henderson, Tommy Head, Ken Gordon, Riley Wallace and John Brewer.

Barbara Bourdier is driving around in a new birthday present, a Falcon. We understand that the straight shift is causing her to have a problem with it.

Gail Yarbrough is now wearing Buddy Hawkins' Kappa Sig pin. More newly weds of the summer are Jess and Elston Hoffpauir. Congratulations!

Congratulations are also in order for Martharene Long. She was recently initiated into ZTA, and this summer she received an engagement ring.

Those smiling faces could belong to Carolyn Searcy, Nancy Stobaugh, Marie Armintor, Martha Ann Brown and Lydia McGlathery. They were initiated into Chi Omega.

We are glad to have Pat Corrington with us this semester. Pat is a transfer from the University of Oklahoma.

Don Adair seems to have difficulty in recognizing people on campus. Is that right Don?

We are very proud of Lyndra Pate who was recently selected at Cotton Festival Queen. She received her crown from Anita Tommason, who was last year's queen.

Chi Omega pledges and actives were entertained with a supper at the home of Mrs. Jim Gavens last Wednesday night.

New sorority pledge class presidents are Julia Schmidt—Alpha Xi Delta, Melanie Martin—Chi Omega, and Annette Wimberley—Zeta Tau Alpha.

Aufait pledged the following: Muriel Vonderhaar, Diana Laney, Dot Wise, Judy Matthews, Sue Sanders, Barbara Adair, Julie Creel, Kay Nicholson and Edie Canard. Congratulations girls.

Latest thing in Dormitory life is a "wing-ding". Butchie McCuiston, Jill Landis, Catherine Chesney and Sallie Clingman entertained the right wing of James Dormitory's first floor with this new idea of theirs. Among those present were: Lynn Knotts, Shirley Burnett, Linda Kay Ellington, Janet McClelland and Mrs. Reed.

Elsa Roquin has been elected as new WRA vice-president. Congratulations! Monday afternoon the Zeta alumnae honored actives and pledges at a tea.

Congratulations to Betty Thorten, new Chi Omega pledge.

The blessed event has finally happened! A baby girl, Cynthia Elizabeth, was born to Rod and Elizabeth Reeves Yeager Wednesday night. We understand that Aunt Margaret is also recovering satisfactorily.

Week-end Retreat

A college retreat will be held on Friday, October 7 and Saturday, October 8 at Lake Bistineau State Park. It has been arranged to provide an opportunity for students, faculty, and administration to be together in an informal environment to discuss and share ideas on educational, philosophical, and theological matters.

On Friday evening Dr. Bryant Davidson and Dr. Webb Pomeroy will lead a discussion on "Basic Philosophical and Theological Questions." The second session will begin on Saturday at 9:00 with a speech by Dr. Lee Morgan on the subject "One Contemporary Answer Paul Tillich." The final meeting will be climaxed by a panel discussion on "The Implications of Involvement" featuring Dr. John Willingham, Dr. Woodrow Pate, and Rev. Don Guynes.

From Sports To Philosophy

By SANDRA McCUISTION

"I love to swim and ski," laughs Kay Cooper, who taught swimming all last summer, "but I'm afraid that's as far as my athletic abilities go." While in high school in Sulphur, Louisiana, Kay had to play baseball in her Physical Education class. After three months of baseball and three months of strike-outs, Kay's gym teacher remarked, "Kay, having you in our class helps us to understand each other's inabilities."

Fortunately, Kay has many other interests and activities. She is the newly elected Vice-President of the Junior class, a member of Chi Omega, soprano section leader of the Centenary Choir, a member of Alpha Sigma Pi, and a member of the Honor Court. She is majoring in French and English and plans someday to teach these subjects.

Last year Kay sang for some time at the Shreve Landing Club. "This added greatly to my liberal arts education," remarks Kay. Sometimes, though, Kay gets a little too busy to keep up with current affairs. During the Miss Shreveport Contest of 1959, in which Kay was second runner-up, she had her personal interview with the judges on the day Christian Herter became Secretary of State. One of the judges asked Kay who Mr. Herter was. Her straightforward answer was, "I never heard of him."

"I think there should be more hazing of girls," maintains Mike Sport, a freshman from Marshall, Texas. Mike assures us that he has nothing against girls, it's just that they get off too easily. Of course being thrown in the fish pond a week or so ago by Jim Daigle and Joe Ben Hayes may have had something to do with Mike's attitude. He even claims to have caught a cold from the shattering experience.

In high school Mike participated in basketball, football, baseball, and track, and this semester will be active in intramurals as a new Kappa Sigma pledge. Mike is majoring in Geology and, like his father, plans to be a petroleum engineer.

As mentioned before, Mike likes girls, but they are also the source of his pet peeve: he hates 'em to turn the rear-view mirror around in a car to fix their hair or lipstick. All things considered, however, Mike is a pretty good Sport.

"I like classical music, I really do," exclaims Mary Bostick from Gilbert, Louisiana, "but I just never listen to it." Among Mary's other likes are novels by William Faulkner, water-skiing, and classes under Dr. Teagarden and Dr. Davidson. She is a History and Education major and a member of Zeta Tau Alpha.

Her father practices medicine in her hometown, and once in a while people even come to Mary for a diagnosis. "Heavens," she laments, "some of them expect me to know as much about it as he does!"

Although she probably agrees that we couldn't get along without them, Mary proclaims that boys, one in particular, are her main source of aggravation.

G. B. Watson, a senior, is Independent Representative to the Student Senate this year. Among his many interests are history and government, his major, and philosophy, his minor. After graduating from Centenary, G. B. plans to attend divinity school at Duke University and acquire a master's degree in philosophy. Later he plans to teach, and eventually he hopes to obtain a doctorate. He prefers classical music and is a great admirer of Philippe Entremont, the brilliant young pianist. When asked about the coming November elections, G. B. Replied, "I'm for Kennedy and Lodge." This should make both parties happy?

"Although I was the most gentle of freshmen," recalls G. B. (a fellow, we must add, of considerable size) "everyone was too scared to throw me in the fishpond." Instead, he had to propose to Beverly Norman, who was then Miss Louisiana. How's that for hazing, huh, freshmen?

Lyndra Pate, Miss Centenary of 1960, receives the crown of North Louisiana Maid of Cotton from Anita Thomasson, who reigned as queen last year. The crowning was the climax of the annual North Louisiana Cotton Festival and Fair held in Bastrop, La.

Miss Centenary Crowned North La. Maid of Cotton

Miss Lyndra Pate has been crowned the North Louisiana Maid of Cotton at the annual North Louisiana Cotton Festival and Fair held several weeks ago in Bastrop, Louisiana. Lyndra was Centenary's official entry. She was crowned by last year's queen, Miss Anita Sue Thomasson, who is a fellow student and sorority sister.

Lyndra competed with fourteen other contestants from throughout North Louisiana. The contestants were judged on talent, personality, and poise and grace in bathing suit and formal dress competition. Lyndra was awarded first place in the talent competition with her rendition of a medley of river songs, which included "Up the Lazy River," and "Swanee".

Among her prizes are a $100 wardrobe and $100 in each. She also will be a featured guest at many beauty contests throughout Louisiana this coming year. Included in them are: Ruston Peach Festival, Louisiana Forest Festival, and the Mardi Gras Ball in Washington, D. C.

Miss Pate is a sophomore majoring in music. She is the present Miss Centenary and was a princess in the Holiday in Dixie contest. Her campus activities include membership in Zeta Tau Alpha fraternity, Phi Beta Music Fraternity and the Centenary Choir.

Symphony Week Reaches Finale With TV Concert

The conclusion of the 3rd annual Shreveport Symphony week on October 9 heralded the beginning of the 1960-61 season for the orchestra, which includes among its members eleven Centenary students on Symphony scholarships. With their many contributions, including the Symphony House (located on Woodlawn next to the Centenary Campus), the Symphony Scholarship Program with Centenary College, Free Youth Concerts presented each year in Caddo Parish Schools, and their Subscription Series, the Symphony Society has earned the respect of Shreveport with their theme to provide "Great Music for a Growing City".

In conjunction with the past "Symphony Week" which began Sunday, October 2, the orchestra has already presented two Youth Concerts, one at the Blanchard School Auditorium on October 5, and another at Linwood Junior High School on October 6. More than 28 Free Youth Concerts are presented each year in the public schools of Shreveport. Highlight of the week was the televised Symphony Concert, Sunday, October 9, at 3:30 p.m.

Centenary Faculty members in the Shreveport Symphony include: Rule Beasley, Walter Caughey, Monas Harlan, Frances May Perkins, John Shenaut, and Sam Terranova.

Students Head Stage Crews For "Murder"

The students of Centenary College are enjoying their first opportunity to manage all the technical aspects of a dramatic production. Students are in charge of every operation from lighting the show, to building the set, to constructing the costumes, and to creating the make-up and the properties. These tasks are done under the supervision of Professor Corey, the director, and Mrs. Corey, the designer.

Each crew is headed by a student working directly with the director or designer. David Gibson, a senior from Louisville, Kentucky, is in charge of lighting the show. The set is being constructed by John Frazer of Monroe, Louisiana, with the help of several Centenary students.

The highly individualistic properties are being made by Celia Butler, Linda Mashaw, and Mary Ann Youngblood.

Murder in the Cathedral is being publicized through all the local publications and public gatherings by Annette Shirey, Julie Schmidt, and Barbara McMillin.

Barry Hope will manage the box office for the production, and Len Udes will execute the sound effects.

The efforts of these workers will culminate on November 10-19, the production dates for Murder in the Cathedral, the first student dramatic production in the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse. This show is sponsored by The Jongleurs, the new Centenary dramatics club.

Centettes Discuss Plans for 1960

At the weekly meeting of the Centettes, Centenary Pep Squad, on Tuesday, October 4, in S114, it was announced that, due to a very heavy schedule, one of the group's faculty advisors, Miss Mary Francis Estes, would be replaced by Mrs. Joe Thomas.

The Centettes began their activities for the year with a committee meeting to organize the barbecue which will follow the Freshman-Varsity basketball game on November 21. The day's activities will include a city-wide ticket selling and the admission of new members into the Cent's Club. It is hoped that this will bring the student body to support their team as much as possible this season.

As the barbecue was being planned, the advertisement committee was also meeting with each member submitting sketches to be used for banners, posters, and hoops. Two banners will be hung on the buses used by the Centettes when they attend out-of-town games, posters will be used to advertise each game as it approaches, and a new hoop will be made for the team to break at each game. Working on the first hoop will be Dorothy Risinger and Mary Speights and on the second will be Carol Hanna and Joyce Shealy.

Kenny-Boy, the Kangaroo Court Lion, is pacified by one of his would-be victims, Beth Catton.

Freshmen Hazing Climaxed At Kangaroo Court Session

Kangaroo Court, climax of freshman hazing, was called into session at the free period Tuesday by Jack Mulkey, who portrayed the ghoulish monster of ceremonies. The atmosphere was provided by a boiling caldren and the Student Senate attired in black.

To begin the ordeal all freshmen were required to remove their shoes to prevent them from escaping the tortures prepared for them. Blocks of ice were thoughtfully provided for the freshmen to keep hell's fires from scorching them. Each freshman was given the opportunity of sitting on an ice block for a short time.

Soft-hearted Lion

The first offenders, Pat Byrd, Beth Catton, Doug Howard, and Mike Sport, participated in a reenactment of the Christian trials in Rome. A live lion, Kenny-Boy, was brought out to devour them, but he had a change of heart at the last moment. Robert Gillian, Lynne Gulley, Ken Gordon, Dan Adair, Paul Marshall, and Jimmy Williams were featured in a sack race up the hill by the amphitheater. The winner was awarded his burlap bag.

A sextet was provided for the Devil's entertainment, featuring Dianna Ammons, Ann Hogan, Geneva Jones, Judy Smith, Joan Williams, and Annette Wimberly. They each sang "Mary Had a Little Lamb" to different tunes.

Gabe Beard, Sharon Blevins, Johnny Cowen, Ruth Nelson, and Don Townsend all tried their luck at ducking for the apple.

Jimmy Henderson and Tommy Head had a shaving cream fight while in the background Dar Lynn Gilbert, Jimmie Buhler, Johnny Brewer, Ellen Godbold, Suzanne King, and Larry Jones had a bubble blowing contest.

LaNell Dean was featured in a foot mudpack singing "When The Saints Go Marching." Meanwhile Heather Dodson, Betty Jean Campbell, Linda Dodson, and Judy Daigle were sentenced to wear masks for the remainder of the day for the high crime of stealing the senior boys from the senior girls.

Mike Kennon, Dennis Kile, Bill McCaa, Stan McAfoos, Jim Oldson, and Boti Baker went fishing using marshmallows for bait. Sandra Stokes, Meryl Campbell, Muriel Vonderhaar, Ginger Chapman, Nancy Thigpen, and Gayle Williams were caught nibbling on the bait.

Derwood Winfree was given the opportunity to demonstrate his great skill as a lover by proposing to Lyndra Pate, Miss Centenary. Meanwhile Jennifer Victory, Carol Hanna, Claire Self, Lucie Walsh, Julie Schmidt, and Melanie Martin were riding their broomsticks around the cafeteria.

Beanies to Witches' Hats

Barbara McMillan, Carolyn Lap-leau, Bill Martin, Jimmy Tonn, and Nancy Lecky were sentenced to wear witches' hats for the remainder of the day for the crime of not wearing their beanies.

Twelve lucky freshmen were allowed to compete in a pickle eating contest. Page Tiller, Larry Cowley, Lois Thayer, Ned Allen Ford, Celia Butler, Charlie Pyle, Lynah Chambers, Pratt Hayes, Jane Hebert, Jimmy Williams and Mary Ann Youngblood fed each other pickles while blindfolded.

Patti McHugh, Dorothy Risinger, and Susan McVea vied with each other in a race while wearing track warm-up clothes.

The Pause that Refreshes

The final punishment was meted out to Betty Mount, Rodney Hart, Beth Frey, Roger Box, Gail Southerland, and Cecil Upshaw. They participated in a coke drinking race with the winner receiving a coke.

Pandemonium reigned when the court was adjourned for another year as the freshmen sought to retrieve their lost shoes.

"B. C." Goes To College!

THE FIRST MASCOT.

Elections Show Low Student Vote

One of the privileges of a full-time Centenary student is voting for the persons who will represent his interests and the interests of his class. Yet this privilege was not exercised by more than 50% of the student body in the recent class officer elections. A report on the voting procedures divulged that only 57% of the senior class voted, 40% of the junior class, 52% of the sophomores, and 45% of the freshmen. If this report indicates at all the general interest of Centenary students in student affairs, then it would seem that Centenary College as a student community is lacking in its effectiveness. No organization can remain successful or active with only 50% cooperation of its members.

If this disinterest carries into other decisions and projects, then the 1960-61 year may very well be a repetition of such 1959-60 failures as the big-name-band project which died because not enough students were willing to work to obtain that goal. It is true that some students probably did not vote because they either forgot, or they were not familiar with the candidates, but it is hard to believe that 50% of the students neglected to vote for one of those two reasons. It is even harder to justify a 40% vote in the junior class by that reasoning.

We hope that the 1960-61 year will begin to show an increase in the percentage of class participation, interest, and cooperation in student activities, for that is the only way in which Centenary College can offer the fullest and most memorable campus life to every student.

— S. W.

Reflections On The College Retreat

The College Retreat, which was to have been an opportunity for faculty and students to get together informally, was cancelled because of lack of student response. It would seem, on first observation, that only those fifteen people who registered were interested in promoting better relationships between the students and the faculty. Yet nearly every student, upon hearing that the retreat had failed, expressed concern. Then why did they not attend? Most students were very enthusiastic about the speakers and the lecture topics, but Centenary students have long held their weekends sacred for relaxation or study in their own private ways. This may or may not be a good attitude, but the fact remains that it does prevail. If a gathering of this nature is to succeed, then the habits of the campus must be observed for the majority to benefit from it. The Conglomerate staff is very interested in seeing that the proposed topics and speakers of the college retreat be brought to the student body. We would like to suggest that more students be included in the initial planning of such an event, and that it be held on campus during the school week. We would also like to hear some comment on these ideas from the students and the faculty.

Central Committee Set Up By Sophs

The Sophomore Class had its first class meeting Friday during the free period. The president, "Yogi Ferreri", proposed that the majority of the business be conducted through a Sophomore Central Committee, whose members were to be selected by the president. This proposal was accepted and the members of the committee are as follows: the class officers, Bob Gaynor, Ryan Horton, Marion Kettler, Jackie Rosett, Nancy Stobaugh, and Kay Tipton. The two main activities of the class for the year will be to sponsor another musical revue and to sponsor some informal dances in the student center. It will be the business of the committee to further discuss these ideas.

N.E.A. Selects 1960-61 Officers

Recently elected officers of the Centenary chapter of the Student National Education Association are as follows: President, Tim Temple; Vice-President, Linda Sartor; Secretary, Ane McLaurin; Treasurer, Beverly Wingo; Reporter, Genevieve Compton. Faculty sponsor is Dr. MacCurdy.

Applications for joining N. E. A. will be given out in Education classes. If you do not receive one and would like to join, contact Dr. MacCurdy. Dr. MacCurdy announced that American Education Week is to be November 6-12 and the group is planning to sponsor a project, either for each individual or together, to publicize this event.

Methodist Churches Sponsor Scholarships

Six coeds are attending Centenary College this year on scholarships sponsored by the Board of Education of the Methodist Church. These scholarships, of $500 each, are financed by funds contributed by local churches on Methodist Student Day each June. They are awarded on the basis of promise of future leadership to churches, high scholarship and a maintenance of at least a "B" average in college-level work. These scholarships are renewable for one year.

Those receiving scholarships this year are as follows: Barbara Ann Barbee, Dallas, Tex.; Mary Kathleen Brian, Baton Rouge; Rita Jewel Ellison, Shreveport; Margaret Jane Hebert Leesville; Peggy Jean Netterville, Baton Rouge; and Judy Ann Smith, Jonesville.

Alpha Chi Makes Initiation Plans

Alpha Chi, the junior-senior scholastic honor fraternity, desires to have all those students who have an overall average of 3.5 or better in sixty (60) or more semester hours make themselves known as being eligible for admission.

The first meeting is scheduled for Sunday, October 30. Therefore, it is necessary to let one of the following know of your eligibility before Wednesday, October 26; Dr. E. T. Ford, John Williams, Richard Herrmann, or Albert Cooksey.

Willingham's Book On Hart Crane To Be Published Soon

This summer Dr. Willingham was given a faculty grant and a leave of absence to work on his forthcoming book, a collection of critical essays on the American poet, Hart Crane.

In the search for information, his travels have taken him to the University of Oklahoma where he collaborated with Stanly Coffman, the Associate Dean and Professor of English. He spent considerable time in the libraries of the University of Pennsylvania and six weeks gathering material at Harvard University. The remainder of his time was spent in libraries in and around Boston and at Cape Cod in the home of Waldo Frank, novelist, critic, and a personal friend of Crane.

Dr. Willingham's book will be the first full-length critical book on Hart Crane since his death. In addition to essays, the book will include a complete check list of Crane's works and material about him.

The book is expected to be published sometime this year.

Open Letter From Dr. Emerich

Dear Sir:

As a recently-resigned member of the Chemistry Department faculty, I herein publicly acknowledge the great personal and professional debt I owe my erstwhile colleague and department head, Dr. John B. Entrikin. My statements can add little to the high esteem in which Dr. Entrikin is held by all who know him, but this letter should clarify my position, at least. Dr. Entrikin was always kind considerate, helpful, and encouraging to me while at Centenary. I was given every latitude in planning and executing recitations, demonstrations, and laboratory work. He accepted all my suggestions for improved physical facilities and apparatus for which funds could be found. He was always a dependable friend, confidant, and morale booster.

Why then did I choose to dis-associate myself from him and Centenary? Professionally, my present situation offers much greater opportunity for research in which I am personally interested. This was the overriding consideration.

It is my judgment that the undergraduate training in chemistry at Centenary College is second to none in Louisiana and has few peers in the South. I wish the college every success in developing a truly superior liberal arts program in all departments.

Very truly yours,
Donald W. Emerich
Assoc. Prof. of Chemistry

Weekly Calendar

Cossa's Open Season With Victory

By MIKE RAMMING

Cossa's Robbers pounded out a 20-0 victory over the Kappa Alpha Gray Ghosts last Thursday night. Cossa's quarterback, Boti Baker, was the whole story in the first half as he "broke loose" for a sixty yard touchdown run in the opening moments of play and only seconds later went up the middle for a 10 yard scoring effort.

In the second half, Jim Daigle, Cossa's halfback, scored from the "Ghost" fifteen yardline. The Gray Ghosts then took to the air. After three incomplete passes, "Ghost" quarterback Don Townsend uncorked a beautiful fifty yard pass play moving the pigskin to the "Robbers" thirty yard line. Another Townsend pass was complete to the twenty. The gun sounded before the beginning of the next play ending the game.

The following is the schedule of play for the week beginning October 16th.

Centenary Choir Begins 17th Year

The 1960-61 Centenary Choir which will be presented to the public on the 1st and 2nd of November is the product of 17 years background and tradition. Though personnel changes rapidly and adjustments are many, practices and traditions proving themselves useful have been carried from year to year with continual improvement in mind.

In selecting members, Director A. C. "Cheesy" Voran looks for more than musical talent. "Typical students with a wide range of extra-curricular activities and a love for singing," he explains, "make the most congenial group." A willingness to sacrifice time to rehearsals and performances is a pre-requisite. Good physical health has become a "must" for traveling. Each year, Dr. Voran looks for singers who will enrich not only the choir during their stay at Centenary, but also their communities and homes when they leave the school.

The first pre-school choir camp got under way in 1944 at Beenaire on Lake Bistineau with 15 singers. For the next 13 years the growing group went out to the lake site to prepare new music until August, 1957 when Hodges Gardens opened its gates to the choir. In 1958 the choir moved from the house on the island to Dedication Lodge where they now meet for camp and weekend rehearsal sessions. The Lodge, named Dedication after the choir's theme song, is located on Centenary Drive in the Gardens, owned by Mrs. A. J. Hodges.

Burton To Begin Lecture Series

The first in a series of lectures on vocations in the business world will be held Tuesday, October 18 during the free period in room 203, Science building. The speaker will be George Burton, a local C. P. A., who will lecture on two phases of accounting: the role of the C.P.A. in the business world, and public accounting as a vocation. These sessions will be held monthly for the whole student body, and are sponsored by Delta Tau Omicron.

Students Form Drama Club

Centenary College's newest student organization, composed of those students interested in dramatics, henceforward will be known as The Jongleurs. This new sponsoring agent for all campus productions chose its name, symbol, and purpose on September 30.

The association of this name with Louisiana players is quite fitting because of the close identification of this state with the French. It is also suitable that these precursors of the modern secular drama should be the namesake of the new student centered dramatics program at Centenary.

This name has an interesting history. During the Dark Ages after the fall of Rome, theatre had almost completely vanished. The Church had not even adopted the drama as a teaching device, as it was later to do. The only remnant of the once flourishing Roman theatre was the wandering minstrels, jugglers, and fools. Some of these itinerant performers combined the arts of mime and singing and storytelling and baladry, and became at once the minstrel-singer,

Three Music Majors Receive Scholarships

Gail Southerland, a freshman from Plain Dealing, won a $400 scholarship from the Presser Foundation of Philadelphia, which annually assists in the education of worthy students who plan to become teachers of music upon graduation. Gail is a student under Joseph Running, professor of piano and Director of the School of Music.

Two Shreveport students, John Robert Scaff, and Jeri Riley received grants of $200 each from the Mamie B. Hicks scholarship fund.

Alpha Xi Delta Gives Coke Party

The 1960-61 pledge class of Alpha Xi Delta held an informal coke party to honor the pledges of the other sororities last Saturday afternoon from two until four at the Alpha Xi Delta house.

The atmosphere was highlighted by spontaneous entertainment provided by some of the guests. Gail Southerland played the piano for some group-singing and Linda Dodson entertained later with an original piano composition and a few songs. The Zeta pledges gave a sneak preview of their can-can which will be seen at the approaching Parisean Street Dance. Pauses between entertainment and conversation were filled with trips to the refreshment table.

Band Concert Held Tuesday

The Centenary College Band, under the direction of B. P. Causey, presented its annual outdoor fall concert at 8 p. m. last Tuesday in the Greek amphitheater on the local campus. The concert, which was presented to the public without charge, featured Edward Copeland as alto saxophone soloist and Clyd McArty as trumpet soloist. The program included the following: "Americans We" by Fillmore, "Poet and Peasant Overture" by Suppe, "Ode for Trumpet" by Reed, Clyde McArty, soloist, "Mardi Gras" by Grofe, "Spiritual" by Gillis, "United States Army March" by Darcy, "Interlude" by Morissey, Edward Copeland, soloist, "Bitter Sweet Selections" by Coward.

appreciation for artistry and literature; to present a diversified dramatic programme for the entertainment, the edification, and the appreciation of theatre for each audience."

By CAROL REICHELT

GTT was the fad this weekend. Texas history tells us that this meant "Gone to Texas" during early days. Centenary students were indeed GTT this weekend.

Dallas attracted many Centenary students. John Lawrence, Betty Schmitt, Jim Oldson, Ann McEarchen, and Betty Sims helped fill the grandstand at the Oklahoma-Texas football game.

The Texas State Fair attracted Phoebe Volentine, Janet McClelland, George Hamilton, Kay Woodruff, Tommy Brewerton, Sandra Stokes, Diane Camp, Andy Teal, Ford King, Patsy West, Judy Thurman, and Frankie Stokes.

Leonard Riggs and Harvey Long had a real opportunity to see Dallas by night. They missed their train home!

Nancy Parker and Sharon Blevins visited their homes in East Texas, and Beaumont attracted George Williford, Johnny Shankles, Marcia Stewart, Barbara Hargraves, Jill Landis and Sallie Clingman.

Stan McAfoos spent an exciting weekend visiting "B.V.D." Lockwood in Spearsville, Louisiana.

Kappa Alpha actives and pledges enjoyed pizza on Monday night. Dan Herndon had an open house after the supper.

All the sorority girls enjoyed the serenading by the KA's and Kappa Sigs. Thanks, boys!

A belated congratulations goes to Roxie Lewis, Merrill Ann Snider and Martha Kelley who were initiated into Alpha Xi Delta this summer.

The Alpha Xi pledges entertained Chi Omega and Zeta pledges with a coke party at the Alpha Xi lodge last Saturday.

Record parties are the rage of Hardin Hall so it seems. Some of the instigators are Page Tiller and Pattie McHugh. The parties feature Edwina Hubert and Judy Bonner on their bongo drums.

Congratulations to newly initiated Kappa Sigmas, Keith Lloyd, Barry Nelson, Yogi Ferrari, Jack Green, Mike Mann, Ez Fatter, Bob Hamilton, and William Patterson.

Riley Wallace, Nancy Stobaugh, Yogi Ferrari, La Nell Dean, Becky Graham and Jimmy Williams were some of the brave souls who cheered Byrd High to victory in the rain on Friday night.

Johnny Evans

Congratulations to new Cencoe members Janet McClelland, Dollie Miller, Merrill Ann Snider and Roxie Lewis. Sara Tiner announced that she will be at the next meeting.

The next building to be erected on the campus is to be the Grace Jackson Transcript Library.

A belated happy birthday to Pedro!

Man

Sandra Boddie, Senior; Larry Jones, Freshman; and Judy Thurmon, Junior are shown polishing their bowling style at Bowlero East. Riley Wallace, sophomore, did not attend this practice session because he felt that he might embarrass the others with his tremendous bowling skill.

Personalities

Well Rounded Personalities

By ELSA ROQUIN

Judy Thurmon, a junior and Physical Education major, plans to study physical therapy upon graduation from Centenary. "Being a P.E. major isn't as bad as it sounds," says Judy.

She is very active in intramurals and is treasurer of WRA.

Judy likes any kind of sports; but we find squirrel and dove hunting at the top of her list. She recalls the first time that she went dove hunting with her brother and he left her by herself for two hours. "I didn't know what to do - so I just waited."

"My pet peeve," states Judy, "is going on a diet and gaining three pounds. This can prove very discouraging."

Larry Loses Classes

"I like to water ski and dance, but there aren't any girls up here that can dance like I do," says Larry Jones from Baton Rouge. "Could be that I was a little bit too far south when I learned how to dance."

Larry, a business major, attended Baton Rouge High School last year where he was a member of Alpha Sigma Phi, an honor society.

He is Treasurer and Parliamentarian of his Kappa Alpha pledge class.

Larry seems to be typical of most freshmen where classes are concerned. It took him one week of going to the wrong classes before he realized it.

Larry's only complaint about Centenary was that the first week of school the girls couldn't talk. That problem should be all over now - right Larry!

Snake Scares Sandra

"I don't have much time for this picture," says Sandra Boddie, "because I'm leaving for Dallas to attend the Fair and see John."

Sandra received the honor of being Kappa Alpha Rose for the chapter here and also Province Rose for the White Province, which includes the seven Louisiana chapters. Sandra is also Vice-President of Zeta Tu Alpha, member of Cencoe, and participates in intramurals.

Besides all this Sandra is practice teaching the third grade at Creswell. "I love it. They really are sweet. You never know what to expect. The other day a little boy brought a pumpkin to school with a snake in it. When he opened the pumpkin the snake was gone. It was very obvious that the snake was somewhere in the classroom."

Sandra lists her likes as mayonnaise sandwiches, tennis, piano, and mountain climbing. She did some of the latter this summer in Colorado while on vacation with her parents.

Ambulance Driver

The reason I didn't come to have the picture taken is because basketball practice has started and that comes first with Coach," remarks Riley Wallace.

Riley is a sophomore from Jerseyville, Illinois, and a Physical Education major. He has just recently pledged Kappa Sigma fraternity. "The only thing I have had to do so far, as far as my pledgeship is concerned, is touch the ceiling in the Student Center," states Riley.

Besides attending summer school at Southern Illinois University, Riley drove an ambulance.

"About the funniest thing that has happened to me - well, it wasn't funny at the time - was when I scored two points in high school for the wrong team."

Alpha Xi Delta Serves Cencoe

Cencoe met for the first time this year on Thursday, October 6 at the Alpha Xi Delta house. A spaghetti supper was served by the Cencoe members of Alpha Xi Delta.

Officers for this year are Judy Herbert, president; Anne McLaurin, Vice-President, and Janet Gholson, secretary.

Cencoe members present were Sallie Clingman, Peggy Elliot, LaVern Burks, Donna Howell, Sandy Whitlock, Linda Rosett, Sandra Bodie, Carole Ann Solomon, Jane Ilgenfritz, Brenda Bailey, Carol Reichelt, Jill Landis, Barbara Bourdier, Winnifred Fair, Louella Bains, and Kay France.

New members elected at the first meeting are Merrill Ann Snider, Roxie Lewis, Janet McClelland, Dollie Miller.

Choir -

Traveling has become an important part of the choir's life. A mid-semester tour is scheduled throughout Louisiana every year. For two weeks, the choir sings at least once a day, staying overnight in homes along the route its visits. In addition, many single trips are taken during the year, all of which spread Centenary's name in this and neighboring states. Nationally and internationally the choir has seen many places including New York, San Francisco, Denver, and the Far East.

Many practices have grown with traveling. The choir adheres to the Code of the Road, which is a collection of pointers and hints to follow when the group travels together.

The organization of the choir is such that each member is responsible for its success. The official family consists of the President, Vice-President, Co-ed Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer, Accompanists and Sectionleaders. Some 30 jobs concerning details of the organization are assigned throughout the choir in a division of labor. Co-operation and consideration are the bywords of success for this group, sometimes called "The Singing Ambassadors."

The defeat of the sophomore class in the Tug-of-War held a rather wet ending for Yogi Ferrari, sophomore class president. This was Yogi's second "dunking" of the morning as the freshmen pulled to victory in two out of three trials.

Frosh Defeat Sophs In Annual Tug-of-War

Freshman Week reached a grand climax Friday, October 14, with the traditional Tug-of-War in the morning, and the presentation of the Court at the freshman dance that evening.

The Tug-of-War, which is the annual contest between the Freshmen and sophomore classes, was held in front of the Science Building during the break. A large crowd collected on the lawn to watch the fun and freshmen and sophomores alike encouraged spectators to join forces with them. The large pit of muddy water between the two teams seemed to discourage many of the people, but eventually the two teams lined up opposing each other across the water pit with a mass of people concentrated at both extreme ends of the rope. The Freshman class emerged victorious in two out of three trials to redeem the honor of the defeated freshman class of last year.

The atmosphere of the day switched from glory to glamour that evening at the freshman dance with the presentation of the Court, which had been chosen by secret ballot during Kangaroo Court. Joan Williams was crowned Queen and Mike Sport reigned as King at the dance. Attending the king and queen were Dorothy Risinger, Jane Hebert, Carolyn Lapleau, Beth Catton, Doug Howard, Don Adair, Lynn Gulley, and Johnny Brewer. Refreshments were served by the Student Senate and music was supplied by Wild Child's Band.

Halloween Party Planned by MSM

The Methodist Student Movement will sponsor a Halloween party Saturday, October 29, at Caney Lake. Cars will leave from James Dormitory at 5:00 p. m.

The activities at Caney Lake will begin with a hike to the picnic area and a "cook-out". After supper entertainment will feature a carnival theme at the Caney Lake Lodge. There will be a vaudeville show complete with a barbershop quartet, other song numbers, a melodrama, and even a can-can. Make your plans now to attend!

ZTA Brings Paris to Centenary

Paris in the form of a Parisian Street Dance is coming to Centenary the night of October 28th from 8 till 12:00. The dance, sponsored by Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, will feature can-can girls, a sidewalk cafe, and music by the Tunes.

The gardens directly behind the Sub will be transformed into a sidewalk cafe, with checkered tablecloths and lighted lanterns on the tables. The interior of the Sub will be decorated with Parisian scenes. Waiters and cigarette girls will complete the atmosphere.

Entertainment will be provided by can-can girls and other acts. Helen Gulley will be featured in a skit, Ray Chabeau and Kay Tipton will dance, Jim Daigle will present imitations, and Sandy Lawn will entertain with his piano playing.

Genie Gibson, Page Tiller, Beth Catton, Kay Tipton, Denise Freeman, Nancy Lecky, Roxie Lewis, Patti McHugh, Mary Bostick, and Ann Hogan will participate in the can-can.

Admission must be obtained by reservations through Janet Gholson for $1.00 a couple.

Air Force Major To Visit Campus

Major Horace L. Cone, U. S. Air Force Officer Selection Specialist, returns to the Centenary campus October 28th.

Major Cones' purpose on campus will be to interview men and women for the Air Force Training School, a program designed for college graduates, enabling them to receive their Commission after a 12 week indoctrination course at Lackland A. F. B., San Antonio, Texas. Navigator training is available to the men under this program.

Room 105 in Moore Student Center will be set aside for interviews, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 12 noon.

Those who desire an interview with Major Cone, but find the scheduled hours inconvenient should contact Sgt. Dick Anders, local Air Force Recruiter in room 421 of the Post Office building or call 42 4-6189.

Centenary Choir Sings "Rhapsody"

November 2nd and 3rd will be busy evenings for members of the Centenary College Choir. These nights will be spent at Byrd High School on the program of "Rhapsody In View". The slogan from the Choir to prospective viewers is "Save 1 and 2 for Rhapsody In View."

Solo numbers will highlight the program, which will include both sacred and secular selections. Tenor soloist Willie Andress of El Dorado, Arkansas, also president of the organization, will be one of the featured singers. Several of the choral arrangements contain solo lines and small group sections.

Ferrante, Teicher to Open 1960-61 Lyceum Series

Arthur Ferrante and Louis Teicher, duo-pianists, will open the 1960-61 Centenary College Lyceum Series with a recital at 10:30 a.m. Thursday, October 27, in the Haynes Memorial Gymnasium.

Since their first performance with the Toledo Symphony in 1947, Ferrante and Teicher have played in 48 states and in Canada, appearing with leading orchestras and giving unique recitals. The pair are noted for their completely fresh approach to two-piano playing, achieved through the use of special devices for producing new sounds with the piano. Although Ferrante and Teicher naturally play on the keys most of the time, they do not confine themselves to the keys. To them, the modern piano is more than a collection of 88 notes produced by hammers on strings. "It is also a complex resonating mass of wood and metal which can be stimulated in various ways," Ferrante claims.

In their recitals, the piano team combine classical music with their own arrangements of the tunes of Gershwin, Rodgers, Kern, Porter and other popular composers, often with new sound effects.

Ferrante and Teicher are graduates and former faculty members of the Juilliard School of Music in New York. Since 1947, they have devoted their full time to concert work.

The duo-piano team will be introduced to the Centenary audience by Joseph M. Running, director of the school of music at Centenary.

Art Fraternity Announces Officers

The Gamma Omicron chapter of Kappa Pi, the national art fraternity located on Centenary's Campus, has announced the following officers for 1960-61: President, Wayne Woodward; Vice-President, Joe Sartor; Secretary, Linda Sue Brown; Treasurer, Marilyn Tonymon; and Historian, Carol Van Hoose.

Plans are being made for this year's projects and will be decided upon at the next meeting. Throughout first semester the members will observe the students in the art classes and those that show promise, and are agreed upon by the fraternity, will be asked to join second semester.

The purpose of Kappa Pi is to promote interest in art among college students. The Gamma Omicron chapter was organized and installed on this campus last year by the chapter from Lamar Tech in Beaumont, Texas. The active members include Mary Margaret Farmer, Bob Shy, Ann McClure, Gerry Rawlinson, Martha Kelley, Alvah Holland, and Becky Graham. The sponsors are Mr. Willard Cooper and Miss Elizabeth Friedenberg.

2nd Report On Nixon-Kennedy Debate

This is the second in our series of interviews following the Nixon-Kennedy debates. One of the most controversial subjects of last Thursday night's debate concerned the question of defense of the Quemoy and Matsu Islands.

David Glass — "Kennedy's position that Matsu and Quemoy are indefensible is asinine. Berlin is no more defensible than Quemoy and Matsu, yet we protect the people of Berlin because of their political influence. Why then should we forsake a similar situation in Quemoy and Matsu. Kennedy is simply trying to pacify Red China because he is afraid of what they will do if we don't retreat."

Bob Durham — "Kennedy's opinion is based on statements by various people that Quemoy and Matsu are indefensible. I would agree with this if we were worried only about two pieces of land, but the significance of Quemoy and Matsu is more than this. What we are defending when we defend Quemoy and Matsu is a promise made by our government to the Nationalist Chinese Government. Therefore, we should defend Quemoy and Matsu to the utmost of our abilities as part of the total defense of Formosa."

Joe Ben Hayes — "Basically the defense of Quemoy and Matsu are dependent on the defense of Formosa. If adequate defense and protection is provided for Formosa, the protection and defense of Quemoy and Matsu would be a secondary problem."

We switch over now to the discussion of private enterprises.

David Graham — "The principles of the Democratic platform seem to retard private enterprises. Because of the strong government control that the party advocates, small businesses would have a hard time trying to survive the competition."

Mock Presidential Election to be Nov. 2

A mock presidential election will be sponsored by the Conglomerate staff on Wednesday, November 2, in the Sub. The purpose of this election is to stimulate the interest of the student body in national affairs. It will also be a means of gauging the political trends of the future voting population.

In preparation for the election, the next issue of the Conglomerate will feature a thumb-nail biography of each candidate, and a summary of the important points of each party's platform. We urge each student to study this information before deciding on his choice.

There will also be two extra questions on the ballot: "In which state do you reside?" and "Can you vote in this election?" Please answer both of these questions truthfully for we hope to learn some interesting facts about Centenary's political views. All regular students are eligible to vote in this election.

Sophomore Committee Minutes

The Central Committee of the Sophomore Class met on Wednesday, October 12, 1960. Plans for having an all school dance were discussed. This was not to be for profit, but as a service to the school. The dance will be held on Nov. 11th from 8:30 to 11:30 in the Sub, and the charge will be 50c per person. There will be a band but the arrangements have not been completed. Plans were also made to have a dance after the ball game on Jan. 7th.

Ray Chabeau, director of the sophomore musical, attended the meeting to discuss with the committee the proposed sophomore revue for this year. A theme was chosen and the date was set for February 20-25. All interested sophomores were invited to attend a meeting to be held in the Sub Sunday, Oct. 16th, at 2:00 p. m. Two new members, Nancy Evans and Merrill Ann Snider, were appointed to the committee.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

MSM Announces 1960-61 Program

The Methodist Student Movement is the students' expression of the Christian Church on the College Campus. The purpose of MSM is to involve all students in a search for a fuller understanding of, and participation in, the Christian Faith.

Officers of the MSM at Centenary are Marie Nelson, president; Don Farley, vice-president; Jean Netterville, secretary; Earnest Heard, treasurer; Judith Mayo, publicity chairman; Shelton Powers, program chairman; and Carolyn Denison, project chairman.

The council has adopted the National MSM and the World Student Christian Federation Emphasis as the Program Emphasis for this year. The National and World Emphasis for the years 1958-65 is "The Life and Mission of the Church", and the Emphasis for 1960-61 is "The Church's Mission in the Academic Community."

The study of this year's program will be divided into 3 sections: "The Calling of the Church," "The Nature and Task of the University," and "The Charge Within the University."

A variety of program topics are scheduled for the fall semester. Among these are "The Professor," "Academic Freedom," "What is Truth?", "Science vs. Religion," "Universal Church", and "The Need for a Church as an Institution."

Involvement Groups

In addition to the regular programs MSM is also sponsoring Study Involvement groups this semester. Such groups were sponsored last term and due to the favorable response are now expanded.

Interest has been shown in four general areas:

- (1) "Christianity and Politics" — with Mrs. Mary McClanahan and Dean Vogel as faculty advisors. Al Holland is serving as student chairman. The group meets every other Thursday at 8:00 p. m.
- (2) "Bible Study" — with Dr. Fletcher and Dr. Pomeroy serving as faculty advisors. Fred Schwen-dimann is the student chairman. Meetings are every other Saturday at 4:30 p. m.
- (3) "The Theology of the Church" — the advisor of this group is Rev. Lawrence Gilbert. The student chairman is Irving Carpenter. Tuesday, 3:30 p. m., is the meeting time.
- (4) "Christianity and Contemporary Art Forms" — Barbara Barbee is the student chairwoman and the active chairman is Rev. Don Guynes. Meeting time will be announced at a later date.

Anyone interested in joining a Study Involvement group should contact the chairman of that group for information.

Student Senate Minutes

The Student Senate Meeting was held in the Moore Student Center at 5:45, Wednesday, October 12. The meeting was called to order by the President, Jim Daigle. Others present were Anne McLaurin, Ralph Mason, Brenda Bailey, James Goins, Jean Netterville, G. B. Watson, Barbara Bourdier, Don Tyler, Buddy Dailey, Yogi Ferrari, Mike Sport, and Dean Allen.

Plans were then told for the Freshman Dance. Committees for the dance are as follows: Refreshment, G. B. Watson; Entertainment, Don Tyler; Crown, Yogi Ferrari; and Jean Netterville was asked to contact Dean Lineberger to see about getting late permission for the freshmen girls. It was decided that the function would be informal.

Election of cheerleaders was then discussed. This year there will be six female cheerleaders rather than three male and three female cheerleaders as in the past. It was felt that this would increase school spirit. Try-outs will be held Tuesday, November 1 at the 10:30 break in the gym and the students will vote on Wednesday, November 2. Each candidate must have a petition with 25 names turned in to the Dean of Students by 2:00, October 28. Campaigning will be limited to ten regulation sized posters per candidate. No handbills, banners, etc. will be allowed. The gym and the Moore Student Center are off-limits for posters. The posters will go up Sunday, October 30, at 2:00.

It was decided that the Nameband Dance would be held March 24 rather than December 15 because of the limited choice of bands on this first date. However, a dance will be held on December 15 to begin the Christmas Holidays. James Goins was appointed to contact Mr. Abe Goldberg and Mrs. Rogers to see about bands for these dates.

The President and coed Vice-President of the Louisiana Tech student body are coming to Centenary to meet with the Student Senate members. The meeting will take place Sunday, October 30, and they will discuss new ideas and plans for the Student Body.

Ideas for making money were then discussed. An idea to sell calendars with twelve Centenary girls' pictures, representing the various months was put before the group. Dean Allen stated that the Student Directories would be out by the end of October. The Student Senate will be in charge of the sales this year and the proceeds will go toward the Nameband Dance Fund.

A petition for a Texas Club was read. Discussion was tabled until the next meeting.

There being no further business the meeting was adjourned.

There was a mass invasion of the bowling alley Saturday night by Centenary students. Commanders-in-chief were Tim Temple and Diane Caldwell. Some of the others in the party were Gary Montgomery, Kay Cooper, Jerry Jouett, Jerre Rainwater, James Goins, Jean Netterville, Jim Oldson and Nancy Thigpin. The "Best Bowler" prize went to Joy Camerer.

Everyone who did not attend missed a fine Freshman Dance last Friday night. A great big congratulations goes to Queen Joan Williams and King Mike Sport. Also to be congratulated are Johnny Brewer, Lynn Gulley, Dorothy Risinger, Beth Catton, Carolyn Lapleau, Jane Hebert, Don Adair, and Doug Howard, members of the Freshman Court.

Some of the students attending the affair were Lucille Walsh, Harvey Long, Melanie Martin, Jim Oldson, Paul McMahan, Catherine Chesney, Nancy Lecky and Allen Ford.

Birthday parties were in the spotlight this week. Jane Ilgenfritz, Kappa Sig sweetheart, was given a surprise party by the fraternity. Virginia Bobbit shared her birthday cake with the residents of James Dorm. Anne Marie Langvalle was given a party on her birthday by the residents of Sexton Hall. Happy Birthday all!

Glen Cothorn had a barbeque last Saturday night. Some of the guests were Anita Thomasson, John Vasilopoulos, Dale VanBibber, Denise Freeman, Lynn Knotts, Helen Gulley (and Sammie), LaNell Dean, Yogi Ferrari, Butchie McCuiston, "Soup" Moore.

Sammie Kay Smith is proudly displaying new KA drop letters given to her by Bill Johnson. Congratulations!

A word to the wise: Freshman presidents should have the tug-of-war hole carefully guarded the night before the event. Don't you agree, Mike?

The list of casualties from intramural football is growing every day. Newest additions are Sonny Elder, Robert Edler and Bill Johnson.

Chi Omega actives were honored with a party given by their pledges last Monday night. The occasion was the celebration of being pledges for one month.

MSM Schedules Commuters' Hour

As part of the total life of the Methodist Student Movement, a "Commuters Hour" is being organized.

The purpose of this group is to bring together, for sharing and study, commuting students who are serving pastorates and who, because of their schedules, cannot participate in other phases of the M. S. M.

The group will meet twice a month, on the second and fourth Wednesdays. The participants will have lunch together in the college cafeteria at 12:00 noon, then move to Don Guynes' office in the chapel for a session of study and discussion from 1:00 to 2:00 p. m. Subjects for study and discussion will be selected that will help prepare the participants for future theological study.

Persons whose interests or positions would qualify them for participation are encouraged to see Don Guynes or Robert Bell.

Shelley Berman, the man who sits on a "high stool" and talks in wise and witty philosophies, will bring a full evening of his monologues and sketches to Shreveport, one of the selected cities of a coast-to-coast tour. The date is November 4th at 8 p. m. and the place is the Municipal Auditorium.

Complementing Berman's unique stool-perching brand of wry observations will be The Cumberland Three, folk-song stylists whose recent album, "Folk Scene, U.S.A.," has been a best seller.

For the past two years Berman has been one of the greatest names in show business. His penetrating observations about human beings and their foibles and failings have set him apart as a performer of unique abilities. First reaction to the announcement of Berman's appearance here indicates that he has a large and enthusiastic following.

Berman has been in constant demand by such top TV shows as Ed Sullivan's and Steve Allen's since his introductory appearance two seasons ago on the Jack Paar Tonight show. So popular were his routines that many of them were recorded on the Verve albums, "Inside Shelley Berman" and "Outside Shelley Berman." The albums sold in record numbers and resulted in a new one . . . "The Edge of Shelley Berman."

Tickets for "All Sides of Shelley Berman" are on sale at the Municipal Auditorium.

PR's Donate T. V. to Rotary

The Pershing Rifles is a National Honor Society that established a unit at Centenary College during the school year 1957-58. Since that time the Pershing Rifles, Company O-6, of Centenary College have actively taken part in contributions to Centenary campus. The members of Company O-6 have participated in events, festivals and parades in numerous cities, making the name of Centenary College known by many who were not familiar with this college.

Company O-6 worked last year in order to make money to go to the Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington, D. C. and other distant events. The men of the Company worked at the Louisiana State Fair and the L.S.U.-Baylor football game, both held in Shreveport.

During the summer the ROTC unit at Centenary College was ordered to deactivate. As a result of this order the Pershing Rifle unit must also leave.

The members of the Drill Team, having no chance to use the money for previously planned activities, voted to use the money in such a way as to benefit the male students of the College. The unit voted unanimously to purchase a new television set for the residents of Rotary Hall.

The members of the Pershing Rifles, Company O-6 are: Winston Miller, Commander; Robert Durham, Executive Officer; Jack Green, Gene Lacaze, and Tommy Hickcox, Staff Officers; and Ward Jones, Tommy Carter, Charles Yarbrough, Ron Radzowski, Ed Doremus, Al Pius, Robert Edler, Ralph Storey, and Barry Bolack, Enlisted men.

Basketballs are bouncing once again in Haynes Gymnasium as the Centenary roundballers reported for their first practice, Saturday morning, October 15th. Coach Orvis Sigler put the team through a brisk three hour workout, and everyone appeared to be in excellent shape. There was plenty of spirit and hustle which is the sign of a team that wants to win.

Coach Sigler has indicated that he will put his fifteen man squad on the practice floor six days a week at the Haynes Gym until the middle of November. Then the Gents will move to the Hirsch Youth Building, the scene of their home games.

Coach Doug Mooty's Freshmen held their first training session October 18th. This eleven man squad is filled with hustle and dreams of defeating the Varsity in the annual game between the two teams to be held in late November.

Moore Cops Duck Calling Championship

Willard Moore, a talented member of the Centenary basketball team, showed equal prowess as a duck hunter when he walked off with the Caddo Parish Wildlife Federation Duck Calling Championship September 11th at the Fairgrounds. Willard was presented with a handsome trophy and fifty dollars worth of hunting equipment.

Moore was raised on the shores of Realfoot Lake, a hunters paradise in Tennessee. He has been calling ducks since he was ten years old.

W.R.A. Tournament Nears Completion

The volleyball double elimination tournament is in its final games. The MSM Sou Sous and the Independent Rinky Dinks fought for top honors in the winner's bracket on Tuesday, October 18, with the Sou Sous emerging as the victors.

The third round of tennis is to be played by Oct. 26. Participants may check the bulletin board next to the ladies' locker room for the winners thus far. Results of tennis games should be reported to Indi Nichols, event manager, or to Miss Estes.

Rosters for paddleball and shuffleboard are due the 24th of October. These events will run simultaneously beginning the 26th. Everyone is urged to sign up and participate in these third and fourth events of W. R. A.

Teachers' Exam To be Given Feb. 11

The National Teacher Examination, prepared and administered annually by the Educational Testing Service, will be given at 160 testing centers throughout the United States on Saturday, February 11, 1961. The college which a candidate is attending, or the school system in which he is seeking employment, will advise him whether he should take the examination.

A Bulletin of Information (in which an application is inserted) describing registration procedures may be obtained from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, 20 Nassau Street, Princeton, New Jersey. Completed applications, accompanied by proper examination fees, will be accepted by the ETS office during November and December, and early in January, so long as they are received before January 13, 1961.

"Requiem" Features Centenary Students

The music departments of St. Mark's Episcopal Church and the First Presbyterian Church joined forces Sunday, October 23, to present Mozart's "Requiem" as the opening program of St. Mark's Great Masterpiece Series.

The program featured two members of the music faculty at Centenary: Norman Z. Fisher, minister of music at First Presbyterian, conducted the performance, and William Teague, organist and choir master at St. Mark's, provided the organ accompaniment.

Three Centenary students were heard in solo parts: tenors Barry Hope and Joe Sartor, and bass Jere Joiner. Other Centenary students singing in the chorus were: Judith Bartlett, Jane Liles, Vickie Rapp, Elnora Davenport, Tom Vaughan, Beal Thomas, and Helen Gulley. Also in the chorus was Dr. Lee Morgan, associate professor of English at Centenary.

Virginia Bobbitt and Annette Shirey put finishing touches to costumes of Jane Hebert and Nancy Radzikowski, who will portray women of Canterbury in "Murder in the Cathedral".

Unusual Costumes Created for Play

During recent weeks one of the busiest places on campus has been the costume room of the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse. It is here that the 30 costumes which will be used in "Murder in the Cathedral" are being constructed.

Composing the costume committee are Mrs. Bob Shy, Virginia Bobbitt, Louella Baines, Mrs. Evelyn Sandifer, and Annette Shirey. This committee is under the direction of Mrs. Orlin Corey, who designed each costume from casline drawings. Mrs. Corey has created costumes that adhere to the period when Thomas Becket was actually Archbishop of Canterbury Cathedral.

The Women of Canterbury, thirteen in number, will appear in costumes of luminous colors glowing through dark materials, achieving a patina effect on the outer edges of the garments.

Becket will be seen in three changes. His garments are of ecclesiastical design with the chaucible being of central importance. Becket's original chaucible was of dull purple silk. However, for this production, Mrs. Corey has designed a chaucible of beige organza over white trimmed with gold to achieve the desired effect.

Costumes feature window colors

The four Knights will appear in dress typical of the upper class, not that of common soldiers. They will carry 9 foot lances, 3 foot shields, and swords. Their costumes will carry out the basic color scheme of the play — pure colors of red, green, and blue. These colors are the adapted reflections from the stained-glass windows within the Cathedral. This theme is continued throughout the production in the various colors and combinations of make-up and costumes.

The Monks will appear in garments of traditional Benedictine style.

The four Tempters are intended to appear both real and un-real. Un-real in the sense that they are the figures of Becket's imagination; real in the sense that they exhibit life-like qualities. This visionary quality is created by the use of transparent materials. The forceful mission of these specters is shown in a dramatic and unusual use of make-up. In the case of each character, the make-up and costumes are designed to flow each into the other.

The show does not go on without costumes. "Murder in the Cathedral" will go on with its actors robed and gowned in a most unusual array of style and colors especially designed for this production.

QUEEN LYNDRY PATE, Class of '63

PROMINENT PERSONALITY — Lyndra Pate leads off our parade of Centenary beauty and talent which will appear regularly throughout the coming years in The Conglomerate.

Miss Pate is 5' 6" tall, a brunette with blue eyes and a sophomore at Centenary. She is a Shreveporter and hails from Byrd High School.

Lyndra is pictured above in her most recent Queen's attire, that of "Queen of the Louisiana Cotton Festival," in which she represented Centenary College. She is also the Fairest of the Fair on her own campus, reigning as "Miss Centenary 1960". She is also "Princess of Holiday in Dixie", a member of Zeta Tau Alpha, Centenary College Choir, Phi Beta, and a 1959 Sponsor (Captain) of Hdq. Co., Centenary R. O. T. C.

Lyndra is an English major and her favorite sports are water skiing, dancing, and watching football games. Favorite foods are frosted cokes and fritoes.

As Louisiana Cotton Queen, Lyndra will attend the National Mardi Gras Ball in Washington, D. C., in February, the Maid of Cotton Festival in Memphis and many other festivals in Louisiana.

Congratulations Lyndra, on your numerous achievements at Centenary and our sincere appreciation to you in the superb way that you represent Shreveport in all of your queenly titles.

Sexton To Be Dedicated Mickle Will Accept Nov. 3,

George Sexton Memorial Dormitory will be officially dedicated at a Cornerstone Laying Ceremony to be held on November 3 at 10:40. Mr. John B. Adkins, member of the board of trustees and chairman of the Centenary College Development Program, will present the dormitory to the school in memory of Dr. George Sexton.

Dr. Sexton was president of Centenary College from 1920 to 1932. During his lifetime, he also served as pastor of the First Methodist Church, Shreveport and district superintendent of the Shreveport District of the Methodist Church. Dr. Joe J. Mickle will accept the dormitory for the school and Mr. Paul Brown, president of the board of trustees, and Dr. Bryant Davidson will represent the board and the faculty respectively. The invocation will be given by Dr. D. L. Dykes, pastor of First Methodist Church, Shreveport, and the Benediction will be delivered by J. D. Harper. Dr. R. Leonard Cooke will lead a response and music will be furnished by the Centenary Choir under the direction of A. C. Voran. The cornerstone will be laid by Mr. and Mrs. George Sexton, Jr.

This program will be in lieu of the regular chapel hour, but chapel cards are to be secured from the Maroon Jackets as usual.

Student N.E.A. Plans Activities

Officers of the Student National Education Association of America met with Dr. A. J. Middlebrooks and Mrs. Elizabeth Hughes in the Education Conference Room Tuesday, October 18, 1960.

Mrs. Dorothy Middlebrooks was elected Chairman of the Social Committee with student members, Sara Hitchcock and Willard Moore.

Members of N.E.A., supervisors of student teachers, and members of the Caddo School Staff will be honored with a supper at five o'clock on Thursday evening, November 10, 1960, which is during National Education Week.

S. N. E. A. Members are urged to pay five dollars for dues either in the Education Conference Room No. 3 or to Beverly Wingo in James Dormitory now.

On Tuesday evening, December 13, 1960, the members of N. E. A. will meet in the Student Union Building at six o'clock.

Canterbury Club Elects Officers

The Canterbury Club, organization for all Episcopalian youth on campus, completed elections of its officers for the coming year at its meeting on Wednesday, October 19, in the Canterbury building.

Chosen to head the group was Ronnie Doerler. Serving under him will be Vice-president, Kathy Gardner; Secretary, Madeleine Trichel; Treasurer, Donna Howell; and Chaplain, Tom Vaughan.

The Corporate Communion for the group was held at 7:00 A. M. in the Herndon Memorial Center on October 19. The offering received from this activity will go to the Church Society for College Work, which put the Episcopal Church on campus 25 years ago.

Canterbury scheduled meetings were announced as follows: Sunday, Evensong and Fellowship, 6:30 P. M.; Wednesday, Evensong and Business Meeting, 6:00 P. M.; and Thursday, Holy Communion, 7:00 A. M., followed by a breakfast of coffee and donuts.

AED Sponsors Dental Movie

Alpha Epsilon Delta invites all students interested in the medical fields to attend the free showing of "Pattern of a Profession", Thursday, November 3, at 7:30 p.m. in room 114 of the Science Building.

The 50 minute movie is a survey of the dental profession tracing the student through his complete pre-dental training and exploring the aims and accomplishments of dental research.

Dr. Ned Prothro, a former Centenary graduate, presently practicing in Shreveport will present the film

Modeling one of the choir's new aqua dresses is Barbara Bourdier. Appreciative onlookers are choir president Willie Andress and James Goins.

"Rhapsody" Approaches; Soloists Announced

"Save 1 and 2 for Rhapsody In View" has become the byword of each Choir member as those dates approach. Final preparations, including staging, fitting of outfits, and ticket sales are now taking place for Tuesday and Wednesday night performances at Byrd High School.

Director "Cheesy" Voran has announced soloists to be featured on the performances. The Choir's president, tenor Willie Andress, will sing "Every Valley Shall Be Exalted" from Handel's "Messiah". Willie is a senior music education student from El Dorado, Arkansas. Another El Dorado singer to be featured is sophomore Sandra McCuiston. Sandra, who is a soprano, will sing "My Heart At Thy Sweet Voice", from the opera "Samson and Delilah", by Saint-Saens.

Beginning with the traditional theme of "Dedication", the program will then be set in mood by "Holiday", a festive composition by Boland-Simeone. An interpretation of the creation story, with a musical background, will follow, featuring narrator, Edward "Tally" Pledger. "Grandmother's Thanksgiving" will characterize the November spirit and will contain solo selections by Jill Landis, alto; and Jerri Joiner, baritone. A composition by Berger, "Brazilian Psalm" and Christiansen's "Lullaby on Christmas Eve" are of a Christmas setting.

The Christiansen selection will feature soprano soloist La Velle Dean. The New Year will be ushered in with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne", followed by a rendition of the Marais-Simeone arrangement of "Around The Corner" a light number which involves a girls' trio composed of Nancy Lecky, Jill Landis, and Kay Cooper.

Broadway will step in for a moment with the singing of selections from "The Sound of Music" by Rogers-Warick. Compositions of a religious nature portraying the Easter season in the Crucifixion, death and resurrection of Christ compose the following part of the program. Palestrina's "Tenebrae Factae Sunt", Bach's "Christ Lay in Death's Dark Prison", and a selection from the Brahms "Requiem" have been selected. Baritone Bob Norris, from Shreveport will perform solo parts of the "Requiem".

Selections from Bernstein's "West Side Story" will return the program to a lighter note, followed by Ades' arrangement of "Where In The World". Then will follow a selection from Bloch's Sacred Service, "Tree of Life", in which Don Tyler will perform the part of the cantor, and "Serenade To Spring," by Rogers. The program will be climaxed with the singing of "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor", by Berlin.

Tickets for the performances can be obtained from any Choir member and at J&S Music Company in downtown Shreveport.

Completion of "Murder" Near

By ANNETTE SHIREY

Since September 27, 1960, some fifty persons have been working on the first production of the 1960-61 season, "Murder in the Cathedral". Under the direction of Mr. Orlin Corey, these students have sought to bring about a realistic and meaningful presentation of this play. Not only are the roles being carried out by students, but all positions — technical, make-up, and properties — are in the hands of students.

John Frazer, chief carpenter, and his crew of fellow Jongleurs, completed the altar area last week, and are now engaged in cutting, fitting, and raising the high arches. When completed, the central window will soar over 20 feet above the high altar.

As the columns that will form the background for the Chorus are set in place, the glow from stained-glass windows will appear as result of the work done by David Gibson, electrician for the production. These reflections of pure colors will be repeated in the color of the various costumes, as well as in the make-up.

Mrs. Corey Designs Cathedral

Mrs. Irene Corey is the architect for the cathedral set. She has designed for her husband's productions for more than a decade. Her plan for the scene of the saint's assassination, stems from her studies of art history and architecture in Europe, and more especially in Canterbury Cathedral, where several summers ago the Cathedral Chapter authorized her to sketch within the precincts of the Cathedral.

The making of the properties has been a job of great importance. Celia Butler, Linda Mashaw, and Mary Ann Youngblood have made such items as shields, swords, lances, etc.

The final stitches are being added to costumes and the actors are getting a chance to see how they will appear before their audience.

Thus, first-hand experience, imagination, and hard work combine to form the basis for production plans in the final design of "Murder in the Cathedral".

Reminder — 1 Day Only

On November 3, 1960, tickets will be sold in the Sub for "MURDER IN THE CATHEDRAL", $1.00 for RESERVED SEATS. This sale is for students and faculty members. Sale time is from the close of Chapel until 3:00 P. M. Tickets may be purchased at any time after November 3rd at the Playhouse.

Richard M. Nixon

Richard M. Nixon has carried more and heavier responsibilities, taken part in more executive decisions, and "sat in" for the President on more critical occasions, than any Vice President in American history. He has also served as the President's representative on official travels in 32 foreign countries.

The Vice President served in the U. S. Navy during World War II, and spent fifteen months in the Pacific where he earned two battle stars and two commendations. Mr. Nixon was born in Yorba Linda, California, on January 9, 1913, and completed elementary and secondary schools in Whittier, California. He finished second in his class at Whittier College and received his law degree, with honors, from Duke University in 1937.

Vice President Nixon practiced law for five years in Whittier before going into World War II service. He was elected to Congress in 1946, and was re-elected in 1948 with the nominations of both Republicans and Democrats. In 1950 he was sent to the Senate.

Henry Cabot Lodge

Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts had broad experience in world diplomacy, with legislative and military background.

For seven and one-half years, Ambassador Lodge has served as permanent Representative of the United States to the United Nations. He has had seventeen years of legislative experience preceeding his current post in the U. N. — thirteen in the United States Senate; four in the Massachusetts State Legislature.

With five years remaining in his third term as a U.S. Senator, Ambassador Lodge resigned to fight with the first American tank detachment in the British Eighth Army in Libya. Later, he served in Italy, southern France, at the Rhine, and in southern Germany, earning six battle stars.

Prior to his legislative, diplomatic, and military career, Ambassador Lodge worked as a newspaperman with the Boston Transcript and the New York Herald Tribune, traveling widely throughout the world.

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy has carried on the Kennedy family tradition of government service with fourteen years of Congressional service, during which time he distinguished himself as a member of the Senate Rackets Committee which battled relentlessly to free American labor and management from the grip of racketeers and union busters. His travels have taken him through 42 countries of the world.

A former newspaper correspondent, Senator Kennedy won the 1957 Pulitzer prize for his book Profiles in Courage and has also written the bestseller Why England Slept, A Nation of Immigrants, and, in 1960 The Strategy of Peace.

Senator Kennedy served as skipper of a PT boat in World War II and was twice decorated for his heroism behind Japanese lines. Born in Brookline, Massachusetts on May 29, 1917, he later graduated with honors at Harvard in 1940, earned his degree in law at Notre Dame in 1950 and his D.Sc. degree at Lowell Technological Institute in 1956. Elected to the House in 1947, he served as Representative until 1953 when he was elected to the Senate.

Lyndon Johnson

Lyndon B. Johnson has been the Senate majority leader for seven years and in 1953 was the youngest party leader in history. Among his notable accomplishments while serving as Democratic leader are: conceiving and pushing to adoption the idea of an East-West Cultural Center at the University of Hawaii, serving as Chairman of Senate Committee on Aeronautical and Space Sciences, presenting to the United Nations the U.S. proposal for joint control of outer space for peaceful purposes by all nations, and helping to cement the relationships between the U.S. and Mexico as a result of his visit with President Lopez Mateos in 1958.

Senator Johnson was the first member of Congress to go on active duty after Pearl Harbor, and as a lieutenant commander in the Navy, won a Silver Star for gallantry in the South Pacific. Johnson, born in Stonewall, Texas, on August 27, 1908, graduated from Southwest State Teacher's College, San Marcus, Texas, in 1930. He was elected to the House in 1937, filling an unexpired term, and was re-elected in 1939. In 1949 he was elected to the Senate and has held that position to the present.

COMPARISON OF DEMOCRATIC AND REPUBLICAN PARTY PLATFORMS

REPUBLICAN

Labor Law Amendments

Industrial harmony can best be achieved by free collective bargaining, even in emergency situations. Firmly supports right of employers and unions to enter into union shop agreements authorized by Taft-Hartley. Pledges diligent administration of Taft-Hartley and Landrum-Griffin with recommendations for improvements which experience shows are needed to make them more effective or remove any inequities.

Control of Inflation

Favor use of the full powers of government to prevent the scourges of depression and inflation. Elimination of featherbedding practices by labor and business. Maintenance of a stable dollar. Relating wage and other payments in production to productivity in order to help us stay competitive at home and abroad.

Education

Primary responsibility must remain with the local community and state with Federal support to the primary and secondary schools by a program of Federal aid for school construction — pacing it to the real needs of individual school districts in states and territories, and requiring state approval and participation. Also increased vocational education, expanded library facilities and stimulating higher education.

Health Program for the Aged

Development of a health program with state participation that will provide the aged needing it, on a sound fiscal basis and through a contributory system, protection against burdensome costs of health care. Purchasing private health insurance would be optional.

Social Security

Expansion of coverage, and liberalization of selected social security benefits. Encourage legislation to make retirement at a fixed age voluntary and not compulsory. Removing the 50 year age requirement under the disability insurance program and providing incentives for rehabilitated persons to return to useful work.

Natural Resources

Long range minerals and fuels planning and programming including increased coal research, assistance to mining industries to bridge the gap between peak defense demands and anticipated peacetime demands. Continued support for Federal financial assistance and incentives under our tax laws to encourage exploration for domestic sources of minerals and metals, with reasonable depletion allowances. More Federal enforcement powers on water pollution; Federal grants for waste disposal plants only to clear up polluted streams.

Government Finance

Believe that in order of priority, Federal revenues should be used: first, to meet the needs of national security; second, to fulfill the legitimate and urgent needs of the nation that cannot be met by the States, local governments or private action; third, to pay down on the national debt in good times; finally, to improve our tax structure.

Federal-State Relationships

Vigorous state and local governments are a vital part of our Federal union. The Federal government should leave to state and local governments those programs and problems which they can best handle and tax sources adequate to finance them. We must continue to improve liaison between Federal, state and local governments.

DEMOCRATIC

Labor Law Amendments

Repeal of the anti-labor excesses which have been written into our labor laws, including specifically the authorization for state "right-to-work" laws. Remove limitations on the right to strike, to picket peacefully, to publicize positions in a labor dispute and other anti-labor features of the Taft-Hartley Act and the 1959 (Landrum-Griffin) Act.

Control of Inflation

Among remedies are monetary and credit policies properly applied, budget surpluses in times of full employment, and action to restrain "administered price" increases in industries where economic power rests in the hands of a few. A fair share of the gains from increasing productivity in many industries should be passed on to the consumer through price reductions.

Education

Assistance will take the form of Federal grants to states for educational purposes they deem most pressing, including classroom construction and teachers' salaries. Also support for vocational education, libraries, educational TV and establishment of a Youth Conservation Corps.

Health Program for the Aged

Provide medical care benefits for the aged as part of the social security insurance system. Corresponding benefits by appropriations for those not eligible for social security coverage.

Social Security

In addition to medical care program increase benefits for each additional year of work after 65. Raise the $1,200 a year ceiling on what a worker may earn while drawing benefits. Increase benefits generally and minimum raised from $33 to $50 a month. Remove age 50 requirement under disability insurance program for retirement.

Natural Resources

Vast expansion of energy resources, including Federal hydro-electric projects, expansion of Rural Electrification cooperatives, building of Federal transmission facilities where appropriate to provide low-cost power, and strict enforcement of preference for public bodies and cooperatives in sale of power produced at Government dams. Favors Federal grants to municipalities to build sewerage disposal systems; Federal aid to solve air and water pollution; intensifying development of national forests; recreation resources; and establishment of Council of Resource Advisors.

Government Finance

We vigorously reject the notion that America, with a half-trillion-dollar gross national product, and nearly half of the world's industrial resources, cannot afford to meet the needs of her people at home and in our world relationships. We believe, moreover, that except in periods of recessions or national emergency, these needs can be met with a balanced budget, with no increase in present tax rates, and with some surplus for the gradual reduction of our national debt.

Federal-State Relationships

The Democratic party believes that state and local governments are strengthened — not weakened — by financial assistance from the Federal government. We will extend such aid without impairing local administration through unnecessary Federal interference or red tape.

The biographies of the candidates were furnished by their campaign headquarters, and the platform comparisons were compiled by the Shreveport Chamber of Commerce. Remember that the vice presidential nominees and platforms of the parties have often been obscured by the debates between the presidential candidates. Before making your final decision, weigh all sides of the issue and then cast your vote in the mock election on November 2 in the Sub from 8 until 2. (Due to space problems the platforms have been cut to include only those issues we feel are of interest to College Students.)

This fantastic array of height should provide some food for thought among Freshmen basketballers. Six footer Jerry Callen appears dwarfed against a background of players averaging 6' 7". Height will be problem number one for the frosh in November 22nd's Varsity-Freshmen game.

By MIKE RAMMING

With two weeks of their rigorous pre-season practice schedule behind them, Centenary's Basketball Gents are exhibiting excellent spirit combined with noticeable scoring and rebounding skills in such rugged, lanky performers as Dale Van Bibber, Jackie Crawford and Harry Wuennenberg. The Gents have player patience capable of being among the nation's leading rebounders. Rebounding, often overlooked by fans, holds the key to the success of almost any cage team. Defense is being stressed a great deal by Coach Orvis Sigler during early drills. Coach Sigler made the statement to his squad that "You don't win ballgames by matching points with the opposition."

A short scrimmage session was held last week. Pitting the frosh against varsity players. Coach Doug Moot's Freshmen showed excellent scoring ability against their more experienced varsity brothers. The present shows need for defensive and rebounding improvement if the frosh are still entertaining visions of defeating the Varsity in the annual Varsity-Freshmen tilt to be held Nov. 22. The varsity offense seemed somewhat ahead of their defense which is a deviation from the norm at this stage of the game.

Jackie Crawford, the very talented Gent post-man, showed signs of regaining his excellent scoring and rebounding talents which were somewhat hampered during last year's campaign when Crawford suffered a severe knee injury. Two operations on the knee last spring may make the big Texan's leg as strong as ever.

Aufait Pledges 4

Aufait held a regular meeting on Thursday night, October 20. Ruthanne Cozine, Dorothy Risinger, and Lynda Sparks were pledged. Anne-Marie Langvall is another recent pledge.

Beginning on October 24, Aufait will sell coffee on the first floor of the Science Building on Monday and Thursday nights from seven until ten. Another Aufait project is the sale, on Wednesday nights, of sandwiches in Rotary and Sexton Halls.

Jongleurs Elect 1960-61 Officers

The JONGLEURS, newly-established dramatics club of Centenary College, took an important step at their last meeting, Oct. 18, 1960, when the members elected officers to guide the club's activities for the 1960-61 year.

George Bryan was the group's unanimous choice for the presidency. Named to the position of vice-president was David Gibson. The offices of secretary and treasurer are held by Grace Jackson and Jim Foster, respectively. Beverly Smith was elected director of public relations.

A business matter discussed at the meeting is the possibility of the JONGLEURS' affiliating with Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatics fraternity. Bob Shy will investigate the possibility, with the help of Annette Shirey, Jane Hebert, and Edwinna Hubert.

The next three meetings of the JONGLEURS will not be conducted at the regular times. The times for these meetings will be announced by the president and posted on the bulletin boards.

WRA OPEN HOUSE SET FOR NOV. 15

The W.R.A. Council has set November 15 as the date for their open house. On this Tuesday night everyone is invited to come to the gym for an evening with W.R.A. The gym will be open with various interest centers set up. The highlight of the evening will be a faculty vs. student volleyball game. Refreshments will be served. There will be no admission and everyone is urged to come and cheer for their professors.

ACTIVITY TICKETS

Students may pick up Student Athletic Activity tickets at the Athletic office ticket window in the lobby of Haynes Gymnasium beginning Nov. 7 through Nov. 23 from 1-4 p. m. These tickets are the student's only means of free admittance to the basketball games.

Student Senate Minutes

The Student Senate Meeting was held in the Moore Student Center at 5:45 Wednesday, October 19. The meeting was called to order by the President, Jim Daigle. Others present were Anne McLaurin, Ralph Mason, Brenda Bailey, James Goins, Jean Netterville, G. B. Watson, Barbara Bourdier, Don Tyler, Buddy Daily, Tim Temple, Ralph Ferrari, Mike Sport, and Dean Allen.

Pat Lavigne and Patsy West, representatives of the Centettes, came to discuss plans for the pep rally. The first game of the season will be Saturday, December 3. The Gents will meet East Texas State. A street dance and pep rally will precede the game and buses will be furnished for transportation to the games. Coach Sigler said that the students could have buses anytime they wanted them. A Sock-Hop will be held immediately following the game at the Youth Center. Music will be provided by Johnny Evan's band.

It was announced that the Student Directories had arrived. The price was set at $.50 and sales started Friday at the break. They will be sold until Tuesday and then the Senate members will take them to the places where the least sales have been made.

There being no further business the meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
Brenda Bailey

SELBER'S YOUNG EXECUTIVE SHOP, SECOND FLOOR

International  Fair

Only a few days left to come see all the excitement and panorama of our first International Fair.

Reminiscing about days spent with the Melody Maids are alums of that group: Barbara Hargraves, Lorene Crenshaw, Marcia Stewart, and Helen Gulley.

Coeds Travel with Melody Maids

The Melody Maids of Beaumont, Texas, were organized in 1941 to aid the war effort by entertaining at bond shows. Since that time it has become a self-sustaining, non-profit organization of girls sixteen through twenty years of age. In the past four years these girls have traveled all over the world entertaining American troops, foreign dignitaries, and peoples of other lands.

Barbara Hargraves, a freshman this year, was in the Melody Maids for over four years. During this time she made a Far East Tour and a tour of the Northeast Air Command.

In Greenland Barbara encountered several days of twenty-four hours of sunlight. "The only thing bad about this was that we slept little and ate all the time!" recalls Barbara. Near Greenland, the girls, complete with parkas, climbed, claimed and named an iceberg which is now called "Melody Maid Iceberg".

During the Far East Tour, the girls sang 120 shows in seven weeks. In one place in Korea, while singing for American troops, the girls were also watched by Communist soldiers from across the neutral zone. "They seemed to enjoy our concert," comments Barbara.

On this tour the girls also sang for the Leper Colony in Hawaii, and for the prison there. Barbara was a featured soloist and had three numbers prepared. However, when it came time for her to go on during their concert in the prison, Barbara was reluctant. Her three numbers were "Ain't Misbehavin'," "Everybody's Got a Home But Me," and "Unchained Melody".

Lorene Leaps Five Stories

Lorene Crenshaw, a sophomore, was a Melody Maid for four years. One of her most interesting trips with the organization was to Monterrey, Mexico. In this instance, the girls sang for the people of Monterrey in a public concert and stayed with the people in their homes. Lorene made many week-end trips with the Melody Maids to neighboring towns and states, and went on two extensive tours through the United States.

Her many experiences on these tours have included a practice parachute jump from a platform five stories high in San Antonio, Texas, a white Christmas in Chicago, Illinois, dates with cadets ("Those are always fun," comments Lorene), a tugboat ride off the coast of Seattle like one that had just been given to Japanese royalty, and an exciting (and well chaperoned) weekend in Reno, Nevada.

Marcia Serenades Refugees

A junior at Centenary, Marcia Stewart traveled for five years with the Melody Maids and during that time visited Europe, Hawaii, Bermuda, the Azores, and the North East Air Command.

"On our way to Iceland," Marcia tells us, "our plane was grounded in Goosebay, Labrador for several hours because of bad weather. This was at the time of the flight of many Hungarian refugees to the United States, and we shared the terminal with a planeload of the refugees that night. Although we had no way of understanding each other's language, a lot was understood by gestures and facial expressions. We sang Christmas carols and our National Anthems to each other. We nodded smilingly at each other all night, and we played with their children, some of which barely had enough warm clothing. But what touched me most was when a little old lady, so tiny and bent, who probably had nothing except what was on her back gave me her 'keepsake' of her religion that was to keep me safe, and a little boy gave me a pin made out of their money — these lost people bearing us gifts!"

Marcia also recalls a Japanese dinner in Hawaii where the girls, wearing orchid leis, were treated to pickled octopus, slices of raw fish, seaweed, and many other exotic dishes. "The shocking part about it was that everything was delicious!" comments Marcia.

Gulley Gathers Rocks

Helen Gulley, a senior, went on the NEAC Tour, the European tour, and she also made a Caribbean tour with the Melody Maids. Helen remembers an incident in a flying boxcar in which an engine began missing, but Helen, who was sitting near the front, realized something was wrong when the crew chief started frantically searching through the manual. "And I knew something had been wrong when the pilots and all the crew kissed the ground when we landed."

Then there was the time that she was late to the Royal Festival Ballet in England, and in order to get there faster, told the cabbie that she was a member of the chorus. When she arrived, she almost never found her seat, because the driver had taken her to the stage door!

While in Greenland the word spread that Helen liked rocks. She ended the tour with forty pounds of excess baggage, all of it rocks, which admirers had sent.

A more serious memory of her travels was the singing of "God Is The Light of the World" in Greenland. "You never realize how much this song means to the soldiers," remarks Helen, "until you have sung it on a day in which there are twenty-four hours of darkness."

Everything For The College
Man

By CAROL REICHELT

Cotton candy, the "Wild Mouse", and the football game attracted Centenary students to the State Fair this weekend. Taking in the midway were Nancy Lecky, Derwood Winfree, Jay Lang, Sara Hitchcock, Roger Box, Susan McVea, Kay France, Bob Bishop, Beverly Crawford and Tommy Head. G. B. Watson, Terrell Rourke and Wiley Cameron completed the evening with smoked sausage and blue cotton candy. The Louisiana Tech-Northwestern game attracted Linda Rosett, Don Tyler, Betsy Gould, Becky Graham, Barry Nelson and Jackie Rosett.

Diana Ammons was surprised with a birthday party at Hodges Gardens.

Hot dogs, good music and outdoor eating were the main attractions at the Kappa Sigma supper on Saturday night. Diane Mollet, Gene LaCaze, Heather Dodson, Ez Fatter, Carol Van Hoose and Al Pius all seemed to enjoy the get together.

Kappa Alpha has new pledges! They are Pegram (Mac) McCreary, Harry Wuennenberg and John Fraiser. Congratulations boys!

John Lawrence is now wearing the star and crescent after being initiated into Kappa Sigma. Congratulations, John!

That's right, Jerry Jouett and Jerre Rainwater and Betty Sims and Tally Pledger are now dropped. Congratulations to all you givers and wearers of the Kappa Sigma letters.

George Hamilton took an interesting trip (all expenses paid) to Grambling. The thanks go to the Kappa Alpha pledges.

Many Hardin Hall freshmen were surprised by Kangaroo Court on Monday night. Harriet Hill was temporarily in a state of shock when Miss McKnight walked in while she was talking on the topic "A Day in Miss McKnight's class." Jimmy Beaulier went shoeless the following day. Carolyn Lappleau and Linda Dodson were charming with their pigtailed. Not all the freshmen were mistreated. Judy Pool and Vicky Rapp were even furnished with dates. The ungrateful dates, Riley Wallace and John Lukasik, threw the girls in the fishpond.

Taking in the air show in Marshall, Tex., were Lynn Gulley, Maureen Melbourne, Keith and Martha Simmons.

Cheering the Gents on to victory for the 60-61 season will be Patsy West, Charlotte Stodgehill, Beth Catton, Diane Camp, Judy Thurmond, and Becky Graham.

Students Select Six To Spark The Gents

Cheerleader tryouts in the Gymnasium last Tuesday, November 1, was the first sign of the year which foretold the approaching basketball season. Spirits were high and voices were loud, giving added encouragement to seventeen nervous girls who took their turns leading the large crowd of students in cheers for the "Centenary Gentlemen".

Jim Daigle, president of the Student Body, introduced each of the girls and announced that this year six girls would be elected for cheerleaders, in contrast to past years' policy of selecting three male cheerleaders and three female cheerleaders.

Cheerleaders For 60-61 Season

Wednesday's election returns announced the following six girls who will serve as cheerleaders for the 1960-61 season: Diane Camp, a junior from Nashville, Tennessee and member of last year's Basketball court; Beth Catton, a freshman and pledge of Zeta Tau Alpha from Pease Air Force Base, New Hampshire with three years of cheerleading experience in high school; Becky Graham, sophomore from Kirkwood, Missouri, who was a Centenary cheerleader last year and is a member of Chi Omega; Charlotte Stodgehill, a sophomore from Rayville, Louisiana, who is vice-president of the sophomore class and member of Chi Omega; Judy Thurmond, junior from Ringgold, Louisiana, and last year's Sweetheart of the Basketball Court; Patsy West, sophomore from Weeks Island, Louisiana who is the vice-president of the Pep Squad, a member of Chi Omega and was a member of last year's Basketball Court.

Stiff Competition

Other girls providing stiff competition in the tryouts were: Denise Freeman, Beth Frey, Ann Hogan, Geneva Jones, Jane Jones, Suzanne King, Roxie Lewis, Carolyn Lapleau, Bonnie Swartz, Page Tiller, and Gail Walker.

Centenary's new cheerleaders will make their first debut at the Freshman-Varsity Basketball game scheduled for Tuesday, November 22, in the Gymnasium.

Alpha Xi Deltas Plan Farm Derby

Alpha Xi Deltas are planning their annual Farm Derby for Friday, November 18, in the Moore Student Center.

Students and faculty are invited to join in the evening's entertainment which will include square dancing, sack races, a hog calling contest and other competitions. A drawing will be held for a door prize during the evening.

Highlight of the evening will be the faculty pie-eating contest. All campus organizations will be contacted and asked to sponsor some faculty member in the contest.

Although most of the activities will be confined to Friday evening, November 18 has been set aside as Farm Derby Day and students and faculty members who feel up to it are encouraged to enter into the spirit of the day by dressing in appropriate farm costumes during the morning and afternoon.

Nixon-Lodge Win By 41% Margin

By LON McANALLY

The mock presidential election which was held in the Sub on Wednesday, Nov. 2, expressed the interest of Centenary students in national affairs. Approximately 50% of the total student body voted for the candidate of their choice, and the majority (65.7%) of the voters favored the Nixon-Lodge ticket. The Kennedy-Johnson ticket drew 24.6% of the total student vote. The split ticket attracted 5.8% of the votes, while the States Rights' ticket captured 3.9% of the ballots.

The total number of students voting was 411; this was divided into 270 pro-Nixon votes, 101 votes for Kennedy, 22 for a Kennedy-Lodge ticket, 2 for a Nixon-Johnson ticket and 16 States' Rights ticket votes.

It is interesting to note that there was a close correlation of the Kennedy-Nixon margin in the vote of the eligible registered votes and the student body as a whole. Nixon led with a 41.1% margin in the total student body vote and a 35.3% margin in the eligible voters.

Louisiana voters cast 270 of the total number of student body votes. Texas was second with 36 votes while Arkansas turned out 18 votes. Other states constituted the remaining 15 votes.

The sophomore class led the voting with a 52.1% turnout. The junior class was second with 50.3%. The senior class trailed with a 48% class vote each.

The Conglomerate wishes to express its thanks to the student body for its participation and response to this election and particularly to those handling the voting and the counting. REMEMBER - VOTE NOVEMBER 8.

Alpha Chi Admits 7 New Members

Alpha Chi, honorary scholastic society for juniors and seniors who have maintained a 3.5 average in college work, tapped new members Sunday, October 30. Assisting in the ceremony were John Williams, president; Albert Cooksey, Secretary; and Dr. E. L. Ford, Dr. Virginia Carleton, and Dr. W. W. Pate, sponsors. The new initiates are Joe Ben LaGrone, Fred Schwendimann, Sarah Liberto, Mrs. Leigh McClure, Mrs. Ruth Velotta Raush, Mrs. Ruth Middlebrooks, and Jane Rhodes.

Sophomores Plan Thanksgiving Dance

The Sophomore Class under the direction of Ralph "Yogi" Ferrari will sponsor a dance for the Centenary student body on Friday, November 11, from 8:30 to 11:30. Decorations for the dance have been planned to create an atmosphere of early Thanksgiving throughout the Moore Student Center. Dance music will be provided by Johnny Evan's Combo, "The Nomads," and "something new in refreshments" has been promised.

Entertainment will be presented during the 10:00 intermission. Among other attractions, there will be a comedy act by Hoyt Bain. Ez Fatter will be emcee for the program.

Tickets will be sold for only $1.00 for couples and $.50 for stags. All students are urged to come and a good time is promised for all.

SNEA To Sponsor Tea November 8

The Student National Education Association will sponsor a tea in the Moore Student Center Tuesday, November 8 from 4-6 P. M. for the Student Teaching Supervisors.

Mrs. Dorothy Middlebrooks is the chairman in charge of the tea and will plan the final details. Refreshments will be served.

Tim Temple is the President of N.E.A.; Lynda Sartor-Vice President; Secretary - Ann McLaurin; Treasurer - Beverly Wingo; Reporter - Genevieve Compton.

If you still wish to join N.E.A. and have not filled out a card, please go by the Education Department and do so.

"DEAR ABBY" QUESTION BLANK

Dear Abby: _____

Signed _____

November Lyceum To Feature "Abby"

"Dear Abby", whose popular advice column is a daily feature of The Shreveport Journal, will appear on the Lyceum Series at 10 a. m. Wednesday, Nov. 16, in the Haynes Memorial Gymnasium.

After delivering an informal address, she will answer questions submitted by Centenary College students. A blank for the submission of questions is appearing in today's Conglomerate, and students are asked to write their queries on the blank and return them to the News Bureau on the second floor of the Moore Student Center as soon as possible.

The questionnaire will be given to Abby in advance of her appearance on the campus, and the columnist will answer as many of them as time permits.

Column Appears In 500 Papers

In real life, Abby is Mrs. Morton Phillips of Burlingame, Calif. She is the mother of two teenagers, Jeanne and Eddie. She writes under the pen name of Abigail Van Buren, and her witty column now appears in more than 500 newspapers from coast to coast as well as in newspapers in England, Canada, Latin America, Japan and South Africa.

Born an identical twin in Sioux City, Iowa, she is a graduate of Morningside College. She and her husband, Morton Phillips, moved to Eau Claire, Wis., where they lived until several years ago when they purchased a modern home near San Francisco, Calif. Her column was born when she decided, after reading an advice column in The San Francisco Chronicle, that she could write a better one.

"Dear Abby" created

Mrs. Phillips approached the editor of the newspaper with her idea and was told to go home and prepare a column, using for her material a handful of advice-seeking letters received in the newspaper office that day. She did, and the "Dear Abby" column evolved and was an almost immediate success.

Her appearance on the campus will be open to the public without charge. Arrangements for Abby's visit to Centenary College were made by President Joe J. Mickle and F. H. "Buss" Delaney, assistant to President Mickle in public relations, through the courtesy of The Shreveport Journal.

Student Senate Minutes

The Student Senate Meeting was held in the Moore Student Center at 5:45, Wednesday, October 26. The meeting was called to order by the president, Jim Daigle. Others present were Anne McLaurin, Ralph Mason, Brenda Bailey, James Goins, Jean Netterville, G. B. Watson, Barbara Bourdier, Don Tyler, Buddy Daily, Tim Temple and Mike Sport.

James Goins gave a Treasurer's report. Left over from last year is $89.42. Student Directory sales have netted $119.05, and the school has given the senate a budget of $199.25 which gives us a total of $401.72.

It was decided that the Senate would still sell Student Directories at the break.

Dessa Crawford said they would like to withdraw the petition for the Texas Club.

Mike Sport was appointed calendar chairman. He is to put all of the Senate events on the calendar and to get chaperones for the various functions.

It was announced that our new faculty sponsors would be chosen by the faculty at their next meeting. They will probably attend Senate meeting in two weeks.

There being no further business the meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
Brenda Bailey
Student Senate Secretary

Student Contributions

Whereas all students of Centenary are agreed that classes interfere with social life . . .

Whereas all students of Centenary are agreed that girls' dorm rules interfere with social life . . .

Whereas all students of Centenary are agreed that weekends are the best part of the week — being free of classes and relatively free of dorm rules . . .

All students of Centenary are urged to join the movement to form a T C I F Fraternity.

The charter of this fraternity would call for a meeting each Friday morning at the free period in the SUB for the purpose of congratulating actives on getting through the week and testing pledges on their degree of enthusiasm at the approach of the weekend. Initiations would be scheduled whenever the pledges show the proper degree of enthusiasm as voted on by the actives.

This fraternity would be open to all students — male and female — except those holding more than two major offices in other organizations or those unable to read and write at least one language — preferably some form of English. It is realized that these basic requirements will restrict the size of the fraternity but that is to be desired.

Although it may seem ridiculous to go to the trouble and expense of electing officers who are superfluous anyway, the election of, at least, a Great Leader by democratic processes is advisable. The popular system which makes officers of almost everybody can be voted on at the first meeting.

While Louisiana Ideal must be upheld, the policies of two-party politics should be adopted. This can be done by allowing one-tenth of the members to be Republicans — if volunteers can be found. Coercion is frowned upon in the worst of fraternities.

As the best part of a democracy is always the least, elections will be held in reverse. The winner, or rather the loser, will hold office until overthrown by a general revolution. In the unlikely event that a Great Leader graduates, elections will be scheduled.

The proposed agenda for the first meeting should include a discussion of the acceptability of the professor's using his lectern to preach biased politics as an acceptable excuse for cutting his class.

Circulate a petition today for the formation on this most needed group — the Thank Goodness It's Friday Fraternity! No campus should be without it!

Mexico U. Study Tour Applications Accepted

Application and enrollment of American students and teachers to the 1961 Summer Session Program of the National University of Mexico, Mexico City, was announced by Dr. Hilton Bell, Director, University Study Tour to Mexico.

Summer session at the campus, one of the most beautiful in the world, offers students and teachers 6 weeks of foreign travel, study and enjoyable living. A wide variety of unusual and standard courses are offered in Spanish and English for teacher in-service requirements or undergraduate credits. Over 15 activities including sightseeing trips, bullfights, and social functions are planned for Summer Session Program members.

Special Program rates for students and teachers, residing in modern apartment hotels, begin as low as $474 and include air transportation, living accommodations and the full schedule of activities.

Complete information for the Summer Session Program, considered to be the outstanding foreign study-vacation to Mexico, may be obtained by writing to: Dr. Hilton Bell, Director, University Study Tour to Mexico, 3305 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles 5, California. (Dunkirk 5-047.)

Jill Landis Attends WSCS Conference

Jill Landis, a senior religious education major, was one of the two delegates chosen from Texas to attend a Christian Vocations Weekend at National College, Kansas City, Missouri on October 28 through 30. This conference was sponsored by the Women's Society of Christian Service, South Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church. The conference was attended by eighteen girls, of junior and senior college age, representing eight states.

Panel discussions were presented by speakers from various parts of the United States emphasizing the many fields in which young women can serve in the Methodist Church. One of the most interesting and challenging of these panels was "The Church's Mission and the Changing Frontiers."

The most moving experience afforded the girls during the weekend was a tour to the Della C. Lamb Neighborhood Center and the Spoford Home, both in Kansas City. The Della Lamb Center works with families and especially children living in the poorer districts of the city. The center offers these families health and educational aids, as well as providing a recreation and worship center.

This tour showed the Methodist Church in action and stressed the need and opportunity for the services of young women in similar establishments throughout the United States.

College? It Is a Life of Varied Hues

What is college?

College is tests and teachers, themes and lectures, study, degrees and bright futures. That's what a catalog will tell you about it, but that's like looking at an acorn and calling it a tree.

College is long walks, steep stairs and rain that falls on the streets, roofs, and you. It's tree-shaded benches, moonlit lawns, long rainy winters, short-sweet spring, and early hot summers.

College is chapel every Thursday and the midnight study of calculus. It's bells every hour and the rush to get to class on time, laughter drifting down the dormitory hall, and jazz in the SUB.

College is conversation, endless, entertaining, sad, fascinating, complaining, funny and dull, over coffee or passing on the sidewalk or across a bridge table or in a smoke-filled dorm room until 3 a. m.

College is people. There's the professor who brow-beats you, the joker who entertains you, the thinker who scares you and the stranger who ignores you. College is the roommate: first an acquaintance, then a friend, and then a confidant. There's the boy who wants to ask a girl for a date, and the girl who wishes the boy would. There's the athlete and the cripple, the bright and the slow, the commuter and the cheerleader, the Independent and the Greek.

College is new ideas clashing or agreeing with old. Basic truths are tested and become base fallacies or foundational facts. Thinking starts where once teaching sufficed. Christ meets Epicurus, East Texas meets Yankee and prejudice meets thought.

College is dates, basketball games, parties and weekend dances, freshmen hazing, and student campaigning. It is the whispered good night and the hurried kiss. It is the race to get back to the dorm before curfew hours. It is the mad dash for the cafeteria after noon classes and chapel, the pushing in line for coffee in the SUB, the holding hands on the way to class, and the announcements of pinnings, engagements, and weddings.

College is experience. It's the future surgeon operating on a dead cat, the some-day senator misspelling constitution and the company president getting the debit and credit columns confused.

Sure, college can be just grades and scholastic averages, but so can a symphony be called noise.

Church-State Controversy Background For "Murder"

By DR. BRYANT DAVIDSON

"Murder in the Cathedral" is more than just the title of a play. It is a phrase which accurately describes the dramatic climax in a great controversy which profoundly influenced the course of western civilization.

This controversy which dominated so much of medieval history and extended well into modern history was the question of whether or not ultimate power should reside in the Church or in the State. It involved the lives and fortunes of men, and it determined the development and structure of nearly all the institutions of society. The history of this struggle is long and devious. For many generations the question remained unresolved. For long periods of time an uneasy truce prevailed which served only to postpone the final decision and to create a situation in which men lived with divided allegiance. To follow the history of this long struggle with all of its variations is to recognize that there is in it a kind of fatalism not unlike the fatalism that characterizes many early Greek plays. There comes at last a time when each man must of necessity fulfill his destiny.

Thomas Becket vs Henry II

Such a time is found in the culmination of the struggle between Thomas Becket, Archbishop of Canterbury, and Henry II, King of England. Institutions, such as Church and State, are abstract things. They become real only when they are identified with men. They have meaning only when they find expression in the hopes, ambitions, and actions of individuals. In this sense men are not merely the symbols of institutions; they are the institutions. The conflict between Church and State centers around the aspirations of two very exceptional men. Both Thomas Becket and Henry II were men of great intelligence, remarkable administrative ability, and, above all, of rigid adherence to their convictions. For such men there can be no compromise. In the early years of the reign of Henry no compromise was necessary. A close bond of friendship combined the talents of Henry and Becket in organizing the English Government in such fashion that it was never thereafter to be shaken by revolution or anarchy. Thus Becket contributed greatly to the strengthening of the State against which he was later to wage war to the death.

Struggle for Power

When Becket, against his will, was elevated to the position of Archbishop of Canterbury the issue between Church and State was clearly drawn. The time for compromise was ended. What follows may in one sense be thought of as a struggle for power. But it was more than that. It was a fateful struggle between two men of strong convictions — two men, if need be, must die for their convictions. And yet always there should be a recognition of the fact that this was not just a personal feud which might well be left to some forgotten era. The issue was real and of lasting significance. It was greater than the men. But the men were great, also. Hence the dramatic impact of "Murder in the Cathedral".

Choir Holds Banquet Following "Rhapsody"

Wednesday night following the second performance of "Rhapsody In View", the Centenary College Choir packed away its music and clothes and treated itself to a banquet at Pedro's restaurant. Choir members and guests enjoyed the annual social event. Traditionally, the tenor section of the Choir, headed this year by Joe Sartor, sponsors an election among the Choir members to select one boy and one girl who have been most valuable to the organization. The announcement of this selection highlighted the banquet Wednesday night. Selected as the girl having contributed most to the Choir was Jill Landis and as the boy in the same category, Willie Andress.

Volleyball, Tennis Finals On Nov. 15

Intramural volleyball and tennis will come to a close next week as the semi-finals and finals of both events will be played by November 16.

The semi-final game of the volleyball tournament will be played November 8, at six o'clock as the M.S.M. "Mau Mau" and Alpha Xi Delta teams meet in a sudden death play-off. The winning team will play the "Rinkie Dinks", an independent team, to determine the winners of the losers bracket and the opponent of the "Sou Sou" team in the final competition. The championship game featuring the undefeated M.S.M. "Sou Sou" will be played November 15, at six o'clock.

Tennis Finals This Week

The tennis tournament has advanced to the semi-final and finals stage also, with final eliminations in singles and doubles to take place this week.

In the doubles division, Ann McLaurin and Linda Kay Ellington will play Edwina Hubert and Lynn Cannon on November 3, to decide the opposition of Loretta Lowery and Mary Ann Youngblood in the final match. Lowry and Youngblood advanced to the finals with a semi-final win over Colleen Cathy and Margetta Spears.

Three players have advanced to the semi-finals of the singles tournament while the fourth semi-finalist has not yet been decided. Linda Kay Ellington and Gabe Beard will be matched against each other in semi-final play while Edwina Hubert awaits the winner of the quarter-finals match between Judy Thurmon and Grace Jackson. Final competition between the winners of these brackets will be played either November 8 or 9.

This week's recipient of "Hats Off" is a senior member of the Yoncopin staff from Leesville, Louisiana. His duty on the staff is to plan and execute plans for the pictures and pages of the ROTC and freshmen sections of the yearbook. This job entails much of his time yet he is also important in other activities on campus.

As a business major he is serving the entire student body this year as treasurer of the Student Senate and Council. He is also treasurer for the Centenary Choir and a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Outstanding in ROTC at Centenary he plans to enter the army for two years after graduation and later attend graduate school in marketing or business administration.

Therefore, for his ambition, his industry on the campus in all phases of activity, and above all his efforts on the Yoncopin staff, we tip our hats to . . . James Goins.

Travelers Topple Powerful Pheasants

By MIKE RAMMING

The Kappa Alpha Travelers handed the previously undefeated Golden Pheasants their first loss as the Pheasants came up on the short end of a 13-0 score. Both Traveler touchdowns were scored by talented field-general, Furman Barnes on twelve and thirty yard scoring plays.

The absence of Leon Shaw in the Pheasant backfield was keenly felt by the losing club. Shaw is currently leading the scoring parade in Men's Intramural Football. This does not detract, however, from the fine team effort producing the Traveler victory.

Three teams are now in a tight battle for first place as only percentage points separate the Golden Pheasants, Kappa Sigma, and Travelers.

Each of these fine teams while showing excellent overall strength have also produced an outstanding star. Former Centenary basketball star, Leon Shaw has been the kingpin of the Pheasant attack. Shaw using his phantom speed to the utmost is averaging two touchdowns per contest. The keynote of Kappa Sigma success has been the aerial wizardry of quarterback, Sonny Elder, a football all-stater in high school. The "go man" in the Traveler machine is their peppery quarterback, Furman Barnes. Barnes combining a fine passing arm with some nifty running ability has made the Traveler offense click.

The Zeta's brought Paris to Centenary with their Parisian Street Dance in the Student Center last Friday night. The refreshments were unique, the band was good and the entertainment was just great. We all enjoyed it very much, girls.

Straight from Paris were can-can girls, Nancy Lecky, Roxie Lewis, Patti McHugh, Ann Hogan, Beth Catton, Genie Gibson, Page Tiller, and Mary Bostick. The United States was represented by Helen Gulley who did her prize winning skit from the Miss Louisiana contest. Kay Tipton and Ray Chabeau performed an original dance.

Ralph Mason, Gene LaCaze, Don Tyler, and Tommy Brewerton under the direction of Jack Mulkey made excellent waiters.

Congratulations are in order for Betty Schmitt and Johnny Lawrence who are dropped.

We understand that Don Tyler and Buddy Hawkins had a fine trip to Arkansas even though they were a little unprepared for it. Davie Glass has learned to keep quiet about trips.

Congratulations go to Dale Van Bibber who pledged Kappa Alpha.

We were all glad to have Warren West with us last weekend, weren't we, Jane? Frankie Stokes and Anne McLaurin also had visitors this weekend. Rose Mary Watkins also visited Centenary.

The Chi Omegas all enjoyed a Halloween party complete with horror house, scavenger hunt and lots of good things to eat.

A Halloween-ding was given in James Dorm by Maury Johnston, Joy Camerer, Carolyn and Claren Carver. It was complete with Ghost stories by Virginia Bobbitt.

Bobby Ross has been selected as fireman of the month.

Chi O Holds Hayride

Chi Omegas and their dates attended a hayride given at the Westerner Restaurant on Saturday, Nov. 5. After riding on the wagons to a designated spot, a barbecued chicken dinner was served chuckwagon style. During the dinner, impromptu entertainment was provided by the Westerner staff and by Chi Omegas and their dates.

Following the hayride, everyone adjourned to the Chi Omega house for refreshments and dancing.

MSM Hobos Nov. 12

The Methodist Student Movement at Centenary College is sponsoring a "Hobo Day" Saturday, November 12th, a project in which the members will do odd jobs. The purpose of the project is to raise money to carry on parts of the MSM program, such as regular meetings, parties, publicity, and a newspaper publication. Payment will be based on time spent working and the job done. Students will work from 8-12 a.m. and from 1-5 p.m. Anyone wishing to hire a student call: Rev. Don Guynes, Centenary College, UN 1-2431 or Carolyn Denison, UN 5-8901 by noon Friday, November the 11th.

Biology Club Plans Projects For 60-61

The Biology Club held a Meeting Tuesday, October 25, at the break to nominate and vote on officers for the year. The new officers will be announced at the meeting to be held Nov. 8 at 7:00 p. m. in room 114 of the Science Building.

The high-light of the Nov. 8th meeting will be a showing of color slides of Glacier National Park taken by Alwynell Self, a senior member of the group.

Earlier in the semester the club selected several service projects for the 1960-61 term. These include a research program, the Science Fair, and giving aid to school children interested in science. The sponsor for the club is Dr. O. P. Wilkins. Mrs. McFarland and Dr. Spears also serve the clubs as associates. Anyone interested in joining may do so by contacting one of the sponsors, or by attending the meeting tomorrow night.

Sophomores To Produce Follies

Plans are now under way for the 1961 production of the Sophomore Follies, a musical revue. The sophomore class will write, direct, produce, and make up the cast of the Follies.

The director will be Ray Chabeau and his assistants are Kay Tipton and Bobette Oaken. Sandy Lawn will be in charge of the musical score. Mr. O. R. Corey, head of the Speech and Dramatics Department, will be an advisor. Auditions for the cast will be held at a date to be announced later.

Drummond's Centenary Girl of the Month

This month's personality is freshman Joan Williams who hails from Monroe, La. During this month Joan reigned as Queen of the Freshman Dance. She is also vice-president of both the Chi Omega pledge class and the Freshman class.

Joan was chosen by a committee composed of one member from each of the Greek organizations on campus and two independent representatives. This committee will meet each month and select a girl to be featured in this column. She will be chosen on the basis of her outstanding accomplishments during the preceding month.

The days of jeans and general mess.
Gone is the mood of I don't care
And gone the problem of what to wear.

By just a skip, a jump and a hop
I get to the Young Executive Shop
Where fashions traditional are on display
Wearable either night or day.

Now I stand in the world of men
And vow never to be a slob again.
I dress so right, so neat, so new.

13 Students Selected For Who's Who

Representing Centenary in this year's edition of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities are Ralph Mason, John Williams, Jack Mulkey, Linda Rosett, Anne McLaurin, and Brenda Bailey.

Dr. Woodrow Pate, after delivering an address entitled "Who's Here?", announced the selection of 13 students, twelve seniors and one junior, who will represent Centenary College in the 1960-61 publication of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." Tapped for membership were: Brenda Bailey, Jim Daigle, Judy Hebert, Richard Herrmann, Ann McLaurin, Ralph Mason, Jack Mulkey, Tally Pledger, Linda Rossett, Fred Schwendimann, Carole Ann Solomon, Sandra Whitlock, and John Williams.

Brenda Bailey, a senior from Shreveport, is Secretary of the Student Body this year, a member of the Panhellenic Council, and Cencoe, has held the offices of pledge trainer and rush chairman of Chi Omega, and participates in Intramurals.

President of the Student Body, Jim Daigle, is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, the Interfraternity council, Newman Club, Intramurals, and the Discipline-Faculty-Student Committee. Daigle, a senior from Shreveport, is president of Kappa Sigma and has served as president of the Junior Class and participated in various productions at the Playhouse and played on the Centenary Golf Team.

Judy Herbert, a senior who hails from Rayne, La., has served as president of Hardin Hall, President of Cencoe, President, Corresponding Secretary and Historian of Alpha Xi Delta, Reporter of Alpha Epsilon Delta, and has been a member of the Panhellenic Council, Methodist Student Movement, intramurals, and Pep Squad.

Listed in last year's edition of "Who's Who", Richard Herrman, a senior from Bethany, La., has served as a member of the Honor Court, the Discipline Faculty-Student Committee, been President of the Methodist Student Movement, and is a member of Alpha Chi and Omicron Delta Kappa.

Coed Vice President Chosen

Co-ed vice president of the Student Body, Ann McLaurin, is a senior from Mansfield. She has been an alternate to the Honor Court, Vice-President of her Junior Class, Secretary of the Sophomore Class, Vice-President of Chi Omega, Mardi Gras Court and Gymnastics Team Sweetheart, Secretary of the SNEA and has participated in intramurals.

Chapel Thursday, Nov. 7 was the scene of the annual "Who's Who" awards. Proud recipients of this honor are Sandra Whitlock, Carole Anne Solomen, Judy Hebert, Jim Daigle, Tally Pledger, Richard Herrman, and Fred Schwendimann.

Harlan's Concert Nov. 4 Begins Faculty Series

The third annual faculty recital series of the school of music at Centenary college began yesterday with a program at 4 p. m. in the Brown Memorial Chapel. Monas Harlan, associate professor of voice at Centenary, was the initial recitalist. His piano accompanist was Rule Beasley, instructor in music.

Joseph M. Running, director of the school of music and professor of piano, said all of the faculty recitals will be open to the public without charge. All will be presented in the chapel on the Centenary campus on Sunday afternoon. Subsequent programs will be presented on January 8, February 12, March 19, and April 23.

The January 8 recital will be presented by Beasley, who will give an all-piano program. Beasley also plays bassoon with the Shreveport Symphony and is an accomplished composer, arranger, saxophonist and organist.

Dean To Present Organ Recital

Ronald Dean, assistant professor of music, will present an organ recital on February 12 for the third program in the series. Dean, who joined the school of music faculty last September, taught at the University of Texas in Austin for one year prior to coming here. Organist and choir-master at a number of churches in Massachusetts and Michigan during his undergraduate and graduate years, he now serves in a similar capacity at the First Church of Christ Scientist.

Running will be presented in a piano recital on March 19. He joined the Centenary faculty in September, 1958, and has been presented as guest artist with the Florida State University Symphony, Shreveport Symphony, and on the A. W. Mellon Recital Series in the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D. C. Last year, he also played at Lawrence College in Appleton, Wisconsin, at the University of Texas and in San Augustine, Texas, as a benefit for the San Augustine chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Chamber Music To Be Featured

The April 23 recital will be a chamber music program featuring quintets for piano and strings and piano and woodwinds. Details for this program have not been completed and will be announced at a later date.

The initial program featured Harlan in a program of operatic arias and songs from the French, Italian, and German repertoires. Harlan, who has made four European tours with the All-America Chorus, taught at the University of Louisville, Kentucky, and Montana State University in Missoula prior to joining the Centenary faculty in September, 1959. He has been presented in opera, oratorio, and recital in all sections of the country and has appeared with many major orchestras under the batons of such conductors as Pierre Monteux, Alfred Wallenstein and Frederich Davis.

The annual faculty recital series was inaugurated in 1959 during the first year of Running's directorship of the school of music. Purpose of the series is to acquaint local residents with the work being done in the school of music and with the personnel on its staff.

Students and Faculty To Compete At Farm Derby

Hog calling, square dancing, and corn husking will be a few of the activities open to students and faculty at the annual Alpha Xi Delta Farm Derby Friday, November 18, in the Moore Student Center, from 7:30 to 11:00 p. m. The theme of this year's Derby is "The County Fair", and it will be set up along these lines.

The evening will begin with square dancing called by Dr. Rice and will follow with team races. There will be a prize given to the best hog-caller and a drawing will be held for the door prize.

The featured event of the evening will be the traditional faculty pie-eating contest. Each faculty member will represent a campus organization. Students are urged to support their organization's representative in this event.

November eighteen has been designated as Farm Derby Day and many students and faculty are invited to enter into the spirit by dressing in appropriate farm costume during the morning and afternoon.

ZTA To Auction Pledges Nov. 15

"Slave Day", which is sponsored by the pledge class of Zeta Tau Alpha, will feature a sale of pledges to the highest bidder on Tuesday, November 15 at 10:30 a. m. on the west side of the Sub. Twenty-four Zeta pledges will be put on the auctioneer's block and will be sold to the highest bidder. The owner of the girls will receive her services for the remainder of the day. Three auctioneers representing Kappa Alpha, Kappa Sigma and the independent boys will champion the virtues of their wares. "Slave Day" is being sponsored by the pledge class as a method to raise money for their annual pledge project.

Magazine Features Friedenbergs Work

The work of Elizabeth Friedenbergs, art instructor at Centenary College is discussed in an illustrated article appearing in the current issue of Adhesives Age, trade publication of the adhesives industry.

The article notes that adhesives, "recently made their debut in the fine arts when a Madison Avenue art gallery put on a one-woman show of 28 "canvases" by the Centenary College faculty member.

Miss Friedenbergs' works include a combination of painting and sculpture, using conventional oil paints and such materials as wood, iron, bits of jewelry, burlap, ceramics, fiber glass and other unconventional objects, all bonded together with adhesives. The adhesives provide their own texture and color to various areas of the works, which are called "collages" by the Galerie Internationale, where the show was recently held.

Lloyd Cutler, president of the Miracle Adhesive Corporation of Bellmore, N. Y., is quoted in the article as saying:

"I thought I was up on every area of use for our products, but their use as an art medium is a startling surprise even to me. Apart from being a fine cultural achievement, Miss Friedenbergs' accomplishment should be a lesson to us in the industry never to assume we've thought of everything, never to limit the reach of our imagination and ingenuity."

"Abby" To Speak

"Dear Abby" will be guest speaker on the second of the Lyceum Series to be held on Wednesday, November 16, at 10 a. m. in the Haynes Memorial Gymnasium. After delivering an informal address, she will read and answer the question blanks submitted by Centenary College students during the week. Her appearance on campus, arranged through the courtesy of The Shreveport Journal, will be open to the public without charge.

"Who's Who" Considers Service, Scholarship, Leadership, and Grades

Each year a few students are honored by being selected for the publication of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities". This requires careful consideration of a candidate's service, scholarship, and leadership abilities.

The disheartening part of this selection is to see the many students who have the honors and have served Centenary well, yet do not have the required scholastic average for admittance. Just as bad is to find someone with excellent grades who enters little into campus work and life. Such an honor should not be limited in number, yet through a definite responsibility to maintain standards, certain individuals are kept out.

The importance of grades to the student cannot be overemphasized and how often we hear talks concerning this matter. Yet it seems that it is only when we get down to looking for honors such as this that we really see how important they should be to the student. We all deserve the right to be given a chance to receive membership, yet some will deny this chance to themselves simply by not putting forth that little extra effort to obtain a good record.

This, the freshmen should especially realize — it is very hard to bring a few bad semesters up to the junior and senior year, and in order to be eligible for any scholastic and service organizations one should have an over-all 3.0 average. This seems difficult to maintain, yet with a determined attitude to succeed in all things almost anyone can enter campus activities and still maintain a high scholastic average. This we ought to do for ourselves both now and in the future. Remember, you may have the chance some day to be selected for "Who's Who".

After College, What?

The selection of a vocational objective is a pressing problem to many college students, particularly freshmen. To help every student with this decision, Mrs. Fannie Lee Nichols, student activities director, has set up a table in the Moore Student Center which will display pamphlets and bulletins from government agencies, business firms, companies, branches of the military, and educational institutions concerning job opportunities and available scholarships and fellowships.

This table will be a permanent fixture in the Student Center and each week Mrs. Nichols will add new pamphlets she has received. At present the table includes information about job opportunities with the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marine Corps, civil service, Border Patrol, and the Departments of Agriculture and the Interior. Pamphlets are also available about the Atlas Powder Company, Interstate Oil Pipe Line Company, Woolworth's and Sear's.

Choir Plans For Annual TV Series

Following a successful "Rhapsody In View" program, at which attendance was believed to have been better than any previous year, the Centenary College Choir is making plans for the rest of the fall semester.

In addition to their chapel program appearances, plans are being made for the group to appear on the downtown Christmas lighting program shortly after the Thanksgiving holidays. On December 16, more Christmas music will be done at a similar lighting ceremony in Arcadia.

Following another annual custom for the Choir, they will begin their television series on November 27, following Thanksgiving. Sponsored by Southwestern Electric Power Company, the group will prepare and present thirteen programs on the Sunday afternoons following the 27th. The first program will begin at 4:30 in the afternoon, but each succeeding broadcast will be at 4:00. The broadcasts will be made live from KSLA-TV on Channel 12. Working in cooperation with the studio officials will be members of the Choir Television Committee: Lyndra Pate, Barbara Hargraves, Jill Landis, Kay Cooper, Don Tyler, and Fred Schwendimann.

Vocational careers in insurance and airlines are also suggested. Available also are bulletins on the Katherine Gibbs Scholarships and the Harvard-Radcliffe Program in Business Administration. Special attention should be given to a pamphlet entitled "After College, What?"

Students are welcome to look through the pamphlets at any time and are encouraged to keep a weekly check on new additions to the table.

Centenary Band Plays For Kiwanis

The Centenary College Band, under the direction of Mr. B. P. Causey, presented a concert last Thursday, November 10, at the noon luncheon meeting of the Shreveport Kiwanis Club in the Crystal Ballroom of the Washington Youree Hotel.

Highlight of the program was a trumpet trio consisting of Clyde McArty, Dick Tubbs and Don Townsend. Among the selections played were the following "Gombasto March", Farrar; "El Capitan", Sousa; "Kiddie Ballet Suite", Herrman; "Spiritual" from "Symphony No. 5 1/2", Gillis, and "You'll Never Walk Alone", from the musical "Carousel", by Rogers and Hammerstein.

Patterson to Speak At DTO Meeting

A monthly business session, second in a series sponsored by Delta Tau Omicron will meet Tuesday, November 15, at 10:30 a. m. in room 114 of the Science Building. All students are invited to attend.

The speaker will be Mr. James N. Patterson, a 1940 Centenary graduate, and current president of the Centenary Alumni. He will speak on the topic of insurance as an aid to business and insurance as a career.

Delta Tau Omicron is an honorary commerce fraternity and members must achieve a 3.5 average in commerce courses and maintain a 2.5 overall average. Officers of the society include: President, James Parker; Vice-President, Jerry Smith; and Secretary-Treasurer, Albert Cooksey.

Alabama, is Vice-President of the Student Body, a member of last year's "Who's Who", Omicron Delta Kappa, and the Varsity Basketball Team. He has served as President and Vice-President of Kappa Alpha, President of Rotary Hall, is a member of the Discipline Faculty-Student Committee, and the Intramural council, and was selected as a Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior Class Favorite.

A senior from Shreveport, Jack Mulkey is a member of Sigma Tau Delta, Phi Sigma Iota, and the Lyceum Faculty-Student Committee. Jack has participated in various productions at the Playhouse, served on the Yoncopin Staff last year, and was the recipient of a French Award.

Tally Pledger, a senior from Shreveport, is president of the Gymnastics Team, and a member of Kappa Sigma, the Centenary College Choir, and ROTC. He has participated in intramurals and various productions at the Playhouse.

Vice-President of the Senior class, Linda Rossett of Shreveport, has served as Clerk to the Honor Court and President and Treasurer of Zeta Tau Alpha. She is a member of the Panhellenic Council, Phi Beta, Cencoe, and the Centenary Choir in which she is Alto Section Leader. She has served on the Yoncopin Staff, participated in intramurals, and was selected Junior Class Favorite and Pershing Rifles Sponsor.

One Junior Selected

A junior from Coshatta, Fred Schwendimann has served as President of Alpha Sigma Pi, President of the Freshman Class, Pledgemaster of Kappa Sigma, Projects Chairman of Kappa Chi, Secretary of Rotary Hall, and Treasurer of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia. He is also a member of the Discipline Faculty-Student Committee, the Methodist Student Movement, The Centenary Choir, and Intramurals and was the recipient of a National Methodist Scholarship and the Outstanding Freshman Cadet Award in ROTC.

President of the Maroon Jackets, Carole Ann Solomon is a senior who hails from Vicksburg, Miss. She is a member of Cencoe, Alpha Sigma Pi, Student NEA, James Dormitory Council, and Intramurals. She has served as Secretary, Scholarship Chairman, and Pledge Trainer of Zeta Tau Alpha, Publicity and Quest Chairman for Kappa Chi, Corresponding Secretary and News Editor for the Methodist Student Movement, President of the WRA Council and alternate to the Panhellenic Council.

Conglomerate Co-Editor Chosen

Sandra Whitlock, a senior from Chennault A.F.B., La., is a member of Cencoe, Alpha Sigma Chi, Alpha Sigma Pi, the Methodist Student Movement, and intramurals, and has been a member of the WRA Council. She has served as Vice-President of Hardin Hall, Vice-President of Maroon Jackets, Vice-President, Assistant Treasurer, and Pledge Trainer of Alpha Xi Delta, Vice-President, and Secretary of Alpha Epsilon Delta, and Co-editor of the Conglomerate.

President of Alpha Chi, John Williams, a senior from Arlington, Virginia, is a member of Phi Sigma Iota, Alpha Sigma Pi, the Varsity Golf Team, and Jongleurs, and has participated in various productions at the Playhouse. He is Treasurer of the Senior Class and President of Sigma Tau Delta.

Nominations for "Who's Who" were made by a joint vote of faculty and students. Final selection was made by the Student Affairs Committee on the basis of service, leadership, and scholarship.

Conglomerate Recognizes Student Service

"Who's Who" chapel is always a time of excitement for some students but it is also a time of disappointment for those students who did not receive recognition. Although there are many people who deserve this honor, the Conglomerate staff wishes to commend two students who we feel have given a great deal of their time to Centenary college.

Buddy Dailey is a senior who has served his school through Student Senate, class offices and through his fraternity. He has been Vice-President of the Student Senate, President of Inter-Fraternity council, president of Kappa Alpha fraternity, and has served as treasurer of his class.

Jane Ilgenfritz has also distinguished herself in many capacities. She is presently serving as president of Chi Omega sorority, president of Panhellenic, and Kappa Sigma sweetheart. She is a member of Cencoe, has been secretary of her class, and represented the Junior class on the Mardis Gras court.

We wish to salute these two students for their service to Centenary.

Diving in for another two-pointer is John Vasilopoulos, senior backcourt sensation for the '60-'61 edition of Centenary Basketball Gentlemen.

Meet The Gents

The most experienced backcourt man returning to the Gents basketball team this year is John Vasilopoulos. John hails from Marshall, Missouri, where he was a Kansas City All-District selection. This six foot one inch, one hundred and eighty pounder will be a key figure in Centenary's basketball picture this year.

Vasilopoulos, who played under Coach Sigler at the United States Military Academy before coming to Centenary, has learned the Sigler style of play very well. The key to John's basketball success has been unending spirit and hustle and the ability to out-think his opponent. He has plenty of rebounding savvy and is a capable leader on the fast break.

John is a mathematics major and one of the five seniors on the Gent varsity squad this year. When the pressure mounts and the heat is on, quite possibly Gent fans will find the cool, quick thinking Vasilopoulos in charge of the Centenary backcourt.

This is the first of a series of thumbnail sketches on the members of the Centenary Basketball Team. Each week a player will be presented throughout the basketball season.

Teachers Tour On Geology Field Trip

Charles A. Hickcox, head of the geology department, and Robert A. Meader, instructor in geology, were in charge of a one day workshop for junior and senior high school science teachers which was held Saturday, November 5. The workshop included a trip through various sections of Northern Louisiana.

The Louisiana Junior Academy of Science is providing expenses for the field trips, which have been planned as a means of promoting improved teaching of science. Later workshops are planned in the areas of biology, chemistry and physics.

The Kappa Sigmas held their annual pajama party on Saturday, November 12 at the fraternity house.

The Sigs and their dates clad in pajamas made quite a scene wearing matching pajamas, nightgowns, "shorties", and even Chinese night attire. Some of the couples well-dressed for the occasion were Sarah Hitchcock and Jay Lang, Beth Catton and Jim Daigle, Dianne Mollet and Gene LaCaze, and Dianna Ammons and Derwood Winfree.

The music for the sleepy-time affair was provided by the "Wild Childs" Band.

MSM Wins Honors In Volleyball Finals

Intramural volleyball and tennis will come to a close this week as finalists of both tournaments vie for championship honors.

M.S.M. is assured of both first and second places in the volleyball tournament as both of its entries will be playing in the final game. The M.S.M. "Mau Mau" team won its place in the finals' bracket by eliminating the Alpha Xi Delta team on November 8, and the Independent "Rinkie Dinks" the following night. The win over the "Rinkie Dinks" in semi-final play meant an automatic third place for the "Rinkie Dinks" and a chance for the number one spot for the "Mau Mau" team. However, the undefeated "Sou Sou" team will prove to be solid competition for them as they meet in final competition November 15.

Members of the third place "Rinkie Dink" team are Diane Camp Judy Thurmon, Indi Nichols, Kathy Gardner, Amy Matthews, Shirley Burnett, and Sharon Blevins. Members of the "Mau Mau" and "Sou Sou" teams will be named next week.

Winners of the two tennis tournaments will be decided this week as finals are played in both singles and doubles events. Edwinna Hubert and Lynn Cannon advanced to the finals in doubles competition by winning in semi-final play over Linda Kay Ellington and Ann McLaurin. They will be matched against Mary Ann Youngblood and Loretta Lowery who have gone undefeated in the opposite

Intramural Councils Sponsor Open House

The Men's Intramural Council and the Women's Recreational Association will jointly sponsor an open house in the gym tomorrow night at 7:00 p. m. immediately following the intramural championship volleyball game.

Highlight of the open house will be the faculty-student volleyball game which will begin the evening's activities. Student players will be selected from the organizations which participate in intramurals and if last year's game is any indication, then they will probably be playing against pretty tough competition. Anchor men of last year's faculty team included Dean Allen, Dr. Labor, Coach Moody, Mr. Hanson, Dr. Morgan, and Colonel Scott with able assistance from such notables as Dean Lineberger, Dr. Carlton, Miss Estes, Miss McKnight, and Miss Alexander.

The purpose of the open house is to acquaint the students with facilities of the gymnasium. After the volleyball game, equipment will be available for those students who would like to play ping-pong, paddleball, shuffleboard, badminton. Refreshments will be served as the open house comes to an end.

Barbecue To Follow Frosh-Varsity Game

On November 22, the Freshman-Varsity game will take place in the gym at 6:00 to be followed immediately by a barbecue sponsored by the Gents Club. The game will be free; tickets for the barbecue will be sold by the Pep Squad for $1.50 for adults and $1.00 for Centenary students.

Tickets will go on sale on Wednesday, November 16, when the Pep Squad will approach businessmen all over town to support the Gents. From the 16th through the 22nd, tickets can be purchased from any Pep Squad member. All proceeds will go to the Pep Squad for its activities this year.

Pairings for the Seventh Annual Gulf South Classic were released last week by officials of the local holiday college cage tournament.

Centenary's first round game on December 28th will pit the Gents against Texas Western. Meanwhile, defending champions, Northwestern State, will open against Middle Tennessee, Louisiana Tech will vie with South Carolina, and "Ole Miss" will face Georgetown University of Washington, D. C.

All previous winners of the Classic have been Louisiana teams. This year such outstate teams as "Ole Miss" and Georgetown have the power to upset this precedent.

The tournament will be held in 10,500 seat Hirsch Memorial Youth Center, one of the nation's finest basketball arenas. This year's Classic boasts the finest array of teams in the tournament's six year history. Teams will journey to Shreveport from the Eastern, Western and Southern United States to bring Ark-La-Tex fans college basketball at its best.

Centenary's opening game with Texas Western will tip off at 7:30 P. M. on December 28th.

Harold Ensley, father of Centenary basketball standout, Don Ensley, became the World's Fresh Water Fishing Champion in the recent World Series of Sports Fishing held at Union Lake, Michigan. Don's father, who is a well known radio and television personality throughout the Midwestern United States, lives in Kansas City, Missouri. He has both a radio and a television show for hunters and fishermen.

Upon his return to Kansas City from the tournament Mr. Ensley was featured in a parade during which a speech was given by the mayor.

Testifying that the world is indeed shrinking are Beth Catton, Lois Thayer, and Billy Eubanks. As military dependents they have lived and traveled in more countries than many Centenary Students will ever see.

Air Force Students See World

By LYNDRA PATE

"If your father is in the Air Force, you'll probably see the world" might well be the motto of this week's Conglomerate personalities. Lois Thayer, a freshman and a history major, has seen most of the things she is studying about.

Lois' father is a Lt.-Col. in the Air Force and is currently stationed at Barksdale. Although she has lived in a number of states, Lois considers herself a Texas girl, having spent several years in San Antonio.

During her junior high and high school years, the family was sent to Europe where they spent three years in England and three years in France. "The only thing I really hate about Europe," Lois says, "is the cold climate. If it goes to 85 degrees, people in England think they're going to have a sunstroke."

Lois said she liked living in France better because she was a little older then and could appreciate it more. Two of the main things she remembers are getting lost from her friends on the street one night, and having to walk everywhere she went. While living in England and France, she visited almost every other country in Europe. Of the countries she visited, Germany was her favorite because she said the people were nicer and had done more toward improving their country after the war than those in the other countries had.

Africa, Casablanca Intrigue Billy

A sophomore transfer from Rice, Billy Eubank, has lived in every section of the United States. He says the most memorable time he spent in the States was the five years he spent in California because there were so many different things to do out there. Billy graduated from an Air Force high school in Morocco, a country on the coast of North Africa, where his father, a Maj.-Gen., was stationed for a year. He said that life was very different over there. Many of the older women still wear veils, no one eats pork, and that, as a whole, they followed their Islam religion much closer than we follow our own religion here in America.

His most exciting experience overseas occurred in Casablanca where he and five other boys had gone for a short visit. Two of them had guns loaded with blank cartridges, and just for fun they staged a running gun battle, complete with a falling body, in one of the public parks there. The people on the streets thought it was the real thing, and it caused quite a commotion.

Two of the many interesting and famous people Billy met and talked to while he was there were King Mohammed V of Morocco and his daughter, Lilia Aishi. The Princess, he said, wears Western clothes, drives a white Thunderbird. She is popular and important there because she is changing the whole concept of Moroccan womanhood. Originally Moroccan men felt that women were put on earth only to please men.

Beth Stays Home

"I bet I'm the only Air Force girl in the world who has never been sent overseas," says Beth Catton, a freshman at Centenary this year. "It just makes me sick." However, her family has been kept plenty busy moving around in the United States. Her father, a Brig.-Gen., is now stationed at Pease Air Force Base, New Hampshire, but Beth has lived in at least ten states since she started to school (she can't even remember all of them), and has traveled through every state plus spending some time in Mexico and Canada. Beth says that she has really enjoyed moving around and would advise it for everybody as it has taught her how to meet new people and how to get along with everybody. With all her traveling though, she says she's never felt so lost as when she moved from a high school of 400 to one of 3,000. She quickly remedied that situation, however, by asking some nice, handsome male how to find all her classes.

Catton Anticipates Debut

Beth says her most embarrassing experience occurred when she was modeling a mink stole at a huge Air Force show. She was holding a French poodle named George and evidently didn't like her company, because he suddenly broke into a run and dragged Beth along the ramp right behind him.

As an Air Force daughter, Beth knows such people as Senator Bridges (R-N.H.) and Governor Powell of New Hampshire. During the Christmas holidays Beth will have the honor of making her national Air Force debut at the annual Christmas Ball, an event which she is looking forward to very much.

Secretarial College Offers Scholarship

Two national scholarships for college senior girls are offered for 1961-1962 by the Katharine Gibbs School, a secretarial college.

Each scholarship consists of full tuition ($935) for the secretarial training course, plus an additional cash award of $500, totaling $1,435. The winners may select any one of the school's four locations for their training.

Each college or university may recommend two candidates, and each candidate must have this official endorsement. Students who may be interested in competing for one of these Katharine Gibbs awards may obtain full information from the college placement bureau.

ACTIVITY TICKETS

Students may pick up Student Athletic Activity tickets at the Athletic office ticket window in the lobby of Haynes Gymnasium beginning Nov. 7 through Nov. 23 from 1-4 p. m. These tickets are the student's only means of free admittance to the basketball games.

The Chi Omega hayride was highlighted by barbecued chicken, lots of laughter and a big shiny moon. Among those attending the affair held at the Westerner were Stan McAfoos, Geneva Jones, George Williford, Gene LaCaze, Pat Byrd, Ford King and Lois Thayer. After the hayride everyone returned to the Chi Omega Lodge for music, food and dancing.

Centenary students also enjoyed the Noel Older Youth Retreat at Caney Lake. Donna Wyrick, Betty Sims, Tally Pledger, Jerre Rainwater and Betsy Gould were among those attending.

A hearty congratulations go to Johnny Evans, who pledged Kappa Sigma.

The L.S.U. homecoming game attracted Grace Jackson, Kay Cooper, Susie Smith, Pierce McKeithen, and Dianna Ammons. We know that they enjoyed cheering the Tigers to victory.

Congratulations are in order for new cheerleaders. We know that the Gents will appreciate having Patsy West, Diane Camp, Charlotte Stoghill, Becky Graham, Judy Thurman and Beth Catton cheering for them this year. Congratulations, girls. We know that you will do a fine job.

We are glad to see that all the virus victims are on their feet again. We know that Sharon Blevins and Arnie McHone are anxious to break through the "Cast System."

Ez Fatter has had plenty of time to ponder "Why did Adam sin?" since he has been in the hospital. It just doesn't pay to get too excited over a ballgame, does it, Ez?

This week's "Hats Off" features another "man behind the publication" . . . the business manager of The Conglomerate.

Before coming to Centenary he acted as business manager of the Texarkana, Arkansas, high school annual. At Centenary, during his freshman year, he was recognized for his work at making the "Freshman Follies" a success, and also for his part in that production.

This year as a sophomore, he is serving his fraternity, the Kappa Sigma, by both acting as social chairman and playing football for them in intramural competition.

As business manager of The Conglomerate he is continuously busy soliciting ads to various business concerns and mailing statements to those who advertise. He is also responsible for all of the office supplies and money affairs of the paper.

His job, although of utmost importance to the staff is seldom acknowledged by the readers of The Conglomerate, who should certainly be aware of such a deserving worker. So, at this time, The Conglomerate invites its readers to join in taking hats off to . . . Bobby Ross.

A certain Housemother would like to know what to do about boys who snitch her eggs and play games and send her orchids. Maybe George Gilmer has the answer.

Hurry! hurry! Get your questions for "Dear Abby" in now.

The Centenary student body apparently did not go along with the national trend in the 1960 presidential election. Senator Kennedy's election brought various reactions on the campus. Helen Culley, Jane Ilgenfritz and Sara Tiner stayed up to watch the late returns. Terrell Rourke and Marie Nelson were pleased with the outcome. Dr. Willingham even took a vacation!

Best of luck to the cast of "Murder in the Cathedral". We know you have worked long and hard for this fine production.

We understand that Jim Daigle, Beth Catton, Buddy Hawkins, Gail Yarbrough went all the way to Dallas to window shop.

The Sexton girls were surprised with Kangaroo Kourt. Judy Kleinhans was punished for being a model dorm student. She had to force a loud laugh at the top of her voice. Gail Southerland had a surprise shower, pajamas and all. Gabe Beard played Veronica Lake and doorman the following day. Lynah Chambers let her hair down. Jane Hebert announced that "Boys can't resist me. I'm so beautiful." Loretta Lowery wore her "Baby Lo" sign as her punishment.

Aufait held a slumber party at the poolside playhouse of the senior R. S. Barwnells. Some of those toasting marshmallows around the fireplace were Barbara Adair, Dot Wise, and Sarah Liberto.

Marcia, Juanita Appear On Legion TV Show

Two of Centenary's co-eds participated Saturday night in the American Legion Membership Marathon on KTBS-TV, Channel 3. Marcia Stewart and Juanita Donelson, the current "Miss Shreveport", appeared on the two hour program, November 5. Marcia, a junior student from Beaumont, Texas, sang twice, doing "Everything's Coming Up Roses", and "Let Me Entertain You". Juanita, a freshman from Shreveport, was interviewed concerning her position as Shreveport's reigning queen in the pageant sponsored by the Loew-McFarland post of the American Legion.

Greek Week To Begin With Powder-Puff Game

Monday, November 28, begins Greek Week on the Centenary Campus. The week will include a series of activities on campus which will incorporate the entire efforts of all Greek organizations at Centenary: Kappa Alpha, Kappa Sigma, Alpha Xi Delta, Chi Omega and Zeta Tau Alpha.

The week's activities will officially begin Monday night at 6 p. m. with the Powder Puff Football Game on the ROTC Field. All students are invited to attend and there will be a small admission charge. Seven teams are entered in the game and include 83 girls from the three sororities. Fraternity men will act as coaches and referees and a pep squad of 15 boys will offer encouragement to the female footballers. Leading the crowd in cheers will be Jerry Jouett, Hoyt Bain, Ralph Mason, Doug Howard, Dan Herndon, and Tommy Hickcox. Highlight at half time will be the announcement of the "Queen and her Court" who will be selected from the fraternities by a vote of the girls playing in the game. At present, plans are being made to have an enthusiastic, if not skilled, faculty band at the game.

Wednesday evening at 7:30 in the Moore Student Center a movie is being planned which will be open to all Greeks on campus. This movie will be a series of newsreels concerning the riots in San Francisco against the House Committee on Un-American Activities in conjunction with the theme of the Kappa Alpha and Chi Omega national conventions on Communism.

A picnic in the Gymnasium is planned for Thursday, December 1, at 5 p. m. for all Greeks. Each person is to bring his own food, but drinks will be furnished at the Gym. The evening will end with several skits presented by the pledge classes of the five Greek organizations.

Greek week will near its climax on Friday with a dance in the Moore Student Center. Decorations will include plywood crests in traditional colors representing each of the Greek organizations. Further information will be announced at a later date concerning the band and the time. Plans are also in the making for a Charity football game between the Kappa Sigs and KA's, tentatively scheduled for Saturday. This will be a tackle football game in full uniform and will provide a grand finale to Greek Week.

Anthology Contains Poems By Students

The National Poetry Association has announced that poems written by two Centenary students will appear in the Annual Anthology of College Poetry. Congratulations are in order for Celia Butler for her poem, "Lackluster" and Linda Reynolds for "The Passing of Spring". Celia, a sophomore transfer from Texarkana Junior College, is an art major at Centenary. Linda is a freshman majoring in commerce education and is a graduate of Fair Park High School. The Anthology is a compilation of the finest poetry written by the college men and women of America, representing every section of the country. Selections were made from thousands of poems submitted.

ACTIVITIES TICKETS

Students may pick up Student Athletic Activity tickets at the Athletic office ticket window in the lobby of Haynes Gymnasium. These tickets are the student's only means of free admittance to the basketball games. At this date only 200 students have picked up their tickets. If this trend continues, there will be many unhappy students paying their way into basketball games.

Students of the Department of Education and Psychology of Centenary College will present at Toy Parade to be held in the Haynes Memorial Gymnasium December 3, 1960, from 10:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. Door prizes will be given and favors for the children will be donated by the local toy shops furnishing toys for this exhibit. Each person in attendance will be requested to complete a brief questionnaire regarding the toys on display. This automatically registers him for a door prize.

The purpose of the exhibit is to bring more clearly to the mind of the parent and educator the potential educational, as well as recreational value of these toys.

Some of the questions to be answered are the following: Are these toys (1) just to play with? (2) to help children grow? (3) to stimulate ideas and imaginations? (4) for children or for parents? (5) too advanced for the child at the time the parents usually present them? If so, does this discourage development of interest when proper age arrives? (6) rejected by parents because they require guidance, are messy, are distasteful, or the price is prohibitive? (7) rejected by child after initial inspection because of inavailable proper guidance, lack of interest, or the toy is too advanced for his age level? (8) career building?

Toys are being exhibited in relation to such interests as arts and crafts, athletics, home economics, language, economics, music, science, geography, military history, religion, and children's literature.

All parents, educators, children and other interested persons are invited and urged to attend.

Centettes Selling Barbecue Tickets

Preparations for the festivities surrounding the Freshmen-Varsity game on November 22 were in full swing this week as the Centenary Centettes canvassed the city selling tickets to the barbecue which is to follow the game. On Wednesday, November 16, Pep Squad members, resplendent in new uniforms of maroon and white, traveled in groups of 4 to 6 and visited business concerns in such places as the Beck Building, the Slattery Building, the Shreve Island Shopping Center, and the Petroleum Tower. Along with tickets to the barbecue, Pep Squaders solicited memberships to the Gents Club, which is sponsoring the barbecue.

Special tickets for all Centenary students went on sale along with the adult fares. These are being sold for $1.00 ($.50 less than the non-student fee) and can be purchased from any Centette member until the barbecue begins. Since the activities and fun of the day are to be centered around the game, which begins at 6:00, and the barbecue, which follows immediately in the gym, the Pep Squad encourages all students and faculty members to promote school spirit by purchasing tickets to the affair.

Centenary graduates who are now doing their residency or internship at Confederate Memorial Hospital were guests of Alpha Epsilon Delta November 10. Pictured (l-r) are: Loma Laird, Frank and Barbara (Hood) Agee, Norman and Caroline (Hudnall) Tompkins, Paul and Adele Ware, Hugh and Mrs. Lewing, Dennis Somner and Emily Harris, Frank Pearce, and Michael Ellis.

Lyceum Series Features Earle Spicer, Baritone

Earle Spicer, New York baritone billed as "the most re-engaged singer by colleges today", will appear on the Centenary College Lyceum Series at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow during the free period.

Spicer will be presented in the Haynes Memorial Gymnasium and will be making his second appearance on the local campus, where his program of ballad-singing was a popular feature of the Lyceum Series several years ago. He will be introduced by Joseph M. Running, director of the school of music and chairman of the Lyceum committee.

A native of Acadia, Nova Scotia, Spicer sang as a boy in the church choir of his hometown and at college studied voice, piano and organ while also singing in the glee club, college quartette, and playing bass viol in the orchestra. He did most of his advanced studies in London and New York.

Spicer was featured soloist on one of the leading NBC programs with Donald Voorhees and his orchestra and has also sung with many of the leading symphony orchestras and oratorio societies both in the United States and in England.

Spicer has filled more than 1,200 engagements at some 440 of the nation's leading colleges and universities.

A thoroughly trained concert singer who has sung Bach, Handel and Mozart as guest soloist for many famous conductors, Spicer began making a collection of folk songs merely as a hobby. This hobby has since become his profession after he received praise from the music critics of New York, Boston, and London.

His program at Centenary will include a number of old English ballads as well as traditional American folk tunes and ballads, all of them arranged by Spicer.

KA Pledges Stage Car Wreck Party

The Kappa Alpha house was the scene of a grinding smash-up on Saturday night, November 19.

The occasion was a "car wreck party" given by the KA pledges. Couples arrived dressed as though they had just stepped out of a tremendous wreck. The house was decorated appropriately with pictures of car wrecks and gruesome scenes. A hearse complete with a casket was on hand for those who were mortally wounded.

The injured danced to the music of Bill Busch and the Barbarians.

Dramatics' Arts Class To Give "The Boor"

On Tuesday evening, November 22, at 8:15, Marjorie Lyons Playhouse will be the scene of "The Boor", a one-act play by Anton Chekhov. This is the first in a series of all student productions of one-act plays sponsored by the Centenary Dramatics Arts Class.

"The Boor", directed by Lawrence Weiss, is Chekhov's satire on the Russian aristocracy near the turn of the last century. The author pokes fun at widows, servants and land banks, and provides a thoroughly enjoyable play for all attending.

The characters, evolving from the satirical plot are Yelena Popova played by Mary Farmer, Grigory Steph-anovich Smirnov played by Wayne Woodward, and Luka played by Celia Butler. Most important of all: it's all FREE!

Student Senate Minutes

The Student Senate Meeting was held in the Moore Student Center at 5:45, Wednesday, November 9. The meeting was called to order by the president, Jim Daigle. Others present were Anne McLaurin, Ralph Mason, Brenda Bailey, James Goins, Jean Netterville, G. B. Watson, Barbara Bourdier, Don Tyler, Buddy Daily, Tim Temple, Ralph Ferrari, Mike Sport, and Dean Allen.

James Goins reported that Goldberg was checking with various bands for December 15. A motion was made and seconded to have Milt Chapman on this date. The motion was carried.

Under old business came the buses for December 3. It was decided to let the Centettes handle this. The student body will be asked to write yes or not on their chapel cards as to whether or not they would like a ride to the game. G. B. Watson was appointed chairman of publicity for this event. Anne McLaurin, Jean Netterville, and James Goins volunteered to help with the posters.

New Business was called for. The question was raised about charging a dime for the movie in the Student Center. Dean Allen said that it would be better to wait until next semester if any changes are to be made.

A motion was made and seconded that the Student Senate sponsor a vaudeville show. Each class and the faculty would enter an act. A prize is to be given for the best performance. It would also be a good opportunity for the classes to work together. This motion was passed. There was discussion about the Student Fair. STUDENTS, If you would like to have both of these events or let the vaudeville take the place of the Student Fair please contact a Senate member and tell them. We are your representatives and want to do as you wish. Not only for this, but anytime you have a suggestion or idea see a Senate member.

Respectfully submitted,
Brenda Bailey
Student Senate Secretary

Review

"Murder in the Cathedral"

By CHARLES HEMBREE

The central idea in T. S. Eliot's Murder in the Cathedral is like a revolving triangle, continually presenting three related sides or levels of meaning. The political level ponders the duality of church and state; the ecclesiastical level correlates motive with the significance of martyrdom and the spiritual level unmasks spiritual pride.

Eliot has turned the material for a historical drama into a "passion play" to make the Christian myth concrete in history, and to universalize Christian history through myth.

Murder in the Cathedral is poetic in language and poetic in form. Eliot uses his basic "wheel" symbol of the idea of destiny, life, and God throughout the play. Nature imagery is prevalent, especially in the lines of the Chorus. Regarding the Greek "unities," this play is tightly wrought. Time spans only twenty-seven days. Every scene is in or before Canterbury Cathedral. Nearly every line in some way suggests the climatic murder of Becket.

All major motifs are revealed early. The Chorus opens, sounding the theme of destiny, but also a note of passiveness — of waiting. Then the Priests hail with joy the return of Becket to England, introduce the conflict between church and king, and mention the crucial factor of spiritual pride. They also suggest that the Women of Canterbury are involved in both that particular and the universal destiny of good and evil. The Chorus answers this imputation by manifesting an aversion to Becket's return, a denial of their positive involvement in life. The Chorus of the Women of Canterbury echo those frustrated voices in the opening passage of Part I of Eliot's The Waste Land. The thematic introduction is complete when Archbishop Thomas Becket appears with lines foreshadowing even more certainly his martyrdom.

A recent critic has pointed out that Eliot in Murder in the Cathedral was trying to create a reality more "actual" than the ordinary surface level on which we ordinarily exist. To do this, he says, Eliot neglected certain conventions of the modern "true-to-life" drama, in favor of classical Greek devices like the character-abstractions the Tempters and use of a chorus. In lighting, setting, stagecraft, acting, and general technical deployment, the production of this play by The Jongleurs of Centenary vividly and accurately recreates this reality upon the stage and clearly transmits it to the audience.

John O. Williams, starring as Archbishop Thomas Becket, deserves personal recognition for the brilliant interpretation of a difficult role. His delivery of the Christmas message interlude is an excellent achievement of actor-audience rapport. The four knights also establish this rapport under actually much more difficult conditions: they ask the audience to judge their act of murder, and present their case calmly though forcefully.

Rarely, anywhere, can one see such a successful theatrical production of a so complex, poetic play preserve so well on stage the finer, literary excellencies.

Tryouts Announced For Next Two Plays

Professor O. R. Corey has announced that tryouts for the religious drama, Cry Dawn in Dark Babylon, by P. W. Turner, will be held by appointment every afternoon through Friday of this week. Those interested should call the Playhouse. This play will be presented in early December on campus and in local churches.

Auditions for Shakespeare's The Merry Wives of Windsor will be held on Friday afternoon from 2:00-4:30. Tryouts will resume on Monday, November 21, and Tuesday, the 22nd, at the same time in the afternoons. The script calls for 15 men and 4 women. The production is scheduled for early February. It is the policy of the theatre to try out for technical positions also.

Music Fraternity Entertains Rushees

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, national music fraternity, held a coffee for prospective pledges Sunday afternoon from 2:00 to 3:30 in the home of Mr. Robert Buckner, member of the Centenary Music Faculty. Approximately twenty persons, consisting of active members and interested guests, were present. As refreshments were served, Don Tyler, president of the organization, discussed their aims and told of plans for the coming year. Don and treasurer Fred Peters reported on their trip to the national convention in Cincinnati. A general discussion of music ended an enjoyable afternoon for all present.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"WHILE WE'RE AT IT, MISS DOANE, WHY DON'T WE PLAN A SECOND SEMESTER SCHEDULE FOR YOU, ANYWAY? — JUST IN CASE!"

Tentative Chapel List Suggested

Many students, availing themselves of one of their six chapel cuts, missed the "Who's Who" chapel. Of those who cut, at least half of them later regretted not having attended that week. This same lament is heard every week from the students who missed chapel only to discover later that it was of vital interest to them. And yet every chapel program is not of interest to all students. They are planned to suit the tastes of a wide variety of students and cannot suit everyone. It is for this reason that we would like to see a tentative list of chapel programs issued at the beginning of each semester. If this is not possible, an announcement released a week before chapel would still help this situation. By announcing chapel programs in advance, a spirit of anticipation would develop instead of the usual lax student attitude.

If the chapel committee knew that a list of chapel programs would be available to students, they would be challenged to schedule chapels which would stimulate students to want to attend.

The Conglomerate will not appear on November 28. Due to the Thanksgiving holidays, it will be impossible to get a paper to press the preceding week. An edition will appear on Friday, December 2, in honor of the first home game of the Gents. After this edition the Conglomerate will resume normal publication schedule with a paper on Monday, December 12.

Relaxing before the Centenary marker which greets all new students on campus are transfers Gary Montgomery, Betty Sims, and Carolyn (C. K.) Kendrick.

Transfer Students Cite Differences In Colleges

By SANDRA McCUITION

Gary Montgomery, known on campus as "The TKE from Tech", is from Shreveport, but spent his first two years at Louisiana Institute of Technology. "There is really a completely different atmosphere at Centenary from that at Tech, but it's hard to define," comments Gary. "At Tech the main emphasis is on the specialized science courses for which Tech is well known.

Here at Centenary the students seem to be more appreciative of the finer things, and I think one reason for this is that Shreveport offers more cultural advantages." Gary, a mathematics major, maintains that, while the students of both schools are concerned about grades, the students at Centenary seem to give more attention to the quality and content of the subject they are studying. "One reason for this," states Gary, "may be that Centenary students have greater freedom of choice in the courses they take, although there are not as many courses offered here as there are at Tech."

Gary also tells us that, while Greek letter organizations are active on Tech's campus, they do not control school activities as they do at many larger schools, but there seems to be more harmony between such organizations here on our own campus than on the one in Ruston. "I like the idea of everyone attending the social functions given by various organizations, instead of all closed parties which prevail at Tech," adds Gary.

"Although there is no compulsory chapel program at Tech, there are several religious foundations which are quite strong and take an active role in the activities on Tech's campus," states Gary. "The emphasis on religion is perhaps greater at Tech than at any other school its size."

Gary, who played varsity football for Byrd High School in his pre-college days, really misses the Tech football team. Once in a while he has to take a weekend off to take in a game. This past weekend he traveled to Arkansas and watched the Razorbacks defeat the S.M.U. Mustangs.

Betty Enjoys New Acquaintances

"I like Centenary and I'm going to stay," declares sophomore Betty Sims, a transfer student this year from Oklahoma University. Betty is a religious education major and a pledge of Zeta Tau Alpha.

Betty found it hard to compare Centenary to O.U. because they are so completely different. In the first place, O. U. has 11,000 students. "Another big difference as far as population goes," grins Betty, "is that at Oklahoma there are six boys to every girl. At Centenary we are not confronted with that 'problem'." However, Betty went on to say that the atmosphere at Centenary is much friendlier, and she is glad to have the opportunity of knowing more people.

By CAROL REICHELT

The Sophomore class sponsored a very nice dance on Friday, November 11, in the Sub. The theme "Thanksgiving" was used in the decorations on the stage and tables. Johnny Evan's band furnished the music.

Among those enjoying the festivities were Sallie Clingman, Shelton Powers, Mike Sport, Ann Schaff, Bob Hamilton, Charlotte Stodghill, Yogi Ferrari, La Nell Dean, Bob Gaynor, Fran Loran, Soup Moore and Judy Thurman.

The annual Kappa Sigma Pajama Party was held Saturday, November 12. As usual, the pajama party featured a variety of sleep outfits. Kathy McAllister and John Brewer were charming in their matching "Granny gowns." Botie Baker and Nancy Thigpen showed up in adorable blue shortie pajamas. Melanie Martin and Jim Oldson were cute as pie in their candy stripe shorties. Carolyn Kendrick and Dick Johns wore red night shirts and carried striped candles. Looking very formal in their "evening attire" were Lon McAnnally and Kay Cooper.

Hearty congratulations go to Linda Rosett, who was named Kappa Sigma Pajama Girl for 1960!

Many Centenary students had a fun filled weekend in Baton Rouge. We all wish we could have heard the Kingston Trio. Susan McVea, Geneva Jones, Gene LaCaze, Lyndra Pate, Jane Jones, Loretta Lowery were of the lucky ones.

The Zeta Slave Sale was full of surprises! For example, Don Tyler surprised everyone by buying Linda Rosett through Theo Kleingman. Jill

At O.U., Betty told us, the freshmen girls live in separate dorms, eat in a separate cafeteria, and attend classes with other freshmen. "At Centenary," Betty comments, "the new students and transfer students can get to know upperclassmen, and you really feel more at home."

At O. U. organizations such as Greek letter fraternities lead in campus activities, while at Centenary there is a more unified spirit. This is because at O.U. these organizations are the ones who really care about such activities," explains Betty. There seem to be quite a few campus activities, not only social, but also educational activities outside the classroom. "For example," Betty relates, "there are many foreign students at O.U., and some groups are so large that they form clubs, such as the Arab Club. From these individuals and groups we had the opportunity to learn about other peoples and other countries." Betty also enjoyed the University Sing, held in the spring. The Sooner Scandals, and the exciting fall football games. The only time Betty really felt uneasy at O.U. was right after she returned from spring vacation. She had taken home all of her winter clothes and shoes and planned to bring back her spring clothes. As she got off of the plane back at the University, Betty remembered that she had forgotten all of her spring shoes. All she had to wear were the navy blue heels she had on and one pair of shoes left in her closet at school, a pair of red satin high heels.

C. K. Finds Centenary Friendly
Carolyn Kendrick, better known as

Landis, Nancy Lecky and Melanie Martin bought Annette Wimberly, Nancy Parker, and Judy Balliet. Dr. Overdyke purchased Bonnie Swartz. The Kappa Sigma pledges forced Jim Daigle and Tally Pledger to dig deep to purchase Beth Catton and Betty Sims. Then, pooling their resources, the pledges purchased Brenda Nations, Nell Forsyth, Ginger Chapman, Louise Griffith and Carolyn Lapleau. Pegram McCreary bought Nancy Thigpin, Johnny Brewerton bought Sandra Stokes and Lynn Gulley bought Ellen Godbow.

Centenary is proud of the fine job done by the drama department in their performances of "Murder in the Cathedral". We understand that some of the actors had the opportunity to perform to a new type audience — window shoppers.

Arkansas University's homecoming attracted Maureen Melbourn, Gary Montgomery, Betty Thornton, Sonny Elder, Mike Mann and Butchie McCuiston.

All the Greeks are making big plans for Greek Week to be held following Thanksgiving. All transfer students who belong to sororities or fraternities are urged to participate. Cheerleaders for the powderpuff bowl have been announced. They are Jerry Joutett, Ralph Mason, Hoyt Bain, Tommy Hickcox, Doug Howard and Dan Herndon.

"C.K.", is an education and English major, and a member of Chi Omega. This fall she transferred as a junior from the University of Arkansas in Fayetteville, Arkansas.

As at other large Universities, one of the most important aspects of college life at Arkansas is the fraternity. "We don't just limit ourselves to one group, though," C. K. explained, "there is quite a bit of visiting between houses, and we get to know people through various committees, through mutual classes, intramurals, and so forth. Of course, there is quite a bit of competition among the groups, but there is also co-operation as well. Here at Centenary, one of the things I like best is the opportunity to know everyone."

"One of the most interesting things about Arkansas is the mixture of people," C. K. told us. "Also, you get a chance to see concerts by such famous people as Roger Williams, Fred Waring, Al Hibler, and The Kingston Trio. Too, there are many more courses offered at Arkansas, but I study more here because the courses are more thorough and require more concentration."

Besides missing the exciting football games in colorful Razorback stadium, C. K. also misses sledding down the snow-covered Arkansas hills in the winter. One of her brightest memories of the University was the time she got to ride on a homecoming float. "Actually, I didn't get to ride on it, but inside of it," says C. K. "The float was a dragon and my job was to pump flour out of its mouth at certain intervals to resemble smoke. We almost choked to death, but it was fun!"

Three-month course leads to a commission as a Second Lieutenant. If you are graduating this June, you may be eligible for admission to the new Air Force Officer Training School. Successful completion of the three-month course wins you a commission, and a head-start on a bright, rewarding future in the Aerospace Age.

The School is open to men and women college graduates with certain technological and administrative skills. If you are selected for the School, you will receive Staff Sergeant pay while a trainee. Graduated officers may later apply for advanced training and graduate study at government expense. Male officers may also apply for flight training as pilots or navigators.

For the career-minded young officer, the Air Force way of life can be stimulating, exciting and full of meaning. He will be serving himself, his family and his nation. This is the Aerospace Age. It is a time when a career in Air Force blue has so much to offer the young man or woman who qualifies.

The Air Force is seeking only a select group of college graduates for admission into Officer Training School. However, we'd be happy to send detailed information to any senior who is interested. Just write: Officer Training School Information, Dept. SCO12, Box 7608, Washington 4, D.C.

There's a place for tomorrow's leaders on the Aerospace Team.

Stuffing in a big two-pointer, is Centenary's 6' 8" pivot man, Jackie Crawford, who will be captain of the Gents this year.

Meet The Gents

Many sighs of relief are being heard as it becomes evident that Jackie Crawford, Centenary's tremendously talented pivot man will be ready to go when the first jump ball is tossed up December 3rd as the Gents take on East Texas State.

Jackie, who suffered a serious knee injury during last year's cage campaign, underwent surgery during the off season to repair the damaged knee. He has been on a program of strengthening exercises for several months and the knee has responded very well.

Jackie, who will captain the Gents this year, was the scoring and rebounding leader of last year's team. He is six feet eight inches tall and weighs in at two hundred and twenty pounds. Crawford, a native of Grand Prairie, Texas, is a physical education major.

This tall Texan might well be called the "bread and butter" player on the Gent squad as he can potentially be among the nation's leading scorers and rebounders. Jackie possesses a fine array of jump shots and hook shots as well as being a deadly set shooter from the outside. On the boards the big fellow is at his best when "the meat begins to pop".

Varsity-Frosh Tilt, Barbecue Tomorrow

The Haynes Gymnasium on the Centenary campus will be the scene of the first public showing of the 1960-61 edition of Centenary's basketball Gents. Tomorrow night the tall and talented varsity will take on the eager Frosh Gentlet squad. Tipping off at 6 p. m., there will be no admission charged for this, the third annual Varsity-Frosh skirmish.

Following the game will be a barbecue supper sponsored by the Gents Club. Student tickets for the barbecue will be one dollar while the public ducats will go for a dollar and a half. Funds will be used to finance pep squad activities for the current year. The players will be on hand to meet all those who wish to become acquainted with them or learn more about the highlights of the rapidly approaching roundball season.

If games played in past years between Centenary's Varsity and Frosh teams are any indication, this year's game should prove to be a close and exciting one. The Varsity has won both previous games but by very close scores.

The outlook for this year shows a Varsity team built around great height and depth. Superiority on the boards could be the key to a Varsity victory. Coach Sigler has a fifteen man squad this year.

You can be quite sure, however, that Coach Doug Moody's freshmen roundballers do not intend to roll over and play dead for their big Varsity brothers. The frosh boast a club with several fine "scoring eyes". Great speed in the backcourt should prove to be a real asset. The Freshmen will have no trouble being "up" for this one.

Faculty-Student Game Begins Openhouse

Following the championship girls' volleyball game in which the MSM Sou Sous took first place, the Men's Intramural Council and the WRA began their Open House with the faculty-student volleyball game last Tuesday evening.

Sonny Elder introduced players on both teams. Playing for the faculty were: "Shuffling" Spears, "Gorgeous" Cates, "Hussling" Hanson, "All Over Action" Allen, "Loft It Up" Lineberger, "Missed Again" McKnight, and "Tip It Over" Thomas. Student players included Paul McMahan, David Graham, John Frazer, Roland Nanez, Beth Frey, Page Tiler, Linda Kay Ellington, and Judy Thurmond. Referees were Sally Clingman and Diane Camp.

All three games were close but the students finally came through to win back the championship they lost last year to the faculty.

Gents Host East Texas State Tomorrow Night

By MIKE RAMMING

Pep Rally, 2 Dances Highlight 1st Game

Several social activities are scheduled to highlight the first basketball game of the season tomorrow night.

Festivities will begin at 5:15 with a Pep Rally sponsored by the Centenary Centettes to be held in the amphitheater. Students are then invited to enjoy a street dance beginning at 6:00 in front of James Dormitory. At 7:30 everyone will proceed to the Hirsch Memorial Youth Center at the fairgrounds to witness the varsity team in their first conference game which will be against East Texas. After the game, the gym floor will be cleared for a sock hop which will last until 12:00 P. M. Music for both dances will be provided by Johnny Evans and his Nomads.

Centenary Students Sponsor Toy Parade

Haynes Memorial Gymnasium will be the scene of the Educational Toy Parade tomorrow between the hours of 10 a. m. and 5 p. m. It is being sponsored by the students of the Department of Education and Psychology. The theme, or purpose, of this exhibit is to show the potential educational, as well as the recreational value of toys.

Area toy stores have placed the toys on exhibit. Door prizes will be given away and favors for the children have been donated by the local toy shops which furnished the toys. Everyone attending the parade will be asked to evaluate the toys before leaving.

Toys are being exhibited in fields such as arts and crafts, athletics, home economics, language, economics, music, science, geography, military history, religion, and children's literature.

Centenary students from the various departments will man the booths and be on hand to demonstrate the toys or give instructions on the use of the toys. Four hostesses will greet the visitors and act as guides. They are Phoebe Volentine, Janet McClelland, Carol Mangham, and Linda Morris.

Centenary Band Elects Officers

Jimmy Perkins, a junior from Shreveport, has been elected president of the Centenary College Band for the current school year. He is a music education major and is a clarinetist. Perkins also plays clarinet with the Shreveport Symphony.

Director B. P. Causey said band members chose Clyde McArty of Springhill, a junior trumpet major, as vice president. McArty is a graduate of Springhill High School, where he also was a band member. He is also a member of the Shreveport Symphony.

Janet McClelland of Little Rock, Ark., who played with the Central High School band prior to entering Centenary, is the new secretary and treasurer of the band. She is a clarinetist and also sings with the Centenary College Choir.

These five talented roundballers are playing their last season of collegiate basketball at Centenary, as they are all seniors. Led by Captain Jackie Crawford, each is an important cog in the Gent cage machine.

Dance in SUB Tonight To Climax Greek Week

Many enjoyable and entertaining events have taken place during Greek Week since it began on November 28. One of the most outstanding events, however, is yet to come. Tonight, from 10:00 to 1:00, a dance will be held in Moore Student Center for all Greeks and their dates.

The theme of the dance will be centered around the five Greek Organizations on Centenary Campus: Kappa Alpha, Kappa Sigma, Alpha Xi Delta, Chi Omega and Zeta Tau Alpha. Each organization will decorate the Center with plywood replicas of their traditional crests.

Music will be provided by Leo Andrews and his name-band from Florida. The group will consist of eighteen pieces and a female vocalist.

All members of Greek organizations on Centenary Campus are invited to attend the dance without charge. Independents are welcome to come with Greek dates. Members of Greek organizations not on this campus are also invited but will be charged $1.50 per couple.

It is hoped that all Greeks and their dates will attend the dance and help to make Greek Week an annual affair at Centenary.

James' Party, Dec. 12

Attention Faculty and Administration and Centenary Gentlemen! You are cordially invited to attend the James Dormitory Christmas Party on Monday, December 12, 1960, from 10:00 p. m. until 12 midnight.

Phi Beta Accepts Nine New Pledges

Phi Beta, national honorary music and speech fraternity for women, welcomed nine new pledges into its sisterhood on Sunday, November 20. The pledging service, followed by a tea, was held at the home of Mrs. E. L. Ford, a member of the fraternity. President Edith Elliot presided over the service, assisted by Joan Hilburn. The nine girls who pledged are Gail Southlerland, Annette Shirey, Dollie Miller, Elaine Sistrunk, Linda Kay Ellington, Judy Kleinhans, Kay Cooper, Judy Smith, and Vicky Rapp.

These girls, having been recommended and possessing the necessary 3.0 grade average, were rushed by the fraternity at a tea at the home of Mrs. John W. Olvey, a patroness of Phi Beta. The rushees were then auditioned for membership by a committee on Friday, Nov. 4th. Talents in the music field included both vocal and instrumental presentations, and in the speech field, dramatic readings were presented. Bids were issued two weeks later.

For Coach Orvis Sigler and his fifteen Centenary roundball players, a month and a half of training and conditioning reaches its first climax tomorrow night as the East Texas State College Lions venture to Shreveport to do battle with our Centenary Gents.

Lion Coach, Norman Pilgrim brings a very fine team indeed to Centenary town. His charges sported an eighteen wins against nine losses record last year. They are a member of the Lone Star Conference. The powerful Lions have been District N.A.I.A. champions five times in the last ten years. They have been Lone Star Conference champions six times in the past ten years as well as being National N. A. I. A. champions several years ago. This year once again they have the material to add to this impressive record.

Six returning lettermen as well as three excellent junior college transfers should provide the brunt of the Lion scoring attack. Heading the group of junior college transfers is 6' 6" Lee Mires, an All-American at Paris Junior College. Top performer among returning lettermen is Captain Jim Culpepper, who averaged 12. points per outing last season. He is a 6' 3" Senior.

Lion Lineup Listed

Probable starters will be Lee Mires, 6' 6"; Jim Culpepper, 6' 3"; Hoyt Barnette, 6' 5"; Weldon Tallant, 6'; and Bill Mayes, 6' 5".

Tomorrow night's game will be State's second of the current campaign as they opened against Austin College in Sherman, Texas, on November 30th.

Many Gent fans will remember E. L. Kirk, now playing with the Lions. This boy dropped in thirty-two points while playing with Kilgore Junior College against the Gent Frosh two years ago.

Coach Norman Pilgrim has this to say about his team. "One of our greatest assets last year was desire and we'll try to rely on that a lot. These men may not be the greatest basketball players in the world but they want to win and are willing to work."

On the Gent side of the ledger we find a great array of basketball talent featuring plenty of height and depth.

The Gents received some bad news this week when Coach Sigler expressed doubt that Willard Moore, Centenary's high-scoring Sophomore guard, would be able to see action in the opener tomorrow night. "Soup" was injured in the Varsity-Frosh game last week. Team physicians have diagnosed the injury as a pinched sciatic nerve located in the lower back. Moore has been confined to bed this entire week.

Coach Sigler feels his fifteen man squad is rounding into shape but he says, "It is difficult to tell how we are going to do until we play a game. The boys have been working hard and are anxiously looking forward to this very important opener with East Texas State. I am pleased with our progress," states the Gent Mentor, however, we are still ragged on defense. Offensively our shooting has been good but our ballhandling has been our weakest point and needs a lot of work. I hope the team has been working hard to correct that this past week. Probable starters will come from the following group: Seniors Jackie Crawford and Glen Cothorn; Junior Dale Van Bibber; and Sophomores Willard Moore, Don Ensley, Riley Wallace, Jerry Callens, and Harry Wuennenberg."

Team "Ready To Go"

Gent Captain, Jackie Crawford said, "I feel that everybody is 'up' for this one and ready to go." He also expressed this thought. "Student body interest and support seems to be running high this year. I hope this continues because we will need it to be successful in tackling the toughest schedule in Centenary basketball history."

Jerry Callens, Sophomore guard, stressed this point. "The Sophomores want to win just as bad as the Seniors who are playing their last year. This is a good sign and I feel that we are definitely ready. All we need now is a game to prove it." The Gents will have this chance to prove when the ball is tipped off tomorrow night at 8:00 P. M. at the Fairgrounds. The Freshmen preliminary game will begin at 6:00 P. M.

Christmas Festivities Will Be Held Monday

The annual Christmas lighting ceremony will be held Monday, Dec. 5, on the steps of James Dormitory at 6:30 P. M. Student Senate president Jim Daigle will act as master of ceremonies for the program which will include Christmas greetings from President Joe J. Mickle and a short program of entertainment in the Christmas spirit.

Candles will be distributed to all those present as they join the choir and A. C. (Cheesy) Voran in singing many traditional carols.

The Christmas festivities will continue on a somewhat more serious tone as everyone proceeds to the side of the chapel to witness the first performance of the Christmas story as presented by Kappa Chi.

After attending the pageant, everyone is invited to be the guests of Mr. & Mrs. C. F. Martin and the residents of Rotary Hall at the annual Rotary Open House. The entire dormitory will be open for inspection and will be gaily decorated by the students for their visitors' enjoyment. The lobby on first floor will be the scene of a program of entertainment provided by several students. This will include a one-man art exhibition by Joe Sartor and a string quartet featuring H. C. Alford, pianist; Al Pagnato, violinist; William Roberts, cellist, and Ricardo Jofre, cellist, who will play baroque Christmas music.

Communism Issues a Challenge To Free Men Everywhere

Communism has hurled us a mortal challenge. Our response and the response of free men everywhere, will determine whether or not freedom itself survives. It is no longer sufficient for us to adopt the negative approach of merely reacting defensively to every shift in communist tactics. We must place a great emphasis on the positive role which our American way of life can perform in this struggle.

We can defeat communist ideology and — at the same time — reinforce the structure of our own form of government by the combined process of exposure and education. The House Committee on Un-American Activities has contributed greatly to exposure of communist dominated organizations and publications with a guide reviewing the brief history of communist front group activity, explaining the methods of their establishment, and presenting a set of criteria to assist in detecting them. Every exposure of communism's false premises, inherent contradictions, deceitful tactics, and empty promises helps to shatter its ideological appeal and to fortify against its psychological pressures.

But in this struggle for men's minds, exposure alone is not enough. Exposure must be complemented by a long range educational program with a dual purpose: a penetrating study of communism, and a thorough grounding in the basic principles of our individual freedom under law. This educational program must be designed to train people to think and to distinguish between truth and error.

Each year, more colleges are offering courses which present a critical analysis of the theory and practice of communism. Books contrasting communism with our form of government are now being published for use in our high schools. This program of education in communism must not be confused with the advocacy of communist doctrine. It should be limited to a critical study of communist strategy and tactics and the materialistic philosophy underlying them.

Knowing what communism really is and how it operates will also help us to avoid the danger of confusing communism with legitimate dissent on controversial issues. Communism feeds on social ferment. We must also guard against the tendency to characterize as communists those who merely disagree with us or who advocate unorthodox or unpopular beliefs. When anyone is erroneously branded a communist, it not only constitutes an injustice to the individual but also helps communism by diffusing the strength of anti-communist forces.

Knowledge of communism is only the first phase of the battle. This knowledge must be augmented by a continuous revitalization of our own inherently superior strength through the practical, daily exercise and development of our American principles. Too frequently, emphasis is placed on acquiring an understanding only of the mechanical functions of our Government. This knowledge, important as it is, becomes a collection of sterile facts without a deep appreciation and a continuing awareness of the reason for the very existence of our form of Government — the freedom of the individual under the law. Without the realization of this fundamental philosophy of freedom, such basic individual rights as freedom of speech, the press, and religion are taken for granted. Forgotten is man's bitter fight through the centuries to wrest these freedoms from tyranny.

The exercise of these individual freedoms is largely responsible for our Nation's reputation for getting things done. Recognizing a specific problem which required cooperative action and sparked by individual initiative, whole communities have organized, for example, to attract new industry, eradicate blighted slum areas, eliminate racial tensions, or improve educational opportunities. The importance of local communities cannot be overemphasized. It is there that education, business, labor, and religion take on form and substance to influence, nourish, vitalize, and give direction to our national life. From this constructive effort can come a decisive contribution to formulating and carrying out a coordinated, comprehensive, affirmative global strategy which will insure the supremacy of freedom over all types of totalitarianism.

(This editorial is presented in conjunction with the theme of the movie shown during Greek Week on the San Francisco riots and is an excerpt from a pamphlet by J. Edgar Hoover entitled "Communist Illusion and Democratic Reality".)

Student Senate Minutes

The Student Senate Meeting was held in the Moore Student Center at 5:45, Wednesday, November 16. The meeting was called to order by the president, Jim Daigle. Others present were Anne McLaurin, Ralph Mason, Brenda Bailey, James Goins, Jean Netterville, G. B. Watson, Barbara Bourdier, Don Tyler, Buddy Dailey, Yogi Ferrari, Mike Sport, Miss Alexander, and Dean Allen.

James Goins reported we have $422.64 in the treasury. Student Directories will continue to be sold in the Book Store. Appointments for Standing Committees of the year as follows:

Publicity — G. B. Watson.
Activities — Buddy Dailey.
Vanudeville Show — Don Tyler, Tim Temple, Barbara Bourdier, and Miss Alexander.
Student Fair — Brenda Bailey, Jean Netterville, and Dean Allen.

Name Band — Yogi Ferrari, James Goins.
Elections — Ralph Mason.
Refreshments — Anne McLaurin.
Petitions and Calendar — Mike Sport.
The Dance for December 15 was discussed. It was decided this dance should be semi-formal.

The Senate had a very special visitor, Dr. Mickle, who came to get acquainted with the new Senate members and to see if he could offer any assistance. We were very pleased to have him and I might add senate meetings are open to all students.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
Brenda Bailey

Rod Yeager Recieves La. Heart Grant

The Louisiana branch of the American Heart Association has approved the application of Rod Marsh Yeager for a grant of $210.45 to study the "Blood Picture of the Chick Embryo at Various Ages".

This "picture" will include the hemoglobin value, the hematocrite value (volume of red cells in the blood), and the actual red cell count, from the 5th to the 20th day of incubation. This is the initial research for a larger study concerning the effect on the red blood cells by various drugs now on the market. Rod hopes that his study will have practical value in the department of a standardized testing procedure using the chick embryo.

Rod's interest in blood vascular research began last year when he attended the annual Medical School Research Open House in New Orleans sponsored by the Louisiana Heart Association. The purpose of this annual meeting is to encourage research on the undergraduate level. Rod's interest was heightened this past summer while working in the hematology department of Confederate Memorial Hospital.

Purpose Of Grant

The major portion of the grant will be used for the purchase of a micro-centrifuge, while the rest will defray the cost of dissecting instruments, eggs, and other supplies. Equipment purchased with the grant will become the property of the Centenary biology department. The study, which is under the direction of Dr. Mary Waters, will be carried out during the 1961 spring semester. A full report of the research will be filed with the Louisiana Heart Association by May, 1961.

Yeager, a married student and a junior on the local campus, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Yeager of 1519 Woodrow Street. His wife is the former Miss Elizabeth Reeves of Buras. A 1958 graduate of Byrd High School, Yeager plans to enter medical school at the close of his junior year at Centenary. He is affiliated with Kappa Sigma social fraternity and is president of Alpha Epsilon Delta, honorary pre-medical society.

$300 Award Offered In Speech Contest

An inter-collegiate contest involving the oral interpretation of literature will be sponsored throughout the nation by the Speech Department of Southern Illinois University.

The selection to be taped is Edna St. Vincent Millay's poem "Renaissance" in its unabridged form.

Initially, two recordings will be selected from college and universities in each of the fifty states. Each college may submit four entries. The one hundred best tapes will then be reviewed by the Competition Committee, and the winning selection will be determined.

The winner of the Webcor, Inc., Award of Five Hundred Dollars in cash will be notified not later than May 15, 1961.

Competitors must be approved and sponsored by the Chairman of the Speech Department, Mr. Orlin Corry.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"HI, COACH! - THE DEAN WANTS TO KNOW ABOUT THIS BUSINESS OF YOU SETTING UP YOUR OWN ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS."

Gent Cage Success Must be "Team" Effort

As we all well know basketball is a team game. Many of us don't know, however, what makes up a successful team. It is not only the five men on the playing floor, it is not the coach and reserves on the bench. A successful team is the entire student body, faculty, and administration along with the team and coaches working as a spirited unit. A spirited crowd and a spirited bench make a spirited club on the playing floor.

This teamwork is not something that can be turned on minutes before a game and off again soon after the completion of play. It must be then, a spirit present in all of us, all of the time.

If the people of Shreveport see our student body working as a team, the Centenary Gent team, they too will want to be a part of this spirited unit. Let's have everybody on this victory bandwagon and see if teamwork doesn't spell basketball success at Centenary.

Thus far all indications show fine spirit among the student body at Centenary this year. This spirit has not gone unnoticed by players and coaches. A packed house for last week's Freshman-Varsity game could be an indication of things to come.

Another bright spot could come from what seems to be the most active pep club seen on the Centenary campus in many a moon.

Leading Centenary cheers this year will be six young lovelies who have already shown they will put everything into their job of cheering the Maroon and White on to victory. They have spent long hours practicing cheers and learning new ones.

The nucleus of the team is rapidly being built. Each link is rapidly falling into its place on the chain. Centenary's starting five will be talented players, active pep club, hard working cheerleaders, spirited student body, and the best coaching staff in the business. This is the Gent team capable of greatness.

Come, All Ye Faithless

By ANNETTE SHIREY

The key word of the fourteenth century was "Faith". What is the key word of our day? Might we not say that an age of facts has followed an age of faith? Are we living in an age of paganism? Is this period of time — December, 1960 — a post-Christian one? What does the church mean to us? Does it play a part in our lives at all? What good has our religion done us?

The above questions are but a few of those that arise in P. W. Turner's play "Cry Dawn in Dark Babylon". Mr. Turner completed the writing of his play in 1958 and it was published in 1959. It represents an attempt on the part of the author to make death and the resurrection, the basic concepts of our so-called "religion", contemporary to men and women of 1960. Mr. Turner says that we must take a look at things AS THEY ARE, not as we might wish or even think them to be. Thus, "Cry Dawn in Dark Babylon" is a startling drama of philosophical and theological concepts and ideas.

One Performance Only

This production, second of the season, will be presented on Thursday evening, December 8th at 8:15 P. M. in the Brown Memorial Chapel . . . ONLY ONE CAMPUS PERFORMANCE! Tickets will be 75c. They may be purchased at the door. This will mark the Southwestern premiere of the play.

The newly organized dramatics group at Centenary chose the name JONGLEURS. Originally, the Jongleurs were a troupe of French performers who traveled about the country presenting plays. With this production, the Jongleurs of Centenary will fulfill the original tradition, as well as mark the beginning of a new concept within the speech and drama department of Centenary. This play will tour twice monthly, on Sundays, from the first of January through May, in various cities of the Ark-La-Tex. If you know of any church or civic group that would be interested in sponsoring the play, please contact Dr. Leonard Cooke. He is in charge of all arrangements regarding the touring of the play.

Cast Announced

Members of the cast are:

The Minister, Bob Shy of Frankfort, Kentucky.

Mrs. Jones, Mrs. William Sandifer, Jr. of Shreveport.

Mr. Jones, George Bryan of Owensboro, Kentucky.

Woman 1, Grace Jackson of Homer, Louisiana.

Woman 2, Anne Sherman of Winchester, Kentucky.

Woman 3, Louella Baines of Shreveport.

Man 1, Don Farley of Thibodaux, Louisiana.

Man 2, Jim Foster of Shreveport.

Technical positions are being filled by: David Gibson of Louisville, Kentucky; Ruthanne Cozine of Frankfort, Kentucky; and Lorene Crenshaw of Beaumont, Texas.

Circle December 8th on your calendar. Come to see "CRY DAWN IN DARK BABYLON". It is NOT "just another play". Remember: only ONE PERFORMANCE on campus.

Remember to pick up Activity tickets. You will need them tomorrow night.

Movie On Communism To Be Shown Sunday

On Sunday, December 4, at 6:00 P. M. in the SUB, the Newman Club will show the film of riots in San Francisco against the House Committee on Un-American Activities. It will be shown for the benefit of all Greeks and non-Greeks who were unable to see it during Greek Week. The movie, consisting of the actual film of wild riots which took place in San Francisco as the House Committee was meeting, will be accentuated by the discussion carried on by those present as led by Father Samuel Hill Ray, S. J., Newman Club moderator, who has spent more than twenty years in working with this very committee. The organization hopes that by showing the movie, they will be able to awaken students on campus to the danger and close proximity of Communism in America today and its very strong power in many parts of the United States.

Officers for the organization for Catholic youth on campus were chosen at the November 20th meeting as follows: Betty Schmidt, President; Jim Oldson, Vice-President; and Melanie Martin, Secretary-Treasurer. Committee Chairmen designated included Judy Lawrence, Social, Judy Daigle, Membership and Telephone, and Jim Daigle, Program.

Choir Opens Annual Television Series

An introduction of the choir was featured on their first television program Sunday evening. Viewers met each member as they were presented wearing their new wardrobes of blue and brown. This program, based on an autumn theme was the first of thirteen to be presented each Sunday afternoon at 4:00 on KSLA-TV, Channel 12.

Besides featuring the Choir in many and varied selections from their repertoire, the program includes an unique commercial involving the choir. Each week, Southwestern Electric Power Company has asked that a member of the Choir speak on their behalf instead of a regular commercial. It is their wish that the public become acquainted with choir people and the organization of the choir.

Monday night the lighting of the Christmas decorations in downtown Shreveport gave the choir its first opportunity to sing Christmas music. Following welcoming words from area civic leaders, the street and building decorations were lit and the choir heralded in the spirit of Christmas with such old favorites as "Deck The Halls With Boughs of Holly", "Adeste Fidelis", "Jingle Bells" done in Calypso fashion, and in closing, "Silent Night". Santa Claus then appeared on the scene with his bag full of goodies for the many children present at the ceremony. More Christmas music will be in store for television viewers in programs the Sunday preceeding and on Christmas day.

The Pep Squad for 1960-61 is shown in their maroon and white uniforms which have become a symbol of service to the Gents. The whole group will be on hand to cheer the team on to victory Saturday night, December 2.

Annual ZTA Tea Set For Faculty

Zeta Tau Alpha will host the Centenary faculty at 2 p. m. Sunday afternoon, December 4, with a tea at the Zeta house.

The tea is an annual affair for the Zetas. Past years have included entertainment for the children of the faculty, but this year the tea will be limited to the adults.

This year the Zeta house will be decorated appropriately for the Christmas season. A silvered Christmas tree with blue lights will be the center of attraction in the living room. President, Linda Rosett, will act as hostess and Judy Bayliss will do the honors at the serving table.

Dr. Warters Continues Biological Research

Dr. Mary Warters, head of the Biology Department at Centenary, is presently working on a one year research contract with the Research Section, division of biology and medicine, of Oak Ridge National Laboratories. Her work is a continuation of research undertaken at Oak Ridge during the summer of 1959 as a research participant in cytogenetics and is being directed by Dr. D. L. Lindsley who is the group leader of the biology division at Oak Ridge.

A grant of $5000 was approved for Dr. Warters which provides for her summer salary, student help and equipment. The costly equipment includes a Zeiss research microscope equipped for photography, phase work, and dark field studies, a large refrigerator, and an incubator for growing Drosophila flies at low temperatures. Future plans include the purchase of a stereo microscope for direction.

New Techniques

Dr. Warters is working on the problem of "X-Autosomal Translocations of Drosophila melanogaster". The main purpose of the research is to develop new techniques for the recovery of translocations involving the sex chromosomes and one or more of the other chromosomes in irradiated Drosophila. By present methods they are recovered through the male, but since many of these translocations are lethal or cause sterility, only about 15% of these translocations are recovered. The new method will be to obtain them through females which are carrying the irradiated chromosomes. Preliminary work has shown the new technique to be effective. Dr. Warters will also attempt to determine the cause of sterility by analyzing the chromosome.

Dr. Warters is conducting her research in the Science Building at Centenary and will continue to do so until her contract expires in May, 1961. Part of the object of her work is to provide a stimulus to student interest in research and to suggest possibilities of problems in research to future genetic students at Centenary. Opportunities for financial aid to student research are numerous, Dr. Warters says, and students should be encouraged to consider this if they have an interest in a possible research problem.

Leaping high in the air is Dale Van Bibber dragging down one of the forty-nine rebounds which was the key to the varsity domination in the varsity-freshmen skirmish.

Varsity Rolls Over Frosh

By MIKE RAMMING

Height and weight as expected were the key to victory for Coach Orvis Sigler and his fifteen varsity players as they picked off forty-nine rebounds or nearly twice as many as their understudy frosh mates who gathered in twenty-eight ricochets. The final score read 74-58 in the varsity's favor.

A fine crowd of fifteen hundred fans saw Junior Dale Van Bibber and Sophomore Willard Moore direct the varsity offensive attack with twenty-one and fourteen points respectively. Byrd High School product Jimmy Williams led the Frosh scoring parade as he canned nineteen points, followed by the bombers from Bosser City, Dennis Kile and Cecil Upshaw who contributed ten tallies apiece.

The bright spot of the game to many Gent fans was the apparent complete recovery of last year's knee injury suffered by Jackie Crawford, Centenary's leading rebounder and scorer last year. Jackie was jumping well and hauled down ten rebounds which was high for the game. He also scored ten points moving very well on offense.

Grabbing the offensive spotlight was Dale Van Bibber, who nipped the twines from all angles and twenty-one points. Dale in the past had been considered a great rebounder but only an average scorer. He appears to be determined to stake his claim as a fine shooter as well as rebounder this year, however. Dale made good ten of twelve shots from the floor and converted his lone effort from the charity stripe.

Coach Sigler had praise for both teams indicating he was well pleased with the brand of ball his roundballers showed at this early stage of the campaign.

Red Rockets Roar to Victory In Powder-Puff Game, Tues.

Greek Week was kicked off with a . . . "yea . . . boom! . . . Tuesday night as a revised version of blooming womanhood took over the football field in a blocking, tackling, sneering, snatching, glaring, scratching effort to promote better relations among the sororities.

Former All-American Ruth Alexander announced the players of the "Ramming's Red Rockets" and the "Gilmer's Green Gallopers" as the two teams took their places on the field. There, they stood with dignity as the faculty combo blared forth the Centenary Alma Mater.

The first half of the gridiron engagement was the most eventful and seemingly the least painful. Gilmer's Green Gallopers kicked off to the Rockets who went all the way from the original line of scrimmage in two plays to score their first and winning touchdown. The first play picked up little yardage as Crusher Catton, playing left halfback for the Rockets, found it much closer, much more logical and much less complicated, to run around the left side of the line rather than follow the herd of her own players who were running to the right. On the second play, Eager Ellington took the ball and swept right end for the touchdown. This time Crusher's left end run was appropriate as she ran unmolested, flag flying behind, into the end zone for the extra point.

This made cheerleaders for both teams, Beautimous Bain, Jovial Jouett, Mon Cheri Mason, Happy Hiccox, Hippy Howard, and Nose Nundon very happy. They lead the spectators in "Rip Ree . . .!"

The Red Rockets then kicked off to the Gallopers who were so handicapped by penalties that they were unable to score regardless of brilliant pass plays, line smashing drives, and spectacular end sweeps.

Charging Clingman and Bomber Bailey were key men for the Gallopers offensively as Clingman displayed professional passing and Bomber exploded the defensive line. However, the Rockets defense on the "clutch" plays was all too consistent and the Gallopers were forced to punt on fourth down. The first half of play ended with the Rockets in possession of the ball and Mighty Martin on the ground.

Half Time Performance

As the teams waddled wearily off the field they were immediately replaced by a pep squad led by Pretty Boy Pledger who drilled out their rendition of the Kan Kan.

The half time highlight, however, was the presentation of the Pigskin Queen and her court. Dimples Daily, Tempting Temple, Flaming Ferrari, Beautimous Bain, Scrumptious Sport, and Adorable Adair all served as maids to Jovial Jouett who reigned as queen. Jovial's hip swigging entrance was loudly applauded and much jealousy was noted among girls appraising "its" figure.

The remaining portion of the performance was turned over to the band who appropriately managed strains of Jingle Bells and "Rudolph" on various percussion and toothed instruments.

Second Half

In the second half of the football game both teams showed great determination in spite of bruised and broken bodies. The Rockets kicked off to the Gallopers but the Gallopers were again unable to move the ball and were forced to punt. This time such defensive players as Flying Fritz, Hopping Hogan, Frolicking Frey, and Bruiser Burks stopped the Rockets' drive abruptly and the Gallopers again began their march. This time they came within one yard of the Rockets' goal, but their secret sleeve pass play was broken up in the end zone by Eager Ellington. Thus the Powder Puff football game came to an end.

But a victory for the Rockets was not the only outcome of the game. Chapped faces, wind blown hair, and bruised posteriors were also results as Centenary ladies set a new mark in the "woman's world". Too, there are rumors of professional contracts for such outstanding players as Moose McLaurin and Leaping Landis.

The complete roster of both teams is as follows:

Chemistry Lectures Scheduled By ACS

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the 5th, 6th, and 7th of December, Dr. S. Young Tyree, Jr., of the Department of Chemistry at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill will represent the American Chemical Society as a science visitor to the Chemistry Department of Centenary College. During his visit, Dr. Tyree will confer with members of the staff as well as those students who are specializing in chemistry. Plans have been made for him to lecture to several of the chemistry classes. He will appear on the TV program "Dateline Shreveport" Monday evening, December 5th. On Tuesday evening, December 6th, at 7:00 p. m. he will deliver a lecture in the Science Building, Room 114. This lecture will be open to the public without charge. The exact subject has not been announced but it will be about one aspect of modern inorganic chemistry.

MEET THE GENTS

By MIKE RAMMING

One of three returning starters from last year's Centenary cage team is Senior Glen Cothorn, the husky six feet three inch forward from New Orleans. Cothorn had a fabulous prep career at New Orleans' Fortier High School where he was an All-State selection for two years. He was voted the most valuable prep player in Louisiana his senior year. Glen and his teammates also gave the city of New Orleans its first state championship team in forty years.

A graduate of Kilgore Junior College, Glen joined the Gents as a junior last year. He wasted no time in showing Centenary fans his fine style of play. Cothorn has a fine variety of offensive moves coupled with tremendous shooting ability making him hard to stop when he arches that roundball towards the hoop. Glen is also a steady defensive performer.

Last year Cothorn pitched in eleven points per contest and played to a rebounding average of seven an outing. Plagued with a thyroid condition throughout the season last year, Glen had to be rested a great deal. Glen has whipped the thyroid trouble and is in fine health this year. Coaches and fans alike expect "the Hawk" to improve greatly on his very capable performance of last year.

Running To Attend NASM In Chicago

On Friday and Saturday, the 2nd and 3rd of December, the National Association of Schools of Music will hold their 36th annual meeting at the Palmer House in Chicago, Illinois. Centenary's school of music, which has been affiliated with the NASM since 1936, will send Joseph M. Running as their official representative. Running, director of the Centenary school of music and professor of piano on the local campus, will be among approximately 250 delegates from the heads of music departments to participate in the two-day convention. A highlight of the program taking place on Friday afternoon will be a performance of the Chicago Symphonia Orchestra, under the baton of Fritz Reiner.

Three of the Gents most loyal fans are pictured here: Andy Teal, "the tallest manager in the South"; Patsy Wesy, brand-new cheerleader for this year; and Pegram "Piggy" McCreary, trusty trainer for the big Gent squad.

Personalities Interested In Centenary Basketball

By LYNDR A PATE

Since basketball season is in full swing now, this week's personalities are in some way connected with the basketball team. Patsy West, a sophomore, education major from Weeks Island, La., is one of the six newly-elected cheerleaders whose main duty will be to urge the team on to victory.

Patsy says, "Cheerleading is a lot of work, yet it is a lot of fun because it is for something worthwhile." Last year she was one of the most loyal fans in the dorm, listening to some of the games in the ironing room when her roommates ran her out. She even kept all the rooms posted on the progress of the Gents by yelling the score down the hall from time to time.

Patsy says the cheerleaders have been working very hard preparing new cheers and revising a lot of the old ones. They have been practicing at least five hours a week, and have designed a new uniform, complete with a new yell to show it off.

"Our most embarrassing experience so far," Patsy said, "came at the Freshmen-Varsity game. We had just formed a deep 'V' on the court to do the Victory yell when the team broke from the huddle. We stood there just long enough to look like true Geeks and then ran off. I sure hope it never happens again."

Andy Has High Hopes

"I'll bet I'm the tallest manager in the whole South," says Andy Teal, the 6' 6½" manager of the Centenary Gents. Andy, a Gent himself for a time, now handles all the equipment for the team. Andy has high hopes for the team this year. He says they have a tough schedule and all the opportunity in the world to show how good they really are.

Besides basketball and a certain cheerleader named Diane, Andy's other interests are hunting and fishing.

He also takes great pride in the fact that he was recently proclaimed the hog-calling champion at the Alpha Xi Delta Farm Derby.

Andy has had many amusing experiences with the basketball team, most of which he cannot relate. One of the relatable incidents took place in his freshman year. The team left the locker room to warm up on the court. Andy went back to his locker for a moment, and the coach, thinking everyone was out, locked the door. It was fifteen minutes before someone finally missed him and came to his rescue.

Andy, a senior from Nashville, Tenn., plans to go into YMCA work, where his experiences as a manager will undoubtedly prove helpful.

"Piggy" Plays Doctor

The trainer for the Gents is Pegram McCreary, a senior from Lake Charles, La. His duties involve the treatment and/or prevention of athletic injuries, such as taping ankles for practices and ball games to cut down the possibility of sprains.

"Piggy", having become interested in being a trainer during high school, served in this capacity for two years at Tulane and has continued his work here as Gent trainer. Besides school, his other interests include bowling, water-skiing and quail-hunting. Next year he plans to go to medical school and hopes to become either an ophthalmologist or a surgeon.

"We have a good ball club," Piggy says, "and will have a good season if they (the team) want it bad enough."

Delegation To ACS Meeting Named

Three faculty members and eight students will represent Centenary College at the southwest regional meeting of the American Chemical Society to be held at the Biltmore Hotel in Oklahoma City, Okla., Thursday through Saturday.

Dr. John B. Entriken, Head of the chemistry department, will head the delegation. During the Friday afternoon session he will serve on a panel discussing the subject of chemistry as a profession.

Robert Hood and Wayne Hanson are the other faculty members attending the three-day program. Advanced chemistry students who will be among the delegation are Danny Caudle, Armand Daigle, Howard Elder, Jr., Richard Haynes, Tommy Hickcox, Ronald Lynch, Marie Maranto and Mrs. Sally McConnell.

Students To Present Live Nativity Scene

Monday night Centenary students will have an opportunity to view the live Nativity scene with a narration of the coming of the Christ portrayed by members of Kappa Chi.

The still life scene on the hill in front of Brown Memorial Chapel will follow the Christmas lighting ceremony at James Dormitory.

Tuesday through Thursday the public will be invited to see the tableau as members of the Methodist Student Movement, the Westminster, Canterbury, and Newman Clubs, and the Baptist Student Movement at 7 p. m. and again at 7:30.

Costumes were provided by the First Methodist Church of Bossier. Live animals are to be used to make the scenes even more effective.

Jerri Rainwater is the overall chairman of the portrayal.

Drummond's Centenary Girl of the Month

The event of the month: basketball. The girl of the month: Miss Diane Camp, newly elected cheerleader for the Centenary Gents. Diane is a junior education major from Nashville, Tennessee. She was a member of last year's basketball court and has served on dorm council for three years.

Diane was chosen by a committee of one member from each of the Greek organizations on campus and two independent representatives. This committee meets each month and selects a girl on the basis of her outstanding accomplishments during the preceding month.

Come in or call to make an appointment for the Christmas portrait that will please someone so much, always!

Centenary students returned from the Thanksgiving full of turkey and ready to return to their studies (?).

Just before the holidays everyone enjoyed the games, refreshments and merriment at the Alpha Xi Delta farm derby. Mr. Danvers walked off with the pie eating contest "hands down".

Andy Teal won the hog calling contest with Dr. Teagarden running a close second. Gail Granger won the door prize which was a family of ducks. Don't worry Mrs. Hayes, they weren't real. Jay Lang out shucked everyone else in the corn shucking contest. Ronnie Doerler was the grand champion winner for the evening. He won four contests.

Linda Kay Ellington, Ken Gordon, Lon McAnally, Heather Dodson, Winston Miller, Martha Hayes and Ryan Horton also joined in the fun at the Farm Derby.

Jean Netterville is now proudly wearing James Goins' Kappa Sigma drop letters.

Lynn Knotts is sporting a brand new engagement ring that she received during the holidays.

Becky Graham was disappointed over her Thanksgiving holidays. She was looking forward to a white Thanksgiving in Missouri. It turned out to be one of the warmest ever.

Congratulations to the choir on a successful opening of their television series. They may be seen each Sunday at 4 p. m.

Weddings marked the Thanksgiving holidays. Joe Ben Hayes and Sherry Pierce were married in Ringgold. Linda Brown and Hoot Evers were married during the holidays, and Jane Rhodes is now Mrs. T. E. White, Jr.

Jongleurs will meet on the first and third Thursday every month.

THIS DOOR IN REMEMBER
The Christian faith is dead — this is the message proclaimed by Evelyn Sanderfer, George Bryan, Bert Shy, Louella Bain, and Don Farley during opening performance of "Cry Dawn in Dark Babylon."

"Cry Dawn" Presented In Brown Memorial Chapel

The Brown Memorial Chapel was the scene of the second JONGLEURS presentation of the year, "Cry Dawn in Dark Babylon" on December 8, at 8:15 p. m. The play will now tour in various cities of the Ark-La-Tex for the remainder of the school year.

If you missed the campus performance, watch for notices concerning its presentation in churches and before civic groups in this area.

In a variation from the traditional external treatment of a play by means of a review or critique, this week the Conglomerate presents an internal depiction of "Cry Dawn" with one of the actors in the play discussing what his role has meant to him and the feelings he has tried to put into his character. George Bryan, who plays the role of Tom Jones writes on "Babylon as I See It".

In P. W. Turner's CRY DAWN IN DARK BABYLON, I play Tom Jones, a middleclass working man who has suffered the loss of his only child. In the face of this commonest of human tragedies, what can talk about Christ and life after death and "vicarious atonement" mean to Tom Jones and his wife, who are strangers to the Church and alien to Christ?

I have played roles from Satan to a living mosaic to a medieval inquisitor to a ranting big game hunter to a judge to a Benedictine monk, but Tom Jones, I believe, is the greatest challenge I've ever had. My problem is to create a character of real flesh and blood who has experienced a tragedy most difficult to imagine. He must be a man broken by the harshness of life, but still a man in all respects. His concern for himself must be tempered by his devotion to his wife and his emptiness after the death of his child.

Tom Jones must participate in events separated from his own time by centuries — the story of Cain and Abel, the building of the Tower of Babel, the Crucifixion, the Resurrection — and still maintain his identity as a man of this world.

And finally Jones must encounter the Church and its doctrine. Should he accept Christ's death as bearing on Jenny's? Is there a life after death? Can the Church really do anyone any good? Maybe . . . but I don't know.

Centenary Students Vie For Rhodes Scholarship

Dr. E. M. Clark, Institutional Representative for the Rhodes Scholarship Award is pleased to announce that two Centenary students have been selected to compete in state competition for the Rhodes Scholarships. Joe Ben LaGrone and John Williams will go to appear before the State Board of Review, which is made up of previous Rhodes Scholars. The board will then select two to go before a regional board for final competition.

Some of the qualifications that a candidate must have for selection are: (1) literary and scholastic ability and attainments; (2) qualities of manhood, truthfulness, courage, devotion to duty, sympathy for and protection of the weak, kindness, and fellowship; (3) exhibition of moral force of character, and of instincts to lead and to take an interest in others; (4) physical vigor, as shown by fondness for and success in sports; (5) some definite quality of distinction, whether in intellect or character.

This is the fourth year since 1950 that someone from Centenary has been selected to compete for the Rhodes Scholarship, and only last year, a student, Hoyt Duggan, was presented with the Scholarship.

Greeks In Midst Of Holiday Activities

The Greeks have been as usual setting the pace for a gala holiday season as they filled their last two weeks with parties, gifts, caroling, and charity work according to the customs of their organizations.

Alpha Xi Delta kicked off its festivities with a tree decorating party held at the sorority house on Monday, December 5 at 6:30. Jackie McDonald, national field counselor, was there to share in the fun around the tree. The Alpha Xi Alum Chapter is planning a party for the girls on Tuesday, December 13, at 7:30 at the sorority house. Still more excitement is scheduled as the Alpha Xi Mothers' Club has announced a supper for actives and pledges on Thursday, December 15, at 6:00, after which the gifts surrounding the tree will be opened. An undecorating party is set for the third of January.

Chi O's Treat Orphans

Chi Omegas were busy last week preparing the box of Christmas gifts to be sent to their adopted Greek orphan, Elizabeth Klapsou. When this had been completed and mailed, they immediately began getting ready for their annual orphan party, which will be given for the children from Genevieve Day Care Center tonight from 6:00 until 7:30, at the Chi Omega house. When the children have returned to the orphanage, the girls will remain at the house to exchange gifts and sing Yuletide songs around the fireplace. On Friday, December 9, the pledges were hostesses at an informal party for Chi O's and their dates at the sorority house.

ZTA's Carol Other Greeks

The Zeta Tau Alpha house has been the scene of many gay activities this week. On Sunday, December 4, from 2:00 until 5:00, a Christmas tea was held for the faculty. Tonight at 7:00 the Zetas will carol at the other sorority and fraternity houses to share their Christmas spirit with them. After making a tour of the campus, the girls will enjoy a big sister-little sister party, highlighted by the exchange of gifts. An alumnae party is being planned to take place during the Christmas holidays.

KA's Help Salvation Army

Members of Kappa Alpha fraternity were guests at the annual Christmas dinner given at the fraternity house Tuesday, December 6, by their parents' club. At the dinner, they were honored to receive a new air conditioner for the house as an early Christmas present. Wednesday, December 14, will find the KA house busy again as the boys are hosts at an eating-and-dancing party to hail the approach of the holidays. On December 19, the KA's will settle down to quite serious business as they don their Confederate uniforms to help the Salvation Army collect money in what will be an act in the true Christmas spirit of giving.

At 6:00, December 10, the Kappa Sigmas held their annual Founders' Day banquet at the frat house. Following the dinner, the Sigs were hosts at their Christmas party. Especially

This is but one example of the door decorations in the dormitories evidencing the fine spirit of the Christmas season. Congratulations to Beth Frey for taking first prize in Hardin Hall.

Dorm Christmas Festivities Include Open Houses

The Christmas season is making itself known throughout the girls' dormitories on the Centenary campus as evidenced by Christmas lights, a Santa Claus on the rooftop, an abundant scattering of holly, pine cones, berries, and mistletoe, a profusion of red and green, colorful packages, singing of carols around a piano, and an excited anticipation of Christmas parties.

James Open House

Tonight at 10:00, the male population of Centenary who have been curious about the part of the James Dorm beyond the swinging doors will have their chances, along with the faculty and administration, to view the unknown land. Open house will be held until midnight with the center of interest being the Christmas decorations on the doors of each room. These fascinating creations will be judged by the faculty and a prize will be awarded to the suite having the best door in the dorm.

Dormitory talent will entertain the guests around the Christmas tree in the lobby, and holiday refreshments will be served before the tour of rooms commences. Becky Graham, Indi Nichols, and Charlotte Stodghill are to be credited with the decorations in the lobby and on the front door. Joy Lambert and Kay Cooper are in charge of talent and refreshments, respectively, for the open house.

Party at Sexton

Sexton, too has donned its Christmas finery for the open house as Santa Claus, angels, and religious scenes dominate the riotous halls. All campus people are urged to view the most enjoyable decorations. Along the same line, that of Christmas celebration, Sexton is planning a dorm party for Wednesday, December 14. All the girls will bring toys to the party so that the dorm can present a box of them to the Salvation Army for their Christmas work. Barbara Hargraves and Nancy Lecky are planning the entertainment for this party.

Decorations Judged

Hardin Hall heralded the beginning of the Christmas season with decorations inside and out, climaxing with a tree-decorating party Sunday night, December 4. Dormitory room doors featured a variety of Christmas trimmings with each suite trying to outdo all others in order to take first prize for door decorations — one whole week without room check! Tuesday afternoon door prizes were announced. Competent judges were Dr. Carlton and Mr. and Mrs. Corey. Hardin Hall opened its doors for visitors to view the decorations last Wednesday from 5 until 8:30 p. m.

Hardin Party

Wednesday, December 14, will end with a dorm Christmas party at 10:30 p. m. Each girl will bring a toy to the party and they will be presented to the children of the cafeteria staff. Entertainment for the evening will feature a trio including Phoebe Volentine, Linda Dodson, and Page Tiller, and Lorene Crenshaw will do a special request — "Christmas with Eloise". A short Christmas service will follow the entertainment, during which Celia Butler will present a dramatic reading of "The Beggar and the Star", and Betsy Gould will sing "O Holy Night". The party will end with the singing of Christmas carols and serving of refreshments.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Centenary Students:

I want to take this opportunity to thank the Centettes and the Centenary Student Body for their fine support at our opening basketball game last Saturday night. It is difficult to let the student body know how much the backing means to the team. I feel that the enthusiasm generated by the Pep Squad and student body contributed materially to our victory over East Texas State.

We have only begun our season, but I can assure you that if the team receives this kind of support they will respond to much greater heights against the many large universities and colleges we will be playing. This team has a tremendous desire to make the school proud of them and I am especially sure they will with this kind of school backing. Again let me say how nice it was to see such fine support by the student body. During my short tenure here at Centenary this was definitely the student body's finest show of enthusiasm.

Sincerely,
Orvis Sigler
Director of Athletics

Dear Students:

I'm sure that you will agree with me when I say that Centenary beauty elections are unfair. As the time again approaches, I would like to urge the Yoncopin staff to handle the beauty elections in a different way. The male students do not vote for the girls, but the organization they represent. (As for instance, Miss USA was not among the Centenary beauties.) Here is my solution. The pictures of the girls should be submitted to judges (impartial and prominent) or either there should be a beauty contest in the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse, in which the girls are presented in formals and judged by prominent and impartial judges. This could also be a means of raising money for the "Name Band Dance". Our means of letting the males vote is old-fashion and unfair, but if it must be used, we should have at least 20 beauties IN ALL FAIRNESS!!

J. S.

Dear Students:

In reference to the student letter to the CONGLOMERATE on November 30 concerning selection of "MISS CENTENARY":

The co-Editors and staff of the YONCOPIN are in complete agreement with the content of the letter and are, at the present time, making plans for a "MISS CENTENARY PAGEANT" to take place on campus on the 9 and 10 of February.

Our reasons for making the change include the following:

- 1) We would like to be able to enter "MISS CENTENARY" in the "MISS LOUISIANA PAGEANT" representing Centenary College — the way "MISS CENTENARY" is selected at present does not qualify her to enter.
- 2) The way in which "MISS CENTENARY" is selected takes away from the "CENTENARY LADY" who is selected by general election of the student body.
- 3) "MISS CENTENARY" should be something more than a mere election office.
- 4) The office as presently selected does not hold the honor that it should for a girl who represents a student body at places other than on campus.

For reasons of qualification for the "MISS LOUISIANA PAGEANT", it would be necessary to pattern the contest closely after the "MISS SHREVEPORT PAGEANT" and the "QUEEN HOLIDAY IN DIXIE CONTEST".

The Pageant will be sponsored by the YONCOPIN with the cooperation and help of the administration and Mrs. Nichols who will be the director. Certain committees will be necessary and will be headed by members of the YONCOPIN staff and will consist of members of the student body which we hope will generate general interest from all the students.

Each campus organization and each class will be requested to sponsor at least one girl. It would be desirable to have as many Centenary girls participate as possible. (Sponsoring a girl will entail no cost to the sponsoring organization except maybe the cost of one meal in the cafeteria).

If there are further questions about this projected method of selecting "MISS CENTENARY", the Editors of the YONCOPIN will be very happy to answer any and all which are sent to the CONGLOMERATE. We hope that this will be something that will be pleasing to the school and its students. It cannot be done well without the enthusiasm, help, and cooperation of the students and all others concerned. It is something new on campus and we hope that it will be a success.

As to the suggestion that the proceeds may go toward a "BIG NAME BAND DANCE", it is something we had not considered but could be a fine idea if supported by all organizations and students.

Music Fraternity Pledges, Initiates

Pi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, national fraternity for male students interested in music, pledged ten new members at nine o'clock Sunday night, Dec. 4.

Those pledged at the ceremony in the Music Hall with President Don Tyler presiding, were Dave White, Johnny Evans, Sandy Lawn, John Broadus, Richard Tubbs, Phillip Jones, Tom Vaughn, Bill Roberts, and Robert Buckner.

After the pledging H. C. Alford, Beal Thomas, and Jackie Scalf were formally initiated into the fraternity.

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia was introduced to the Centenary campus in 1957 with Joseph M. Running as the faculty advisor. Other officers this year are Freddy Peters, Treasurer, and Jimmy Perkins, Secretary.

Art Exhibit Displays Work of Art Students

The art department of Centenary College opened two exhibits of student work Sunday, Dec. 4. One exhibit, representing the work of evening school students, is located in Room 22 of Jackson Hall, and the other, showing work of day students, in the SUB.

Mr. Willard Cooper, head of the art department, said the work of the day students includes about 90 works done in pastel, pencil, pen and ink, watercolor, casin, gouache, encaustic, egg-tempera and oil. The exhibit is devoted largely to the work of first year students, but every student taking a studio art course is being represented by at least one work.

Most of the works were done outside classes as assignments for the weekly criticism period, and the majority are figures, landscapes, and still life works. The exhibits of night school students is the work of those students under Elizabeth Friedenberg.

Medical Photography Discussed At AED

Alpha Epsilon Delta, the pre-med society, held an open meeting for all interested students Thursday, December 1, at 7:30 p. m. The program of the evening was devoted to the field of medical photography.

Special guest was Mr. Gordon Maxcy, who is a medical photographer at Confederate Memorial Hospital. Mr. Maxcy began his career as a commercial photographer and then went exclusively into the field of medical photography.

After being introduced by the president, Rod Yeager, Mr. Maxcy showed a short movie of an operation for the removal of a tumor. He then showed some slides taken at the last convention of the Biological Photographers' Association in Salt Lake City. Following that were slides of various diseases and pathological tissue from cases at Confederate. A short question and answer period followed the program.

Remember to attend the Student Senate Dance in the Sub, December 15, from 10:15-1:15 p. m. after the Rice basketball game!

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

Closet Doors Opened For Stranger

Once upon a time, there was a campus inhabited by students and faculty who did not know how to live with each other. Each person, by his own choosing had locked himself up in his private and lonely closet. None dared to venture outside. Not one was possessed by concern, except the concern that was born and fed by the discomfort of his closet. And this concern made him more helpless to knock on other closet doors. Some persons were even creating closet walls around themselves in the name of "Closetlessness". And nobody could find a key in his pocket.

A stranger enrolled as a full time student. Without going to the Student Senate for approval, and without setting up a committee, he unlocked doors. Bold exits were made, as were hesitant debuts. But many, threatened by the openness of womblessness, lashed out and had the stranger expelled.

Those who had left their closets declared a holiday, which became a part of the college calendar. After a few academic years . . . after new closets had been erected and new confinements experienced by all, the holiday remained on the schedule.

Realizing the time of year, the editor of the school paper asked someone on campus, who was given to such things, "Will you write an article about the holiday?"

"I'm sorry," said he, "but I have nothing to say about our holiday that would make much sense to us now. And besides, reading is difficult inside." Perhaps, he thought, compassion should move me to say at least, "Merry Christmas!"

All eyes are on the ball, as Harry Wuennenberg, strived to recapture it during one of the many exciting moments at the East Texas game Saturday, December 2.

Gents Contain East Texas

By MIKE RAMMING

In a game that remained undecided until the closing seconds of play, Centenary's hustling Gents outlasted the East Texas State Lions as the Gents finished on top of a 66-63 score. From a spectators standpoint the game could not have been more exciting if played from a Hollywood script as the lead changed hands several times during the last minutes of play.

With the pressure on, Dale Van Bibber and Jerry Callens remained cool and collected dropping in a clutch bucket apiece. This, coupled with a timely steal by Ensley, was enough to provide the three point margin of victory.

As pleasing as the game may have been for Gent fans, Coach Orvis Sigler saw his charges make an alarming number of ball handling mistakes. Earlier in the week Coach Sigler had expressed concern over the Gents' ragged ball handling in pre-season practice. Much of the home team's ball handling troubles can probably be attributed to opening night jitters. Credit must also be given to a fine East Texas defense.

Offensively the Gents were in mid season form as far as shooting percentages go, canning 25 of 62 efforts from the field for 42%. The Gents also managed to convert 15 of 19 attempts from the charity stripe.

Dale Van Bibber, the jumping Gent from Dexter, Missouri, led the Centenary scoring parade with 19 points, closely followed by Jackie Crawford who added 16 tallies. Sophomore Riley Wallace contributed 11 points while classmates Don Ensley, Jerry Callens, and Harry Wuennenberg added 7, 7 and 2 points respectively. Senior Glen Cothorn rounded out the Gent scoring dropping in 4 markers. Weldon Tallant led the Lion scoring with 19 counters followed by junior college All-American Lee Mires who pushed in 16.

Willard Moore, the talented Sophomore guard from Hornbeak, Tennessee was missing in the Gent lineup against the Lions. "Soup" is recovering from a back injury suffered in the Varsity-Freshman game two weeks ago. He is now back in practice with his teammates and will soon be back in action.

Gents Face Important Bouts During Next Few Weeks

The Gents hit the road beginning with their trip to Aggie land last weekend. Picked by most experts as the team to beat in the Southwest Conference this season, the Aggies again sported a team at least as strong as the team that shellacked our Gents last year in College Station. Coach Sigler and his fifteen Gents wanted this one bad. Spirit was at an all-time high as the Gents went through workouts for the Aggie game.

Coach Sigler said that every time he thought of the Texas A & M game, he remembered the old adage "lightning can't strike twice in one place." He also said this: "Texas A & M and East Texas have very similar defenses with both clubs putting a great deal of pressure on the ball as well as overplaying to the ball. Thus the game with East Texas should have helped prepare us for Texas A & M. I was disappointed in our ball handling and defense in the East Texas game but I was proud of the way that our kids came back in the second half."

Following the Aggie skirmish, the Gents return home to play host to West Texas State of Canyon, Texas, on Tuesday, December 13. With only 48 hours rest, again the Gents play host in Shreveport to the Rice Owls of Houston, Texas. The Gents then hit the road once again as they journey into the Ozark mountains to play the rough and tough Arkansas Razorbacks in Fayetteville, Arkansas. Coach Glen Rose returns the entire starting line-up of huskies that did very well for him last year. A victory here for the Gents would be a great one indeed.

Following the Arkansas battle the Gents enjoy a two game homestand, the first being with Tulane. The Greenies bring last year's Soph sensation, Jack Ardon, to town accompanied by a strong team right down the line. This contest is scheduled for December 19th.

December 21st brings Texas Christian University to the Fairgrounds.

The Horned Frogs are expected to be a contender in the Southwest Conference race.

Gulf South Classic

The Gents will spend the Christmas holidays playing in an eight team tournament here in Shreveport. The Gulf South Classic in its seventh year is sponsored by Centenary and the Shreveport Times.

The 1960 invitations to the tournament include Northwestern, Louisiana Tech, University of Mississippi, University of South Carolina, Georgetown University, Middle Tennessee, and Centenary. This is the finest field of teams in the classic's history and will provide Shreveport with basketball at its best.

Greek Christmas

noteworthy at the party were the decorations which had been made by the pledges. Yesterday at 5:30, the Sigs went to the Shriners' Hospital to meet and entertain the crippled children who live there. Santa Claus, who looked conspicuously like Joe Ben Hayes, gave out presents to the young people.

Both the KA's and the Sigs gladly donated the receipts from Saturday's Charity Bowl Football Game to the Caddo Foundation-Home for Exceptional Children in a very generous Christmas gesture.

All the Greeks stepped wholeheartedly into the spirit of this time with much fun, singing, eating, and dancing, but also with a more serious side which has indicated a realization of the depth and meaning of Christmas.

Meet The Gents

By MIKE RAMMING

Back in the Gent uniform once again after being ruled ineligible for the second semester of play last year due to a scholastic technicality, Dale appears ready to show the college basketball world the terrific roundball talent he possesses. Van Bibber, a 6' 6" Junior from Dexter, a town in the "boot heel" section of Southeast Missouri, is a physical education major.

Dale, who weighs 210 pounds is one of the finest jumpers to ever wear the maroon and white. This coupled with great strength gives this muscular Missourian the potential of being one of the nation's top rebounders. The story does not end here, however, as Dale has developed a deadly jump shot as well as an excellent hook. Using these newly developed assets "Bibber" might easily double his 10 point per game average of last year.

In the Gent's first game the talented Van Bibber led his team in both scoring (19) and rebounding (6) even though weakened by a week long battle with a virus infection.

A Missouri All-State performer while at Dexter High School, Dale was also student body president.

With two big seasons still ahead of him, the jumping jack from Dexter might well become one of Centenary's all time greats.

Freshmen Blast Letourneau Tech

Coach Doug Mooty's Gentlets opened up their 1960-61 cage campaign with a bang as they rolled over winless Letourneau Tech 77-65.

Stan McAfoos, the fleet footed guard from Alton, Illinois, had tongues wagging as he nipped the twines for 16 points in a first half that saw him drive right down the middle of Letourneau Tech's defenses time and time again. "Mac" ended up with 24 counters for the ball game. The fine Gentlet offense did not consist only of McAfoos however, as Cecil Upshaw, the "bombardier from Bossier City," flipped in 19 points, joined by Jim Pippen who added 14 and Byrd High School's Jimmy Williams' 13 tallies.

In the rebounding department Upshaw hauled 14 off the boards while Williams gathered in 11. The Gentlets outrebounded their opponents 44 to 39.

The defensive picture was not as rosy, however, and Coach Mooty said that "work on defense will be the order of the day for his Frosh roundballers this week."

The Gentlets showed fine speed, as well as great shooting ability in this opener. Rebounding was also surprisingly strong even though the Jr. Gents are not a tall team. Chances for a banner Frosh year are good indeed in Centenary town!

Personalities of the week, Al Pius, Ann Hogan and Anne-Marie Langvall gather around the Christmas tree in Sexton Hall and reminisce about Christmas festivities back home. Al just happened to find a stray branch of mistletoe and seemed to know what to do with it!

Students Describe Christmas Customs At Home in Norway, Illinois, And Texas

By SANDRA McQUISTION

Anne-Marie Langvall, our exchange student from Oslo, Norway, is shown wearing her Norwegian National costume. She told us that many people wear these colorful costumes during the Christmas season. Although the spirit of Christmas is the same, there are many traditions in Norway that are different from those we observe here in the United States.

For instance, Anne-Marie said that Christmas Eve is the time for exchanging gifts and eating the traditional Christmas dinner. "At five o'clock," Anne-Marie related, "the children go to church. When they return the tree, untrimmed until this day, has been decorated and gifts are presented. The children march around the tree and sing Christmas songs and then the gifts are opened. The children believe the gifts are brought by a nisse, an elf in a red suit who comes down the chimney with a bag of toys much like Santa Claus in America.

The Christmas dinner Anne-Marie described was very different from our own turkey and dressing. A Norwegian Christmas dinner includes rice pudding, codfish or pork (in the old days the whole pig, complete with an apple in its mouth was brought to the table), and many kinds of fruit and cookies. An old saying goes that there are always some warm days in December because everyone bakes; in fact, housewives are supposed to bake twenty different kinds of Christmas cookies!

On Christmas day the family goes to church, Anne-Marie recalled, and visits friends. In the extreme northern part of Norway, families go to church on skis. An old tradition of northern Norway was moonlight sleigh-rides through the mountains — sounds like fun!

"Between Christmas and New Year's," Anne-Marie went on to say, "children put on masks and go from house to house demanding treats. We also decorate the streets, and although there is no holly or mistletoe, we use greenery similar to that found here."

Al Likes The Snow

"You Southerners just don't know what you're missing until you've spent a good old-fashioned Midwestern Christmas!" exclaims Al Pius. Al, a member of Kappa Sigma and a sports enthusiast, is a sophomore at Centenary this year. He complains that everyone thinks that his home is in Chicago, which isn't true. So, Al, we'll clear it up once and for all. Al hails from New Lenox, which is about forty-five miles south of Chicago.

Like Anne-Marie's, Al's Christmas is always white. Sleds and ice skates were always welcomed gifts for Al at Christmas time, and he told us that he often still spends much of his vacation tobogganing and ice-skating. "It's too flat in my part of the state for skiing," Al told us, "but in southern Wisconsin, which is just across the state line from us, there are many places suitable for skiing. This Christmas, I hope I can have a chance to try it." All we can say is good luck, Al, and we hope you get back to school in one piece!

Al recalls that one of the most impressive sights at Christmas time is the decorations in Chicago. The most spectacular, probably, are the decorations in Marshall Fields, the world-famous department store, which include an enormous two-story high Christmas tree and breath-taking scenes in all of the show windows. "But the best sight of all," claims Al, who really misses that chilly Northern climate, "is when you look out Christmas morning and see the ground and trees sparkling with snow and ice."

Holiday Fun In Texas

Ann Hogan, an enthusiastic Texan, is a freshman this year at Centenary and a pledge of Zeta Tau Alpha. "My Birthday, which comes on December 15, is so near Christmas that I usually just save my Birthday presents and celebrate both on the twenty-fifth." Ann's Birthday-Christmas is spent alternately in her own home with her parents and a few close relatives or at the home of an aunt and uncle. On Christmas Eve, Ann always looks forward to attending the midnight candlelighting service at her church.

"Since I am an only child," Ann stated, "it has been quite a long time since we have had Santa Claus in our home at Christmas. This year, though, we are having two little cousins join us. We're all looking forward to playing Santa Claus because half the fun of Christmas is watching children enjoy it. I have a lovely stocking that my mother made for me, and I still enjoy hanging it at Christmastime, if just for decoration."

Decorating her house for Christmas, by the way, is always Ann's job. "One year," Ann relates, "we had a very unusual way of arranging our unopened gifts. We had just remodeled our house and had not completed the finishing touches yet. On one wall of one of the rooms were some large, brand-new bookcases which had not yet been filled. We decided to arrange all of our unopened gifts on these shelves instead of putting them under the tree. At first, when there were only a few gifts, they looked rather forlorn perched up on those shelves, but as the shelves became filled with bright Christmas packages, that room became the most cheerful part of the house."

The first annual Greek Week of Centenary was truly a big success. Our heartiest thanks go to members of Panhellenic and the Interfraternity Council who worked so hard to bring about the festivities.

From the Powderpuff Bowl on Tuesday night to the Friday night dance, the Greeks on campus enjoyed well-planned activities.

Highlights of the Powderpuff Bowl were the touchdown made by Linda Kay Ellington and Beth Catton's thrilling runs. Also of interest was Sallie Clingman's 25-yard pass to Jill Landis, who fumbled. It was a hard defeat for the Gilmer's Green Gallopers who lost by 7 points to Ramming's Red Rockets. A big congratulations to Mike Ramming and George Gilmer for coaching a fine football game.

Halftime activities featured a precision drill squad of Centenary lovelies. We realize that the girls, er boys, put lots of time and effort into the half time show. A big congratulations goes to Jerry Jouett who was elected Queen of the Powderpuff Bowl. Other charmers chosen for the court were Don Adair, Buddy Dailey, Mike Sport, Hoyt Bain and Tim Temple.

Everyone enjoyed the picnic in the gym and especially the skits given by the various pledge classes.

The climax of the week was the Friday night dance. Some of those attending were Jimmy Hughes, Ann McClure, Gail Walker, Johnny Shankles, Tommy Head, Carol Hanna, Carolyn Lapleau, Don Couvillion, Nancy Evans, Jack Mulkey, Nancy Lecky, Mike Mann, Mary Jane Ramsey and Leonard Riggs.

Congratulations go to Martha Hayes and Winston Miller on their engagement.

Diane Camp and Andy Teal announced their engagement on Saturday night also.

A band under the direction of Jill Landis serenaded on the porch of James Dorm on Saturday night. We all enjoyed "Jingle Bells" very much.

Anyone wishing to hire this band for Christmas parties should contact Edith Elliott immediately.

Congratulations to the Gents on winning the first game of the season. Reports are that the Centettes sound and look very good. Thanks go to Mrs. Nick, the sponsor of the group, and Kathy Gardner, who leads the clap routines.

Centenary students enjoyed the unusual sox hop in the gym after the game. Some of those on the courts were Judy Thurman, Harry Wuennenberg, Paul McMahan, Madeline Trichell, Margetta Spears, David Bates, Juanita Donelson, Don Ensley, Linda Dodson and John Vassalopoulos.

Don't fail to miss the door decoration for room 214, James.

Watson, Mulkey Attend National Affairs Conference

Jack Mulkey and G. B. Watson are representing Centenary College at the sixth annual Student Conference on National Affairs at Texas A & M. Eighty-five colleges and universities from the United States, Canada, and Mexico will be represented at the four day session to discuss Mulkey is a senior majoring in humanities and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Mulkey, 228 E. Lister, City. Watson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Watson, is majoring in history.

The Freshman Class officers, Joan Williams, Sandra Stokes, Mike Sport, and Don Adair, are shown in their planning session for the Mardi Gras Ball, to be held February 17.

Annual Mardi Gras Ball Scheduled By Freshmen

The annual Mardi Gras Ball, to be sponsored this year by the Freshman Class, has been set for Friday, February 17, at 7:30 P. M. in the gym. The evening will commence with the presentation of the Mardi Gras court and will be concluded with dancing until midnight.

The court, which will consist of a queen, four princesses, four maids, and their escorts, will be announced in a later issue of the CONGLOMERATE when the plans completed.

Officers of the Freshman Class, Mike Sport, Joan Williams, Sandra Stokes, and Don Adair, completed the plans at a meeting on Wednesday, January 11, where they set up committees for the dance as follows: Stage, headed by Don Adair; Lighting, Beverly Smith; Tables, Larry Cowley and Rodney Hart; Costumes, Joan Williams; Publicity, Maury Johnston; Refreshments, Nancy Lecky and Nancy Thigpen; Reservations, Mike Sport and Don Adair; Tickets, Doug Howard and Jimmy Williams; and Program, Sandra Stokes. Students will be notified as to which committees they are to serve on. Working with the class will be Mrs. R. M. Nichols, who will help produce the dance, and Miss Ruth Alexander, who will design and direct the stage decorations. First auditions for the evening's program, which will be open to anyone who wishes to take part, will be held at 6:30, Tuesday, February 21, in the sub. The class urges everyone to support and attend the festivities.

Brenda Bailey Wins Maroon Jacket Award

Brenda Jean Bailey, senior history and government major, received the Ray Williams Honorary Award during chapel January 5.

The award, which consists of a cash grant and a suitably inscribed certificate, is presented each year to the senior coed who best exemplifies the qualities of the Maroon Jackets without actually being a member of the society. The awardee also receives the privilege of serving with the Maroon Jackets for the remainder of the year.

The award was established several years ago by the late Ray Williams, a Shreveport florist and civic leader who also served as an unofficial patron of the Maroon Jackets at Centenary College. In establishing this award Williams wished to honor an outstanding senior coed who, for one reason or another, was not elected to regular membership in the Maroon Jackets.

Brenda was chosen for her qualities of leadership, service to the school, participation in extracurricular activities, and scholarship. She is a member of Chi Omega sorority and has served in a number of offices in the sorority. She is active in intramurals, a member of Cencoe and the Panhellenic Council, secretary of the Student Senate and a member of many other campus organizations.

Comedienne Entertains Centenary Audience

Anna Russell, musical comedienne described as having a face "as pliable as ravioli dough", appeared last Tuesday on the Lyceum Series in the Haynes Memorial Gymnasium.

For one hour and a half Miss Russell kept the Centenary audience "in stitches" with her satirical burlesque of highbrow music and music typical in France, Germany, England, Russia, and Spain.

Portrays Society Woman

From her interpretation of a society matron introducing an entertainer to a ladies' club, to her hysterical analysis of Wagner's "The Ring of the Nibelungs", Miss Russell was a master in the art of subtle innuendo, gesture, and mobility of facial expression. Her repertoire included spoofs of a German drinking song complete with leg slapping, an English choir boy whose voice occasionally went so high that as Miss Russell put it, "only the dogs could hear it", and a flamingo song which "brought down the house" as Miss Russell danced around the piano with a rose in her teeth, accompanying herself to a click of castanets.

Opera to Comedy

Miss Russell is a highly trained concert artist who turned to comedy as career. She has appeared on concert stages, radio, television, with some of the foremost symphony orchestras and in opera. Her recordings have made her known to millions who never had the opportunity to meet her in person. Traveling around the world year after year, Miss Russell has managed to fill houses in the most remote, and often most uncomfortable, places in the world and has parlayed her face, figure, British accent and fantastic sense of humor into one of the most phenomenal careers in show business.

Choir To Be Heard On National Program

The Centenary Choir will be heard on the National Protestant Hour as one of the first non-professional groups ever to be heard on that program.

They share the distinction with the Candler Choraleers, a men's group from the Emory University Candler School of Theology.

To make recordings for these radio broadcasts, the Choir went to Atlanta, Georgia, during the Christmas holidays from the 28th to the 30th. The major portion of this time was spent in the chapel recording studio of the National Protestant Radio and Television Center, which serves five denominations with radio, television and record-making facilities. The music for five national radio broadcasts, each in the form of a church service, consisted of an anthem, two hymns, and a prayer response for each program.

Dr. Robert Goodrich, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Dallas, Texas, and speaker here at the Wilson Lectures Series last year, will deliver the sermon on each of the programs with the Choir, beginning on March 5th and heard every other Sunday thereafter. The Protestant Hour can be heard in Shreveport over KWKH at 6:00 A. M. on Sunday morning.

"Merry Wives of Windsor" To Open on February 2

February 2-11 will mark the return of Shakespeare to the Shreveport area, and the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse, after a lengthy term of absence. The return promises to be a gala one with a nine-performance run, elaborate costumes of the Elizabethan period, suitable set construction, and a cast of Centenary students playing the Shakespearian roles in this winter frolic.

Those students comprising the cast are:

Sets To Be Authenic

As the curtain rises nightly on Windsor Town, it will reveal many curious and interesting structures to the on-looker. The set is designed with the narrow streets and closely constructed buildings, typical of this period — the later years of Elizabeth's reign. Of major interest amid the zest and merriment of this city's life are the symbol-signs that mark the places of business within Windsor. Many of the Royal subjects of this period of time were unable to read, hence a business-man had to invent means of making his product known to his fellow citizens. Signs with symbols were hung from the store fronts. Mrs. Irene Corey, the designed for all JONGLEUR productions has spent much time in research to authenticate these background sets and signs. The fruits of her labor will appear on the stage in a most interesting and educational manner.

This is a production of contrast and color. The colors are grouped in families and their colors are representative of their characters. The Page family wears shades of pink and purple, while the Ford family appears in blues due to their Puritan beliefs. Shallow wears lavender to contrast with these two groups. The supreme contrast is to be found in the colors of Falstaff's costumes. His 90 inch waist protrudes beneath shades of vibrant oranges, yellows, watermelon-greens and various shades of contrasts within this scheme.

Technical Positions:

Stage Manager, Ruthanne Cozine; lighting advisor, David Gibson; properties, Ellen Morgan, Muriel Vonderhaar, Mary Margaret Farmer; costumes, Mrs. Robert Shy, Sandy Larson, Celia Butler, Bonnie Schwartz, Donna Wirick, Claire Self, Annette Shirey, Ann McEachern, Beverly Crawford; box office, Jane Hebert; scene painting, Lorena Young, Mary Farmer, Linda Mashaw; make-up, Bonnie Schwartz, Linda Mashaw; publicity, Julie Schmidt, Annette Shirey, George Bryan, Wiley Cameron, Beverly Smith; dance, Ray Chabeau and Lorena Young.

All students contributing their time and talents to the making of this production are members of the JONGLEURS.

Play Runs 9 Days

Remember: Shakespeare wrote it and Elizabeth applauded it. What?? THE MERRY WIVES OF WINDSOR, February 2-11 at the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse. The productions being staged at the Playhouse for the 1960-61 season are open to the public and THE STUDENT BODY as well. Reserved-seat-tickets for each performance will go on sale at the Box Office at a date to be announced later.

Student Senate Minutes

The following is a summary of the last two Student Senate Meetings which were held in the Moore Student Center on December 14 and January 4.

James Goins stated there was $193.46 in the treasury.

The Senate then decided on a band for the Nameband Dance. Their choices are as follows:

1. Billy May. 2. Les Brown. 3. Glenn Miller. 4. Ralph Marteri. 5. Harry James and Betty Grable.

James Goins is to contact Abe Goldberg who will then contact one of these bands.

The Meeting was then turned over to Mr. Jim Dowell, the Director of Alumni Affairs. He told of Homecoming and brought a tentative schedule of activities. The planned date is April 8. The Senate voted to have the nameband dance on the same date in conjunction with Alumni Day.

A resolution was made that a $1.50 social fee for each student first semester and a $1.00 for second semester be added as a school policy so that the Senate would have a larger budget and therefore be able to do more for the school. The extra $.50 fee would entitle each student to a Student Directory. This motion was passed unanimously.

George Bryan, President of the Jongleurs, came to discuss plans for the Vaudeville Show. After George left, a motion was made that the Senate and Jongleurs work together on the Vaudeville. This motion carried. The Senate would handle public relations and advertisement and the Jongleurs will handle the technical part of the production. A joint committee consisting of Senate and Jongleur members will work out the details and have a report by next meeting.

Helpful Hints For Hindered Hunters

Looking for a short summary of the embryological regional differentiation of the brain? Or a discussion of magnetic fields and lines of forces? Or perhaps, the nomenclature and reactions of aromatic hydrocarbons?

If your quest delves into the secrets of science, you will eventually join the other science majors in the science library located on the first floor of the science building.

With other eight thousand volumes accessioned, the Centenary Science Library is becoming Shreveport's most valuable reference library. The general divisions of material in the library are mathematics, astronomy, biology, geology, chemistry, physics and paleontology; they also include the applied sciences such as petroleum engineering, agriculture, forestry, psychiatry and chemical technology. In addition to these divisional volumes, there is a large collection of reference books including the standard dictionaries and encyclopedias, as well as periodical indices (abstract and review), yearbooks, society journals, handbooks and tables, and a smaller number of biographies and histories. In addition to these reference books, the science library receives about 135 scientific magazines and 72 state and federal publications.

The library obtains its books both as gifts acceptable to the faculty, and through departmental allotments, with the faculty of each department requesting books relevant to their departments. Library hours on week days are from 8:00 A. M. until 5:00 P. M. It is also open Monday through Thursday evenings until 10:00 P. M. On Saturday the hours are from 9:00 A. M. to 12:30 P. M.

To take care of the large number of books and magazines, five student assistants, under the supervision of the science librarian, Mrs. Marguerite Saunders, are employed. Mrs. Saunders is a graduate of Agnes-Scott College and the University of North Carolina Library School. She would like to remind students that oversized books which are too large to fit with the regular volumes are shelved near the back door. These books have a subscript "q" before the call numbers.

Four New Members Selected For ODK

Omicron Delta Kappa announced the election of four new members in chapel before the Christmas holidays. They are Tally Pledger, John Williams, Fred Schwendimann, and Don Tyler.

Members of the national recognition society are selected on the basis of leadership, service, scholarship, and promise of future leadership and service.

Tally Pledger is a member of the Centenary College Choir, captain of the gymnastics team, member of the Pershing Rifles, active in the Methodist Student Movement, outstanding ROTC student, listed in "Who's Who" and affiliated with Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Williams, who recently played the lead in "Murder in the Cathedral", is active in dramatics, listed in "Who's Who", is a member of Alpha Sigma Pi and Alpha Chi, treasurer of the Senior class, president of Sigma Tau Delta, and has been a member of the varsity golf team.

The only junior selected, Fred Schwendimann, is a member of Kappa Sigma, chief justice of the Honor Court, active in the Methodist Student Movement, winner of a National Methodist Scholarship, listed in "Who's Who", is a member of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, and was the recipient of the Outstanding Freshman Cadet Award in ROTC.

Don Tyler is a member of the choir, band, sports editor of the yearbook and student newspaper, member of the Student Senate, Kappa Sigma, and active in Methodist Student Movement.

As one of the projects of the year, ODK will sell coffee in the Science Buildings every night during the break at night class from 7:43 to 8:15 p. m. for ten cents a cup. ODK plans to use some of the proceeds from this project to send one of their members to the National Convention of Omicron Delta Kappa. Maroon Jackets are assisting ODK with the sale of the coffee.

Rotary Fellowship Granted To Mulkey

Jack C. Mulkey, a senior French and English major, has been granted a Rotary Foundation Fellowship for one year of study in France.

One of 118 students from 25 countries to receive a grant this year, Mulkey plans to attend the University of Dijon in Dijon, France, in preparation for a career in international law. He will study European civilization, including history, government, literature and the French language.

The fellowship includes something in excess of $2,600 for the 1961-62 academic year, passage to and from France, and a travel allowance to enable him to see parts of Europe during his year abroad. Rotary International provides the fellowships in an effort to promote international understanding by enabling young men and women of many nationalities to live, study and travel in another country. International understanding is one of the principal objectives of the men's service club.

Mulkey has served on the staffs of the Yoncopin and Conglomerate, has been active in Philosophy Club, the Speech Club, Phi Sigma Iota, and is listed in "Who's Who Among Students at American Colleges and Universities." He has been listed on the dean's honor roll almost consistently throughout his college career, and is a member of Sigma Tau Delta.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

As we, the students of Centenary College, near the approaching final week, it behooves us to pause, take a deep breath, and catch that last quick nap before we run the gruelling gauntlet of final exams. Take out your check list. Have you forgotten anything — tranquilizers, no-dozz pills, cigarettes, coffeepot primed, got plenty of pennies for that coke machine, and oh, yes, don't forget that exam schedule? Now, you forgot one thing — your new semester's resolutions, or "things I didn't do last semester that I'm going to do next semester". If you're like many students you've done this before in your mind, or on paper, and if you're like most of those same students, you ended up at finals the next semester in the same fix — wishing you were ready for finals! (Is anyone ever really ready for them?)

So then, what will you put on your new semester's resolutions? If you're a typical student with typical failings, they should go something like this. "I resolve to complete my homework for a particular class that very same night and to continue in this manner throughout the semester. I resolve to cease procrastinating about term papers and to complete said term paper two weeks before it is due. I resolve to find some quiet, secluded place for study where I will not be tempted to be pleasantly distracted. I resolve to learn how to take neat, orderly, legible notes during lectures, if it kills me. I resolve to get a good night's sleep before every test and quit the habit of last minute cramming. I resolve to review past chapters covered in a course every now and then, even though a test has not been announced. I resolve to plan my studying in such a way that my weekends will be free for recreation and free from studying (the best study guides say it can be done!)."

These are just a few suggestions to get you started on your new semester's resolutions. They're not impossible to carry out, and if you do have the will power to stick to them, then perhaps you won't have to wake up one morning next May and realize it's too late now to catch up!

The staff of the Conglomerate wishes everyone the best of luck and success on finals!

Gents Show Impressive Record

By MIKE RAMMING

Action during the Christmas holidays found the Gents winning four games while dropping two, running their season record to seven wins against three losses.

A heartbreaking 63-60 loss at the hands of the Oklahoma City University Chiefs gave the Gents a still impressive record of seven wins offset by four losses.

Play in the Gulf South Classic resulted in a third place finish for Centenary. In the opening round the Gents demolished Texas Western 94-71. The following day the host club lost an overtime squeaker to South Carolina, the team that went on to win the Gulf South Classic Championship. The Gents did not let that loss deprive them of the third place spot. Once again in an overtime thriller, the Maroon and White would not be denied as they outlasted Middle Tennessee, 76-67.

Prior to the tournament the Gents defeated Tulane, 80-76 and T. C. U., 81-71. The only loss was at the hands of Arkansas' Razorbacks, 71-61.

This team has been a real surprise to coaches and fans alike. They have made up for lack of height and some defensive shortcomings by tremendous shooting ability and the will to win which carry any team to great success.

Library Scholarships Offered For Grad Work

The Special Libraries Association is offering three $1,000.00 scholarships for the 1961-62 academic year to be used for graduate study in special librarianship leading to a master's degree at an accredited library school.

These scholarships are to be awarded on the basis of an interest in and an aptitude for special librarianship, financial need, and provisional admission to library school.

Applications may be obtained from Executive Secretary, Special Libraries Association, 31 East 10th Street, New York 8, New York. The deadline for submitting applications is February 15, 1961.

Gents Make Florida Swing

Centenary's varsity basketball team will journey to the sunny shores of Miami and Tampa, Florida, during the semester break to do battle with the University of Miami and the University of Tampa. Tampa is a new addition to the Gents schedule while the Maroons will try to repeat their impressive victory over the University of Miami in Shreveport last year. The Hurricanes of Miami were the ninth ranked team in the nation when the Gents toppled them last year. Again this year Miami boasts a strong team, currently boasting a 10-3 won-lost record. Tampa, also a power in the Southeast, sports an impressive season mark also.

Following this jaunt to the Florida coast the Gents will return to Shreveport and the friendly confines of Hirsch Youth Center for a home engagement with the Demons of Northwestern State on February 2nd as the two teams renew their annual pine cone rivalry. Following this skirmish Centenary will once again hit the road for a February 4th rendezvous with Louisiana Tech in Ruston.

This week's featured journalist is one of the staff members of The Conglomerate. Each week she is responsible for a short summation of the week's hi-lites, inclusive of Greek activities, other social events, humorous observations, and the "latest" news.

Our "Louella Parsons" is a junior from Longview, Texas. She is a member and personnel chairman of Chi Omega sorority, was elected Secretary of her class during her freshman year, and represented the sophomore class on the Mardis Gras court. She is majoring in elementary education, and plans to teach after graduation.

Last year she was "Personalities" editor of The Conglomerate and through this experience familiarized herself with many of the students and events on campus. She strives to be impartial and interesting to all students as she includes as many different names as possible in her column. For this reason Carol's Corner is one of the most popular features on campus as is its editor . . . Carol Reichelt.

Celia Butler Wins 2nd Poetry Award

The poem "Lost" by Celia Butler has been accepted for publication in the American Poetry Anthology, a collection of poems written by college students throughout the United States. This is the second time this year that a poem by Celia has been accepted for the Anthology.

Miss Butler is a French and Drama major from Texarkana, Arkansas.

Chi Omega Cops Paddleball Title

The Women's Recreation Association announces that Sally Clingman and Linda Kay Ellington are the winners of the Paddleball doubles tournament. Clingman and Ellington defeated a host of opponents to win the championship.

Shuffleboard is still in progress. All who still have games left to play are urged to meet their deadlines and turn the scores in on time.

A vice president will be elected to replace Elsa Rocquin who is transferring at semester. Zeta Tau Alpha and M.S.M. will nominate one candidate each, and the election will be held early in the spring semester.

Basketball and pingpong singles and doubles rosters are due Feb. 6th. Practice sessions are set up for Jan. 31, Feb. 1, 7, and 8. The gym will be open to all teams who wish to practice prior to the event. A clinic for officials and scorers will be held Jan. 31 and Feb. 1. Each organization and the independents are asked to send at least two persons to the clinic for training.

YWCA To Offer Life Saving, WSI

The Y. W. C. A. will offer the Senior Life Saving and the Water Safety Instructor Courses during the spring semester.

The Senior Life Saving Course will be offered on Wednesday evenings from 7:15-9:15 beginning January 11 and running through Feb. 22. A current Senior Life Saving Certificate is a prerequisite to taking the W.S.I. course.

Phase I of the WSI course will be offered from March 8 through April 19 on Wednesday evenings from 7:15-9:45. Phase II of the course will be held May 1-5 from 7-10:00 p. m. Following this course there will be an American Red Cross Small Craft Camp at Camp Yatasi on May 6th and 7th.

There will be a fee for the life saving course but the WSI courses are free to the public. A small food charge will be the only expense of the small craft camp. Mrs. Bryant Davidson will be the instructor for the Senior Life Saving course and Phase I of the WSI. A District Red Cross instructor will teach the Phase II of the WSI and the Small Craft Camp.

Meet the Gents

A product of Jerseyville, Illinois, a quiet Mississippi River town that goes wild only when a good basketball game is in progress, Riley Wallace comes to the Gents with plenty of roundball experience. He proved this by being able to break into the Maroon starting line-up in his first varsity game.

Riley can proudly say that he has never played on a losing team during his entire college career. He carried his Jerseyville Panther team to the Illinois state finals two years ago.

Playing on a fine Gent freshman team last year, Riley finished the campaign as the teams leading rebounder and second leading scorer. Wallace features a turn around jump shot which he gets away quickly, aided by a very fast pair of hands which is a tremendous basketball asset. Riley, a 6' 5", 180 pounder, is a physical education major.

If the past is any indication of the future, the "red head" from Illinois could help boost the Gents to national prominence.

Rod Yeager, Jimmy Valentine, and Judy Hebert are shown in their home away from home, the Lab. The microscope and the medical text book have been their constant companions ever since they entered Centenary and embarked on a pre-med major.

Summer Jobs Prepare Pre-Meds For Careers

By LYNDR A PATE

Of all the students attending Centenary perhaps the least often seen are the pre-med students. These students are usually found concentrating on such subjects as comparative anatomy, and their favorite afternoon activities take up many hours in the various labs. Many of these students obtain interesting summer and part-time jobs that are in some way connected with medicine.

Jimmie Valentine, a second semester junior here, is one such student. Jimmie is a biology major, and, after getting a BS degree from Centenary, he plans to enter medical school at L. S. U. next fall. To gain additional experience and knowledge, Jimmie works in the screening department at the Confederate Memorial Hospital and also assists in the emergency room where he deals with cuttings, stabbings, shootings, and automobile accidents. He loves the work there because he gains experience in so many different types of cases. "You see and meet all kinds of people there from the wealthiest to the poorest," he says, "and you learn to deal with all of them. The interns all know you are a medical student and will explain to you anything that they can."

Many funny and unusual experiences occur in the emergency room. Jimmie said that on New Year's Eve a colored man came in with his foot shot off and explained that another man had been trying to make him dance.

Jimmie isn't sure exactly what branch of medicine he wants to specialize in, but he is very interested in psychiatry and in medical law, a relatively new field in which doctor-lawyers are employed by large hospitals and the American Medical Association to defend doctors involved in law suits.

"Jill of all Trades"

Judy Hebert, a senior, is a biology major studying to be a medical technologist. Last summer Judy worked in a small, 30 bed hospital in her hometown of Rayne, Louisiana. Her primary job was working in the lab, but as Judy pointed out, she was sort of a "jill of all trades". She also worked in the X-ray department, at the switchboard, and in the business office. In her "spare time", such as 6:00 A. M., Judy observed operations and deliveries. All things considered, her most enjoyable task was her lab work in which she ran routine tests such as blood counts. "The only consolation of early risings was the enigma of what awaited me at the lab," Judy said. "During surgery one morning, an absolutely petrified five year old boy sat up and said, 'You know what? I'm chicken!'. Of course, none of the children wanted to have their fingers stuck, and it was quite a job stabbing those moving little phalanges."

Judy said her hardest course at Centenary is organic chemistry, with histology running a close second. When she graduates in May, she will train as an intern for a year at Confederate Memorial Hospital here in Shreveport. "Working in a small hospital was excellent practice. One gains so many various experiences because at one time or another in medicine one does almost everything."

Rod Delivers Baby

Another student who worked at Confederate Memorial this summer was Rod Yeager, a junior pre-med student from Shreveport, who plans to enter medical school at Tulane this summer. Rod worked in the hermatology lab which concerns the study of blood. It took a month of preparation and study before he could do any real work in it. To do a blood count, one has to identify about twenty-five different types of blood cells, and Rod estimates that he did about ninety blood counts per day plus helping with a variety of other tests.

Rod said it was quite an advantage to be able to work at a charity hospital. "There are so many patients, you see just about everything," he said. Rod also got to observe numerous autopsies and sit in on doctors' discussions of slides of tissues and cells. On one occasion, Rod even aided in a delivery right in the elevator.

Rod's current research project is the blood picture of the chick embryo, which he hopes will lead into research on cancer. He is interested in the research end of medicine and hopes either to enter that phase or do some teaching along with his regular practice.

National MSM Plans Seminar

The Methodist Student Movement is sponsoring a national seminar on the theme "The Challenge of Culture to the Church" to be held in New York City from March 26 through April 1, 1961. It will be open to all college and university students who are painting, sculpture or drama majors or minors. Preference will be given to juniors, seniors and graduate students.

The activities during the week will include, visits to the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Museum of Modern Art, the Whitney Museum of American Art, The Guggenheim Museum of Art and several selected small galleries and studios. There will also be opportunities to meet with young actors and artists from New York City and Greenwich Village and to attend Broadway and Off-Broadway plays.

The estimated cost will be $80 plus travel expenses to New York City. Methodist students will be given preference but the seminar is not restricted to Methodists.

All those interested are advised to contact Don Guynes in the Chapel Office. The deadline for applications is February 10, 1961.

Sigma Tau Delta Announces Pledges

Sigma Tau Delta announces its new pledges for the year, 1960-61. They are: Wiley Cameron, Pat Corrington, Charles Hembree, John Leaderbrand, Carol Mangum, Sarah Liberto, Sherie Lester, Tommy Akins, Madeline Trichel, Judy Rhodes, Jane Rhodes White, Jack Mulkey, and Laurie Kruger. Initiation will take place at the next meeting on February 3, 1961, in the home of Mr. Leslie Burris.

Sigma Tau Delta is a professional English fraternity as well as an honorary one. The requirement necessary for pledging is a B average in English. It is not necessary to be an English major. The purpose of the meetings is to discuss plays and other works in the literary field.

Officers for this year are: President, John Williams; Vice-president, Dollie Miller; Secretary-Treasurer, Joan Hilburn; Faculty Adviser, Dr. E. M. Clark.

National Queen Contest Planned

This year the seventh annual National College Queen Contest is again getting underway. The National Finals will be held during April of 1961, in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, with more than $5,000 in prizes offered to the new winner.

The competition is a search to find a truly typical college girl who deserves the national crown. Judging will be based on scholastic accomplishment, campus activities, hobbies, and interest in community affairs as well as attractiveness, personality, charm, and appearance.

Prizes will include such items as a two-week tour of Europe, a complete wardrobe, modeling assignments, network interviews, and a personal appearance tour.

Free entry blanks and complete details may be obtained by writing to: National College Queen Contest Committee, Paramount Building, Suite 1606, 1501 Broadway, New York 36, New York.

By CAROL REICHELT

Centenary students returned to campus (some sadly, some gladly) after the Christmas holidays. All reports indicate that everyone had lovely holidays.

The Centenary Choir spent a large part of their holidays on a trip to Atlanta, Georgia, where they made recordings for the Protestant Hour, a national radio program. We will lose them again soon when they go on mid-semester tour.

Congratulations are in order for Lyndra Pate. First of all, she was named queen of the Gulf South Classics Basketball Tournament. Second, she is now wearing an Annapolis pin which she received during the holidays.

Other members of the Gulf South Classics court were Charlotte Stodghill, Sallie Clingman, Juanita Doneldson, Suzanne King, Sandra Boddie, Nancy Evans, Anita Thomasson and Judy Thurman. Congratulations all. We understand that Suzanne has been receiving fan mail from gamecocks. Right Suzanne?

"Indi" Nichols had a real treat during the holidays. She went to Wisconsin and played in the snow. Al Pius also journeyed to "Yankee Land."

It's a bird! It's a plane! No, it's Leonard Riggs roaring to a grand finish at the drag races in Gilmer, Texas to win first prize.

Congratulations, Kappa Sigmas, on winning the Charity Bowl. Congratulations, Linda Kay Ellington and Becky Graham, on being the fastest girls on campus. Watch out boys!

Chi Omega pledges were surprised with a come-as-you-are breakfast. Breakfast music was provided by Southerland (Gail that is). Mary Anne Youngblood's grannie cap was the hit of the party.

Santa's sleigh was filled with pins, rings and drop letters this year.

Jean Netterville, Shirley (Cookie) Burnett, and Anne Schaft are now wearing Kappa Sigma drop letters given to them by James Goins, Ken Gordon and Fuller Bazer.

Susie Smith, Barbara McMillan Lucie Shipp, and Nancy Jo Smith went off campus to get their engagement sparklers.

Catherine Chesney received her engagement ring from over in Texas.

Fane Bussie and Spray Peebles are now engaged. It seems that he gave her the ring on the exact spot where they met.

Betty Schmitt had a surprise under the Christmas tree. It was a Kappa Sigma pin from Johnny Lawrence. They "Became pinned" in front of all Johnny's relatives. How about that?

Texas Aggies have been around Centenary's campus. Frankie Stokes is engaged to Bill Houchin and Winnifred Fair is now pinned to Lee Kittrell.

And Jim Daigle could hardly wait for Beth Catton to get back from New Hampshire so that he could give her his Kappa Sigma pin.

Santa even had a wedding ring for Marthareen Long in his sleigh.

Good luck on all your finals.

And remember G. B. (Watson) a philosopher must remain rational.

As students, faculty, and members of the Administration look on, Don Farley takes a healthy swing at the old Religious Center. The Dean R. E. Smith Religious Activities Building is now in the process of being erected in the spot where the old center stood. The building will house the M.S.M., Director of Religious Activities, offices for the Conference Board of Education, and the Office for the District Superintendent of the Shreveport District.

"Miss Centenary" Contest To Be Held On February 24

This year, the editors and staff of the Yoncopin will sponsor a "Miss Centenary Pageant" to take place in the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse February 23 and 24.

The preliminary judging will take place the same evening at 8:00 p. m. in the playhouse. It will consist of bathing suits and talent competition. The Yoncopin Staff wants to emphasize that no one will be present for the preliminary judging but the judges, Dean Allen, Dean Lineberger, and certain co-ordinating members of the Yoncopin Staff.

During the final competition on Friday evening, the judges will review the final talent, judge the girls in evening dress, and select "Miss Centenary of 1961" and her court. The new "Miss Centenary" will be entered in the "Miss Louisiana Pageant."

Mamma Nick to Direct Pageant

The entire pageant will be under the direction of Mrs. Nichols in co-operation with Dean Allen, Dean Lineberger, the judges and the Yoncopin staff. It is requested that each organization sponsor at least one girl in the pageant. Presidents of the various campus organizations can get the rules for the contest in the Mrs. Nichols' office in the Sub.

Tickets for the event will be on sale soon. Student tickets will be $1.00 and adults will sell for $1.50.

The schedule of the events will be as follows:

Thursday, Feb. 23

Tea James Dormitory 2:00-4:00.

Supper Centenary College Cafeteria 5:30-6:30.

Preliminary Judging Marjorie Lyons Playhouse 8:00.

Friday, Feb. 24

Finals Competition Marjorie Lyons Playhouse 8:00.

The pageant will open with a tea to be held in the living room of James Dormitory and the judges will be present.

That evening the girls will meet the judges for their second interview in the cafeteria for supper.

Jongleurs Join National Frat

Thirty-two members of Jongleurs pledged Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatic fraternity, on January 17, 1961.

The Jongleurs have affiliated with this national dramatics fraternity as the Delta Iota Chapter of Alpha Psi Omega. The fraternity boasts a national membership of over 40,000 students on other college campuses. Pledging and initiation are based upon points earned for working in all phases of playhouse production.

Miss Ruth Alexander and Mr. Orlin Corey will be initiated as sponsors of the organization.

The Delta Iota chapter of Alpha Psi Omega was installed to work in conjunction with the Jongleurs. The fraternity serves as an incentive to creative theatrical work and as a reward to be sought for excellence and perseverance in accord with the purpose of the Jongleurs.

Celia Butler and Marcia Stewart were initiated on Jan. 18 and the remainder of the pledges who meet the requirements of Alpha Psi Omega will be initiated into the fraternity on February 22.

Armbands Mark Pledges

Mardi Gras Court Announced

Members of the Mardi Gras Court for the Second Annual Ball to be held on February 18, 1961, have been announced by Freshman Class President, Mike Sport.

Reigning as king and queen are Jim Daigle, President of the Student Senate, and Anne McLaurin Co-ed Vice-President of the Student Senate. Anne served as sweetheart of the last Mardi Gras ball which entitled her to reign as queen over this year's events.

Maids and their escorts elected by the classes are: Barbara Boudier and Don Tyler, Seniors; Becky Graham and Hoyt Bain, sophomores; Carolyn Lapleau and Johnny Cowen, Freshmen. The Junior class has not yet selected their representatives.

Other members of the court are: Linda Rossett, President of Zeta Tau

Pictures of utter consternation are the students above, who, like all of us, have breezed through the changes of schedule and interviews with advisors only to spend long minutes standing in line to give their hard earned pennies for another semester at Centenary.

Lyceum Series to Feature Myra Kinch and Company

A program of satirical and dramatic dances will be presented by Myra Kinch and her company today at 10:30 in Haynes Memorial Gymnasium, as a part of the current Lyceum Series.

Since 1951 Miss Kinch has been a dance director and choreographer at the Lakeside Amphitheatre in Williamsburg, Virginia. Besides touring as soloist for the Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival Company for Columbia Concerts, she has headed the modern dance department at the Jacob's Pillow University of the Dance at Lee, Mass. for the past decade.

Miss Kinch also was responsible for a religious service performed by a movement choir of 200 dancers at the Festival of Faith in Soldier's Field, Chicago, for the World Council of Churches. During the past two years, she has appeared in solo concerts, accompanied by her husband, Manuel Galea, who has composed the music for most of her dances.

Choir In Midst Of Mid-Semester Tour

The Centenary College Choir, directed by Dr. A. C. Voran, left Saturday, January 21, for its annual mid-semester tour of South Louisiana. This year's tour included 15 full-length concerts in 14 Louisiana communities and one Texas city.

The only appearance in Texas was on Sunday, January 29, when the college singers presented a concert of sacred music at 7:30 p.m. in the First Methodist Church of Beaumont, where Dr. J. N. Hardt is pastor.

The tour opened with a concert in the First Methodist Church of Hammond on January 22. The Elizabeth Sullivan Memorial Methodist Church of Bogalusa with its pastor, Rev. Robert Crichlow, sponsored the concert Monday, January 23, in the school auditorium there.

Other concerts were slated for Lake Charles, New Orleans, Houma, Berwick, DeRidder, Sulphur, Welsh, New Iberia, Crowley, Jennings, Lafayette, and Baton Rouge. The choir returned to campus last Saturday following the appearance in Baton Rouge.

The choir took their own accompanists, Pat McFarland of Shreveport, and "Sandy" Lawn of West Monroe on the trip. Traveling by chartered bus, the choir carried with them the costumes and necessary equipment for the tour.

Ronald Dean Will Present Faculty Recital

Ronald Dean, associate professor of voice and head of the voice department, will present the third program in the 1960-61 Faculty Recital series on Sunday, Feb. 12, at 4 p. m. in Brown Memorial Chapel.

The forthcoming recital will be Dean's first formal introduction to the local public. He has been a member of the faculty of Centenary College since last September but has not yet been presented in recital here.

Dean has served as instructor in music at the University of Texas in Austin for one year prior to joining the faculty here. He received the Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in music theory from Williams College in Williamstown, Mass., where he remained for one year of post-graduate study.

Dean holds the Master of Music degree, with a major in music literature, from the school of music of the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, Mich. He minored in organ studies at that institution and presented an organ recital in lieu of a thesis.

Presently Dean is serving as organist of First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Shreveport. He has also served as organist and choirmaster of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Stockbridge, Mass., and organist at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Methodist Magazine To Sponsor Contest

Together, the family magazine of The Methodist Church, is sponsoring a competition for college students to determine the vitality of campus religion. For the best article on "Why I Go to Church," the magazine will present a cash award of $250. Two cash awards of $150 and $75, as well as five honorable mention certificates, will also be presented.

The competition has been called the John Dickens Award in honor of the early American Methodist who helped launch the Methodist Publishing House which publishes Together.

Undergraduate students between the ages of 18 and 25 who are enrolled full time in any accredited college may enter regardless of religious affiliation. Pastors are not eligible.

Articles should be typed double-spaced in manuscript form on 8½ by 11 inch sheets, must be between 2,000 and 2,500 words in length, and must be accompanied by an entry form which may be obtained from the magazine or from the Conglomerate office.

Articles will be judged on the basis of thought-content, human interest, and literary expression. All entries must be postmarked not later than May 1, 1961. The award winning article will be published in the September issue.

Morgan's Essay to Appear In Special Tribute Volume

"Boswell's Portrait of Goldsmith", an essay by Dr. Lee Morgan will be included in a special volume of "Tennessee Studies in Literature."

The volume is a tribute to John Hodges and Alwin Thaler, eminent scholars who retired this year from the University of Tennessee faculty. All the essays were written by colleagues and former students of the two Tennessee professors.

Dr. Morgan, associate professor of English, is a former student of the two scholars, and earned his MA degree at the Knoxville institution. He holds the PhD degree from the University of Florida and has been a member of the Centenary faculty since 1954.

The Junior Class will meet Tuesday, February 7, at 10:30 A. M. in S114 to elect a Mardi Gras Maid.

Altruism or Egotism?

Are we leading our lives . . . leading others . . . or being led?

This is a question to be weighed both spiritually and intellectually as we make decisions now that will affect our future successes and happiness. It is one to be considered by the individual alone and the wisdom of the decision is determined only by its satisfactory or unsatisfactory consequences. This decision is not a matter of choosing dependence as opposed to independence from others; rather, it involves simply recognizing and living up to our achievement expectations to the sanction of others and our own self satisfaction. It might be said that the choice between derivatives of altruism and egotism is basic for the predisposing personality.

To clarify this statement we must understand that each of these views bears great relevance to the personality and self-doctrine of the individual. Or, one of these two aspects is engrained in the outlook of each being. The important thing is to satisfy ourselves that the choice made is in accordance with the goal we wish to ultimately achieve.

For instance, altruism, being the doctrine which demands that man live for others and place others above self, may well lead to future satisfaction in donating to the happiness of others, but little is gained in the way of personal achievement. In other words, to live by this theory, means that few or no concrete achievements will be realized. This manner of thinking usually appeals most to those who are willing to always be the foundation stones of accomplishments, who seek no credit in the job done, and who revel in pushing someone else to the top.

On the other hand, egotism, a far more vigorous doctrine, demands that man think, and act for himself and let nothing stand between him and his goal. If he is true to this religion he will achieve with much more personal satisfaction while making fewer friends . . . (and enemies) and contributing less to society.

We must, therefore, examine ourselves and make the vocational and personality choice which would most fulfill our personal need for the present and give us the greatest long term satisfaction. To deny ourselves this choice or to choose unrealistically would be disastrous in years too late to change! Let us be true to ourselves!

Fascinating Facts on Library Interest Studious Collegians

Did you know that since the library was founded it has grown to 56,000 volumes that twenty years ago Centenary's only library was housed in one room in the Administration Building, or that the Main Library was not established on the second floor of Jackson Hall until 1949?

Did you know that our present librarian, Mrs. Alben, has worked for the Detroit Public Library and the Iowa State University Library; or that she has been with Centenary since 1941?

Did you know that the original laws for the Government of Centenary College states that the "President shall take charge of the Library Room in case the office of Librarian should become vacant"?

The Main Library of Centenary College is open every week, Monday through Thursday from 8:00 a. m. to 10:00 p. m. as well as all day Friday and Saturday; and all afternoon Sunday. This is the first year that the library has been open on week nights and Sunday afternoons. It contains over 56,000 volumes as well as from 150-200 different periodicals, a record collection, microfilm, and other audio-visual aids.

The old catalogs summed up the library by stating: "The importance of such a library to the reading student during his collegiate course is too obvious to need remark". This still holds true today.

Hidden Facts Explode Myths About Lincoln

This month we honor the birthday of a long, lean figure who possesses the powerful qualities of leadership, sincerity, honesty, and humbleness, and who is hailed as one of America's greatest leaders. His name is Abraham Lincoln.

Almost every American, when asked, can relate familiar facts and stories about this beloved president. However, in recent years, several myths have arisen. One such myth states that Abraham Lincoln's father was shiftless and poverty stricken. As a matter of fact, Mr. Lincoln owned and paid cash for the three-hundred acre farm on which Abraham was born, and owned another farm of 238 acres at the same time.

Still another myth pictures Lincoln as a consistent failure until destiny swept him into the presidency. Actually he served in the Illinois legislature, as a presidential elector for Harrison, as an elector-at-large for Clay, and declined a tentative appointment as Territorial Governor of Oregon before becoming president.

Two popular myths concerning Lincoln's Gettysburg Address have gained credence through the years. One such story claims that Lincoln wrote his now famous speech on an old piece of wrapping paper with a barrow pencil stub while on the train from Washington to Gettysburg. Another tale is that the address was not composed until Lincoln reached the home of his Gettysburg host. But copies of a preliminary address and the battlefield copy show that Lincoln devoted time and care to the preparation of his Gettysburg Address.

A few other facts concerning this well-known figure are that in his Gettysburg Address, he emphasized the word "people" in the phrase, "government of the people, by the people, for the people". Lincoln lived his life without seeing the Constitution amended even once.

Scholarships to Hawaii Available For Students

HONOLULU — An unusual group of scholarships is available to American graduate and undergraduate students for the fall semester at the newly launched East-West Center of the University of Hawaii. The grants, most of them for as long as two years ($3710-$4310 a year) in Asian Studies and related fields, include an expense-paid study tour of the Asian area or country pertinent to the individual's specialization. Application must be made by March 1 for scholarships effective in September, 1961.

The East-West Center, made possible by an initial grant from the State of Hawaii and a federal grant of $10,000,000, was conceived as a nucleus of free interchange of knowledge and culture among potential leaders of Asia, the United States, and the Pacific. Located a short distance from the center of cosmopolitan Honolulu and Waikiki, the Center will house 2,000 Asians and Americans together when its building facilities are completed a few years from now. The September enrollment at the Center will be 375 scholarship students (300 Asians and 75 Americans).

Scholarships cover round-trip transportation, room and board, fees, tuition, books, and incidental expenses, as well as the Asian study tour. Scholarship applications may be obtained from the Director of the East-West Center, University of Hawaii, Honolulu 14, Hawaii. These must be completed and returned to the Director by March 1. Scholarship awards will be announced April 1.

Student Senate Minutes

The Student Senate Meeting was held in the Moore Student Center at 5:45 Wednesday, January 11. The meeting was called to order by the President, Jim Daigle. Others present were Anne McLaurin, Brenda Bailey, James Goins, Jean Netterville, G. B. Watson, Barbara Bourdier, Don Tyler, Buddy Daily, Tim Temple, Mike Sport, Dean Allen, and Miss Alexander.

James Goins reported there was $171.48 in the treasury. He also stated that Abe Goldberg had informed him that none of the five bands would be available on April 8.

A motion was made and seconded to secure Tommy Dorsey for the Nameband Dance since the others could not come. The price was set at $2.00 per couple.

Discussion was then called for concerning the Favorite Nominations. A motion was made and seconded to have nominations on back of the chapel cards for both Centenary Lady and Gentleman and the individual Class Favorites. The names of the people who receive the most nominations will appear on the ballot. This motion passed. The date for nominations will be February 9 and the elections will be conducted on February 13 and 15.

The following dates have been selected for the coming events:

Student Fair April 6 and 7

Founders' Day April 18

There being no further business the meeting was adjourned.

Symbolizing the Gents entry into the season's stretch drive is Team Captain Jackie Crawford. A successful stretch run could give the Gents their most successful season since embarking on their rugged climb as a major college cage power.

February's Ten Games Make It "Must Month" For Gents

By MIKE RAMMING

Coach Orvis Sigler and his Gent roundballers are standing on the brink of what could be their most successful cage season in many years. As the month of January is closed out, the Kings-highwaymen tout an eight wins against seven losses season mark.

It becomes quite evident therefore, that the Gents will have to view each of their ten February games as the key game of the season. In six of the ten games the Gents will enjoy the so called "home court advantage". This cannot be overlooked, however, because the Maroons have dropped only two of nine games played on the home floor this year while coming out on the short end in five of six road tilts.

Coach Sigler feels confident that his cagers can close out the current campaign with a bang. He feels that the team's shooting has improved a great deal in recent weeks and the Gents remain strong in the rebounding department. They will play four games with pine cone rivals Louisiana Tech and Northwestern State in February. Gent fans know that Coach Sigler will have no problem in getting his charges "up" for these dates. Nothing could make the Gents and Centenary fans happier than a clean sweep of the pine cone meetings.

This rivalry has extended many many years.

The Gents could also bring smiles a plenty to Centenary town with a victory in the Mississippi Southern "Snakepit" in Hattiesburg. The Southerners lose in Hattiesburg about as often as the Yankees lose the American League Pennant, once every few years.

Jackie Crawford, the Gents' tall and talented senior captain, appears ready to give the Maroons a real boost as he appears in the final few games of his great collegiate career. He showed his readiness last week in Tampa, Florida, when the big Texan nipped the twines for thirty-six points, the high of his career as a Gent and missing the school record by only a single point.

The Sports Department of the Conglomerate urges the student body to rally behind the Gents and join the team in their quest for a truly fine season. A great effort by all of us can make this a reality.

Timm to Instruct Spring Gym Classes

Ray Timm's appointment to the position of interim instructor in physical education at Centenary College has been announced by Dean Leroy Vogel.

Timm will serve the college throughout the spring semester and will work under the general supervision of Dr. Sidney Rice, head of the department of physical education.

A graduate of Central High School in Little Rock, Ark., Timm holds the BS degree in health and physical education from Northwestern State College in Natchitoches. He was a member of the swimming and track teams for four years while at Northwestern, and for two years he captained the swimming team.

At the close of the semester, Timm will return to Northwestern, where he is completing requirements for his master's degree.

Varsity Baseball pre-season practice will begin Monday, Feb. 6, at 3:00 p. m. for all those candidates not out for basketball. Anyone wishing to try out should leave their name at the Athletics' Office. Freshmen are eligible for varsity competition.

Hats

One of the Yoncopin organization editors, a sophomore from Shreveport, is this week's selection for Hats Off. In this capacity she shares the responsibility of making pictures of all non-Creek organizations and arranging them in their section according to the annual's theme.

Outside her work on the yearbook, she works in the enrollment office of the administration building and is very active in her sorority.

As a freshman she was elected president of Zeta pledge class and was a member of the Centettes. This year she is house manager for the Zetas and is active in B. S. U.

Our recipient has unusual ambitions. She is majoring in elementary education and foreign language and plans to teach in some remote and romantic island.

She has had much experience in working on the annual staff as she was associate editor of her annual in high school and needless to say, she is doing a first rate job on the Yoncopin. For these reasons the Conglomerate joins with the Yoncopin in saying hats off to . . . Sandra Poss.

Mr. George Bienfang, a Supervisor in the Aetna Life Insurance Company's Shreveport agency, and a former Centenary student, will interview candidates for positions with Aetna Life February 7, in the Moore Student Center. The interviews will be held throughout the day. Those interested should contact the placement office.

W. R. A. Prepares For Basketball

The Women's Recreational Association is preparing for the up-and-coming basketball season. Foremost in this preparation was the basketball clinic held last Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

The clinic provided instructions for would-be referees, umpires, scorers, and timers on Tuesday, January 31. Wednesday evening was devoted to practice drills and scrimmage games, with special emphasis being given to explanation of rules and violations.

Team rosters are due Monday evening, February 6, and under the new W. R. A. rules each team is limited to a maximum number of 12 girls and a minimum of 8 girls. The schedule of games will be posted at a later date.

Shuffleboard singles and doubles tournaments are still in the process of being completed. Paddleball singles were finished just before the mid-semester holidays as Judy Thurmon took first place over Jean Netterville in the finals.

Meet The Gents

Probably the most improved Gent player in recent weeks is John "Luke" Lukasik, the good looking sophomore guard from Irvington, New Jersey. Luke, missing most of his Freshman season due to a severely sprained ankle, seems to be just now gaining the poise and confidence he needs to make him a steady varsity performer. A tremendous shooting eye coupled with great speed and jumping ability makes the bespectacled Lukasik a real tough cookie on the playing floor. He is six feet, two inches tall and weighs in at 165 pounds. John is a mathematics major. This likeable lad from New Jersey appears ready to give the Gent backcourt a real shot in the arm for the season's stretch drive and years to come.

This week's personalities were chosen from the many busy students who hold part-time jobs on campus. They are Joyce Camerer, Jimmy Lu, and Donna Howell.

Personalities Busy in On-Campus Jobs

By MELANIE MARTIN

Mid semester holidays found everyone taking a long-awaited and much needed rest. Especially thankful for the time off were those busy students who hold part-time jobs on campus in addition to their regular school work. Three of these folks are Donna Howell, Joyce Camerer, and Jimmy Lu.

Donna, who is a senior majoring in business, spent her holidays at her home in Lewisville, Texas, "just loafing." The snowfall last weekend gave her an opportunity to revert back to her childhood along with the rest of us as she made snowmen and had snowball fights. Upon her return to school, Donna resumed her job under Mrs. Winterrowd, faculty secretary, whose office is located on the second floor of the SUB, where she types and mimeographs papers for members of the faculty and administration. Along with this job, at which she works three hours a day, Donna also holds a secretarial position at a local finishing and modeling school. At the present time she is an active member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority, which she serves as Treasurer, membership chairman, and senior Panhellenic delegate. She has been elected Treasurer of the Canterbury Club and is a member of CENCOE. Shortly after graduation (May 29, to be exact), Donna will be married to Ronnie Doerler, after which they will move to Baton Rouge where he will finish his schooling.

Joy Keeps Up On News

Joy Camerer, a Sophomore Education major, who hails from Little Rock, has the very interesting job of keeping up on all the gossip. She keeps a file of all articles about Centenary college and its students which have appeared in various publications. To keep her file up to date, she must read all the local newspapers in addition to other state publications. She works directly under Mrs. Margaret McDonald, Director of the News Bureau at Centenary. In addition to her filing work, Joyce aids Mrs. McDonald by typing routine news.

Joyce thinks her job is an asset because it keeps her well informed about what happens in the outside world. Only when she returns from holidays and must read a stack of newspapers that reaches half way to the ceiling does her enthusiasm for news seem noticeably lacking. "When I have to wade through a stack like that, I often get my events all mixed up since the papers go from the latest date to the earliest. It is rather funny," laughs Joyce, "to read that a criminal has been captured in one paper only to find out that he escaped in the earlier edition."

One of her less routine assignments this year was writing questions for "Dear Abbey". A few days before the lyceum program, Mrs. McDonald began to worry because so few questions had been turned in to her office. She assigned Joy the job of scouring the campus for some queries.

In addition to her present job, which she has held since September of her Freshman year, Joy is a busy student, participating in such organizations as the Westminster Fellowship, Pep Squad, and Chi Omega Sorority. Last year she was a Yoncopin beauty and was chosen as Freshman maid to the Mardi Gras court.

Jimmy Feeds Drosophilas

Jimmy Lu, a junior, is studying in the pre-med school and hopes to attend Tulane after graduation. His holidays were spent right in Rotary Hall, for his home is in Hong Kong, and he will not be able to return to it until he completes his studies in about five more years. Jimmy's work on campus is related to his field of study as he helps Dr. Mary Wartens in her research. His actual job consists of preparing food for the fruit flies Dr. Wartens is studying for the effects of radiation on sterilization. "One funny thing happened to me one day when I was sterilizing some things in a big boiler," says Jimmy. "Mrs. McFarland walked in and said, 'I smell something burning', and when we looked, there was no water left in the boiler. It had nearly exploded!" He also works in the chemistry lab on Friday afternoons. Jimmy occupies his time between terms at Centenary in various ways. Last summer he worked at a resort in New York, and his other travels have led him to such places as Alaska, Japan, Seattle, San Francisco, Dallas, Louisiana, and Washington. An outstanding personality at Centenary, Jimmy presently serves as Secretary of AED, and is a member of Alpha Sigma Chi.

Nebraska A Capella Choir Presents Free Concert

The 62 voiced A Capella Choir of Concordia Teachers' College in Seward, Neb., presented a concert at Redeemer Lutheran Church Feb. 2 at 8 p. m. Paul Rosel is the director of this group.

The concert was open to the public and a free will offering was taken. The choir was brought here by the Rev. Robert J. Werberig, pastor of Redeemer Lutheran. Robert L. Buchner, choirmaster and organist at that church and a member of the music department of Centenary College, was in charge of the arrangements.

Paul Rosel did graduate work in music at Northwestern University. He later spent one year at the University of Freiburg in Germany doing research in Lutheran Music.

A highspot of the choral program was the presentation of a new work by Jan Bender, "Salvation Unto Us Has Come", with strings and harpsichord.

This is the choir's fourteenth year as a touring group. They appeared here in the course of a tour through seven states.

By CAROL REICHEL

The one and only Tommy Hickcox is now pinned to Lorena Young.

Centenary students returned from restful mid-term holidays to throw a few last snowballs and begin a new semester of classes. In the hustle and bustle of final exams, Bobby Ross gave Joy Camerer his Kappa Sigma fraternity pin. Congratulations!

Sandra Stokes is now wearing Tommy Brewerton's Kappa Alpha pin.

Ann Sherman and Joe Ben LeGrone have announced their engagement.

We welcome two Texans to dormitory life. They are Nancy Minter and Kay King. Both have been living in town.

Congratulations to all the Greek pledges who made their grades.

We would like to extend a great big welcome to all the transfer students this semester. Some of the new faces at Centenary are Peggy Purdue, Ann Young, Aurora Barriga, Glennie Scott.

We understand that George Gilmer, Bob Edler and Al Pius had a fine trip to Mexico during the holidays.

Carol Hanna and Nancy Minter are the only freshmen living in James Dorm. Plans are now being made to install a switchboard so that they can keep phone duty.

We understand that Sandy Lawn had a very nice birthday. Huh Sandy?

Ann McLaurin and Jane Ilgenfritz started off the holidays in New Orleans at the Med school Cadaver Ball.

In case you wonder about the arm bands being worn by the Jongleurs, it is part of their pledging procedure. The local group is in the process of becoming the national speech and drama fraternity, Alpha Psi Omega.

Youth Hostels Planned

For those adventurous students who would like a really different way to spend the summer, American Youth Hostels is planning a number of tours for the summer of '61.

The American Youth Hostels is a non-profit organization dedicated to the furtherance of international understanding through low cost educational travel. This travel covers both America and Europe.

Costs are kept to a minimum through the use of overnight shelters known as youth hostels. Trip prices are all-inclusive.

AYH tours range from a four-week trip through New England at $170 to a 5-week trip through the Western National Parks at $360 to a low-budgeted tour of England, Belgium, and The Netherlands for $585.

The unostentatious AYH program puts world travel within the reach of every energetic young American.

Lyndra Pate and Mary Allen Journey to Washington, D.C.

Two Centenary girls were representatives to the Annual Louisiana State Society Mardi Gras Ball in Washington, D. C., on February 11. They were Lyndra Pate and Mary Allen.

Lyndra was one of the 26 "queens" attending from the various state festivals of Louisiana. She was the North Louisiana Cotton Queen last October and is also currently holding the titles of Princess of Holiday in Dixie, and Miss Centenary. Mary Allen, representing the Townhouse Ball of Lafayette at which she reigned as queen, was one of the 13 "maids" at the Ball. Mary was also crowned queen of the Centenary Mardi Gras Court last year. All queens and maids were sent to Washington, D. C. by the Louisiana State Festival Association.

Mama Nick Chaperones

Each year two official chaperones are selected by the Festival Association and this year Mrs. Fannie Lee Nichols, Student Activities Director at Centenary, accompanied the girls to Washington as one of these two chaperones. Mrs. Abshire, from the Dairy Festival, was the other chaperone.

The Centenary delegation left Wednesday morning, February 8, at 6 o'clock and went to Baton Rouge where they were guests, along with other Festival representatives, of Governor Jimmie Davis at the Governor's Mansion for lunch.

From Baton Rouge, the group flew to New Orleans where they were guests of International House from 5-7 p. m. at a tea. Brennon's Restaurant was host to the queens and maids for dinner and the Babylon-Mardi Gras Parade was viewed from there.

Girls Tour Washington

Thursday morning the representatives were met at the plane in Washington by congressional dignitaries. Friday morning included a tour of Washington which ended at the Capitol Building for a luncheon with congressmen and state officials of Louisiana in the old U. S. Supreme Court Room. That evening the queens and maids were entertained at a dinner-dance at the Shoreham Hotel.

Saturday afternoon the girls attended a coke party given by Mr. G. M. Anderson and were each presented with a gift memento of the occasion. Mr. Anderson, a member of the Centenary College Board of Trustees, ruled as King of the Mardi Gras Ball, which was held that night. Reigning as Queen of the Ball was Anne Long, daughter of Russell Long. She was escorted that night by Hank Anderson, who has just transferred this semester to Centenary. Escorts for the queens and maids were all cadets from Annapolis.

Lyndra and Mary returned to campus after the week of gala activities on Sunday, February 12.

Favorites, Centenary Lady and Gent to be Chosen at Polls Today

Today, February 13, from 8:00 until 2:00, the polls will be open in the SUB for all students to vote for Centenary Lady and Gentleman and for Class Favorites. Nominations were made by the student body on the back of their chapel cards at chapel last Thursday. Runoffs which result from today's balloting will be decided by a second vote to be held this Wednesday, February 14.

ODK Announces Semester's Films

Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary service organization for college men, will sponsor the showing of several movies in the coming month.

The movies will be shown in the Moore Student Center, and admission price will be only 10 cents — a small cost for an evening of good entertainment. Students are encouraged to support the O.D.K.'s in their project.

The purpose of this project is to raise money to aid in sending a representative from the local chapter at Centenary to the National O.D.K. Convention.

The schedule for the films is as follows:

Feb. 23 — "A Star is Born".

Mar. 9 — "Pride and Prejudice" (all Sophomore English Literature students are required to see it).

Mar. 23 — "Rebel Without a Cause".

Simmons' Work Exhibited In Sub

The senior art exhibit of Keith J. Simmons opened Sunday, February 5, in the Moore Student Center and remained in place through Sunday, February 12.

Simmons has twice obtained honorable mention at sidewalk art shows here in conjunction with the Holiday in Dixie festival.

The senior exhibit is required of all candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts with a major in art at Centenary.

Mardi Gras Plans Near Completion

While New Orleans is immersed in the fun and frivolity of this time of year, Centenary will be celebrating its own Mardi Gras this Saturday, February 18 at 7:30 p. m. in Haynes Gym. The dance, to be conducted in the tradition established at last year's ball, is being sponsored by the Freshman class.

The queen and her court were announced in last week's Conglomerate with the exception of the Junior Maid, Diane Caldwell, and her escort, Tim Temple, who were chosen at a late election. For the presentation of the court the girls will wear long white dresses, long white gloves, and tiaras which they will make for themselves. Escorts for the maids and princesses will wear black tuxedos. Leonard Riggs will portray the court jester and there will be several pages, who will be announced later. Confetti, bouquets of flowers, and "champagne" will add to the Mardi Gras atmosphere as the revelers dance to the music of the Music Masters.

Committee Heads Named

Freshman class officers, Mike Sport, Joan Williams, Sandra Stkoes, and Don Adair, are in charge of all Mardi Gras plans. Committees for the dance are as follows: Stage, headed by Don Adair and assisted by Miss Alexander; Lighting, Beverly Smith; Tables, Larry Cowley and Rodney Hart; Costumes, Joan Williams; Publicity, Maury Johnston; Refreshments, Nancy Lecky and Nancy Thigpen; Reservations, Mike Sport and Don Adair; Tickets, Doug Howard and Jimmy Williams; and Program, Sandra Stokes.

All students are urged to make their reservations for the dance in Mama Nick's office or with any Freshman Class officer.

Centenary Band To Sponsor Dance

The Centenary College Band will sponsor a dance in the Moore Student Center Friday night, February 17, from eight-thirty until twelve o'clock. The dance is informal and open to all Centenary students. The price of admission will be fifty cents.

This is the first year that the College Band has actually formed a dance band and planned to play for a campus dance. Mr. Causey, director of the band, expressed the hope that a Centenary College dance band will become a regular feature on campus.

The band will eventually be composed of eleven men from the Centenary Band. Playing in the band Friday night will be Eddie Copeland, Jimmie Perkins, David Swearingen, Clyde McCarty, Dick Tubbs, Bill Prince, Bob Moore, Freddie Peters, and three faculty members: Mr. Causey, and Mr. and Mrs. Rule Beasley. The dance band will specialize in playing modern jazz and modern swing.

It is hoped that the Centenary Students will give their support to this dance for two reasons. First, a Centenary dance band would be an added attraction on campus, and enlarge the entertainment possibilities of the Student Center; and secondly, the band is sponsoring this dance in an effort to present the Centenary student body with a free Spring Band Concert.

Plan to include the Band Dance on your activities of next weekend!

Mickle Will Head Delegation to ETBC

President Joe J. Mickle will head a delegation of three Centenary College officials at the February 16 ceremonies marking the inauguration of Dr. Howard Clifton Bennett as president of East Texas Baptist College in Marshall, Texas.

Dr. Mickle will serve as the official representative of the Association of American Colleges. He was invited to represent the association by Theodore A. Distler, executive director of the organization. Dr. Leroy Vogel, dean of Centenary, will serve as official representative of Centenary, and Dr. J. Howard Allen, dean of students, will represent Union College of Barbourville, Kentucky, where he earned his AB degree.

"Critique" Publishes Article by Dr. Labor

Dr. Earle Labor, assistant professor of English at Centenary College, is the author of an article, "Henry Green's Web of Loving", which appears in the current issue of "Critique: Studies in Modern Fiction".

The scholarly quarterly is a publication of the University of Minnesota. Dr. Labor's article is an analysis of Green's novel, "Loving", and gives a definitive interpretation of the complex novel. Green, one of the outstanding contemporary British novelists, still is little known in the United States.

"Rivalry" Casting To Begin Today

Casting for the Norman Corwin play, "The Rivalry", will take place today and Tuesday at the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse of Centenary College.

Orlin Corey, head of the department of drama and speech on the local campus, said production of the drama will mark the first contribution of the department to the American Civil War Centennial which opened on a nation-wide basis in January of this year.

The drama, which starred Richard Boone in the Broadway production, revolves around the Lincoln-Douglas debates of 1858. Corey termed the play "a natural for the Civil War Centennial, a classic statement of the issues and ideas of both unfortunate sides and a timeless thriller".

Corey will direct the production, and setting and costume designs will be by Mrs. Corey, who has been designer for all of the previous productions this session at the Playhouse. An all-student cast will perform.

All positions from roles to technical positions in costume, box office, construction, lighting, and music, are available. All Centenary students are eligible to apply. Tryout times will be from 2:00 p. m. until 4:30 p. m., each day.

"The Merry Wives of Windsor" Reviewed

By CHARLES HEMBREE

William Shakespeare mixed comic wit with fortune-seeking designs and indignant jealousy to create The Merry Wives of Windsor, a play which shows how absurd notions and dishonest schemes are frustrated, and illustrates the stabilizing force of fidelity in love. This comedy involves one complication of plot after another; the action moves rapidly and the language is charged with puns.

The production of Merry Wives by The Jongleurs of Centenary, directed by Professor Orlin Corey, employed extensive make-up and elaborate but realistic and authentic costuming to re-create Shakespeare's image of comedy and drama in the Elizabethan town of Windsor. The set design was influenced by the construction of the Elizabethan stage.

The Centenary production of Shakespeare's comedy omitted certain value, which seemed to speed up the action, and make for a clearer and more entertaining stage production for a modern audience. This five-act play was presented with a fifteen-minute intermission, during which a group of lovely English folk songs kept alive the spirit of Elizabethan times.

George Bryan rendered a spirited interpretation of the role of Sir John Falstaff, the central comic figure in the play. Lorena Young, as Mrs. Quickly, gave to her portrayal of this delicate role just the right realistic touch; she remained always "in character", never over-playing her part. Bob Shy, playing Mr. Ford, maintained throughout his performance a convincing air of puritanical righteous indignation. Ray Chabeau was remarkable as Dr. Caius for his brilliant French accent and comic gestures. He and David Gibson, as Sir Hugh Evans helped enliven the action with a few moments of earnest swordplay. These and other equally fine performances, with efficient lighting and technical sound effects made this Jongleur production of two hours and fifteen minutes, including intermission, thoroughly entertaining.

Choir Tour Is A Big Success

The Centenary Choir has just returned from its annual mid-semester tour, termed "highly successful" by director Cheesy Voran.

Leaving after final exams, the group sang in fifteen southern Louisiana and southeast Texas towns, representing Centenary College and Shreveport as Singing Ambassadors. The towns in which concerts were presented in order of performance were as follows: Hammond; Bogalusa; Lake Charles; New Orleans; Houma; Berwick; De Ridder; Sulphur, Beaumont, Texas; Welsh, New Iberia, Crowley, Jennings, Lafayette, and Baton Rouge.

In most of the performances, both sacred and secular numbers were used and the Choir made three costume changes. In Beaumont, Sulphur, Lafayette and New Orleans, however, entire sacred programs were presented in Methodist churches.

The Choir traveled by bus, driven for the tenth year by seasoned tour driver, C. C. Arnold. Wardrobes, suitcases and other equipment were taken separately in a truck. Housing at each of the stops was one of the most interesting parts of the trip; each evening choir roommates stayed in the homes of families in the community where they were singing, a situation which offered a wide variety of experiences and often lasting acquaintances. Only in New Orleans did the Choir stay in a hotel.

The tour was not a trip of all work and no play. At their stop in Berwick, the Choir was taken aboard an intracoastal cargo freighter belonging to the Tidex, Inc. and ferried to the Point Au Fer lighthouse reef, which marks the beginning of the Gulf of Mexico below Berwick. For several of the Choir people, it was their first "voyage". Having arrived back in Berwick, the Choir was treated to a boiled shrimp and gumbo banquet, another first for some of the northern-born singers.

Kappa Sigmas Elect Spring Semester Officers

The new Kappa Sigma officers for the spring semester are Jay Lang, Grand Master; David Graham, Grand Procurator; Fred Schwendimann, Grand Master of Ceremonies; Bob Ross, Grand Scribe; Buddy Hawkins, Grand Treasurer; and Tim Temple, Pledge Master.

Jay is a senior from Shreveport majoring in pre-dental and will attend Loyola in New Orleans next fall. David Graham is also a senior from Shreveport who is a pre-med major. He has served as a member of the Intramural Council this year. Fred Schwendimann, a junior from Coushatta, served last semester as pledge master, and has also received many honors on campus. He is Chief Justice of the Honor Court and was a member of Who's Who in American colleges. Bob Ross and Buddy Hawkins are both Sophomore business majors from Texarkana, Ark. Bobby is Business Manager of the Conglomerate and has served as Social Chairman for the fraternity. Tim Temple, a senior Education major from Leesville, is president of the Junior class and NEA.

Along with its new officers, the house has also taken on a new look. The Sigs have added new curtains, furniture, and a fire place.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

Editors' Notes

Coining the phrase of Coach Sigler, "This is the Gents' 'must' month". This is also a "must" month for sportsmanship at Centenary. During the past few games, the Gent fans have been displaying a perverted form of support for their team. Instead of yelling for the Gents, they have devoted their energies to heckling the other teams. This embarrasses our players and should embarrass all Centenary fans who have any conception of the ingredients of good sportsmanship.

All those fans who journeyed to Tech last weekend may have noted the courteous reception that the Gent team was accorded. There was no booing or other disturbances emitting from the Tech fans during the moments the Gents spent at the free throw line.

During this month everyone should make an effort to go to all of the home games and support the Gents in a manner which will make them proud of the school that they represent.

M. L. J.

Centenary students need to consider carefully the appearance they have presented at the two last Lyceum programs in particular. As the last number on the program nears its close, the balcony seats become the site of much commotion as a mass stampede of students heads for the nearest exit, passing their chapel cards on the way out to the nearest Maroon Jacket. The performers on the program conclude their act and execute their final bows to a retreating, disinterested balcony audience.

True, the last two Lyceums have been unusually long and this factor can contribute to the possible growing disinterest of many members of the audience, but it is never an excuse for rudeness! Are Centenary College students like little children whose hands must be slapped to keep them quiet when they become restless?

Gents Blast Tech, 58-45

By MIKE RAMMING

At approximately 9:30 P. M. on February 4, 1961, a horn sounded in the Louisiana Tech Gymnasium ending the game that saw the Gents drub their pine cone rivals from Ruston by a decisive margin of 58-45. This was the first Gent win over the Bulldogs on the Tech floor since 1956.

Using a very potent 1-3-1 zone defense the Maroons caused the Tech offense to bog down considerably, forcing the Techsters to take poor percentage shots from the outside. Meanwhile, the Gents led by the scintillating hook shots of Dale Van Bibber and the rebounding of Jackie Crawford were piling up the points on their side of the scoreboard.

Leading 27-21 at the half, the Gentlemen encountered their only real danger of the evening when the Bulldogs came roaring back with the start of the second half to close the gap to four points before Centenary's Dale Van Bibber hit on two quick shots to take the noise out of the Bulldog bark. The Gents moved ahead with nothing but clear sailing the rest of the way as they remained calm through the pressing tactics of Louisiana Tech during the closing minutes of play.

Dale Van Bibber led all scorers with 18 tallies, followed by Jackie Crawford who contributed an even dozen. Crawford passed up several open shots to feed big Harry Wuennenberg standing unmolested under the basket. Harry added nine markers to the Gent scoring total. This was a game Gent players and fans won't forget for a long time. They brought the net home to help them remember.

Intramural Basketball Opens

The men's intramural basketball season opened recently with a field of 8 teams. Organizations represented are: M.S.M., Golden Pheasants, Kappa Alpha, Kappa Sigma, Faculty, and K.K.K.

A team of faculty members is participating in the basketball program. This colorful squad won an impressive victory in their opening game over one of the league's stronger clubs. The faculty attack has produced such roundball talent as Dean Allen, Mr. Joel Thomas, and Coach Mooty. The men's intramural program is now under the direction of Mr. Ray Timm who replaces Larry Gates, now serving in the armed forces.

Meet The Gents

Probably the biggest human in these parts, Harry Wuennenberg stands six feet, nine inches, weighs over two hundred pounds and is still growing. The big fellow is destined to play a key roll in what appears to be a brilliant future for the Centenary basketball team.

The big St. Louisan has improved even more than the most optimistic Gent fans had hoped he would. Last week in the Gents victory over Louisiana Tech Harry clearly showed that he has arrived as a genuine varsity performer capable of using his great height to break up any ball game where rebounding strength is needed. The Crane Embryo showed great improvement as a shooter as he dumped in nine counters for the Gents, his high production of the season as a scorer. If he continues the determination to improve Harry could very possibly become one of the finest pivotmen ever corralled in the Gent stables. Only a sophomore, he will have two more big seasons to create headaches for the Gents opposition.

O.T.S. Interview Set For Today

Captain Caldwell, WAF Officer Specialist, and Lt. Sissell, male Officer Selection Specialist, will be on campus Tuesday, February 14, to interview interested graduates and seniors for the Air Force Officer Training School.

S-Sgt. Dick Anders, local Air Force Recruitor, will man a display in the Moore Student Center and set up interviews for the selection officers, who will occupy Room 105 in the Student Center.

The officers will be available for interview between the hours of 9 a. m. and 12 noon.

Those desiring appointments should contact Sgt. Anders in Room 421, Main Post Office, or call 424-6189; in the evening hours call 422-0916.

Literature concerning the O.T.S. (Officer Training School) program may be requested from Sgt. Anders.

Drummond's Centenary Girl of The Month

Mardi Gras time is here again and Centenary will be celebrating this tradition with their own Mardi Gras Ball. Featured in the court will be Miss Barbara Bourdier, senior maid. Barbara has been active in the Centenary Choir, where she is currently serving as Co-Ed Vice-President. She is also Panhellenic representative to the Student Senate and serves her sorority, Zeta Tau Alpha, as music chairman.

Barbara will be one of the few seniors who will graduate next spring with two degrees. She will receive a B.A. in English and a B.S. in Business.

The Centenary Girl of the Month was chosen by a committee of one member from each of the Greek organizations on campus and two independent representatives. This committee meets each month and selects a girl on the basis of her outstanding accomplishments during the preceding or current month.

Fred Schwendimann offers a great big "heart" to Carol Reichelt. However, Carol contends that "little things" mean the most. (Note the pin!)

Cupid Claims Carol and Fred

By MELANIE MARTIN

Despite sleet and chilling rain, it is spring when a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of Valentine's Day. Cupid has been at work on the Centenary campus and his latest victims are Carol Reichelt and Fred Schwendimann, who became officially pinned Sunday, Feb. 5. Or, as Fred puts it, "I bit the dust".

Carol and Fred, both "real square-heads" (Germans), have dated each other almost exclusively since their freshman year. Carol says they met in Latin class, but Fred tells a different story. "One day I was walking across campus and I ran into a girl with Carol written on her beanie. I said 'Hi Carol' and she (glancing at my beanie) said 'Hi Fred'. That's really how we met."

Their first date was to the Fifty Years in Shreveport Celebration. Actually it was a triple date, Carol, Fred, and the cast Fred had on his arm at that time. "Have you ever tried dancing with a cast?" laughed Carol.

The cast also caused some discomfort for Carol at Kangaroo Kourt. She was forced to wear a sign saying "I'm in favor of the 'cast' system".

Choir Widow

Carol and Fred attribute their long romance to the fact that they never see each other. "You would be surprised how seldom you fight with someone you never see," quipped Fred. Carol is a member of the club known as "The choir widows". But I'll never complain again," she laughed, "because Fred gave me his pin right after he got back from tour this year."

"One time," said Carol, "I left Fred at school by himself (it is usually the other way around) for a weekend, and he had a date with someone else. Just recently we were driving in his new Volkswagon and he said, 'Hey, Carol, remember, when we came and looked at these cars last year?' I didn't remember because I'd never been there. He's learned to be more careful now."

Cupid had to be fleet of foot to catch Fred and Carol as they both dash madly around the campus. Fred has held the office of pledge trainer of Kappa Sigma fraternity and is currently serving as Grand Master of Ceremonies. He is active in the choir, Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, Alpha Chi and ODK. In between these few activities he serves as Chief Justice of the Honor Court and has remained on the Dean's List since he entered Centenary.

Carol actively serves in Cencoe, NEA, MSM, Chi Omega sorority and writes for the Conglomerate. She has also served as secretary of her Freshman class and was a maid in the Mardi Gras Court.

Fred Schwendimann Pinned?

Only one thing has been bothering Carol. She doesn't know how to announce her changed status in her column. Maybe I should say "Congratulations to Fred Schwendimann on being Pinned".

Note. If any readers have noticed that Carol is quoted in this article more than Fred, it is due to the fact that Fred disappeared right in the middle of the interview. Fred's pledge class were so thrilled that Fred was pinned that they took Fred, feet first, on a little celebration trip. We understand that this is the first time that Fred has been late for choir.

Hats

The recipient of "Hats Off" this week is a member of both the Conglomerate and Yoncopin staffs. His services are indispensable to both staffs as he is the photographer for all pictures in the two publications. In addition to taking the pictures he also develops them in his own dark-room. He has recently begun developing his own color prints and making portrait shots.

His talent in photography is utilized in many other fields at Centenary as well, since he acts as photographer for all publicity pictures of the school. He is also a member of The Jongleurs and Alpha Psi Omega and takes all pictures of Centenary's plays.

As a physics major, he is making plans now to become either a science or fashion photographer and practices taking moving picture shots as well. His hobby is traveling in his MG and collecting pictures of famous sights. This summer he plans to go to Alaska and camp out along the way while taking pictures, of course.

His job demands a lot of his own time and certainly taxes his patience. Pictures are mandatory for each of the publications in gross numbers and he is always on hand to do the job for both.

So for his cooperation in all aspects of life at Centenary dependent on his pictures, we take hats off to . . . Jerry Mitchell.

The spring semester is really underway. The choir has returned from a successful choir tour, final class changes have been made and studying has begun.

The Kappa Alpha's began the semester in grand style by initiating nine pledges. Those initiated were Rodney Hart, Eric Bishop, Larry Jones, John Frazier, John Vasilopoulos, Ford King, Robert Hawkins, Bill McCaa and Don Townsend. Congratulations all you new Kappa Alpha actives!

The Kappa Sigmas started off the semester by pledging Billy Eubanks, Willard Moore, and Fred Peters last Tuesday night. Congratulations to both actives and new pledges.

Centenary is proud of the Gents on their win over Louisiana Tech. Two busses of fans followed the Gents to Ruston and brought back the "Goal".

New Orleans and Mardi Gras attracted Gayle Williams and Suzanne King this weekend.

Congratulations to Jim Oldson who is dropped to Mary Linhares from U.S.L. Geneva Jones is now wearing

A.T.O. drop letters from L.S.U. Also William Patterson and Elsa Roquin are now pinned.

New Kappa Sigma officers for the spring semester are Jay Lang, G. M. David Graham — vice-president, Buddy Hawkins — Treasurer, Bobby Ross — Secretary, Tim Temple — Pledge master and Fred Schwendimann — G.M.C.

Mary Allen and Lyndra Pate journeyed to Washington, D. C. for the Annual Louisiana State Mardi Gras. Hope you had a good time girls.

Congratulations to new Zeta pledges Peggy Pardue, Diane Caldwell and Jackie Rosett.

Ed. Note: The girl who writes the news has just made some herself. Congratulations are in order for Fred Schwendimann who gave his Kappa Sigma pin to Carol Reichelt. Choir tours do make the heart grow fonder!

"Who will be 'Miss Centenary' of 1961?" is the question foremost in the minds of Yoncopin Co-Editors, Margaret Reeves and Gene LaCaze. Their long hours of hard work will be rewarded Friday night with the climax of the first "Miss Centenary Pageant".

Pageant Judges Selected; Rules, Schedule Announced

The six judges who will select "Miss Centenary" and her court have been announced by Gene LaCaze and Margaret Reeves, co-editors of the Yoncopin.

These will include: Mr. David Kent, chairman of the judges; Miss Martha Condra, Mrs. Lillian Stovall, Mr. Winston B. Linam, Mr. Gordan A. May, and Mr. Arthur C. Morgan.

Mr. Kent resides in Shreveport and is the producer of both the Queen Holiday in Dixie and "Miss Shreveport" pageants.

Miss Condra is from Ruston and is Dean of Women at Louisiana Polytechnical Institute.

Mrs. Stovall, Shreveport, is Director of Stovall school of Dance and has worked with young women for many years.

Mr. Linam, Shreveport, is President of K.S.L.A. Television and is a Past President of "Holiday in Dixie".

Mr. May, Shreveport, is President of the Journal Printing Company and also serves Centenary College as the current President of the Centenary Gents Club.

Mr. Morgan, also of Shreveport, is Director of the Southwestern Institute of Arts.

The judges were selected on the basis of the rules set up for the choice of the national panel of judges for the "Miss America" contest. They represent the fields of Art, Dance, Education, Festival, Music, Newspaper, Radio and Television.

Program

Thursday, Feb. 23, 1961:

2:00 p. m. to 4:00 p. m. A Tea will be held in the living room of James Memorial Dormitory where the girls will first meet the judges. Dress for this occasion will be a suit or street dress, hat, gloves and heels.

5:00 to 6:00 p. m. The girls will attend a supper in the Centenary College Cafeteria, where they will be seated with the judges. Dress for this event can be the same as that worn to the tea. The girl or her sponsoring organization will be responsible for the supper if she does not live in the dormitory.

8:00 P. M. Preliminary judging will take place in the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse. Here the girls will be judged, in private, on talent and appearance in bathing suits (the color is optional). The ten talent finalists will perform on Friday night for the public audience. If a person is a talent finalist it does not necessarily mean she will be a contest finalist.

Friday, February 24, 1961:

8:00. Final judging will be held in the Marjorie Lyons playhouse. This will be open to the public and admission will be $1.00. Dress for this occasion will be a floor-length white evening dress, "Miss Centenary of 1961", The Princess (runner-up), "Miss Congeniality", and an honor

AED Initiates Four

Louisiana Gamma Chapter of Alpha Epsilon Delta, the honorary pre-medical society at Centenary, initiated four new members on Thursday, February 9.

Those initiated were: Joe Ben Hayes, a senior from Shreveport; Joel Johnson, sophomore from Shreveport; Kay King, sophomore from McAllen, Texas; and Keith Lloyd, sophomore from Minden. Joe Ben, Joel and Keith are all pre-medical students and Kay is majoring in medical technology.

In order to be eligible for AED, students must have completed three semesters of college work, maintained a 2.8 science average and 2.8 overall average, and have definitely decided to enter some medically related field.

Mardi Gras Court Entertainment By Centenary Students

Centenary's second annual Mardi Gras Ball, held in the gym Saturday, Feb. 18, 1961, was a crowning success from the presentation of the Queen, Anne McLaurin, and her court to the final strains of music emitting from the Music Masters.

The Queen was attended by her two pages, Glennie Scott and Patti McHugh, and entertained by a host of talent chosen from the Centenary Student body. Court jester Leonard Riggs, was also on hand to add to the merriment.

Variety Of Entertainment

Jack Mulkey, acting as master of ceremonies, ushered in a variety of entertainment for the pleasure of the court. Sandy Lawn and Glennie Scott each presented a piano solo and Bob Norris entertained with a vocal solo. A dance routine from "Pajama Game" was presented by Ray Chabeau and Ginger Darnell, while Ez Fater and Amy Matthews countered with a vocal duet from the same production. A trio composed of Jill Landis, Kay Cooper, and Butchie McCuiston, sang. Peggy Pardue entertained with a twirling routine and the program was climaxed with the last formal appearance of Lyndra Pate as Miss Centenary of 1960 as she sang a medley of "River Songs".

"Centenary Lady" and "Centenary Gentleman" come to life this year in the persons of Anne McLaurin and Ralph Mason who were selected by student vote in the final elections of last Wednesday.

McLaurin, Mason Chosen Centenary Lady, Gent

Anne McLaurin and Ralph Mason, seniors, will reign as Centenary Lady and Gentleman for 1960-61. They were elected in a campus-wide election and will be featured in the Yoncopin.

Anne, an education major, hails from Mansfield, La. She serves as Vice-president of Chi Omega Vice-president of the Student Senate, and is an alternate to the Honor Court. A member of Who's Who, Anne served as secretary of the sophomore class and president of the junior class. She also reigned as Queen of Mardi Gras.

Ralph, who comes from Selma, Alabama, is Vice-president of the student body and a member of the Varsity basketball team. Ralph has served as president and vice-president of Kappa Alpha and president of Rotary Hall. His other honors include Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior favorite, elected to Who's Who two years, and a member of ODK.

Eight students were elected to represent their classes as favorites. Senior favorites are Sandra Boddie and

Johns Represents State at Seminar

Dick Johns, junior, represented Louisiana and the Methodist Student Movement at the 12th Annual Christian Citizenship Seminar for Students in New York and Washington, February 5-8.

Methodist students from thirty-six states and six African nations met in New York from February 5-8 and in Washington from February 8-11 to learn about and discuss a current political problem. This year's topic was "Emerging African Nations and Their Impact on the United Nations and on American Foreign Policy".

While in New York, delegates met in the Inner Church Center and the United Nations building where they sat in on several sessions. Members of the United Nations and Christian leaders from African nations spoke to the group. In Washington representatives attended sessions of Congress and toured several embassies, including the Russian embassy. Panels and group discussions were held throughout the seminar.

Briefly summarizing the main points of the meeting, Johns said, "A vital part of Christian witness is Christian concern for political activities. The leaders of the United States need to feel that every Christian is behind them in their political endeavors. The African people don't want Communism, but if we neglect our Christian responsibility to help them, they will have to turn elsewhere for help."

Ten Initiated By Phi Beta

Having completed their pledgeship, 10 new members were initiated into Phi Beta Fraternity Tuesday evening, February 14. Alpha Iota is Centenary's chapter of Phi Beta, national women's professional fraternity in drama and music. Invitation to membership is extended to women outstanding in one or both of these fields who have maintained a favorable grade average.

The ceremony was conducted in the home of chapter member, Linda Rosett. President Edith Elliott and Pledge Trainer John Hillburn were in charge. Those received into the chapter were Myrna Collier, Kay Cooper, Linda Kay Ellington, Judy Kleinhans, Dollie Miller, Vicki Rapp, Annette Shirey, Elaine Sistrunk, Judy Smith, and Gail Southerland. Valentine refreshments were served the new initiates following the ceremony.

Shankland to Lecture To Physics Students

Dr. R. S. Shankland, Swasey Professor and Head of the Department of Physics at Case Institute of Technology, will serve as a visiting lecturer at Centenary College of Louisiana, Shreveport, Louisiana, on Thursday and Friday, February 23 and 24.

He will visit under the auspices of the American Association of Physics Teachers and the American Institute of Physics as part of a broad, nationwide program to stimulate interest in physics. The program is now in its fourth year and is supported by the National Science Foundation.

Lectures, informal discussions, assistance to faculty members concerning curriculum and research problems in physics, and talks with students will feature Dr. Shankland's visit. Arrangements for his visit will be made by Professor L. G. Raub, Head of the Department of Physics and Industrial Technology.

Dr. Shankland received the B.S. and M.S. degrees from Case, and the Ph.D. from the University of Chicago. He was a physicist at the National Bureau of Standards and has been at Case Institute since 1930 as a member of the faculty, receiving promotion to department head in 1941.

He was Director of the Underwater Sound Reference Laboratories of the National Defense Research Committee at Columbia University during World War II.

His field of research is the scattering of gamma rays, acoustics, underwater sound, atomic structure and nuclear physics. In May of 1960, Dr. Shankland became President of the Associated Midwest Universities.

The Show Will Go On

Over 15,000 hours were spent in the production of "The Merry Wives of Windsor"! More than 75 Centenary students were involved in this production! . . . Less than 175 students witnessed Shakespeare's "Windsor Town" alive for two hours and fifteen minutes!

What was missed . . . and who was missed?

Original costumes, "professional" sets, and quality acting exemplify what was seen and enjoyed by the small percentage of Centenary students who availed themselves to this delightful entertainment. They will attest its worth and try humbly to convince others . . . to see for themselves.

There is no need for a pep rally. The show will go on regardless of the nature of the audience. Past years have proved that the box office does not depend on Centenary student support. It doesn't now. However, it is well to keep in mind that with new planning, directing, and operation, the Playhouse has more to offer than ever before and is now open to all students, be they actors, technicians, or critics. To all those seeking a cultural as well as intellectual education . . . the old cliché . . . You don't know what you have, or . . . might, miss!

Student Request

Rodney Campbell
429 East Grandview Blvd.

Dear Editor:

I am a northern college student writing a research paper on the topic "The Feelings of the Southern College Students About Forced Integration."

There is very little documentation on this subject. The only way of obtaining this information is from the students themselves.

Since there is no way for me to obtain this information I am writing to you for assistance. I would appreciate it very much if you would publish in your school paper the following request.

I would like to have the students write me, at the above address, telling me their feelings about forced integration and why they feel the way they do. I would like to know if they dislike the Negroes and the reasons why or why not. I would also like to know the age and state of residence of each student.

The success of my paper depends on my obtaining an answer from as many students as possible. It also depends on my receiving the answers as soon as possible.

Thanks to you and all the students who help me in writing my paper.

Yours truly,
Rodney Campbell

The Pep Squad is sponsoring a Maroon and White Day to be held Tuesday, February 21 in honor of the Gent tilt with the Tech Bulldogs. All Pep Squad members will wear their uniforms and all students are asked to wear something Maroon and white to honor the Gents.

The night watchman wishes to thank the four basketball players who donated blood to his wife prior to her recent operation.

English Proficiency Test Scheduled for Feb. 22

The English Proficiency Test will be given on Wednesday, Feb. 22 from 7:50 to 9:50 A. M. in Room 114 of the Science Building.

The following people must take the test:

1. All juniors who did not have a B average in Freshman English.
2. All seniors who did not take the test as juniors or who failed the test.

Under present policy, no sophomore may take the Test.

The passing of this test is a requirement for graduation. All students who take the test should bring with them to the examination room pen, ink, lined notebook paper, and a dictionary.

For additional information see Dr. Lee Morgan of the English Department.

court of six maids will be chosen and will be featured in the beauty section of the Yoncopin.

Rules

1. All entrants must be single and must never have been married.
2. All entrants must be sponsored by some campus organization.
3. "Miss Centenary" entrants will be judged as to talent, beauty, personality, and poise.
4. "Miss Centenary", Princess (runner-up), "Miss Congeniality", and honor court of six will be chosen.
5. All entrants must be students regularly enrolled at Centenary College, carrying 12 or more hours, and must not be on probation.
6. There is no public bathing contest in connection with the "Miss Centenary Pageant". Only the judges and officials of the contest will be present.
7. Each entrant is required to perform some talent feature for the judges and (if chosen) for the public during the talent finals. This may be a musical number, a dramatic reading, tap dance, baton twirling, art display, modeling, or any other talent, suitable for presentation. Each contestant is limited to approximately three minutes performance time.

The winner, "Miss Centenary of 1961" will be entered this spring into the "Miss Louisiana Pageant" at Lake Providence, Louisiana, representing Centenary College. If at any time it becomes impossible for "Miss Centenary" to retain her title, the Princess will become "Miss Centenary".

Miss Centenary will receive a rhine-stone encrusted crown and a large trophy signifying the honor of her title.

The "Princess", "Miss Congeniality", and the winners in the divisions of talent, bathing suit and evening dress competition will receive prizes.

Public Invited

Students and faculty are invited to watch the finals and the crowning of "Miss Centenary" on Friday evening, February 24, 1961. Tickets, which are on sale today, can be purchased from Mrs. Nick's office, from any Yoncopin staff member, or from any of the contestants. Tickets will sell at $1.00 each.

35 Entered In Pageant

To date there have been 35 girls entered in the pageant. The contestants include the following:

Darlynn Gilbert, Betsy Gould, Becky Graham, Suzanne King, Nancy Lecky, Anne McLaurin, Jo Ann Mills, Peggy Pardue, Lyndra Pate, Gerry Rawlinson, Judy Rhodes, Dorothy Risinger, Linda Rosett, Judy Smith, Nancy Stobaugh, Frankie Stokes, Sandra Stokes, Anita Thomasson, and Betty Turner.

The entire pageant, under the direction of Mrs. Nichols, has been and will be conducted according to the national rules of "Miss America pageants."

The Honor Court met Wednesday, Feb. 8, reaching the decisions of two convictions and one acquittal.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

Student Senate Minutes

The Student Senate Meeting was held in the Moore Student Center at 5:45, Wednesday, February 8. The meeting was called to order by the President, Jim Daigle. Others present were Anne McLaurin, Ralph Mason, Brenda Bailey, James Goins, Jean Netterville, G. B. Watson, Barbara Bourdier, Don Tyler, Buddy Daily, Tim Temple, Yogi Ferrari, Mike Sport, Dr. Morgan and Miss Alexander. Visitors: Sarah Liberto, Annette Shirey, and John Williams.

Sarah Liberto, president of Aufait, came to see if Aufait could give a Garden Party for the seniors on the day of commencement. The Senate said this would not conflict with plans for the day and thought it was a wonderful idea.

John Williams, president of Alpha Chi, stated there would be an Alpha Chi Convention on Centenary Campus the weekend of April 7 and 8. John wanted to know if the Alpha Chi guests could come to the Vaudeville Show. After lengthy discussion a motion was made and seconded that the 90-100 Alpha Chi members be admitted as guests on Friday, April 7. This motion passed.

Tryouts for the Vaudeville Show will be held Wednesday and Thursday, April 22 and 23, 7:00-9:00 in the Music Hall. All students are urged to enter this. The director will be Bob Shy and the Supervisor for the production will be George Bryan. Jack Mulkey was asked to be Master of Ceremonies. From a list of suggestions, a motion was made and seconded to have "That's Entertainment" as the Vaudeville theme. This motion passed.

Yogi Ferrari is to contact Mrs. Rodgers and James Goins is to contact Abe Goldberg concerning the Nameband Dance for April 8. There being no further business the meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
Brenda Bailey

MEET THE GENTS

By MIKE RAMMING

Don "Dusty" Ensley has been called by many, the most colorful Gent cage performer since Milton "Chief" Williams, the full blooded Alabama Indian, who achieved All-American honors at Centenary three years ago. Ensley's crowd pleasing style of play stems from his exciting ball stealing antics and sparkling defensive play. While not a great scoring threat from outside, the speedy sophomore backcourt operator from Joplin, Missouri, has more than held his own in the scoring department, averaging around nine points per contest. Dusty has surprised everyone with his uncanny ability to outbottle men much taller than himself on the backboards. The 6' 2" Ensley is currently averaging seven rebounds an outing which is impressive boardwork for a man Don's size.

The "Duster" who is always joking off the court is a deadly serious competitor on the basketball floor. Possessing great speed, Don will be called on for several years to lead the Gent fast break in overpowering the Maroons intercollegiate roundball foes.

Teagarden to Present Paper At Georgetown

Dr. Jack Teagarden will present a paper entitled, "Ever Acting, Always Idle", at the annual meeting of the South Central Renaissance Conference at Georgetown University, Georgetown, Texas.

The organization is a branch of the Southern Humanities Conference. The two-day program will take place on the Georgetown campus on Friday and Saturday, March 10 and 11. Dr. Teagarden will appear on the program of the opening day's session. He contends that the attacks made by Puritans on the actors of their day was three-pronged — social, moral and economic.

Chi O Pledges Plan Bridge Tournament

The Chi Omega Pledge Class has announced its pledge project for this year, a Bridge Tournament to be held on Saturday, March 4, from 1:30 until 4:30 in the Student Center. Adult and student tickets are being sold at $1.00 and $.50 respectively, and the actual players will be separated into adult and student groups.

Games will be played by duplicate tournament rules and prizes will be awarded to those having the highest score at the end of the afternoon. All rules and procedures will be explained in detail by an experienced adult, who will act as the official in charge of the program. Refreshments will be served as the afternoon proceeds and high and low prizes will be awarded when everyone has finished his game.

Committee chairmen who have been designated for the affair are as follows: Advertising, Bejie Sandlin and Gail Walker; Tickets, Betty Jean Campbell; Circulation, Susanne King; Refreshments, Geneva Jones; Program, Louis Thayer and Gayle Williams; and Prizes, Juanita Donelson.

Dr. Pomeroy to Speak On "J. B." in El Dorado

Dr. Webb Pomeroy, head of the department of religion at Centenary College, will be a guest speaker at the Family Night observance of the First Methodist Church of El Dorado, Ark., on Wednesday, Feb. 22.

Dr. Pomeroy will speak on the Book of Job in the light of the Broadway play, "J.B.", which is based on the Biblical book.

Tuesday, Feb. 21 at 10:30 all N.E.A. members are to meet in S114 for a business meeting and to have their pictures taken for the Yoncopin.

Gentlets Tout 10-3 Mark

Centenary's aggressive freshmen cagers ran their season mark to ten wins against three losses with a great victory over the Northwestern State junior varsity, 56-50.

Stan McAfoos hitting time and again on jumping one handers from twenty feet away, provided the scoring punch for the Gentlets. Cecil Upshaw contributed thirteen counters to the Frosh cause.

In the rebounding department Bosier City's Dennis Kile showed the way as he pulled down a dozen rebounds followed by Upshaw with ten and McAfoos' nine. The Frosh were mighty proud of this one as the Junior Demons had previously defeated them twice this season.

To date the brunt of the Frosh attack has rested on the shoulders of McAfoos, Upshaw, Williams, Kile, and Pippen. Valuable spot duty has been provided by Jackie Jackson, R. V. Lockwood, and Alan Ford.

The Gentlets will have chance for revenge against the Junior Bulldogs of Louisiana Tech this week. The Bullpups are the only team on the Frosh schedule that they have not defeated at least once. The other remaining games on the Freshmen schedule will stack them up against the likes of the Northwestern State junior varsity and the Northeast State junior varsity. This could very well be the most successful Centenary Freshmen Team since its birth only three years ago. The 1959-60 Freshmen had a 14-6 record on the season.

Princess Speaks To History Class

Princess Catherine Caradja from Rumania, spoke to the History of England class on Friday, Feb. 12. The subject of her speech was "Life Behind the Iron Curtain".

The Princess lived under Communist domination for eight years before she escaped to the outside world. While Romania was involved in its struggle for freedom, she cared for 3,000 Romanian children through her orphanage. Princess Catherine was slowly relieved of her position of head of the orphanage and was stripped of her property. When she learned that she was booked for imprisonment she made a miraculous escape aided by her daughter who had gone before her.

She has made over 160 talks in France and has spoken over the BBC network. The Princess has been living in the U. S. for nearly four years during which time she has spoken in 48 states.

Humdrum Or Hilarious?

By MELANIE MARTIN

The routine of classes and activities at Centenary seems almost boring and humdrum to those of us who have been here for at least a semester, but for those who have recently arrived on campus, this "routine" can be filled with amusing and sometimes agonizing surprises.

This week's personalities, all newly-arrived transfer students, have revealed some interesting ups-and-downs in their very short life at Centenary.

Roberta Glenn "Glennie" Scott, a second semester freshman from De-Queen, Arkansas, attended Rice University in Houston, Texas last semester and is now at Centenary because "Rice just doesn't offer music, which I've decided to make my major." According to Glennie, "I had my funniest experience when I met a boy while we were standing in the registration line. He just stood there and laughed when I told him my name, and I couldn't understand what was so funny until he told me that his name was Scott Roberts."

Glennie likes Centenary for its friendly atmosphere. "I was especially happy when I found a girl here who is shorter than myself. Patti McHugh is the first girl I've ever met that I could look down to speak to."

Already very well-liked on campus, Glennie has an outstanding record of leadership from high school days. She was a member of the Arkansas All-State band and her high school's band which she served as majorette. She was active in the Spanish Club, FTA, NFSM, and Thespians, of which she served as president. She was a member of the National Honor Society and was named to Who's Who in American High Schools.

Hank Watches Language

Another second semester freshman who is new at Centenary is Hank Anderson, a graduate of Byrd High School here in Shreveport. Hank attended Marion Military Institute in Marion, Alabama, last semester — "a million miles from nowhere".

Hank, who plans to be a Petroleum Engineer, also has found Centenary a very friendly campus. "There's no trouble meeting people around here. I did have a hard time finding one of my classes though. It was a class in field surveying which was scheduled to meet in room 1 of the science building. The very first day we were to meet, I went to that classroom, only to find myself the only one in the room — there wasn't even a professor. I had come to the conclusion that I was in the wrong place, but soon discovered that there were only two students in the class and the other one wasn't there. When we all finally got together, we decided to meet on Saturdays, which incidentally makes my schedule much more pleasant."

Peg — Soph or Junior?

Peggy Pardue, "some people call me Peg", is an elementary education major from Vivian, Louisiana. When asked her classification, Peg replied, "two hours less than a junior, but after this semester I'll be a second semester junior — Confusing?"

Peggy likes Centenary and is just about the only transfer who hasn't had any trouble finding her way around the campus. "It might be because I came to summer school here last summer," says Peg, "I took English, Bible, and Algebra here and then returned to Baylor. At any rate, I like Centenary because it's friendly and many of my friends already go here. The atmosphere is nice and I like Shreveport very much."

Peggy, like Glennie, was a featured twirler for the band in high school. She even worked with "fire" batons. She also was a delegate to Pelican Girls State, president of FTA, vice-president of the literary club, and was (and still is) active in BSU. Probably her most exciting experience so far at Centenary was her recent pledging to ZTA sorority.

Watchman? Dean? Dr. Wilkins?

A recent arrival on the Centenary campus from Lake Charles is William Trimble, a freshman who previously attended Washington and Lee University in Virginia.

William (not Bill) has also found Centenary very friendly: "I've been introduced around, but the funniest thing that's happened to me happened because of introductions. The very first day I was here I was introduced to the night watchman and told that he was the dean of the night school. Since I knew that the dean of the night school was Mr. Elder, I said, 'Hello, Mr. Elder. You're Sonny's father, aren't you?' It wasn't until later that the boys told me who the man was. The next day I was walking across the campus and thought I saw him again so I walked up and slapped him on the back and said, 'Hey, I know who you are — Where are your handcuffs?' Well, this time it wasn't the night watchman — it was Dr. Wilkins, who teaches me biology — I gave up after that."

Outstanding in high school, William plans to major in history or English. At Lake Charles High School he was vice-president of the Senior Class, president of the Key Club, President of the band, and recipient of the American Legion Award for leadership.

Carol's Corner

By CAROL REICHELT

A big congratulations goes to Mardi Gras Queen Anne McLaurin who reigned over the festivities last Saturday night. Also taking a place in the royal spotlight were princesses Judy Hebert, Jean Netterville, and Linda Rosett.

Class maids were Barbara Bourdier, Diane Caldwell, Becky Graham and Carolyn Lapleau. Joan Williams reigned as Freshman Princess.

A big thank-you goes to the Freshman Class for all the hard work they did in preparing for the occasion.

A candle ceremony at the Chi Omega house last Monday night announced the engagement of Ann Mc-

Laurin and Billy Bundrick.

Also blowing out the candle was Linda Rosett who is now pinned to Don Tyler. We also understand that Barbara Bourdier is dogtagged (?).

Kay Cooper wishes to say thank you to "an Admirer."

Congratulations to Sammie Kay Smith and Donna Wyrick who pledged Chi Omega on Thursday night.

Lyndra Pate and Mary Allen had a grand time at the Louisiana State Mardi Gras. Poetic justice or not, Lyndra had an interview with President Kennedy.

Newly elected officers of Chi Omega are Kay Cooper, president; Sara Hitchcock, vice-president; Carol Reichelt, Secretary; Margaret Reeves, Treasurer; and Sallie Clingman, Pledge Mother.

Geneva Jones is no longer dropped. Congratulations to John Lukasik, new Kappa Sig Pledge.

We hear that Kathy McCallister was speechless after Johnny Brewer dropped her.

Best wishes to Kathy Gardener who recently became engaged.

Corey Announces "Rivalry" Cast

Orlin Corey, head of the drama and speech department has completed crew and cast listings for the next production, THE RIVALRY. This drama revolves around the Lincoln-Douglas debates of 1858, is the first contribution of the drama department of Centenary College to the American Civil War Centennial Celebrations which began this past January.

Cast:

Abraham Lincoln, Bob Shy; Stephen Douglas, Bob Carr; Adele Douglas, Lorene Crenshaw; Workingman, Don Farley; Girl, Dorothy Risinger.

Crews:

Stage Manager, Ruth Akins; Properties, Ruthanne Cozine, Alfred I. Smith, Ryan Horton; Sound, Wiley Cameron; Costume, Mrs. Louise H. White, Lynda Jones, members of Theatre Forms Class; Wardrobe Mistress and Make-Up Assistants: Dorothy Risinger and Pat Byrd; Publicity, Annette Shirey, George Bryan, Beverly Smith, Virginia Bobbitt;

Box Office, Muriel Vonderhaar, Beverly Smith; Technical Lighting, David Gibson; Lighting, Ann Sherman, Jerry Mitchell; Scenery, David Gibson, Supervisor, Don Farley, Len Udes, Edwina Hubert; House Manager, Ginger Chapman.

Mrs. Irene Corey is the designer, both of sets and costumes. She has sought to authenticate the designs through the use of formal photographs of Lincoln and Douglas belonging to the collection of Frederick Hill Meserve and the Library of Congress. Mrs. Douglas will be seen in an eight-step-progression of light to dark colors. Her costumes are historically based upon the costume plates of the period, and also on the fact that she was a very striking person, whose presence at the Debates is believed to have had a positive effect upon her husband's election and victory over Mr. Lincoln.

Plans are being made to have a display of costumes and other items of this period in the Lobby of the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse during the performance dates.

The presentation of Norman Corwin's THE RIVALRY at the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse, March 16-18; 23-25, will mark the premiere of this play in Southern colleges and universities. Of the play itself, Mr. Corey says: "It is a natural for the Civil War Centennial, a classic statement of the issues and ideas of both unfortunate sides and a timeless thriller."

Music Fraternity Initiates Seven

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia has announced the initiation of seven new members last Sunday, February 19. According to Don Tyler, President of the local chapter, the new members are: Tim Temple, Johnny Evans, David White, Sandy Lawn, Philip Jones, Richard Tubbs, and Robert Buckner.

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia is a national professional music fraternity for men. The local group, which now has fifteen members, is headed by Don Tyler. Vice-president is H. C. Alford, Secretary, Jimmy Perkins, and treasurer, Freddie Peters.

Val Jean Banta Reigns as Miss Centenary

Colleen Cathy was voted "Miss Congeniality" by the other contestants and was one of the seven maids in the court. Others selected as maids to "Miss Centenary" were Virginia Bobbitt, Barbara Bourdier, Nancy Evans, Betsy Gould, Linda Rosett, and Anita Thomasson.

Winners were selected on the basis of interviews and bathing suit, talent, and evening dress competition.

Lyndra Pate, selected Centenary Princess, was named first place winner in both bathing suit and evening dress competition and the winner of the talent division was Barbara Bourdier.

The contest began Thursday as thirty contestants met, and had dinner with the pageant judges. That night they moved to the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse where the bathing suit competition and talent preliminaries were held. On Friday evening the contest was open to the public as the evening dress and the top ten talent competition were presented.

The top talent finalists were Val Jean Banta, who sang "Getting to Know You" and "We Kiss in the Shadow"; Virginia Bobbitt, who gave a dramatic monologue from "The Little Foxes"; Barbara Bourdier, who sang "We Kiss in a Shadow"; Edith Elliot, who played a selection on the organ; Betsy Gould, who sang "Love is Where You Find It"; Lyndra Pate, who sang a medley of river songs; Frankie Stokes, who sang "I'm in Love with a Wonderful Guy"; Nancy Evans, who sang "The Birth of the Blues"; and Linda Rosett and Anita Thomasson, who played piano selections.

32 Initiated into Alpha Psi Wed.

Delta Iota Chapter of Alpha Psi Omega, the new national dramatics fraternity, initiated thirty-two members Wednesday evening, February 22.

The ceremony was conducted at the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse under the direction of installing officers George Bryan and Bob Shy.

To be eligible for membership a student must earn a required number of work points through his work in the Jongleurs, local campus drama group. The group sponsor is Dr. Orlin Corey. Mrs. Orlin Corey and Miss Ruth Alexander will serve as honorary sponsors.

Chapel Features Dr. McCutcheon

The annual honors society chapel program, to be held Thursday, March 3, will feature Dr. Robert P. McCutcheon, national representative of the Woodrow Wilson National Foundation.

The program will be sponsored by Alpha Sigma Pi, honorary scholastic society for freshmen and sophomores, and Alpha Chi, honorary scholastic society for juniors and seniors. Dr. Clark, head of the English department, and Dr. E. L. Ford, head of the department of modern language, are faculty sponsors, respectively, of the groups.

Dr. McCutcheon will speak on the general topic of college teaching as a profession. Keith Lloyd, president of Alpha Sigma Pi, will give the opening prayer and will introduce members of that group. John Williams, president of Alpha Chi, will introduce members of the upper class honors society. The program will be highlighted by the presentation of the annual award to the freshman with the highest grade average.

Dr. McCutcheon has taught at the University of Minnesota, Denison University, and Wake Forest, and was professor of English at Tulane University from 1925 to 1954. He also served as dean of Tulane's graduate school from 1937 to 1954. After returning from his post at Tulane, he served as director of the program for the preparation of college teachers at Vanderbilt University until 1956 under a grant from the Fund for the Advancement of Education.

Since January 1, 1957, Dr. McCutcheon has been visiting professor of English and consultant in special programs at the University of Texas, Austin, where his office is located. On September 1, 1957, he became southern coordinator for the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation.

Elder, Burris to Attend Education Conference

Howard M. Elder, director of the Evening Division, and Leslie E. Burris, instructor in English, will attend the Conference on Adult Higher Education opening in Gatlinburg, Tenn., on Wednesday, February 21.

The trip, which is being financed by the Fund for Adult Education, will be held at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville.

The purpose of the conference is to examine colleges and universities as major centers for continuing higher education for adults and to broaden the knowledge and understanding of leaders of these institutions concerning the roles their schools may play in providing continued higher adult education programs.

Bridge Tournament Set For Saturday

A bridge tournament, sponsored by the Chi Omega pledge class, will be held on Saturday, March 4, from 1:30 until 4:30 in the Student Center.

Mrs. W. F. Buckelew and Mrs. Don Thomas, Director of the M and M Bridge Classes will direct the tournament. Party bridge rules will govern the play and each person will keep the same partner throughout the afternoon. Prizes will be awarded to couples with the high and low scores at the end of the afternoon.

Tickets are available from all members of the Chi Omega pledge class at the rate of $.50 for students and $1.00 for adults.

Centenary's enthusiasm for the Gents sparked to a new high at the Louisiana Tech game last Tuesday night. Fans had good reason, however, to show enthusiasm. The Tech game gave Centenary students one of their first home views of a revitalized Gent squad. Centenary had a team that night, not just six players on a court. The cheer, "We're with the team — so fight!", took on a more significant meaning last Tuesday, as the Gent "team" radiated its confidence and enthusiasm to the crowds. The anticipation of a possible "victor's holiday" may have acted as a stimulant to Centenary fans, but by no means could it have been the only reason for the increased excitement. The Gents themselves were more exciting to watch!

Centenary basketball has ended for the season, but the Gents are not through for the year. The Gentlemen live on in the baseball, tennis, and golf teams. They, too, need the encouragement of student enthusiasm. Give them your support this Spring, just as you gave the Gents your support last Tuesday.

LeBrie To Lecture To Physiology Class

Dr. S. J. LeBrie, Assistant Professor of Physiology at Tulane University, will be at Centenary College, Tuesday, February 28, through the efforts of the Biology Department. Dr. LeBrie is a member of the visiting scientist program which is sponsored by the Department of Physiology at Tulane and financially supported by the Education Committee of the American Physiological Society under a grant from the National Science Foundation.

Dr. LeBrie is the recipient of a Lederle Faculty Fellowship and is interested in the kidney and endocrinology. Currently, he is working on a problem involving the characterization of kidney lymph and its role in the function of the kidney.

At 10:30 a. m., Tuesday, Dr. LeBrie will lecture in room 203 of the Science Building on the subject of "The Counter-Current Theory of Renal Function". This lecture should be of particular interest to Physiology and Chemistry students, but an invitation is open to all interested science students.

At 5:30, Tuesday evening, Dr. LeBrie will have dinner in the Centenary Cafeteria with members of Gamma Beta Gamma, the Biology Club, and Alpha Epsilon Delta, the pre-medical society. Interested students are invited to join the group for dinner. After dinner, the group will convene to room 202 in the Science Building where Dr. LeBrie will lecture on "The Role of Comparative Physiology in Our Understanding of Human Physiology".

Fourth Business Session Scheduled

Delta Tau Omicron will sponsor its fourth in a series of business sessions on Tuesday February 28, 1961, at 10:30 a. m. in the Science Building, room 114. All Centenary students are invited to attend.

The topic for this session will be "Public Relations and Advertising". The guest speaker will be Robert K. Butcher, president of R. K. Butcher Associates. In his speech, he will cover the subject from the viewpoint of a career and an aid to business.

Choir Serenades Houston Church

The Centenary Choir journeyed into Texas this weekend to the delight of its 9 members from the Lone Star State. Leaving on Saturday, their destination was Houston, where they presented three concerts at the St. Luke's Methodist Church there.

On Saturday night, a secular program was sung in the recreational building of the church; then on Sunday morning the Choir provided the music for two church services. The singers stayed in the homes of church families overnight.

Returning home after noon on Sunday, the Choir stopped in De Quincy, La., to present a program at the evening church service in First Methodist Church.

Student Senate Minutes

The Student Senate Meeting was held in the Moore Student Center at 5:45, Wednesday, February 15. The meeting was called to order by the President, Jim Daigle. Others present were Anne McLaurin, Ralph Mason, Jean Netterville, G. B. Watson, Don Tyler, Buddy Daily, Tim Temple, Mike Sport, Dean Allen, and Miss Alexander.

A report on the band was called for. Billy May has been contracted for $1500.00. Make plans to attend now on April 8! Ticket price will be $2.00 per couple. It was suggested that the stage, snack bar, and pool table areas be used for seating that night.

Buddy Daily was placed in charge of getting the Student Senate Gold Keys for Honors Chapel.

The time for the Vaudeville has been set for 7:00-8:30. Tim Temple was appointed chairman of the ticket committee.

A motion was made and seconded to have the Student Fair on Friday, April 7 rather than try and run it two days this year.

Dean Allen stated there would be a partial holiday for Founder's Day on April 18. Petitions for Student Senate officers are due on April 4. Posters go up 2:00, April 16 and the speeches will be given in the gym on April 18. The election will take place on April 19 and 21.

It was moved and seconded that:

- (1) Regulation sized poster paper would be used. (This means no banners, etc.)
- (2) Posters may not be nailed to the tree. (May be taped.)
- (3) Gym and Student Center are off limits for publicity.
- (4) No written publicity larger than poster sized paper may be used.

All these motions passed.

Voting machines will be secured for this election if possible. Information will be available in two weeks.

There being no further business the meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
Brenda Bailey
Student Senate Secretary

Exuberant Centenary Gent fans carried an elated Coach Sigler off the basketball court in high style after the Gents emerged victorious over the Tech Bulldogs last Tuesday night.

Gents Surprise Southern, Loyola

Throwing the odds completely to the winds, the Gents rolled into Hattiesburg, Mississippi as fifteen point underdogs to the Golden Giants of Mississippi Southern who had not been beaten on their home floor since 1958.

Having dropped three games in a row, the Gents were not to be denied in this big one. Hitting 48% of their shots from the field, the Maroons bounded out to an 18-10 lead in the early going. Southern came back with a vengeance, however, and managed a 34-31 lead at the intermission. At the end of the regulation playing time the score was all knotted up at 69-69. The overtime was a real heart stopper. The Gent came out on top with a bucket by Riley Wallace and two clutch free throws with the pressure on by Don Ensley making the final score read Centenary 73, Southern 71.

Riley Wallace found the range for eighteen big points while Crawford and Van Bibber contributed seventeen and fifteen joints respectively. "Soup" Moore added eleven. Wallace was also the Gents leading board man as he grabbed off ten rebounds.

Probably one of the prime reasons for the Gents' win over Southern was the ability of Don "Bird Dog" Ensley to steal the ball time and again from the Golden Giants' backcourt men. He managed to keep them so rattled that they made many costly mistakes. Everyone contributed a great deal and this one is chalked up as a great "team" victory for the Gents.

Still "feeling their oats" the rejuvenated Maroons moved on to New Orleans this time as 11 point underdogs, according to one of the nations' major basketball rating services, to the Wolf-pack of Loyola University. This one was Centenary's from the opening tip off. The whole story here was the Gents' complete dominance on the boards as they walked off the floor with a 48-33 rebounding edge.

Dale Van Bibber netted 20 points mostly on soft jumpers from the circle, while Jackie Crawford and Willard Moore were bombing away at a furious pace, Crawford winding up with 16 tallies, along with 13 rebounds, and Willard Moore dropping in 15 counters. A final look at the score board showed Centenary 72, Loyola 51. Who said, "It is twice as hard to win on the road!"

Women's Intramural Basketball Underway

The women's intramural basketball tournament is well underway this season with four games having been completed in the round-robin tourney. During the first week, the Alpha Xi Delta team defeated Zeta Tau Alpha, 33-10 on Tuesday night, and a strong MSM team overpowered Chi Omega, 25-14, Wednesday.

Second Round Ping Pong

The first round of the ping pong tournament, singles and doubles, was completed today. Winners should note their second round opponents from the roster posted in the gym and report scores to Judy Mayo, event manager.

Lorant Wins Shuffleboard

Shuffleboard winners of both the singles and doubles tournament have been announced. Fran Lorant won the singles title for the independents over Beverly Wingo then teamed with Kathy Gardner to also win doubles over Diane Camp and Judy Thurmon.

Badminton Tourney

Miss Estes has announced that there will be a state wide badminton tournament, The Louisiana State Open Badminton Tourney, March 3-4, at Northwestern. All students interested should contact her and attend the practice sessions. There will be an expert from Shreveport to help the group with strategy and form.

Last week, Alpha Xi Delta defeated Chi Omega by a score of 27-24, and the Rinkie Dinks won over Zeta Tau Alpha.

The standings to date are:

	Won	Lost
Alpha Xi Delta	2	0
MSM	1	0
Rinkie Dinks	1	0
Chi Omega	0	2
Zeta Tau Alpha	0	2

Each team will play four games in the five week tourney.

Kappa Sigma Drops Faculty

The Faculty team of the Men's Intramural Basketball League lost its first game of the season to an aggressive Kappa Sig team. Leading by eleven points at the half, the Faculty couldn't seem to get started in the second half. Dean Allen, one of the Faculty stars, felt that the zone defense used by the faculty was a bit slow in adjusting to the Kappa Sigma offense leaving several scoring opportunities open to the opponents. "We would like another crack at them," he said.

High scorers for the victorious Kappa Sigmas were Rod Yeager with 16 points and Keith Lloyd's 15 tallies. Leading the Faculty scoring parade were Joel Thomas and Wayne Hanson each having 11 markers. Coach Mooty added 8 counters and Dean Allen 6. The final score found Kappa Sigma out in front 48-42.

To date the league standings are as follows:

	WON	LOST
Kappa Sigma I	3	0
Faculty	3	1
Golden Pheasants	2	1
Kappa Sigma III	2	2
M. S. M.	1	2
K. K. K.	1	3
Kappa Sigma II	1	3
Kappa Alpha	0	3

"Colors" Day, NSC Trip End Centette Year

Last Tuesday, February 21, the Centettes, Centenary Pep Squad, sponsored "Maroon-and-White" day in honor of the Centenary vs. Louisiana Tech game which was played that evening. Key Gent supporters wore the colors all that day in anticipation of the big game.

As their last project for the year, the Centettes rode a chartered bus to Natchitoches on Saturday, February 25, to cheer the Gents in their game against rival Northwestern. In a performance equalled only by their splendid support at the Tech game in Ruston, the girls cheered and applauded every point made by the Centenary five.

MEET THE GENTS

One of the truly fine shooters among the Gent roundballers, Ford King Jr. has used his scoring eye to break up many a close ballgame for the Maroons. "Junior's" bread and butter shot is a one hand jumper which he can shoot with great accuracy some twenty feet away from the bucket. Ford was the Gents' field goal percentage leader for the 1959-60 season.

An excellent jumper, the 6' 3" Big Sandy, Texan is able to dunk the ball with regularity, quite a feat for most lads his height. Also a fine ball handler, Ford is often called on when the Gents go into a "freeze" or delay type of game. He often puts on quite a dribbling exhibition in this type of situation.

King is a junior and a mathematics major, but is minoring in physical education as he hopes to follow in his father's footsteps as a coach someday.

* 60 million times a day people get that refreshing new feeling with ice-cold Coca-Cola!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by COCA-COLA BOTTLING CO. OF SHREVEPORT, INC.

"We could make such beautiful music together," might be what Don Tyler, Alice Herrington, and Gail Southerland are trying to tell the photographer. All three of these students belong to that dedicated class of music majors, who call the Music Hall their "home away from home".

From Boogie To Beethoven

Although its environment may appear otherwise, the music school of Centenary, due to very talented students and instructors, is really quite excellent. This week the Conglomerate presents three dedicated people who, despite ankle-deep mud, a leaky roof, and sound-proofless rooms, manage to make beautiful music.

Alice Ruth Herrington is an organ major from Wisner, Louisiana. A sophomore at Centenary this year, Alice Ruth is a newly initiated member of Phi Beta Music Fraternity, a member of Kappa Chi, and president of the local student chapter of the American Guild of Organists. Alice Ruth became interested in music when she was very small and began to give other people music lessons when she was in the eighth grade. Shortly after she began teaching, she began working as a junior choir director in her church. It was seemingly meant that Alice should be a minister of music.

Not only does Alice spend many hours in practice, but she also serves as organist at the All Souls Unitarian Church and maintains a secretarial position at the First Methodist Church.

Leads Class Astray

Although Alice has had considerable experience as a teacher, she almost led one whole class of six-year-olds astray. In a Vacation Bible School, where Alice was teaching one summer, Alice's advisor told her to teach the children a song called the B-I-B-L-E in which the word Bible was spelled out, but not pronounced. Alice energetically taught it to them, but still seeing their little faces look rather blank, realized that some of them perhaps did not know what they were singing about. Finally she asked, "Now children, what does B-I-B-L-E spell?" One little boy raised his hand and said hopefully, "Jello?"

It is rumored that Alice was in the dog-house with many of her constituents for turning in a fire alarm at a building in which they were all gathered at the time. At first we were rather puzzled at their ungratefulness, for it seemed Alice should be praised for her quick action. We understood their attitude, however, when it was explained to us that the building in danger was none other than the Music Hall.

Gail Southerland, a freshman piano major from Plain Dealing is one of the newly initiated members of Phi Beta Music Fraternity, and a pledge of Chi Omega. She accompanied a boys' quartet, played with a jazz combo, performed with the school band (a concerto boogie for one instance!), and also played at district music rallies and other school functions. Gail spends her leisure time performing with such groups as a music camp symphony in Tallahassee, Florida, and for the Louisiana State Teachers' Conference in Ruston.

Concert Aspirant

"I would like to work toward performing as a concert artist," declares Gail, who practices from two to four hours a day, "but I have a horror of sneezing right in the middle of a great concert! Also for some reason I always picture the piano slowly rolling away from me during a performance."

Gail appreciated old masters such as Beethoven and Mozart and right now is "concentrating on liking Bach", but she particularly likes the works of modern composers and takes a keen interest in progressive jazz. Gail also enjoys employing her own distinctive style in playing the better popular music of today, so if you are around Gail and a piano, persuade her to play and give your ears a treat!

"Yep," confirms Don Tyler, a senior from Jonesboro, "I'm a music major, but no one seems to think of me as a musician!" Maybe this is because Don takes a very active role in many other aspects of college life. He is a member of Kappa Sigma, the Student Senate, the Centenary College Choir, the Centenary Band, the Inter-Fraternity Council, Omicron Delta Kappa, and president of Phi Mu Alpha-Sinfonia. A long-time sports enthusiast, Don played three years of basketball in high school and is very active in Centenary's intramural sports program, particularly football. He has held the position of sports editor of the Conglomerate, and, at present, is sports editor of the Yoncopin.

During high school Don was also faced with the decision of either entering the entertainment world as a popular singer, or entering the field of religious music. While attending a music camp at Louisiana Tech the summer before his senior year in high school, Don was advised to go to Hollywood. Fate, or Chance — call very shortly after the summer camp, Don lost his voice! A year passed; Don put aside his former aspirations and entered college determined to become a minister of music—and lo and behold, his voice returned. Don did field of religious music.

Likes Pop Music Too

Although he does it as a side line now, Don has reverted to his popular singing style at many performances at the Petroleum club, school dances and other campus activities, and just to be honest, he does sometimes wonder what show business would have held in store for him. One thing it would not have held in store is Linda Rossett, the wearer of his fraternity pin. Linda, also a music major, inspired Don to try his hand at writing lyrics. One afternoon Linda picked out a melody on the piano and decided to write it down. Don began to write the words to it while she was perfecting the tune. The end result was the very pretty "You Are My Every Thought" sung by the Centenary Choir on their last T.V. program.

Don is one of the leading students in music at Centenary. However, as a word of encouragement to those of you who may be new, struggling, music students; things were not always that rosy for Don. In fact, to be very candid, he flunked the music entrance exam in his freshman year — perseverance pays!

The Picadilly and pizza are still the vogue for Centenary students. At least Lon McAnally, Heather Dodson, Keith Lloyd, Butchie McCuiston, Bobby Ross and Joy Camerer think so.

Completing the Mardi Gras festivities by going to Sansones is also popular with students. Terrell Rourk, Clarene Carver, Jerry Jouett, Jerry Rainwater, Jean Netterville, James Goins, Melanie Martin, William Trimbel, Becky Graham and Hoyt Bain seemed to approve of Shreveport's new restaurant.

The latest word is that "an eccentric wife-to-be", Bonnie Langley, has received a pretty engagement ring from "an absent-minded husband-to-be" at L.S.U. Best wishes Bonnie!

Apparently basketball trips make the heart grow fonder also. Riley Wallace gave Nancy Stobaugh his Kappa Sigma drop letters when he returned from the team's recent New Orleans trip.

Speaking of basketball — Centenary students have been very proud of the Gents on their recent victories over Mississippi Southern and Loyola. Keep up the good work boys!

Newly initiated members of Phi Mu

Alpha Sinfonia, national music fraternity, are Tim Temple, Johnny Evans, Dave White, Sandy Lawn, Philip Jones, Richard Tubbs and Robert Buckner.

How's your bridge game? Why not try your luck at the Chi Omega pledge's bridge tournament on March 4?

Congratulations to all the newly initiated Alpha Psi Omega members.

Kappa Alpha fraternity recently pledged Roland Nanez.

The K A house was the scene of a coffee on Tuesday morning at the break.

The newest type of entertainment around campus seems to be riding tandem bicycles both up and down the streets and dormitory halls.

Alpha Xi Delta pledges entertained the actives with a mock rush party on Monday night. It was complete with a night club skit.

Lyndra Pate Represents La. In Cherry Blossom Festival

Mr. Felix Broussard, President of the Louisiana State Society of Washington, D. C., has officially named Lyndra Pate as Louisiana's Princess to the 1961 National Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington, D. C., on April 4-9.

The festival, which is sponsored annually by the Greater National Capital Committee of the Metropolitan Washington, has a busy round of activities scheduled for the princesses, including several luncheons, dances, dinners, receptions, fashion shows, and a cruise down the Potomac. The six-day celebration will be climaxed by the announcement of the queen of the festival who will be chosen by the spin of a wheel of fortune, and the Cherry Blossom Festival Pageant, to be held at the Sylvan Outdoor Theatre, where the queen will be crowned.

All the princesses from U. S. states and territories will be provided with military escorts for the functions, and will wear state ribbons to indicate the state or territory they represent. At one reception the girls will be the guests of the Japanese Embassy in commemoration of the gift from the Japanese people of the cherry trees for which the festival is held every year.

MSM Conference Scheduled For Aug.

The 7th National Methodist Student Conference is scheduled for August 26-31, 1961, at the University of Illinois. The theme of the conference is "Covenant for New Creation". Approximately 5000 students, campus pastors, counselors, and leaders are expected for the six-day conference.

Participants in the conference will hear lectures by eminent leaders in culture, politics, theology, education, and world affairs. Speakers for the conference will include the Honorable Francis O. Welcox, Assistant Secretary of State for international organization affairs; Dr. Nathan A. Scott, Jr., associate professor of theology and literature at Federate Theological Faculty of the University of Chicago; Dr. John Deschner, associate professor of theology at Perkins School of Theology, S.M.U.; and Rev. Malcolm Boyd, Chaplain of the Episcopal center at Colorado State University. Preachers for the worship services will be Dr. Robert Hamill, pastor-director of the Wesley Foundation at the University of Wisconsin; and Bishop Gerald Kennedy of the Los Angeles Area.

The M.S.M. of Centenary has a quota of 15 students. Those planning to attend the conference will be expected to participate in a study group which will begin early in March to meet weekly in preparation for the conference. Total cost for the conference is $46.25, which includes registration, room, and board. The entire Louisiana delegation will travel together on a train chartered for the conference. Travel cost, which will be "group rate", will be in addition to the cost of the conference itself.

Persons interested in attending should contact Don Guynes as soon as possible.

B.S.U. Banquet Planned for Fri.

The Baptist Student Union will hold a "Spring in the South" Banquet in the Moore Student Center on March 17, 1961, at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are on sale now for $.50, and Bob Childress, BSU activities director, invites all interested students to come and join them.

The BSU has planned a rather novel idea for the evening with the selection of a rather esteemed staff of waiters who will serve at the banquet. Waiters for the evening will include O. L. Jordan, realtor; Judge Ruvian Hendrick, city judge; Taylor O. Hearn, attorney and C. P. A.; and other city dignitaries. The meal will be prepared by Mrs. M. J. Ballard, chief dietician for the BSU.

The purpose of the Banquet will be to install the new executive council of the BSU at Centenary and the Northwestern School of Nursing. Officers will be announced at a later date.

E. C. Harbuck, vice-president of Harbuck Sporting Goods, will act as Master of Ceremonies for the evening. Mr. Harbuck, who graduated from Centenary in 1957, was quite active in Centenary campus life. He served the BSU as president for two years, was Chief Justice of the Honor Court, an officer in the ROTC, a member of ODK, Who's Who, and the Choir.

Featured in the entertainment that night will be Val Jean Banta, BSU's entry and winner in the recent Miss Centenary Pageant. A quartet called the "Chimesmen", including members Larry Daniel, educational director at the First Baptist Church; Truett Hinkey, choir director at Caddo Heights Baptist Church; Bill Presley, bass soloist in the First Baptist Church choir; and Barney Welsh, Minister of Music of the Greenwood Baptist Church, will also perform for the entertainment of the guests.

Laney, Tubbs Receive AX Freshman Award

Dianna Laney and Richard Tubbs, Jr., received the Alpha Chi Freshman scholarship award at the Alpha Sigma Pi chapel, Thursday, March 2. This award is presented annually to the member of the freshman class who maintains the highest grade average with the most hours during the fall semester grading period. This year the two recipients were tied with an equal average of 4.0 and an equal number of hours. They were each presented with a black note-book with their name and Alpha Chi stamped in gold on the cover.

Alpha Chi also announced its two new members for the semester, Pat Corrington and Marie Nelson. Members of this organization must maintain a 3.5 over all average for 5 semesters of college work.

In costume and in character for their parts in the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse production of "The Rivalry", which will run from March 16th to 25th, are Lorine Crenshaw, who plays Mrs. Stephen Douglas, and Bob Shy, who portrays the dynamic Mr. Lincoln.

Lincoln-Douglas Debates Begin Anew in "Rivalry"

Thursday night, March 16, 1961, Mr. Stephen A. Douglas, Democratic incumbent of Illinois' United States Senate Seat, will again be heard in the series of debates with his Republican challenger, Mr. Abraham Lincoln. Mrs. Adele Douglas, who accompanied her husband in that autumn campaign of 1858, will be narrating between the several encounters.

The debates, as they will occur at the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse at 8:15 P. M. for six evenings, are derived from stenographic records, although in his play Mr. Norman Corwin did not choose to keep them in their original sequence. Mrs. Douglas carries the account of the rivalry beyond her husband's election victory of November, 1858, and thus places the entire episode in historical perspective for the period ending in 1865.

Historical Background

Norman Corwin's selection of "The Rivalry" as the title for his play about Lincoln and Douglas, is extremely appropriate. Throughout their lives, these two men were just that — rivals. They were rival lawyers in Springfield in their early legal careers; they were rivals for the hand of Mary Todd, won by Lincoln; they were arch political rivals before the Senate campaign of 1858, Douglas being known as the head of the Illinois Democrat Party, while Lincoln was leader of the Illinois Republicans. Douglas won the re-election to the Senate, and both men went on to rival the other as candidates for the Presidency of the United States in 1860.

Zetas Dance In Castle Throne Room

Zeta Tau Alphas and their dates danced in the throne room of the Zeta castle, Saturday, March 11 at their annual spring formal. The Constellations, a band featuring four vocalists, provided music from nine until twelve.

Using as their theme "Zeta Heaven" the girls transformed the SUB into a throne room of an ancient castle. Draperies of turquoise blue and steel gray crepe paper hung from the doors and over the bandstand. In the center of the ceiling was a chandelier made from coat hangers and decorated with candles. Shields were placed on pillars, and the glittering letters ZTA hung from the ceiling behind the band.

Before the dance, an open house was held at the home of Linda and Jackie Rosett. Here Zeta Tau Alphas gave their dates favors, key chains with the Zeta Tau Alpha crest.

At the dance, the new officers for 1961 and the three pledge awards were announced. President Joe Mickle and members of the faculty were invited to attend the occasion.

Rhodes To Head Zeta

New Zeta Tau Alpha officers announced at the formal are: President, Judy Rhodes; Vice-President and Pledge Trainer, Betty Jo Tower; Recording Secretary, Edith Elliott; Corresponding Secretary, Colleen Cathey; Treasurer, Carole Mangham; Assistant Treasurer, Sandra Stokes; Historian, Judy Bayliss; Membership Chairman, Betty Turner; Rush Chairman, Lyndra Pate; Ritual Chairman, Gere Rawlinson; Standards, Margaret Spears; House, Mary Bostick; Social, Nancy Evans; Activities, Sandra Poss; Magazine, Gaye Griffith; Scholarship, Ann McEachern; and Betty Sims, Service Chairman.

Also awarded at the dance were the three Zeta Tau Alpha pledge awards. The Model Pledge, a girl who resembles an ideal pledge in all she does, is Betty Sims. She will receive a diamond in her sorority pin. The girl who gained the title, Best Pledge, by doing all her pledge duties well is Ann Hogan, who was given a bracelet. The scholarship award, given annually to the pledge having the highest scholastic average, went to Sandra Stokes, who received an engraved disk.

Ingram to Interview Theological Students

Mr. O. Kelly Ingram, Associate Dean of Students at the Divinity School of Duke University, Durham, North Carolina will be on campus today.

Mr. Ingram will be available for interviews with theological students concerning information about seminary training.

Those interested in having an appointment with Mr. Ingram should contact Don Guynes in the chapel office.

Alpha Xi Dance Scheduled Sat.

Alpha Xi Delta will hold their annual Spring Formal in the Moore Student Center, Saturday, March 18, from 8:00 until 12:00 p. m. The theme of the dance will be "Deep Purple" and various shades of purple in the decorations will be used to carry out this theme.

Music for the evening will be provided by the Melotones from Barksdale Air Force Base. The band is composed of members of the Air Force and may be heard at the Barksdale Officer's Club nearly every Saturday night.

After the dance, the Alpha Xi's and their dates will attend a breakfast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Miles Snider. The finale of the evening will be a slumber party at the home of one of the new initiates, Jo Ann Mills.

War Between the States Depletes Centenary Enrollment

When the War between the States began, Centenary College of Louisiana had been in existence for thirty-six years, located at Jackson, Louisiana since its founding in 1825. In the years immediately preceding the War, Centenary became one of the important educational institutions of the South. Its course of study compared favorably with that of the best colleges in the nation, its yearly enrollment approached 250 students, and its annual commencements were occasions of remarkable importance.

There was no commencement at Centenary, however, in the year 1860. This was due to a smallpox scare. The school was depopulated in a day, and the commencement was all off. It was going to be several years before Centenary would have another commencement occasion, for in July, 1861, the war was on, and the student body was in the Confederate army.

In June, 1861, the President of the College was ordered to notify the public that college would resume operations as usual in October, 1861, with a full faculty, and that the Confederate bonds and notes would be taken in payment of tuition. They also ordered that the catalogue for 1860-61 be published.

On the 21st day of May, that year, the minutes of the faculty meeting, signed by the secretary of the faculty, Professor A. H. Holcombe, read, "At this meeting the faculty passed the following resolution: In view of the departure of students in consequence of the existing war until there are but three college students remaining, Be it resolved, That the faculty suspend college exercises for the present, but that the preparatory school be continued."

On July 16 that year, the faculty resolved that the senior class of the session of 1860 and 1861, composed of twelve students, be recommended to the board of trustees as candidates for degrees in the liberal arts.

On October 2, 1861, with a faculty of nine, the minutes of the meeting state that there were no college students and few preparatory students, and the President was asked to call the executive committee together, which was done.

The next notation in the minutes of the October 7, 1861 meeting is a dynamic and clearly stated message written in a large, bold hand diagonally across the face of a full page. It reads: "Students have all gone to war. College suspended. God help the right!"

The calamities of war and defeat fell heavily upon Centenary. Its fine buildings were used for a time as a Confederate hospital during the siege of Port Hudson, a strategic river point sixteen miles from the site of the College. Almost immediately after the fall of Vicksburg on July 4, 1863, the Confederate forces at Port Hudson surrendered to General Banks. During the subsequent occupation of the surrounding territory, the buildings of Centenary College were used as headquarters for the invading army. Consequently, these structures suffered much damage, and many books belonging to the fine library were destroyed or lost in one way or another.

There is a tradition to the effect that the Federal forces spared the furnishings of the meeting place of one of the college organizations, because the name of it, which was inscribed in large letters above the door of the chamber, suggested the presence of a "loyal" spirit in that rebellious region. The name of the organization was the "Union Literary Society".

Immediately following the war, the friends of Centenary College began the struggle to restore it as a vital force in the culture and education of the South. It lived through the poverty and other tribulations of Reconstruction by continuous campaigning for endowments and scholarships, with the faculty living on starvation wages due to the continuous repair bills. Near the turn of the Century a large proportion of friends were convinced that in order for it to survive, the college must be moved to a more advantageous location than that afforded by the small town of Jackson, so in 1908 it opened its first session in Shreveport, where the institution flourished as the oldest college west of the Mississippi.

"Storytelling Club" To Be Organized

A "Storytelling Club", for students interested in the interpretation and telling of children's stories, is being organized for the first time on the Centenary campus. The idea for this group developed through interest in the children's literature classes and is being put into effect under the direction of Mrs. Hughes of the Education department, who will act as sponsor.

Mr. Burris of the English department is to help in the selection of stories and Miss Alexander of the Speech department will aid in the interpretation and telling of the stories.

The group will work as a service organization, visiting institutions in the Shreveport area with their presentations. They hope to relate with speech and drama and later join the National Storytelling group.

Club officers, Amy Matthews, chairman; Becky Graham, co-chairman; and Charlotte Stodghill, secretary, plan to meet with the prospective members within the next week to decide on the name and future plans for the new Centenary organization.

Small Business Class To Begin March 14

Centenary College, in cooperation with the Shreveport Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Administration of Washington, again will sponsor the Small Business Management Development program on the local campus.

Registration in the course will be limited to 30 persons, according to Howard M. Elder, director of the Centenary evening division, and classes will meet from 7:30 to 10 p. m. each Tuesday evening in the Science Building, March 14 through April 11. The college will award certificates to those completing the course, and the small enrollment fee will cover costs of instruction and materials.

Purpose of the program is to provide owners and managers of small businesses, who do not have access to the aid of specialists, with an opportunity to examine modern management principles and techniques in the solution of daily problems. The course has been designed to be of special interest to owners and managers in retailing, wholesaling and service trades.

Both formal lectures and discussions will be included in the instruction, and faculty members will be chosen from among outstanding business men of this area and from the faculties of Centenary College and Southern Methodist University. Topics will include the following: "Financing the Small Business"; "Accounting Records and Financial Statements for the Small Business"; "Legal and Tax Problems of the Small Business"; "Personnel Management" and "Selected Management Aids for Small Business".

In addition to Elder, members of the coordinating committee are as follows: Dr. W. W. Pate, head of the commerce and economics department at Centenary; Ralph C. Henderson, representing the Chamber; and Will Rogers, representing the New Orleans office of the Small Business Administration.

Student Senate Minutes

The Student Senate Meeting was held in the Moore Student Center at 5:45, Wednesday, February 22. The meeting was called to order by the president, Jim Daigle. Others present were Anne McLaurin, Ralph Mason, Brenda Bailey, James Goins, Jean Netterville, G. B. Watson, Barbara Bourdier, Don Tyler, Tim Temple, Yogi Ferrari, Mike Sport, and Dean Allen. Visitors: Mr. Dowell.

James Goins stated there was $171.84 in the treasury. He also reported the Billy May Dance on April 8 will be from 9-1.

Mr. Dowell, the alumni director, told us to tell all organizations to hand in a list of alumni and letters to the alums if they had not done so. The success of the April 7 & 8 weekend depends upon all of the members of the various organizations.

Anne McLaurin was asked to check into refreshments and decorations for April 8. Anne stated she had checked with Mrs. Bain concerning the senior tea.

Under new business Dean Allen stated our holiday for defeating Tech would be Monday, February 27.

There being no further business the meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
Brenda Bailey
Student Senate Secretary

The Editors of the CONGLOMERATE would like to advise all members of the staff and contributors from organizations that the deadline for stories for each issue of the paper is on Tuesday morning at 10:30. Any stories not received by that time will not be run.

Gents Roll in Finale

The Centenary cagers returned from Abilene, Texas last week with a 106-93 decision over the Cowboys of Hardin Simmons University. This was the final game of the 1960-'61 campaign and leaves the Maroons with a record of fourteen wins against twelve losses on the season.

This is the best mark posted by the Gents since entering the major college division of the National Collegiate Athletic Association two years ago. Both previous years found the Gents with .500 won-lost records.

The Hardin Simmons victory was again sparkplugged by the Gents 1-2 punch of Jackie Crawford and Dale Van Bibber, scoring 28 and 26 points respectively. Willard Moore added eleven points and nine rebounds for the evening.

This was the last taste of collegiate competition for four Cent seniors. They include Jackie Crawford, John Vasilopoulos, Ralph Mason, and Wayne DuBose.

Gazing at the season in retrospect the highlights include two victories over the Golden Giants of Mississippi Southern and twin victories over pine cone rival Louisiana Tech. Other prized wins came over Rice, Texas Christian University, and Tulane, members of the powerful Southwest and Southeast Conferences.

The Gents will return four of five starters from this year's squad for the 1961-'62 season. So "nuff" said about the recently completed slate of this year which must be called successful for the Maroon and White. Gent roundball fans can now sit back and relax for six months or so and look forward with hopeful anticipation to a potentially great season for next year's Centenary cagers.

WRA Basketball Comes To A Close This Week

The final games of the W.R.A. basketball tourney will be played this week as top seeded M.S.M. plays Zeta Tau Alpha, and the Independent "Rinkie Dinks" play Alpha Xi Delta.

The highly favored M.S.M. team will go into the finals with a three win, no loss record as they defeated both the Independents and the Alpha Xi Delta teams in their last two games. The "Rinkie Dinks" and Alpha Xi have each won two games and lost only to M.S.M. They will be playing for second place honors on Tuesday night.

In the last two weeks, the M.S.M. team defeated Alpha Xi Delta 57-22; the Independents defeated Chi Omega 24-13; M.S.M. defeated the Independents 36-18; and Chi Omega defeated Zeta Tau Alpha 18-7.

The remaining two games on the schedule will be played Tuesday and Wednesday night at 5:45 P. M. Scorers and timers are asked to come at 5:35.

The official standings for the tournament to date are:

	Won	Lost
M.S.M.	3	0
Independents	2	1
Alpha Xi Delta	2	1
Chi Omega	1	3
Zeta Tau Alpha	0	3

Whitlock, Hubert Win Bridge Tournament

Sandra Whitlock and Edwina Hubert, playing as partners, were the winners of the Bridge Benefit held in the Moore Student Center, Saturday, March 4, by the Chi Omega Pledge Class.

A gift certificate to Stan's Record Shop was awarded to Sandra while Edwina received a $175.00 scholarship to Mr. Lynn's Studio.

The tournament opened with a brief explanation of the party bridge scoring by Mrs. W. F. Buckelew and Mrs. Don Thomas, members of the M&M Bridge Club. Twenty hands were played by all the participants and 3780 was the high score for the afternoon.

Two door prizes were presented during the break by the pledge class president, Melanie Martin. Bob Hamilton won the student door prize, a "Hot Rod" coffee warmer, donated by Selber Bros. An artificial flower arrangement donated by Centenary Florists was presented to Mrs. Floyd Carrol.

Drummond's Centenary Girl of the Month

Centenary Girl of the month for March is Colleen Cathey, a sophomore math major from New Orleans.

If you viewed the recent Miss Centenary Pageant, you'll recognize Colleen as the girl who received the coveted award of "Miss Congeniality". Colleen was sponsored by her sorority, Zeta Tau Alpha, which she ably served as pledge trainer this last year.

The Centenary Girl of the Month was chosen by a committee of one member from each of the Greek organizations on campus and two independent representatives. This committee meets each month and selects a girl on the basis of her outstanding accomplishments during the preceding or current month.

Farley to Head MSM

The Methodist Student Movement elected officers for next year on March 1. Newly elected president is Don Farley.

Other officers are: Vice president, Ryan Horton; Secretary, Judy Balliet; Treasurer, Johnny Shankles; Program Chairman, Dessa Crawford; Assistant Program Chairman, Bob Bishoff; Publicity Chairman, Clarice Krumnow; Projects Chairman, Dorothy Risinger; Recreation Chairman, George Williford; Intramural Representatives; Ernest Heard and Judy Mayo.

As of March 1, MSM moved to a new meeting place. They are now congregating every Wednesday night in Room 2 of the Chapel instead of the Moore Student Center. Last week, however, they met again in the student center to accommodate the audience which came to hear Dr. Perry, speaker on the recent Willson Lecture Series.

Lorant, Rosett Place In Badminton Tourney

Fran Lorant and Jackie Rosett represented Centenary in the Louisiana State Open Badminton Tourney last week and took third place honors in the college women's doubles division.

The tournament was held at Northwestern at Natchitoches, and representatives from many other Louisiana colleges were competing for top honors. This was the first time Centenary has sent players to the competition.

Fran and Jackie won the consolation match in doubles giving them third place in the tourney and Fran was defeated in the singles consolation bout giving her an automatic fourth place standing.

College Women's Play Day

The W.R.A. has announced that there will be a state wide Play Day for college women on April 28-30 at Camp Kiwanis and that each of the five organizations in the women's recreational association are allowed to send two representatives.

The day will be dedicated to such sports as softball, volleyball, badminton, and swimming, with the purpose of promoting fellowship and cooperation through recreation. Students from all other Louisiana Colleges will attend.

Students To Direct 4 One-Act Plays

The play directing class of the department of speech and drama will present four one-act plays, all of them open to the public without charge, at the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse of Centenary College.

Orlin Corey, head of the department of speech and drama on the local campus, said the plays are laboratory experiments required of all drama majors working toward the BA degree with a major in drama. The students choose their own plays and are responsible for costuming, casting, designing, production and direction.

The first of the productions was presented Tuesday, March 7, when Ruth Ann Akins directed a performance of Alice Gerstenberg's, "The Pot Boiler". Composing the cast were: Thomas Pinikles Sud, playwright — Rex Preuett; Wouldby, novice — Charles Hembree; Mr. Ivory, financier — Jerel P. Ferguson; Mr. Ruler, hero — Dennis F. Brown; Miss Ivory, heroine — Beverly Smith; Mr. Inkwell, villain — John Broadus; and Miss Pencil, the woman — Muriel Vonderhaar.

On Tuesday, March 28, George Bryan will direct a production of "The Second Shepherd's Play" from the Wakefield Cycle of medieval mystery plays. Ghelderode's "Escrutal", with David Gibson as director, will be presented on Tuesday, April 18. The final drama will be a production of "Becky Sharp", written by Olive Conway and based on Thackeray's "Vanity Fair", slated for Monday, May 1. All of the dramas will be presented at 6 p. m.

Corey said the production of the one-act dramas provides valuable theatrical experience for students in the department and also enables the public to view at first hand the work of the department.

SNEA To Feature Panel Of Speakers

The regular meeting of SNEA will be held March 14, at 5:45 p. m. As a special feature, there will be a panel of guest speakers who will discuss the topic, "Ethics in Our Professions". Members of the panel will be: Dr. Webb Pomeroy; Dr. Harold B. Levy, M. D.; Mr. John A. Richardson, Caddo District Attorney; and Reverend Woodrow Hearn.

SNEA hopes that all members will attend this special function.

SHREVEPORT

By CAROL REICHELT

The Gents completed the season on the home court in grand style by defeating Mississippi Southern. Congratulations to the players and coaches on a good ballgame. And — many thanks for the holiday we all enjoyed on Monday, February 27.

Paul McMahan has been named "Mr. Hex" of the year. On the recent choir trip to Houston, Paul rode the wardrobe truck and it broke down. Then Paul switched to riding the bus and it broke down. Paul also has trouble with his own car quite often. HMMMMM.

Belated best wishes go to Laurie Kruger who is wearing a pin from Preston Mears at Haverford College in Pennsylvania.

Not often does a girl receive drop letters in the mail, but Becky Graham did. Becky is now wearing Sigma Phi Epsilon drop letters from Culver Stockton College in Canton, Mo.

Gene LaCaze and Patti McHugh have announced that they are pinned. Sounds like spring came early this year!

Congratulations are in order for all the newly initiated Zeta Tau Alphas. Betty Sims, Ann Hogan, Sandra Stokes, Jackie Rosett, Diane Caldwell, Nancy Parker, Annette Wimberly, Nancy Thigpen, Brenda Nations, Louie Griffith and Ellen Godbold.

Congratulations go to all the new actives wearing the crescent and star. Newly initiated Kappa Sigmas are Bob Bishoff, Durwood Winfree, Leonard Riggs, Johnny Evans, Riley Wallace, Hoyt Bain, Scott Roberts, Robert Gillam, Jimmy Williams, Jimmy Mitchell, Mike Hayes, Ken Gordon, John Brewer, Jess Hoffpauir, Tommy Head, Jimmy Henderson, Larry Cowley, Roger Box, Harvey Long, Chat Reed and Butch Constant.

Excited new Alpha Xi Delta initiates are Jo Ann Mills, Jennifer Victory, Julie Schmidt, and Meryal Ann Campbell. New initiates were treated to dinner at Sansone's.

New Alpha Xi Delta pledge is Kay King. Congratulations.

New Kappa Alpha officers are Bill Johnston, president; Mike Ramming, Vice-president, and Eric Bishop, secretary.

Congratulations to new Sig Pledges George Williford and Tommy Siskron.

Centenary College, Shreveport, Louisiana, Monday, March 20, 1961

Number 18

Congratulating Joe Ben LaGrone on receiving a Wilson Fellowship is Dr. W. D. Overdyke, professor of history, who nominated him for the award. The scholarship entitles Joe Ben to $1,500 in addition to tuition and fees at the college of his choice.

Joe Ben LaGrone Wins Woodrow Wilson Fellowship

Joe Ben LaGrone is the second student in the history of Centenary College to win one of the highly-coveted Woodrow Wilson fellowships for graduate study.

LaGrone, a native of Deadwood, Texas, will receive $1,500 in addition to full tuition and fees at the college of his choice. He currently is considering the University of Wisconsin, Harvard University and Princeton University as possible sites for his graduate studies. He is majoring in history at Centenary and plans to continue in that field under the fellowship.

A senior student at Centenary, he transferred to Centenary from Panola Junior College in Carthage at the end of his sophomore year. He is a 1957 graduate of Carthage High School. At Centenary he has been active in the intramural sports program and is vice president of Alpha Chi, honorary junior and senior scholastic honorary society.

The only other Centenary student ever to receive one of the awards from the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation was Vladimir Polivka, who studied at Washington University in St. Louis, Mo., during 1955 on one of the fellowships. Polivka came to Centenary from his native Poland as recipient of the M. L. Bath-Rotary Scholarship and was graduated in 1954.

LaGrone was nominated for the honor by Dr. W. D. Overdyke, professor of history at Centenary College, and was recommended by Dr. Joe J. Mickle, president of the college. He was interviewed in New Orleans several weeks ago along with other nominees from this region.

As winner of the fellowship, he is one of 1,333 students from 381 colleges and universities in the United States and Canada to be honored.

Purpose of the fellowship program is to recruit outstanding young persons to enter graduate study for advanced degrees with a view toward going into college teaching as a career.

Schwendimann, Diagle Win Kappa Sig Award

Fred Schwendimann and Jim Daigle are the recipients of the Scholarship Leadership Award of Kappa Sigma Fraternity. This award is presented each semester by the National organization of the fraternity to the most outstanding junior and senior boy in each chapter. The recipients received checks for $50 and $100 respectively.

In addition to the local awards, each fraternity district awards $100 to the most outstanding senior in District ten which includes the five chapters in Louisiana. This year's award has been presented to Jim Daigle.

Burkes Presides Over Alpha Xi

The new officers of Alpha Xi Delta were announced at the Spring Formal, March 18.

They are as follows: President, La Verne Burks; Vice-President, Pledge Trainer, Kay France; Treasurer, Merrill Ann Snider; Assistant Treasurer, Meryal Ann Campbell; Corresponding and Recording Secretary, Martha Kelly; Journal Correspondent, Joann Mills; Historian, Julie Schmidt; Chaplain, La Verne Burks; Marshal, Jennifer Victory; Rush Secretary, Joann Mills; Panhellenic Representatives, Kay France and Merrill Ann Snider; Social Chairman, Martha Kelly; House Manager, Merrill Ann Snider; Song Leaders, Joann Mills and Julie Schmidt; Intramural Representative, Merrill Ann Snider; and La Verne Burks, Standards Chairman.

These new officers were installed at the close of the regular meeting Monday 13. They assumed their duties at that time.

Chi Omega Formal Set For Saturday

The Chi Omega Spring Formal has been scheduled for this Saturday, March 25, at the Progressive Men's Club, from nine until twelve. Couples will dance in the ballroom overlooking Cross Lake to the music of Jerry Lane, a band which will be imported from Dallas.

An "Underwater" setting will be carried out with all the traditional sea scapes. Fish nets will be draped across the ceiling, and will come together in the center at a huge glittering starfish. Glittered sea shells will be hung from the fish nets, and one wall will be decorated with an underwater mural. Tables will be embellished with glittered sea shells and oyster shells, and pictures of couples will be snapped before a huge white satin clam shell.

Kay Cooper, president of Chi Omega, has asked that it be announced that the dance is open to all Centenary students and that all are encouraged to attend.

Regional Science Fair Hosted By Centenary

The Seventh Annual Science Fair of Region I will be sponsored by Centenary College. This has been made possible through the generosity of the Shreveport Journal, the Louisiana Junior Academy of Sciences, and the Science Education Council.

The projects division will be held on Friday and Saturday, March 24 and 25, 1961, in the Haynes Memorial Gymnasium. The papers section will be held one week later on April 1, in Room 114 of the Science Building at Centenary. Winning Junior and Senior projects may compete in the State Science Fair, April 7 and 8, 1961, at Bolton High School, Alexandria, Louisiana. Winning papers may compete in the state competition of the Junior Academy of Sciences, April 22, 1961.

Students from Webster, Bossier and Caddo parishes will compete in the Science Fair. Entries will be classified in three sections: Elementary, grades 1-6; Junior, grades 7-9; and Senior, grades 10-12.

Elementary exhibits will be judged by a board of Centenary science students, Junior Academy of Science and public school teachers. Dr. Raub is chairman in charge of the elementary judges and Mr. Hanson is chairman of the senior judging. Exhibits will be judged on scientific thought, creative ability, thoroughness, clarity, dramatic value, and technical skill.

Judging will begin at 7:00 p. m. on Friday, March 24. The fair will be open to the public from 9:00 a. m. to 8:00 p. m. on Saturday. Awards will be announced at 4:00 p. m.

Dr. Wilkins, acting as regional director for the Fair asks for any volunteers interested in putting up the exhibits on Thursday or helping in any way, to contact Mr. Meader, who is the coordinator for the Fair.

The Jongleurs will meet Tuesday, March 21, at 4:30 in the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse.

Appearing in the Haynes Memorial Gymnasium tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. will be the New York Woodwind Quartet as they present the final program in the 1960-61 Lyceum Series. The Quartet is sponsored jointly by the arts program of the Association of American Colleges and the Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge Foundation of the Library of Congress.

New York Woodwind Group To Present Final Lyceum

The New York Woodwind Quintet will appear at Centenary College on Tuesday, March 21, to present the final program on the 1960-61 Lyceum Series on the local campus. The group will appear at 10:30 a. m. in the Haynes Memorial Gymnasium.

The quintet's appearance here will be one of several in the Gulf South States in the course of a special tour jointly sponsored by the arts program of the Association of American Colleges and the Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge Foundation of the Library of Congress.

The New York Woodwind Quintet is now in its tenth year of existence and has been applauded by critics and chamber music enthusiasts from coast to coast. Selected by the American National Theater and Academy as a group ideally suited to represent the best in American chamber music overseas, the quintet made a ten-week tour of South America in the fall of 1956 under the sponsorship of the State Department. This successful venture was followed by an invitation to appear at the American exposition at the Brussels World's Fair in the summer of 1958.

Members of the quintet are as follows: Samuel Baron, flute; Jerome Roth, oboe; David Glazer, clarinet; John Barrows, French horn; and Arthur Weisberg, bassoon. However, for the appearance here, Ronald Roseman will play the oboe, replacing Roth.

Each of the artists is a virtuoso in his own right and has won acclaim both here and abroad. Their instruments, each with its own special color, have been blended into a unique combination of sound, and the result has been performances marked by balance, precision and expressive eloquence.

Under sponsorship of the Ford Foundation, the quintet has made two educational films for the National Educational Television program. The musicians also have presented many educational concerts in schools and on television in the United States, thus stimulating interest not only in woodwind music but in chamber music in general.

Immediately following its current tour of colleges and universities in Louisiana, Alabama and Mississippi, the New York Woodwind Quintet will leave for a second European tour which will take it through virtually all the countries of Europe and through Israel.

Many works have been commissioned for performance by the New York Woodwind Quintet and received their premiere at the Library of Congress in the nation's capital. The quintet now is in the process of recording all of the quintet literature.

Cencoe Sponsors Sorority Picnic

Members of Cen-coe are planning a weiner roast at Betty Virginia Park on Thursday, March 23 at 5:00 p. m.

The girls will meet in front of James Dormitory at 5:00 o'clock that afternoon and go to the park by car.

The purpose of the party is to acquaint the different members of the sororities with the purposes of Cen-coe. Cen-coe, derived from Centenary Coed, has as its main purpose, the betterment of relationships between the sororities on campus.

Cen-coe is composed of 24 girls, eight girls from each of the three sororities who are selected by vote of the members of Cen-coe on the basis of service and leadership within their sorority.

Letter To The Editor

"And ye shall know the truth, and the Truth shall make you free."^{*}

And how shall we know the truth? Through our classrooms? Through the various organizations on campus? Through the Church and the Church's representation on campus, compulsory chapel? Through all of these and more. Our classrooms should be "arenas of controversy" where, everyday, new thoughts, new concepts, new shocks should pound upon the doors of our minds until we begin to think, to think and produce new thoughts for ourselves. Our organizations should provide, not an atmosphere of comfortable geniality, but one of intellectual stimulation, an area of intelligent communication where minds can meet and develop their innate potentiality.

If this is so, is the College obligated to provide opportunities for controversy and discussion? The obvious answer is "yes". But what is its thought for this obligation?

Just as the college has an obligation to the students, so do the students have an obligation to the college. Too often the student voice is silent. There is little or no effort to make known the desire for intellectual enlightenment to the administration and faculty. And it is shameful that this failure is due not to the lack of the desire, but to the lack of interest in expressing that desire. Very well, how can the students make known their wishes? The key word which answers this is communication. The students must talk, must discuss, must think with each other. Let each one set forth his ideas and opinions and consider and digest those of others. Subject for discussion? — Anything and everything. Let there be complete absolute freedom in the choice of topics and let that freedom continue through the discussions. Those who deeply feel the need for more intellectual stimulation will benefit from the discussions and can also feel that they are beginning something which can, and probably, will, "snowball" until it includes students and faculty alike.

^{*}St. John 8:32.

Patt Byrd

Centenary College subscribes to a tradition of intellectual freedom, as illustrated in a statement of the General Conference of the Methodist Church in 1952: "Our role is not to suppress ideas, but to open channels of communication, so that men can come to know the thoughts of their neighbors, and so that the best thoughts of all men can come to be the possessions of all mankind."

The College is committed to the 1940 statement of the AAUP relative to academic freedom. "The teacher is entitled to freedom in th classroom in discussing his subject but he should be careful not to introduce into his teaching controversial matter which has no relation to his subject."

College Qualification Test To Be Given April 27

Applications for the April 27, 1961 administration of the College Qualification Test are now available at Selective Service System local boards throughout the country.

Eligible students who intend to take this test should apply at once to the nearest Selective Service local board for an application and a bulletin of information.

Following instructions in the bulletin, the student should fill out his application and mail it immediately in the envelope provided to SELECTIVE SERVICE EXAMINING SECTION, Educational Testing Service, P. O. Box 586, Princeton, New Jersey. Applications for the April 27 test must be postmarked no later than midnight, April 6, 1961.

According to Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the College Qualification Test for the Selective Service System, it will be greatly to the student's advantage to file his application at once. Test results will be reported to the student's Selective Service local board of jurisdiction for use in considering his deferment as a student.

Dr. Cohen Speaks To Math Students

Dr. Haskell Cohen, associate professor of mathematics at Louisiana State University, delivered several addresses at Centenary College on Wednesday, March 15.

Dr. Virginia Carlton, head of the mathematics department at Centenary and coordinator of the visiting lecturer program in mathematics, announced that Dr. Cohen would deliver his first address at 8:50 a. m. in Room 314 of the Science Building. His topic was "Topics in Topology". The meeting was open to anyone interested.

From 10 a. m. to noon, Dr. Cohen conferred with individual students, primarily those majoring in mathematics, in Room 306 of the Science Building. Following luncheon in the cafeteria and individual counseling of students, Dr. Cohen lectured on the subject, "The Mathematician in the Twentieth Century" at a 3 p. m. meeting in the auditorium of the Science Building. This meeting was open to area high school science students and teachers as well as to Centenary teachers and students.

Competition For Navy OCS Hits Peak

The Little Rock Recruiting District has been allotted only 52 appointments to the Navy Officer Candidate School in Newport, Rhode Island for 1961.

Competition for appointments is open to College Seniors and Graduates in Northern Louisiana and Arkansas. Interested Centenary College Seniors may contact Mrs. Nichols. The Navy Liaison Officer to schedule an interview with Lieutenant Harold O'Connor on March 20 and 21, 1961.

Alpha Chi Seeks Eligible Students

Alpha Chi is the junior-senior scholastic honorary fraternity.

Anyone is eligible for membership who has a 3.5 or better overall average in sixty or more semester hours and a regular student.

If you are eligible, or know of someone who is eligible, please notify one of the following before Wednesday, March 22: Dr. E. L. Ford, John Williams, Joe Ben LaGrone, or Albert Cooksey.

Radiology Is Topic Of AED Program

Alpha Epsilon Delta, the honorary pre-medical society, had as its program last Thursday evening, March 15, a field trip to Schumpert Sanitarium.

Members of the group were met at Schumpert by Dr. J. E. Carlisle, radiologist, whose office is on Line Avenue.

Dr. Carlisle spoke to the group on the subject of radiology and the career opportunities for the radiologist. The evening was highlighted by a look at cobalt machine and other radiological equipment at Schumpert and an explanation by Dr. Carlisle of their application to the science of radiology.

Student Senate Minutes

The Student Senate Meeting was held in the Moore Student Center at 5:45 Wednesday, March 8. The meeting was called to order by the president, Jim Daigle. Others present were Anne McLaurin, Ralph Mason, Brenda Bailey, James Goins, Jean Netterville, G. B. Watson, Barbara Bourdier, Don Tyler, Buddy Daily, Tim Temple, Mike Sport, Dean Allen, and Miss Alexander.

Buddy Daily reported that he has checked on Senate Keys for Honors Chapel.

Jim Daigle talked to Mrs. Nichols concerning the senior tea. A motion was made and seconded that the Senate cancel plans for a tea this year since Aufait was having a garden Party. This motion carried.

The committee to choose a name for April 7-8 weekend met and found the following names: 1. Juba. 2. Gent's Holiday. 3. Bogalie. 4. Rondelay. 5. Camber. 6. Revelrie. 7. Funada. 8. Fais-de-do. Anne and Miss Alexander explained that the Centenary Gentleman was unique and should be incorporated if possible. After several votes Gentleman's Juba was chosen. Juba means festivity.

Under new Business the Chi Omegas wanted to know if they could have a style show on April 8 with girls from every organization participating. It was suggested they talk to Mr. Dowell, the Alumni Director, for the final okay.

There being no further business the meeting was adjourned.

Authentic Costumes Worn By Mrs. Douglas In "Rivalry"

Lorine Crenshaw, cast as the very fashionable Mrs. Douglas in the Norman Corwin drama based on the Lincoln-Douglas debates, recreates an era with authentic costumes designed by Mrs. Irene Corey.

The Adele Douglas wardrobe consists of three basic dresses, which are designed on the "layer" theory with overskirts which can be added or removed to produce a total of eight changes.

The costumes are authentic, even down to the method of construction. The creation of the 1858 shape was quite a problem. The fitted bodice, wasp-waist was finally achieved when Mrs. Corey and her staff reverted to "fundamentals" and stitched up a corset from a 19th century pattern. With the corset as a base, the costumes rapidly took "shape".

Extensive research was done in such books as Godey's Lady's Book — 1860 and Cunningham's English Women's Clothing in the 19th Century. Braids, ball fringe, and all manner of trimmings; bright colors contrasted in a single garment, and wide hoop skirts characterize the designs. Completing each costume are be-ruffled, be-ribboned and flowered bonnets which were executed by Mrs. Lillian MacCurdy.

The costumes also trace the triumph to tragedy plot of the play. Bright colored ensembles set the mood at the beginning and the action ends on a somber note as Mrs. Douglas dons a black mourning dress and veil.

"The Rivalry" opened this past week-end and will complete its run beginning Thursday, March 23, and will run through the 25th. Box office is open from 9:30 a. m. until 4:30 p. m. daily and reservations may be made by calling UN 1-7231.

Alpha Xi Delta Holds Annual Rose Banquet

Alpha Xi Delta will hold its annual Rose Banquet at 7:00 p. m. on March 24, at Sansone's. The banquet will mark the 30th year of Alpha Xi Delta on the Centenary Campus.

Mistress of Ceremonies will be the newly-elected alumnae chapter president, Mrs. Miriam Warner. She will begin the evening by uniting all Alpha Xi's present in a toast to the chapter.

Guest of honor is Dr. Mary Warters, charter member of Alpha Xi Delta who has been on the Centenary campus since its beginning in 1931.

After dinner activities will include a candle-lighting ceremony and group singing. Three speeches on the Past, Present, and Future of Alpha Xi Delta will be given respectively by an alumna, an active, and a recent initiate.

Outgoing president, Judy Hebert, will present the gavel to incoming president for next year, LaVerne Burkes, and will introduce the newly elected officers. A silver engraved bracelet will be presented to the pledge who maintained the highest scholastic average last semester.

The reporter responsible for one of the most consistently popular columns in the Conglomerate, the campus personalities, is this week's recipient for Hat's Off. Gathering material for her column leads her all over the campus as she interviews people whose activities she feels would be of interest to the student body.

She is a sophomore from El Dorado, Ark., and is majoring in English and Spanish with the intention of teaching high school when she graduates from college.

In addition to her position on the Conglomerate, she is also active as Wardrobe Mistress of the Centenary Choir and is Senior Panhellenic Representative from Chi Omega Sorority. Although all of these activities keep her busy, she has managed to remain on the Dean's List since entering Centenary College and she is a member of Alpha Sigma Pi, honorary scholastic fraternity.

This column requires the reporter of above average writing ability because it takes considerable skill to co-ordinate three or four people's experiences into one smoothly written story. It also requires that the reporter be able to put people at ease in order to obtain an interesting story. Because the Conglomerate feels that she fulfills both these qualifications admirably we wish to say Hat's Off to . . . Sandra McCuiston.

Caught in a typical scene from one of their many Wing-Dings are Maury Johnston, Cookie Burnett, Linda Kay Ellington, and Sallie Clingman. Wing-Ding is defined as a get together of all members of the right wing of James Dormitory for the purpose of entertainment, and fellowship. This new type of gathering was initiated this fall and have been a great success ever since.

Wing-Dings Bring Fame To James

By MARY BOSTICK

FAME comes to many persons and groups in a variety of ways, and the right wing of James Dorm, first floor, gained dormitory fame in a unique way, indeed. A new type of party was initiated through the originality of Sally Clingman, Jill Landis, Sandra McCuiston, and Catherine Chesney, and termed "Wing-Ding". Whether famous or infamous, this party began a series of get-togethers which will long be remembered.

Every month one suite extends invitations to the other suites to visit their abode and share in the joy provided by "bull-sessions". At each wing-ding entertainment is provided by a representative from each suite, and the hostess suite serves cookies or cakes with the stipulation that each girl brings her own cold drink. The first party proved to be a great success when the founders of the Wing-Ding delighted all present by singing the celebrated "Blueberries".

A Hallo-wing Ding was given by Maury Johnston, Joyce Camerer, and Carolyn and Clarene Carver on October 31. African music and dim candlelight created a weird atmosphere which was intensified by ghost stories hauntingly related by Helen Gulley. Halloween cup-cakes and peppermint sticks cunningly placed in the heads of Jack-O-Lanterns encouraged everyone to stray from their diets. All good things must end, however, and this particular party was cut short when the reality of 9-weeks tests was remembered by some studious soul.

For various and sundry reasons a November shindig was omitted, but December brought with it the longest Wing-Ding in history. Lyndra Pate, Janet McClelland, and Mary Bostick threw an "adios" party for Lynn Knotts and Helen Gulley, the only graduating seniors of the wing. The usual discourse, entertainment, and stuffing occasioned the gathering until the sadness of the seniors leaving enveloped the group. A small minority remained after the termination of this social to discuss such pressing matters as boys, etiquette, hair-do's until 3:30 A. M.

Anything may be used as an excuse for a Wing-Ding, and on January 5, Linda Kay Ellington, Helen Gulley, Carol Reichelt, and Kay Cooper surprised Janet McClelland and Sandra McCuiston with cakes and cookies for their birthdays. Although everyone thoroughly enjoyed the break from studying, this party turned out to be an eat-and-run affair as finals were descending upon us.

A wing-ding to top all Wing-Dings was held in the suite of Virginia Bobbitt, Shirley Burnett, and Jean Netterville only two weeks ago. The purpose of this one, much to the dismay of all Miss Centenary contestants of the wing, was a talent show to be given by each contestant. A preliminary bathing suit contest had occurred days before when each embarrassed participant had to walk the length of the hall and watch herself in the floor length mirror. Now, to add to the humiliation already incurred by the bathing suit competition, a show to disclose lack, or abundance, of talent was underway. Merriment prevailed to such an extent at the "show" as to even make the contestants relax and enjoy themselves.

Saucier Lectures To Physics Classes

Several addresses on meteorology were delivered here Wednesday, March 15, by Dr. Walter L. Saucier, professor of meteorology at the University of Oklahoma, who came to Centenary College as a visiting lecturer.

Dr. Saucier, who holds the PhD degree from the University of Chicago, met with the various classes in physics on the campus during the day and also conferred with individual junior and senior students who were interested in careers in meteorology.

At 4 p. m. he spoke at a general meeting in the auditorium of the Science Building. The program was open to all area high school teachers of science and to their students, as well as to Centenary faculty and students. Dr. Saucier was guest speaker at 6:15 p. m. at the dinner meeting of the Broadmoor Kiwanis Club at Redeemer Lutheran Church where he was introduced by Dr. Leo G. Raub, head of the physics and industrial technology department at Centenary.

Dr. Raub completed arrangements for Dr. Saucier's visit to the campus. The principal purpose of the visit was to encourage promising students with physical science leanings or background to enter the graduate study of meteorology.

ARE YOU TOO STABLE?

If you are one of those stable persons who never has any excitement, who feels that life is nothing but walking up and down slopes, depressions, and alluvial fans on the way to classes, who has not the slightest bit of uncertainty about the daily routine of (pardon the expression) campus life, there is a small but definite solution to your problem. It might seem ridiculous or Freudian or something, but try it. On the long wooden bridge between the Science Building and the SUB, there are certain boards that wobble when one walks on them. You might have to do some hunting, but they are there. The object is to see how many boards you can wobble and waver on during one crossing. If you can get five or six you're doing great. For a split-second, this should give you a slight but quite perceptible sensation of instability. But let it be said, this method is for the kind of person who is too retiring to push on to bigger and better and more ostentatious displays of instability. By this suggestion, I hope I have helped some of you suffering from hum-drumness. This theory is tried and true, and will be fabulous for you. I only ask everyone not to try it at the same time, for you might create a bottle-neck on the way to chapel some Thursday. Happy instabilities!!

Jim Daigle Wins Law Scholarship

Jim Daigle, president of the Centenary Student Body, has received a $2,200 scholarship to Tulane University.

The scholarship, which covers three years tuition to the Tulane Law School, was officially received by Daigle on Tuesday, March 15.

Daigle, competing with other applicants was selected on the basis of scholarship and extra-curricular activities.

Jim, a graduating senior in May, will enter Tulane next September and complete his three years of law school. Following that he plans to serve two years in the Armed Services and then set up his law practice.

Do all Air Force Officers have Wings?

Decidedly not. In fact most executive jobs are on the ground. Of course, all officers may apply for pilot and navigator training if they meet the eligibility requirements. There will always be a need for piloted aircraft. And it is foreseeable that in your working lifetime, there will be piloted spacecraft—piloted and navigated by Air Force officers.

But right now, there is also a big future for college-trained Air Force officers on the ground. New and exciting technical jobs are opening up. Important administrative positions must be filled as World War II officers move into retirement.

How can you—a college student—become an Air Force officer? First, there's Air Force ROTC. Then for college graduates, men and women in certain fields, there is Officer Training School. The graduate of its three-month course wins a commission as a second lieutenant. Other ways are the Navigator Training program, and the Air Force Academy.

Some benefits that go with being an Air Force officer. Starting salary plus allowances compare with the average in equivalent civilian jobs. Then there's free medical and dental care, thirty-day vacation, the chance to win graduate degrees at Air Force expense, and liberal retirement provisions.

No, Air Force officers do not need wings to move up. There's plenty doing on the ground. Perhaps you could be one of these young executives in blue. Ask your local Air Force Recruiter. Or write, Officer Career Information, Dept. SC13, Box 7608, Washington 4, D.C., if you want further information about the navigator training or Officer Training School programs.

Baseball Opens With Twin-Bill

The Gents 1961 baseball nine will open its brand new season with a doubleheader against McNeese State in Lake Charles on March 24th.

Coach Doug Moity will be counting heavily on his three returning lettermen — Dickie Richard, Vernon Kalmbach, and Terry Everett. All three are pitchers but are also available for other fielding chores.

An extremely promising Freshmen contingent could provide the base-batters with a strong line up. Pitcher Cecil Upshaw, infielder Jim Pippen, and catcher R. V. Lockwood are the outstanding frosh candidates. Transfer Fred Shewmake is a probable infield starter.

The first home encounter will match the Gents with the Demons of Northwestern State. This and all single Gent home games will begin at 2 P. M.

Caught in the act, as usual, these Playhouse regulars find a moment's diversion before continuing with their daily duties. Jim Foster and Wiley Cameron are the least guilty-looking thieves that Jane Hebert and Grace Jackson have nabbed in a long time.

Drama Students' Lives Action Packed

By SANDRA McCUISTION

Under the direction of Mr. Corey, a newcomer to Centenary last fall, our heretofore dormant drama department has sprung to life. Student productions presented with professional skill have been enjoyed by Centenary students and Shreveporters alike. This issue the Conglomerate presents four of the students who take active roles in the Playhouse productions.

Remove the make-up and costumes from the "tallest knight" in "Murder in the Cathedral" and "Mr. Page" in Merry Wives and you will find Jim Foster. Jim, a Shreveporter, is a freshman this year and comes to Centenary via East Baptist College (for one semester), the United States Marine Corps (for two years) and a brief period in manager training for Child's Cafeteria.

Jim took his first speech course to overcome stage fright and gradually became so interested in speech and drama that he decided to make it his life's work. His ambition is to become so versatile an actor that he will be able to play anything from an extremely tragic role to an extremely comic one. "Actually," says Jim, "I'd really like to play a violent criminal." (We hope this isn't a clue to your true character, Jim).

In addition to acting, Jim thinks being a circus clown would be quite interesting — especially if he could indulge in another of his pet interests in the off season — that of having a reptile garden! Another of Jim's more serious ambitions is to return to Shreveport some day and establish a school for homeless children. It may sound impossible for him to realize all of these ambitions but after talking to him for a while it seems evident that he might make a success of all four.

Grace Meets Occupational Hazards

Grace Jackson, a sophomore speech and drama major, from Homer, La., is a member of Chi Omega, Phi Beta, Alpha Psi Omega, and the Canterbury Club. Grace is working toward her teacher's degree in English and Speech, but would really like to go into radio and television when she finishes college. Grace appeared in the production of "Murder in the Cathedral" and played Mrs. Ford in "Merry Wives of Windsor". One of the things she is enjoying most at the moment is touring with the production of "Cry Dawn in Dark Babylon".

Although this play is a quite serious and thought-provoking production about the church, sometimes Grace feels that they do not always succeed in getting across the message of the play. For instance, after a recent performance, a young member of the congregation was so pleased with the play that he rushed up to Grace afterwards and said, "You were so funny, I laughed and laughed all the way through it."

However, Grace has learned to cope with such "occupational hazards". During one performance of "Merry Wives", she tore her dress on a nail and had to play one whole scene standing in one spot desperately trying to keep her skirt from falling off. In one of her scenes in Murder, she was horrified to discover that she had lost one of her contact lenses. During the rest of the play she had to be content with monocular vision and just hope that no one would step on her lens. Fortunately it was recovered unharmed at the close of the production.

Drama Plus Pre-Med?

Wiley Cameron, from Minden, is a junior and a pre-med major. Although labs, and we must add in all honesty, bridge keep him very busy, Wiley still manages to be active in many of the Playhouse productions. He also enjoys water skiing, playing the piano, and bowling. He does admit that his bowling game is much more amusing to those around him than to himself.

Beside cutting classes, Wiley's chief hobby is taking crazy pictures, usually in the company of Jerry Mitchell, Lorene Crenshaw, and Jane Hebert. Their latest adventure in photography was a shot of Wiley "mailing" Lorene, who was wrapped up like a package, and put feet first into a mailbox on Line Avenue. This little episode jammed traffic for blocks.

Wiley also had costume trouble one evening during a performance of "Merry Wives of Windsor". "Fenton's" pants caught on one of the sets as he walked by, but he strode bravely on and almost brought the set toppling down after him. Another night, due to a long series of miscues, Wiley spent most of the performance in the tavern. "That night," comments Wiley, "everyone probably thought 'Boy that Fenton character can really put it away!'"

Jane-of-All-Trades

Jane Hebert, a freshman speech major from Leesville, says that working in the Playhouse helps one to develop many talents other than acting. "I came here with no experience," comments Jane, "and already I've done everything from sewing ruffles on costumes to handling ticket sales in the box office." In fact, Jane worked in the box office for so long and so diligently that she found herself answering the phone in the dorm with "Good morning, Marjorie Lyons Playhouse".

Jane would like to act professionally, but since this life is a little unstable, (or as Jane puts it, "I like to eat.") she plans to obtain a teacher's certificate in speech and would like to eventually become a drama coach.

Jane's other interests include music, bowling and swimming. She has also thought seriously of becoming an airline hostess before she enters the field of drama.

Jane's only complaint about Centenary is the fact that so many students do not attend Playhouse productions.

Those people that you see limping to class are probably some of the campus roller skating fans. Some of those brave souls who are reviving the sport are Jerry Jouett, Indi Nichols, Tally Pledger, Bettye Thornton, George Williford, Johnny Shankles, and Maury Johnston. Happy landings all!

Congratulations to Lyndra Pate, Louisiana's princess to the Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington, D. C.

Kay Cooper, Sallie Clingman, Sara Hitchcock and Marie Armiton made a recent visit to Jackson, Mississippi. They attended Chi Omega Firesides which is held alternating years in place of convention.

Congratulations to Jackie Norman, a recent Alpha Xi pledge.

Newly elected Zeta Tau Alpha officers are congratulated by all. Heading the chapter next year will be Judy Rhodes — president, Betty Joe Towery — Vice President and Pledge Trainer, Edith Elliott — Recording Secretary, Colleen Cathey — Corresponding, Carole Mangham — Treasurer.

Betty Sims was named model pledge at the Zeta formal, Ann Hogan is best pledge and Sandra Stokes received the scholarship award.

Congratulations to Jim Daigle and Fred Schwendemann who received the Kappa Sigma Scholarship-Leadership awards this year.

Sandy Lawn must have an inside track on the news. Shortly after his prediction that many people would become dropped and pinned in the near future, Mike Sport gave Joan Williams drop letters. Congratulations Mike and Joan!

New Alpha Xi Delta officers are LaVerne Burks — President, Kay France — Vice President and Pledge Trainer, Merrill Ann Snider — Treasurer, and Martha Kelly — Secretary. Congratulations girls.

Kathy McCallister, Bettye Thornton, Maureen Melbourn, Melanie Martin and Diana Ammons have learned that it doesn't pay to kidnap actives. However, Sallie Clingman and Jill Landis weren't mad. They even helped the pledges wash their feet!

Degree Requirements To Be Changed By September '61

The Centenary College administration, acting under the recommendation of the recent survey made by the House Committee for the Betterment of U. S. Liberal Education, has announced the planned renovation of the Centenary College curriculum, to be effective beginning September, 1961.

Convinced that liberal education is the answer to the current problem in U. S. education and that American liberal arts colleges are leaning too much toward specialization, the House Committee sent out its recommendations to liberal arts colleges in the United States. The Committee feels that specialization does not prepare the student for the cosmopolitan world of today.

After due consideration of the Committee report by the administration and faculty during the last year, Dr. Joe J. Mickle has made public the new Liberal Arts program which will begin with the fall term of next year. The program will not affect juniors and graduating seniors of 1961, but will have immediate effect on the degree plans of current sophomores and freshmen.

BLA Degree Established

Under the new curriculum plan, the college will no longer offer the Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees. One degree only will be issued to all graduating seniors, that of the Bachelor of Liberal Arts.

Beginning in September, prerequisite courses will no longer be required. The student will be free to select any course at any level for graduation. The Committee feels that this will encourage accelerated students to proceed with their education at their own rate.

Quarter System Adopted

In order to enlarge the scope of subjects covered by the students, the college will shift to the quarter system. This will enable the student to complete a normal semester course in a shorter time and therefore allow him to be exposed to a greater variety of courses. First quarter will begin on September 1 and last through November. Second quarter will include December through February, and third quarter will last from March to May 31. Summer sessions will be held as usual.

Total hours required for graduation will be 180 quarter hours. This allows for 15 hours each quarter (three quarters a year), for a total of four years. Major fields have been eliminated and substituted with a broad, general curriculum.

Physical Education Eliminated

To fulfill the 180 hours required for graduation, a student will take 18 quarter hours of credit from each of ten different fields: History-Government, Science, Mathematics, Sociology, Philosophy, Music, Art, Commerce, English, and Languages. Under the new curriculum, physical education will be eliminated. Each course the student takes will be an elective, except for meeting the required number of hours in each field.

The committee feels that this program will provide the student with a broad background and encourage him to go into graduate work for his specialization. Further information about the program will be provided during registration next fall.

Aufait Initiates 5

On Monday, March 18, Aufait served punch and cookies to prospective members of the Aufait room in the Moore Student Center. The room has been redecorated and the Aufait plaque for 1960-61 is one of the focal points. Any coed interested in joining Aufait is invited to visit this room at 6:00 on Monday evenings.

Aufait initiation was held Sunday, March 19. Initiated were Julie Creel, Diana Laney, Judy Matthews, Dorothy Risinger, and Dorothy Wise. The scholarship award was given to Diana Laney. Dorothy Wise received the best pledge award. These awards were silver discs appropriately engraved.

Aufait's future plans include a Garden Party to be given for the Class of 1961 on the Sunday of graduation and a surrey ride for the school fair. Plans are also being made for an entrant in Holiday in Dixie and the election of officers for next term.

Johnson Heads Kappa Alpha

Bill Johnson has been chosen to head Kappa Alpha Fraternity for the coming year.

Other officers elected are Mike Ramming, II; Eric Bishop, III; Bill McCaa, IV; John Vasilopoulos, V; Larry Jones, VI; Rodney Hart, VII; Bob Hawkins, VIII; and Tommy Brewerton, IX. These officers will serve from spring of 1961 until spring of 1962.

Bryon Announces Cast For "Shepards Play"

George Bryon, senior drama student, has announced the cast for his one-act play, "The Play of the Shepherds".

The cast is as follows: Jack Mulkey as Mak; Jane Hebert, Jill; Hal Proske, Coll; Dick Johns, Gib; Denie Brown, Daw; Jim Foster, B. T. Thornton and Linda Mashaw as Angels. Members of the Shreveport Symphony will assist.

The play, a medieval mystery, will begin at 6:00 p. m. March 28. There will be no admission fee.

The next play to be presented by the play-directing class will be Ghelderode's "Eschurial", on April 18, with David Gibson as director.

Self, Hembree, Williams Earn Defense Fellowships

Three Centenary Seniors, John O. Williams, Charles Hembree, and Alwynelle Self, have been awarded $6,600 three year National Defense Graduate Fellowships. The fellowships provide for $2,000 for the initial year of study, $2,200 for the second year and $2,400 for the third year of graduate work. They are provided by the Office of Education and Welfare, Washington, D. C.

Williams, a senior majoring in mathematics, said he will work toward his doctor's degree in astronomy at the University of Texas in Austin. He will enter the Texas institution next September.

The University of Chicago is working in cooperation with the University of Texas in the astronomy program, and Williams said he probably will spend some time there in conjunction with his work.

Williams, who was stationed at Barksdale Air Force Base as an Airman first class for several years prior to entering Centenary, is a resident of Arlington, Va.

At Centenary he is president of Alpha Chi, national honorary scholastic society, for juniors and seniors, and president of Sigma Tau Delta, professional English Society. He is a member of Phi Sigma Iota, honorary society for outstanding students of the romance language, and is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa. He has been active in the program of the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse and played the leading role in the production of T. S. Eliot's "Murder in the Cathedral", which opened the Playhouse season this fall.

Charles Hembree, an English major from Vivian, La., will use his fellowship for graduate study in English at the University of Oklahoma which will ultimately lead to a Ph.D. He will enter the school in September of 1961. Charles has been active in the playhouse and is a member of Sigma Tau Delta. At present, Charles is planning to teach English and is especially interested in criticism.

A biology major from Shreveport, Alwynelle Self, will attend the University of Wyoming where she will participate in a special program which will lead to a Ph.D. in Physiology. In connection with this program she will attend a science camp which will be held in the Medicine Bow mountains in Wyoming during the month of June. In July she will return to campus and begin her studies. Alwynelle is presently serving as President of the Biology Club, is a member of Alpha Sigma Chi, honorary scholastic fraternity, and Chi Omega sorority.

"Rivalry" To Be Shown In Mansfield Celebration

Orlin Corey's production of Norman Corwin's drama, "The Rivalry", has been selected as the first official event for the Civil War Centennial observance of the Mansfield Battle Park.

The drama of the famed Lincoln-Douglas debates, which completed its run at the Playhouse last Saturday, will be repeated at 1 p. m. and 7 p. m. performances on Friday, April 7, in Mansfield. The performances will be presented in the auditorium of the Museum with the DeSoto Department Club of Mansfield as co-sponsoring group.

Arrangements for the Mansfield performances were made in conjunction with William W. Wells, assistant director of parks, Baton Rouge, and Clay Watson, curator of the Mansfield Battle Park Museum, through the Louisiana State Parks and Recreation Commission.

Alumni Day Scheduled For Saturday April 8

Alumni Day will be observed Saturday, April 8, at Centenary under the general chairmanship of James N. Patterson, president of the Centenary Alumni Association.

Reunions of the classes of 1952, 1953, 1954 and 1955, all of which were on the campus simultaneously, will be stressed during the day-long observance. Special attention also will be focused on the class of 1937, which will hold its 25th anniversary reunion, and the class of 1911, which will hold its 50th anniversary reunion.

Student organizations have been asked to cooperate by inviting their former members back to the campus for the event. Greek sororities and fraternities, honorary scholastic groups, professional organizations and the Maroon Jackets and members of Omicron Delta Kappa are among those participating.

Assisting Patterson with plans for the event are the following committee members: Dr. Virginia Carlton, head of the department of mathematics, who is faculty representative; LeRoy Scott, part-time instructor in physics, serving as advisor to campus organizations; Roland Achee, alumnus in charge of arrangements, and James R. Dowell, Jr. Director of alumni affairs on the campus.

MSM State Convention Scheduled for April 8-9

The annual MSM Convention for the state of Louisiana to be held in April 8-9 in Dulac, Louisiana, will have as guest speaker Dr. Edmund Perry of Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois.

Dr. Perry, who was the recent Wilson lecturer at Centenary College, will speak on the topic of "The New Image of the Christian Student in the Academic Community". In addition to the main speaker there will be the regular business meeting and other gatherings. Paul McMahan state MSM Treasurer, stated that one item on the agenda will be the presentation of a new constitution for the organization. A committee has been working on revising the old constitution since last April.

About 15 Centenary students are expected to attend the convention.

Gail Southerland Reigns As Queen Of Dogwood Festival

Gail Southerland, a freshman from Plain Dealing, was crowned queen of the annual Dogwood Festival Saturday, March 25, in the Plain Dealing High School Gymnasium.

Gail was chosen by a secret committee from a court of twelve Plain Dealing girls, all of whom were 1960 graduates of Plain Dealing High School. As one of the Festival Queens, Gail will appear at other functions throughout the year.

A piano major, Gail is also active as treasurer of Phi Beta music Fraternity, is a member of Alpha Sigma Pi, freshman honor society, and was the recipient of the scholarship pledge award of Chi Omega Sorority.

Student Senate Minutes

The Student Senate Meeting was held in the Moore Student Center at 5:45 Wednesday, March 15. The meeting was called to order by the president, Jim Daigle. Others present were Anne McLaurin, Brenda Bailey, James Goins, Jean Netterville, G. B. Watson, Barbara Bourdier, Buddy Daily, Tim Temple, Yogi Ferrari, Mike Sport, Dean Allen, Dr. Morgan, and Miss Alexander.

James Goins reported there was $347.48 in the treasury.

Don Tyler has ten or fifteen acts set up for the Vaudeville Show and Tim Temple is obtaining the tickets for the event.

Anne McLaurin has checked with Mrs. Nichols concerning decorations for the April 8, Billy May Dance.

Buddy Daily said he was going to write the Marlboro Company for the Student Senate Keys.

A motion had been previously tabled concerning Freshman haircuts. Dean Allen suggested we make a decision on this for the new Centenary Handbook. Discussion was then opened on doing away with haircutting. It was decided a substitute should be made if we ended haircutting. The motion was tabled again and a committee of Buddy Daily, Anne McLaurin, G. B. Watson, and Brenda Bailey was appointed to bring suggestions next week.

There has been a great deal of opinion expressed concerning the throwing of people into the ponds. After a period of discussion the Senate passed the following resolution:

"Be it resolved on this fifteenth day of March there will be no more throwing of people into the ponds on campus due to the danger involved. Any person violating this rule will be subject to disciplinary action."

The Alpha Chi program has been sent to the various delegates stating the time of the Vaudeville Show to be 8:15. Since it was too late for them to make a change the Senate passed a motion changing the time of the Friday Night Vaudeville from 7:00 to 8:15.

There being no further business the meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
Brenda Bailey
Student Senate Secretary

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editors,

March 17

This morning I had the misfortune of walking from the cafeteria to the Science Building in the driving rain. I should say that I waded because half of the concrete blocks were under a few inches of ice cold water. Also, a poor soul was trying to go to the cafeteria from the Science Building and had to walk most of the way in the water because there was no room on the walk. This same situation of inadequate sidewalks has existed since 1949 when the building was built. Since then the school has built three new girl's dorms, a new wing on Rotary, the playhouse, the chapel, the cafeteria, remodeled the SUB, and the amphitheatre, built numerous memorial gardens, but have not seen fit to build a simple little sidewalk from the cafeteria to the Science Building. It seems that we can afford many new buildings and memorial gardens, but we can't afford a decent sidewalk.

I humbly petition the administration to set aside some money in their next budget so that a good, DRY sidewalk can be built to alleviate the misery of walking to the Science Building on rainy mornings.

Drama Dept. Sponsors Church Drama Workshop

A workshop in church drama was held under the sponsorship of the Centenary College speech and drama department from 2 to 4:30 p. m., Friday, March 24, at the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse.

Orlin Corey, head of the department, reported that five local clergymen participated in a panel discussion on the topic, "The Role and Requirements of Drama in the Churches". Participating ministers were the following: the Rev. Herbert B. Barks, Jr., First Presbyterian Church; Dr. James W. Middleton, First Baptist; the Rev. Woodrow Hearn, First Methodist; the Rev. Alan T. Sykes, St. Mark's Episcopal, and the Rev. Joe Lacey, Kings Highway Christian Church.

The program opened with a performance of "Cry Dawn in Dark Babylon", by P. W. Turner, under the sponsorship of the Jongleurs, Centenary drama group. This play has been taken on a tour of churches in the Ark-La-Tex since its presentation on campus last fall.

The purpose of the workshop, according to Corey, was to stimulate interest in the use of drama in church programs.

Peace Corps Organized To Better Foreign Relations

In order to establish more secure international relations, the present administration in Washington is developing a program called the Peace Corps.

The essential idea of this program is the placement of Americans in actual operational work in newly developing areas of the world. While living with the people they are helping, Peace Corps volunteers will concentrate on the following areas: (1) Teaching; (2) Fighting malaria and working in other health projects; (3) Working in agricultural projects and rural development programs; (4) Working on large-scale construction and industrial projects; (5) Working in government administration.

To secure volunteers, the Peace Corps staff will set up and maintain a general recruitment and selection process. This nation-wide recruitment program will build up a pool of applicants and serve as a central placement center for volunteers for world development. In addition, private agencies and universities will be able to recruit directly and separately for their respective projects.

Although there is no rigid age limit, volunteers will probably be young college graduates. Younger or older workers with skills needed abroad, but without college degrees, will carry out some important projects. Two or three years will be the normal length of service.

Students should use their four year college curriculum as a training period and intensively study language, history, economics, and the culture of the area in which they are interested.

Although the Peace Corps will be launched on its own identity, it will be established as an agency of the State Department and receive necessary assistance from those now responsible for United States foreign policy and our overseas operation.

Attention: Student Body

Throwing students into the fountains on campus has become a tradition on this campus. This practice was originated during Freshman hazing and much to the dismay of many students, this practice has continued into the spring semester. At the meeting of March 15, 1961, the Student Senate passed the following rule by a unanimous vote. "No student or faculty member shall be thrown into any of the fountains on the Centenary Campus. Any student participating in any such act will be subject to strict disciplinary action by the Dean of Students." Student cooperation in this matter is asked for the following reasons:

1. A few years ago a person was seriously injured when he cut his foot during such a prank.
2. A student could be permanently injured by such action.
3. The protest of so many students could not be ignored by the Senate.

The Student Senate

The Conglomerate will publish all student body officer candidate platforms in a special issue. Platforms must be turned in, complete and organized with an attached photograph, to the Conglomerate office by April 10, if a candidate wishes to run for a student senate office this year.

Tennis Team Edges Tech

Centenary's 1961 tennis season opened with a flourish last week as the Gentlemen edged the Bulldogs of Louisiana Tech 4-3.

The Gents showed their greatest strength in singles competition as they won four of the five singles matches. The first win of the afternoon came as Arnie McHone came from behind after dropping the first set to Tech and defeated Bob Mosley, 2-6, 6-3, 8-6. As the score indicates, it was a hard fought match, but form and consistency awarded the match to Centenary's number one player.

The second match of the day gave Tech their only victory over Centenary as Jerry Jouett, playing in the number two slot, was defeated by Thay Butchee, 6-4, 6-3. This match tied the tournament at 1-1, but Centenary soon regained the lead and held it as Sonny Elder was victorious over Gene Bass, 6-1, 7-5.

Centenary won its third singles match shortly thereafter as Johnny Shankles staged a comeback after losing the first three games of the first set, and won over Lance Scott, 6-4, 6-1. The final victory for the Gents came as Dave White edged Tech's number five netter to give Centenary a 4-1 lead and cinch the over-all win for the Maroons.

The doubles competition, however, saw the Gents on the short end of the score as they dropped both matches by very close margins. In the number one doubles event McHone and Jouett lost to the Tech team of Mosley and Butchee, 6-4, 6-2. The second doubles match between Elder and Shankles, Centenary, and Bass and Scott, Tech, waged for so long that darkness accounted for many points lost on both sides. The match finally ended with Tech on top 8-6, 3-6, 8-6.

The Gents have reason to be proud of their season opener yet will have to improve their doubles games before going on the road to protect their winning record.

Juanita Donelson Recalls Fun Of Year As Miss Shreveport

On April 9, 1960, Juanita Donelson, at that time a senior at Fair Park High School, received the title of Miss Shreveport. Since then she has lived in a whirl of social activities and responsibilities related to her title. "Many people think that winning is the end," says Juanita, "but it is just the beginning of a year that goes on and on."

This Centenary freshman's year has been a constant round of civic and social functions including teas, dinners, and cultural events. Immediately after the Miss Shreveport pageant last spring she was flown to Fort Lauderdale, Florida, for a ten-day jaunt of sunning and skin-diving. She even visited the sets on which the movie "Where the Boys Are" was being filmed. Upon her return to Shreveport she began the busy life in the spotlight. She has been featured on the covers of "Shreveport Spotlight" and "Shreveport Magazine", and just last weekend she flew to Alabama for a National Ad as Miss Shreveport.

Official City Hostess

Among the responsibilities Juanita has had as Miss Shreveport have been judging beauty pageants, awarding trophies, riding in parades, turning on the city's Christmas lights, cutting ribbons on shopping centers, racetracks, and new buildings. She was official hostess to Miss Louisiana, Judith Ann Coday, for three weeks last summer, as well as to Miss Holiday in Dixie, Marva Ann Glover. She met Debbie Drake during her visit to Shreveport, and was hostess to the stars of the movie "Desire in the Dust", which premiered here. October found her named official hostess for the Louisiana State Fair.

Mister Lynn Cover Girl

In connection with her title of Miss Shreveport, Juanita was named Miss Louisiana Hilltop Raceway and was first runner-up in the International Speed Queen contest. She acted as princess of the telephone company one day, and traveled all over Shreveport with the students of Youree Drive Junior High School when they held their Shreveport Day. Juanita, who has modeled in many stores and style shows throughout the area, was named Most Outstanding Model of 1960 of Mister Lynn's Cover Girls.

Juanita's year has not been all business, however, and several photographers have caught her in leisurely poses; sailing at the Shreveport Yacht Club, sitting in hay at the State Fair, fishing the bayous of Louisiana (complete with hip boots, spinning reel, and fish nets), cooking Thanksgiving dinner and driving a thrilling Volpini around Hilltop Raceway.

Plays Mickey Mouse

"Many funny things have happened to me because I've been Miss Shreveport," says Juanita. "I've been caught speeding about six times trying to get places as Miss Shreveport the police are always nice but it's rather embarrassing sometimes. I've had to walk down Marshall Street in a ball gown and pose for bathing suit pictures in the middle of town. I even played Mickey Mouse for a crowd of children one day when I crowned Miss Mouseketeer at the Strand Theatre. And my neighbors always pick the times when my hair is wet and I don't have any make-up on my face to say 'That's Miss Shreveport'."

Having had many exciting experiences connected with her office, Juanita is now stepping into the final round of activities leading to the choice of a new Miss Shreveport this April. Luncheons every day and the many other appearances she must make are keeping her very busy. "It's a wonderful experience. I've learned more in this one year than I could in years of school. My only regret is that I cannot do something nice for everyone who has done something for me."

Juanita is a freshman at Centenary, a member of Chi Omega social sorority.

Tennis Personality

Joining the Gent tennis squad for the first time this year, Johnny Shankles hails from Beaumont, Texas. Johnny attended South Park High School in Beaumont where he lettered in tennis for three years and was the team captain as a senior. During this time the little red head led his team to two important tournament titles as he and his teammates captured first place honors in the Lufkin Invitational and the South Park Invitational. Shankles has played in the Cotton Bowl Tournament and the State J. C. Tournament, as well as the Lamar Tech Indoors. He is captain of the Jr. Davis Cup Team in Beaumont.

Johnny is the only freshman on the Centenary racket squad. He is currently the number four player in singles for the Gents and plays the number two doubles position. Coach Rice is expecting some excellent tennis from this native Texan during the next four years.

Hats

As the time for the arrival of the Yoncopin nears, we should give special attention to all those who make it possible. This week in "Hats Off", we recognize one of the diligent staff members who has been hard at work on this job. He is editor of the sports and sophomore sections of the book and is responsible for all pictures and placements on these pages.

This is a noteworthy job and requires much time and thought, however, our recipient is active in many other organizations. Perhaps his greatest responsibility is that of treasurer of the sophomore class.

As a member of Kappa Sigma, he is an active participant in intramural sports. First semester he was president of his pledge class, and has recently served as an escort in the Mardi Gras court. Centenary students may remember him as being one of the "lovely girls in the Powder Puff court."

Active participation in sports, fraternity life, and Centenary's social life are some of the characteristics which keynote his personality. These things coupled with his conscientious endeavors on the Yoncopin make him a well rounded person and merit him the recognition of "Hats Off." Therefore, we tip our hats to . . . Hoyt Bain.

Conveniently Located
Three Blocks From Campus

Caught in the midst of a "bull session" about cars, school, and "things" are the four personalities shown gathered around "Mickey Mouse", the 1932 maroon Ford belonging to Leonard Riggs, who is shown in the drivers' seat. Leaning lazily on the hood is Brenda Bailey, while Tommy Brewerton is perched on the running board. Edith Elliott is very amiably helping Leonard with the door and possibly all three are trying to talk him into giving them a ride in the priceless autop.

Endearing Names, Personalities Attributed To Student's Autos

By MELANIE MARTIN

One of the first things people notice on arriving at our campus is the number of unusual and amusing automobiles parked on the lots. Such cars as "Myrtle", "Mickey Mouse", "The Grey Ghost", and "The Green Bug" arouse in the visitor a sense of wonder and dismay.

What the visitor needs to realize is that, just as "behind every great man there is a woman", so is it true that behind every car there is a driver who gives it a personality all its own.

Lurking somewhere in, on top of, or under his rare specimen is Leonard Riggs, freshman pre-med student from Longview, Texas. "Mickey Mouse", as Leonard has dubbed his car, is a 1932 Ford with an Oldsmobile motor. (For those who are still at loss as to what it looks like, it is the maroon, or "coronado red", thing which buzzes from Jackson Hall to the cafeteria every day.)

Gas Gauge Misleads

Many amusing things happen in connection with Leonard's car, which he has built "from scratch". "One time I ran out of gas out on the road. My gas guage wasn't working and I thought there was something wrong with the car so I jumped up and down and ran around the car a couple of times. When I couldn't find anything wrong, I called someone to come tow me into a town. I spent three hours working with it before I realized it was just out of gas," reports Leonard.

Leonard likes to race his "souped up" auto and often travels to Mansfield for the drag races where he has won several trophies. "People never realize that the car has a big motor in it and they are always trying to race it. They think it's just a little old funny car before I beat them dragging."

Leonard has always loved to drive "Mickey Mouse" and he is the only person who can drive it. "About 1½ years ago, when I was still working at constructing the car, I got so excited about it that I decided to take it for a test run. I got out on the road and it promptly jumped into a ditch — I guess it needed more work done on it."

Edith Drives Hearse

Edith Elliott, a senior music education major from Vivian can expound forever on the virtues of her

"Opel". The little German-made car has been with her for two years and she has become well-acquainted with it.

"It has a large trunk and when the Phi Betas planned a horror show, we took the Opel out to Cross Lake and filled it with Spanish Moss. I can still find wisps of moss in the car." The car itself is also noted for its roominess. "It once held nine people!"

"The car is very practical and has so many different advantages. The first trip I made in it, the Opel made thirty-seven miles to the gallon. The key case glows in the dark so I can find it easier at night. The little light that shows when the bright lights are on is not red as in most cars, but a real pretty blue. There's nothing I dislike about it. It has no radio so I use my transistor. This is rather funny because whenever I turn a corner I have to wait for the sound to catch up with the radio again."

Small cars are famous for funny experiences and Edith's is no exception. "One time I was in Murrell's and a boy climbed in my trunk. He covered his arm and leg with ketchup and hung out of the trunk. Then we delivered the "body" to the music building. It was really funny to watch people's expressions."

B.B.'s V.V.

The "Green Bug", a Volvo belonging to Brenda Bailey, who is a senior history-government-sociology major from Shreveport, is "two years old, bless its heart". According to its owner, "it has a personality all its own".

"Last year during finals, Indi Nichols and Anne McClure asked if they could drive the car, so I said yes, if they stayed on campus. There must have been 25 people sitting on the steps of James Dorm, when suddenly we saw the "Green Bug" rounding the corner of Jackson Hall on the sidewalk. The girls drove it all the way to the dorm like that, then saw Mrs. Reed and turned around and went right back."

The size of the Volvo, which is noted for its compactness, is occasionally a blessing in disguise. "Once I washed the car in the front yard and it got stuck in the mud. The wheels spun around for hours, it seemed, until finally some nice boys from across the street came and lifted the car onto the street. The 'green bug' has been sick lately since it got hit in the back end during the holidays."

The Volvo is well-traveled. It even made a trip to Colorado last summer. The car was fine until, on the way back, it conked out at Mineola, about 80 miles from Shreveport. There was a filling station out there on top of a hill but we had to go ahead to the next town to get the points fixed — they had to weld Chevrolet and Volvo points together to fix it. (Whatever that means!)

Trestle Attracts Tommy

Tommy "Duck" Brewerton is a junior geology major from Shreveport. Though he used to drive a 1932 Rockney, he has recently acquired a new blue and grey Fiat which is well-known for its thirty miles to the gallon.

Tommy, who is a Kappa Alpha active, says, "Probably the most frightening thing that ever happened to me concerns the old car. One day as I was trying to start it, it caught on fire. It wasn't a bad fire, but our garage had burned down shortly before, and I was sure that this fire was going to burn down the new garage. Thank goodness it didn't!"

The new Fiat is really a conversation piece. "Once when a friend and I were out driving on the highway we decided to do something different; we drove the Fiat over an abandoned railroad trestle in East Texas. It was funny, too, the time my Fiat and a Volkswagon parked in the same parking space and we didn't receive a ticket. People are always telling me that if I'm not careful, somebody will put the car in their pocket and take it off."

Carol's Corner

Twenty-one Chi Omega pledges have changed their pledge pins for active badges. Proud new actives are: Dianna Ammons, Patt Byrd, Heather Dodson, Joan Williams, Gayle Williams, Betty Jean Campbell, Mary Anne Youngblood, Gail Southerland, Susan McVea, Maureen Melbourn, Beverly Smith, Kathy McCallister, Betty Mount, Melanie Martin, Madeleine Trichel, Lucie Shipp, Suzanne King, Bejie Sandlin, Nancy Lecky, Gail Walker, and Sammie Kay Smith.

Gail Southerland was named Chi Omega Scholarship Pledge and Melanie Martin was named best pledge.

Congratulations to Dave Glass on his recent initiation into Kappa Sigma.

Congratulations are also in order for all the newly initiated Aufait members. They are Julie Creel, Diana Laney, Judy Matthews, Dorothy Risinger and Dorothy Wise. Diana Laney received the scholarship award and Dorothy Wise was best Pledge.

The Alpha Xi Delta Spring Formal held in the sub last Saturday was enjoyed by all Alpha Xi's, their dates, and guests. Some of those dancing to the music of the Mellotones were Judy Hebert, Ray Squyres, Alice Herrington, Gordon Talk, Donna Howell, Ronnie Doerler, Dean and Mrs. Allen and Dr. and Mrs. Teagarden.

Everyone especially enjoyed watching Sandy Whitlock and Pete Mangum doing the cha-cha-cha.

Johnny "Bill Martin" Shankles would like some mail (That's a hint, Glenda Schmalz!)

Did you hear about the girls who go so excited about the tennis match that they broke a bench?

Student Fair Set For Fri. Afternoon

The annual Student Fair sponsored by the Student Senate each year is set for this Friday, April 7, from 1:30-6:30 and promises to be a "FUN" time for all those who attend.

A wide variety of entertainment will be offered by greek fraternities, religious groups, honorary societies, and dormitories, and the whole affair will be organized on the baseball field next to Hardin Hall and the tennis courts.

Pocketful of "Jubas"

Visitors to the fair will find many surprises in store for them as they inspect the numerous rides and booths set up in the area. After stopping at the Senate-run booth to pick up their "Juba bucks," which will be the official currency of the day, they will find a never-ending round of pleasant diversions waiting for them. Some of the stops they will make will be at the cakewalk, to be conducted like musical chairs by the choir, and the BSU Jail which has become famous in past years for its unusual prisoners. Those familiar with the Centenary faculty will enjoy trying their luck at identifying them from their baby pictures which have been collected by Alpha Xi Delta.

Ride - Don't Walk

If they get tired of walking around the campus, the very ambitious will be able to try their luck at riding the famous tandem bikes which will be "rented by Hardin Hall" or the "real old-fashioned" buggy ride sponsored by Aufait. Those who want to get in the real spirit of an old carnival will try popping the balloons in the Kappa Alpha booth or taking chances on packages at the Newman Club post office.

Greased Pig on the Loose

MSM will really go back to the country fair days with their greased pig race. Some of the most fun of the afternoon will be at the Zeta Tau Alpha booth where patrons will try to "Loop the Leg", at the NEA tossing game for those who are gifted with a good aim, and at the Kappa Sigma stand where they will "Dunk the Sig". A very novel event will be the "Bucking-Barrel Ride" to be sponsored by Chi Omega, and those who have a hard time surviving the ordeals of the day without some sustenance will be able to buy sandwiches from the James Dormitory booth and snow cones, popcorn, and cokes will be on sale by the Student Senate.

Prize for Most Juba Bucks

Prizes will be awarded to the organization with the most original entertainment of the day and also to the group which takes in the most "Juba bucks". As always the success of the day will depend on student cooperation and attendance, so, for the sake of everyone, individual and organization, let's everyone grab a friend and hurry on over for the fun.

Edith Elliot, Diane Caldwell, Mary Bostick and Mary Allen will be some of the Zetas putting their best foot forward in the "Ring-a-Zeta" booth, one of the many booths designed to test the talents and skills of the Centenary Students in the Student Fair Friday.

Centenary Homecoming Plans Complete, As Alums Return For a Day of Reunion

Centenary alumni will return to a blooming Centenary campus for a day of reunion, remembrances, and renewal of old acquaintances as their alma mater welcomes them for Homecoming, 1961. A spirit of informality will prevail throughout the day of April 8, giving the alums a chance to revisit the campus and catch up on the latest news in the lives of past classmates.

Registration for Homecoming will begin at 9:00 a.m. in the Moore Student Center. From 10:00 to 11:30 a.m. campus organizations have extended invitations to their alums to visit with them. Organizations thus far planning "Open House" are: Alpha Chi, which will meet in the chapel in connection with the National Convention; Alpha Xi Delta; the Baptist Student Union; Delta Tau Omicron, which will meet in room 115 of the Science Building; Chi Omega; Kappa Sigma; Maroon Jack-ets, which will meet in room 110 of the Science Building; Zeta Tau Alpha; and the National Educational Association, which will meet in room 0 of the Science Building.

Alumni Welcomed at Luncheon

From 11:30 until 12:00 noon alumni will be free to visit the campus. Alumni will then meet in the Student Center for a luncheon at noon. James N. Paterson, president of the Alumni Association will preside at the luncheon. Dr. D. L. Dykes, pastor of First Methodist Church, will give the invocation. After dinner entertainment will feature songs by the Centenary College Choir. Dr. Joe J. Mickle will welcome the alumni in behalf of the College and Paul Brown will offer greetings from the Board of Trustees. Mr. Paterson will climax the luncheon with a progress report of the Centenary Alumni Association.

25th Anniversary for Class of '36

From 2:00-3:00 p.m. the Classes of '55, '54, '53, and '52, which were all on campus at the same time, will meet in the faculty lounge. At the same time the Class of 1936, which is celebrating its 25th anniversary, will meet in the lobby of James Dormitory. A Faculty-Alumni reception will be held in the Moore Student Center from 3:00 to 5:00 p.m.

Alumni Recreate "College Capers"

Saturday evening will include one of the highlights of the Homecoming

Nancy Evans to Appear With Leo Andrews Band

Nancy Evans, a sophomore business major from Shreveport, recently signed a year's contract as a featured vocalist with the Leo Andrews Band which appeared at Centenary this fall for the Greek Week Dance.

Nancy will leave this weekend for Pensacola, Fla., where she will make her first appearance with the band. From there she will travel with the band as it makes its cross country tour appearing in such cities as New Orleans, Galveston, and others on the West Coast.

Nancy was "discovered" this year and brought to the attention of Mrs. Elmer Rogers who used to be the personal manager for the Ray Anthony Band. After hearing Nancy sing, Mrs. Rogers agreed to become her personal manager and through Mrs. Rogers' contacts, Nancy was introduced to Leo Andrews.

On the weekend of March 25, Nancy was given an expense paid trip to Pensacola to audition for Mr. Andrews. When she finished singing he had only one thing to say, "When can you go to work?"

weekend for Alumni and Centenary students as well. The Marjorie Lyons Playhouse will be the site, at 7:00 p.m., of the Vaudeville show which will feature a review of "College Capers". "College Capers" was popular variety show presented annually by Centenary students on campus several years ago, and Saturday night several alums will recreate their acts for the delight of attending students and alumni.

Centenary Talent Featured

Also included in the program will be a variety show entitled "That's Entertainment", featuring the best of Centenary College talent. The student variety show will also be shown Friday night, April 7, at 8:15 p. m. Tickets are $1.00 each and may be purchased at the door or from Mrs. Nichols or a Student Senate member. The vaudeville show is being sponsored through the cooperation of the Senate and the Jongleurs.

Dance Climaxes Homecoming

Saturday evening, alumni and students will gather in the Moore Student Center from 9 until 1 o'clock for the annual Homecoming Dance which will feature Billy May's Orchestra. The decorations will be centered around a Homecoming theme with a large replica of the Centenary College Seal serving as a backdrop for the orchestra. The posts will be decorated with maroon and white crepe paper spotted with smaller emblems of the Centenary seal.

The "Good Night, Ladies" cue from the orchestra that night will officially end the 1961 Homecoming.

Alpha Chi To Host National Convention

The Centenary chapter of Alpha Chi, honorary junior-senior scholastic society, will act as host for the National Convention of Alpha Chi on Friday and Saturday, April 7 and 8.

Delegates from approximately fifty-five colleges and universities will attend the convention which will hold its programs and business meetings in the Brown Memorial Chapel.

Registration for the convention will begin at 12:00 noon on Friday in the Moore Student Center. Around 2:45 p. m. the group will meet in the chapel and at 3:30 p. m. will be entertained by a student program consisting of a series of musical numbers and plays.

That evening a dinner will be held in the Moore Student Center at 6:30. Dr. E. M. Clark, head of the Centenary English department, will act as toastmaster.

Shakespearean Authority to Speak

Guest speaker at the dinner will be Professor Hardin Craig, Sr., who was nominated as speaker by Dr. Clark. Professor Craig, now 85 years old, is well known as an editor of Shakespearean texts and the best books which deal with liturgical drama of the Middle Ages. Presently associated with the University of Missouri, Professor Craig received his A. B. and Litt. D. degrees from Centenary College. He received his A. M. and Ph. D. degrees from Princeton.

Professor Craig attended Princeton for two years on the Charles Scribner fellowship before receiving his doctorate. He has served as Professor of English at the University of Minnesota from 1910-1919, Professor and Head of the department at the State University of Iowa from 1919-1928, Professor of English at Stanford and University of South Carolina from 1928-42 and 1942-49, respectively.

After dinner, arrangements have been made for the delegates to attend the Vaudeville show which is in conjunction with the Homecoming activities of the weekend.

Saturday morning, April 8, the convention delegates will begin the day with breakfast at the Centenary Cafeteria at 8:30 a. m. The convention will meet in the chapel at 9:00 a. m. to conclude their business.

Dr. E. L. Ford, professor of French, serves as the local sponsor of Alpha Chi.

Alice Ruth Herrington Heads Phi Beta Slate

The Alpha Iota chapter of Phi Beta, the national women's music fraternity installed its new officers on March 28, 1961, for the following year.

They are: Alice Ruth Herrington, President; Linda Kay Ellington, Vice-President; Vicki Rapp, Secretary; Gail Southerland, Treasurer; Judy Kleinhans, Marie Nelson, Project Chairmen; and Judy Smith and Myrna Collier, Co-program chairmen.

Assorted Library Jobs Available

There's more to be found in libraries these days than books, and if you don't believe it just look into the career opportunities in that field.

Salaries are comparable to those in related fields of education having similar requirements in training. They range from good to excellent, and if you aspire to the higher brackets remember that, as in most fields, there's always room at the top — for the person who meets requirements and gives top performance. The work is both challenging and interesting to those who like people and are interested in making available to them knowledge in all fields.

Types of employment are varied and include administrative, supervisory, subject area specialist, technical processing, reference, children, young adult and adult services; and extension including bookmobile service.

Opportunities await in public, school, college, university, and in special libraries which are found in business, industry; scientific research institutions, hospitals and medical centers, as well as in government and other agencies.

More and more men are finding the field attractive and, make no mistake about it, libraries need and are looking for men who can and will do a man's size job. Women, too, can find employment at any scale on the ladder for which they are qualified personally and by training and experience. In short, within the wide range of opportunity afforded in librarianship, your future is in your own hands and can be what you make it.

There are far more openings in the professional field than there are librarians to fill them. Louisiana, alone, had 953 professional positions in the summer of 1959, with 73 of them open. It was estimated then, and present development bears this out, that in the succeeding five years more than 400 professional positions would be added to these. A lack of awareness of these career opportunities on the part of young people in our colleges and universities has allowed the gap to widen between the job openings and professionally trained librarians.

Dr. E. L. Ford, chairman of the department of language and professor of French, will retire from the faculty at the conclusion of the current academic year after having served on the faculty since 1929.

Theodore Toulon Beck, who has been associate professor of Romance Languages at the Atlanta division of the University of Georgia since 1948, has accepted the appointment of chairman of the department of languages.

Dr. Ford, 67, a native of Ashland, Ala., holds the bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees from Howard College and the doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Lyon, France. He also has done graduate work at Columbia University.

He taught at Howard-Payne College in 1916-17, and then served as a first lieutenant with the French Army in counter espionage in World War I. After the war he taught at Mississippi College, Clinton, until accepting the teaching post at Centenary.

Dr. Ford was awarded the Palmes Academique of the French Academy in 1934, and a Rosette of the Academy in 1949 for outstanding service to France.

Dr. Ford is past president of the Shreveport Little Theatre board; was one of the organizers of the Shreveport Summer theater, of which he also is a past president; and appeared in more than 20 plays at the Little Theatre.

Beck holds the bachelor of arts degree, with a major in Latin and a minor in French, from Colgate University. He received the master of arts degree, with a major in French and a minor in French history, from the University of Georgia. He has completed requirements for the doctor of philosophy degree in romance language at Louisiana State University, and his dissertation has been approved. He is slated to receive the doctoral degree at the LSU commencement ceremonies in June.

Beck is a former member of the National Radio and TV Committee for the Spanish and Portuguese of the AATSP, a former member of the University Committee on Humanities for the state of Georgia and a former liaison officer of the U. S. Department of State.

Ministerial Meeting Set For April 11

The Louisiana Conference Commission on ministerial training of the Methodist Church, consisting of some fifteen of the leading ministers of the state, will make a visit to Centenary campus on Tuesday, April 11. A meeting is scheduled for 10:30 A. M. in room 114 of the Science Building.

One purpose of the meeting is to discuss some of the educational requirements for ministerial students planning to apply for membership in the Louisiana Annual Conference of the Methodist Church.

A second purpose is to meet individually each young person who is interested in discussing a career in some area of service in the Methodist church.

All students who are interested are encouraged to attend this meeting.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"I WISH THERE WERE SOME OTHER WAY PROF SNARF COULD AFFORD TO HAVE HIS HOUSE PAINTED."

Student Senate Minutes

The Student Senate Meeting was held in the Moore Student Center at 5:45 Wednesday, March 22. The meeting was called to order by the president, Jim Daigle. Others present were Anne McLaurin, Ralph Mason, Brenda Bailey, James Goins, Jean Netterville, G. B. Watson, Barbara Bourdier, Don Tyler, Buddy Daily, Tim Temple, Yogi Ferrari, Mike Sport, Dean Allen, and Miss Alexander.

James Goins reported there was $347.48 in the treasury.

Tim Temple, Ticket Chairman for the Vaudeville, stated that M. L. Bath Company was going to give the Senate complimentary tickets for the Vaudeville Show.

Don Tyler gave a report on Vaudeville and will contact all acts to meet with George Bryan next week. Anne McLaurin and Jim Daigle will sell tickets after chapel Tuesday.

A motion was made to ask the students to write on the back of their chapel cards whether or not they would like to see the haircut tradition continued. This motion passed.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

Baseballers Lose to McNeese, Southeastern Over Weekend

The Gent diamond crew traveled to McNeese College and Southeastern Louisiana College last weekend to play the first three games of their 1961 schedule.

In the opening day doubleheader at Lake Charles the Maroons dropped both ends of the double attraction by 14 to 5 and 12 to 0 scores. Freshmen hurlers Cecil Upshaw and Jim Pippen drew the starting mound assignments. In the first contest Upshaw allowed 10 hits and 4 earned runs before being relieved by Pippen who permitted 6 hits and 7 earned runs. The second game saw Pippen giving up 13 hits along with 7 earned runs. This game was called by the end of five innings because of a 6 P. M. time limit.

The Gents picked up four hits in the opener as R. V. Lockwood, Vernon Kalmbach, Dickie Richard, and Terry Everett all rapped safeties. The Gentlemen could manage only 2 hits in the second game, these coming off the bats of R. V. Lockwood and Terry Everett.

The following day the Gents moved to Hammond, La., to invade Southeastern. Once again the maroons were badly out-scored, ten to nothing, but passed up many scoring opportunities as they left 14 men stranded on the base paths. Dickie Richard was the losing pitcher, giving up 11 hits and 7 earned runs. Fred Shewmake hammered out three base hits while Richard, Kalmbach, and Boras each hit safely once.

Following this road trip the Gents were eagerly anticipating their return to several home engagements at Centenary Park.

Centenary To Have A Debate Team In 1961

By ANNETTE SHIREY

Since the recent presidential campaign, much interest in the field of debate has been renewed. Many Centenary students have expressed a desire to be able to participate in this rewarding forensic activity. In view of this interest and in following with a plan of enlarging the entire Speech-Drama Department curriculum, debate will be offered as a regularly scheduled course beginning in the Fall of 1961. A maximum of six semester hours may be earned, with two hours credit per semester. The fact that interest in debating is again increasing, is exemplified by the fact that this year Centenary received invitations to 15 debate tournaments during this past school year from such colleges as Mississippi Southern, North Texas State College, University of Arkansas, Texas Christian University, University of Alabama, and Louisiana Tech. Certainly this should present a challenge to the students of Centenary College.

In an effort to schedule the class at the most convenient time, Miss Ruth Alexander is asking all interested students to contact her at the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse no later than the 14th of April. You do not have to be a Speech or drama major, or even take any hours in either field to enable you to participate in this course. It is open to ALL REGULAR STUDENTS who are interested in the course and in participating on varsity debate teams. It is hoped that the initiation of this program will create a strong debate program at Centenary for on-campus activities as well as in inter-collegiate competition.

Netterville, Mayo Win Ping-Pong Tournament

The W.R.A. intramural ping pong tournament came to a close last week as both singles and doubles winners were decided. Jean Netterville was a double winner in the tourney as she defeated Edwina Hubert in singles competition and teamed with Judy Mayo to win doubles over Linda Kay Ellington and Brenda Bailey.

Team winners were M.S.M., first place in singles and doubles, Independents, second place in singles; and Chi Omega, second place in doubles.

The badminton tourney is in its second round of both singles and doubles and a scheduled time for all matches is set up in the gym. Games are played between 4:30 and 6:00.

Rosters are due for the final team sport in the intramural season, on April 10. The first game will be played the next afternoon.

Petitions for nominations to W.R.A. offices will be due on April 10, also.

This week "Hat's Off" sponsors a sophomore member of the Conglomerate staff, who is instrumental in "laying out" the final draft. As a member of the lay-out staff, she proofreads the copy and writes the headlines for all stories.

She has had much experience in this work since she was editorial editor of her high school paper in Benton, Arkansas.

One of her greatest loves is counseling at various camps during the summer, and this year, in addition to her work at Centenary, she is undergoing a training program for swimming instructors in preparation for her summer's activities. She is also a member of Chi Omega and M.S.M.

Her efforts and intelligence are acknowledged by the fact that she is receiving a National Merit Scholarship while at Centenary, and at this time, The Conglomerate also wishes to acknowledge . . . Carolyn Searcy.

Baseball Personality

R. V. Lockwood, the fine freshman catcher from Spearsville, Louisiana, joins the Gents for the first time this year with an impressive set of credentials. Lockwood played four years of varsity baseball at Spearsville High School. He was selected to the all district team as a junior and senior and was an all-state choice as a senior. His last season of prep competition showed a batting average of .425. Another impressive figure, defensively speaking, is the fact that only one man was able to steal a base with Lockwood handling the receiving chores. His Spearsville team played to a record of 12-2.

R. V. played two years of highly respected American Legion baseball. He batted .421 in his last legion stint. Lockwood is currently two for nine at the plate, one of those safeties coming in his first collegiate game.

Choir Cuts Record For RCA's Camden

The Centenary College Choir in connection with the RCA Camden recording company has recently recorded a number of selections to be released on a twelve inch record early in May. The choir spent the afternoon and evening of Monday, March 20 in the chapel making tapes for the record. Mr. William Teague, who is a nationally known organist, accompanied the sacred selections while the choir's own accompanists, Pat McFarland and Sandy Lawn, accompanied the secular music.

The choir deviated from its usual procedure of unorthodox programming by recording one side of the record completely with secular music and the other side with sacred music. The selections chosen for the recording were: "Brazilian Psalm," "All King All Glorious," "Blessed Are They," "I Was Glad When They Said Unto Me," "Camp Town Races," "Give Me Your Tired Your Poor," "Maria," "I Feel Pretty," "The Sound of Music," "Do Re Me," "Climb Every Mountain," and "My Favorite Things."

Graver Appointed to Work Under Corey In Drama Dept.

Appointment of Joe Vernon Graver to the dual position of instructor in speech and drama at Centenary College and technical director at the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse has been announced by Dean Leroy Vogel and Orlin Corey.

Corey, director of the department of speech and drama, said Graver's appointment will take effect at the start of the 1961-62 academic year next September. As technical director of the Playhouse, Graver will work in conjunction with Corey and with Corey's artist-wife, Irene, who serves as designer for productions at the Playhouse.

Graver holds the Bachelor of Arts degree from Georgetown College in Georgetown, Ky., where he was a former student of Corey's while the latter headed the drama department there. He earned both the Master of Arts and the Master of Fine Arts degrees from Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio, where he presently is completing requirements for the Doctor of Philosophy degree. Graver was among those who presented "The Book of Job" under Corey's direction at the Brussels World's Fair in the summer of 1958.

A native of Watertown, Tenn., Graver directed several productions for the Dramatics Club of the Broadway Methodist Church of Cleveland and four productions for the Chagrin Valley Summer Playhouse of Chagrin Falls, Ohio. He directed a musical production in December, 1960, for the Euclid Lyric Theater of Euclid, Ohio, and currently is directing a production slated for April by the Turner's Club of Cleveland.

The Shaker Players of Shaker Heights, Ohio, engaged him to direct one of their productions last month, and he is scheduled to direct another drama for the group next May.

Author of Two Plays

Graver is the author of two one-act plays entitled, "The Space Between" and "The Octogenarian", the latter premiered this month by a senior play-directing class at Georgetown College in Kentucky.

At intervals, during his three years at Western Reserve University, he worked with the Cleveland Playhouse, the city's resident professional theater, as actor, technical assistant, and in reading and evaluating unpublished scripts.

He is a member of Alpha Psi Omega, honorary dramatics society, and Kappa Pi, in addition to having been active with The Muskrafters of Georgetown. A Baptist, Graver also holds membership in Sigma Tau Delta, professional English group, and was active in the Young Republican Club. He held a special speech scholarship for four years at Georgetown College and was given a full-tuition scholarship to Western Reserve University.

Gent Tennis Team Crushes Muleriders

The Gent tennis team continues to be the toast of the spring sports squad at Centenary as they won their second straight match without a defeat last week with an impressive 7-0 win over the Muleriders of Southern State. The Gentlemen did not lose a set and freshman John Shankles blanked his opponent by winning every game.

Results (Centenary players listed first):

Arnold McHone def. John Wesson, 6-1, 6-3.

Jerry Jouett def. Gerald Andrews, 6-2, 6-4.

Sonny Elder def. Richard Buchanan, 6-1, 6-1.

John Shankles def. Max Setliff, 6-0, 6-0.

Dave White def. Terry Bowie, 6-0, 6-1.

McHone and Jouett def. Wesson and Andrews, 6-2, 6-2.

Elder and Shankles def. Buchanan and Setliff, 6-1, 6-2.

Barbara Barbee and Chat Reed are boning up on a few of the vital aspects which have helped them maintain a place on the Dean's List while remaining active in campus affairs.

All This and Grades Too!

By SANDRA McCUISTION

In the midst of Centenary's spring social whirl, which seems to spin faster and faster as graduation nears, people are prone to point to those who retain their Dean's List status and say with wonder, "I don't see how they do it; they must study all the time."

However, to Barbara Barbee and Chat Reed, who are both 3.5ers, good grades come not as a result of studying all the time, but studying with awareness, enthusiasm, and enjoyment. In addition, both have many extracurricular activities that keep them very much "in the swing of things".

Not a Bookworm — Please

"If there's one thing I really don't appreciate," declares Barbara Barbee, "It's being called a bookworm!" Barbara, a sophomore chemistry and/or biology major from Dallas is a member of Alpha Sigma Chi, honorary chemistry fraternity, vice president of Alpha Sigma Pi Scholastic Fraternity, and a member of Gamma Beta Gamma Biology Society. In addition, she is in charge of an MSM study group and a recipient of a National Methodist Scholarship.

Since Barbara, or "Barbee" as everyone calls her, does plan to do research in either chemistry or biology, much of her time is spent working in labs or keeping charge of the stock room. (If you've ever been in the stock room you will agree that anyone who works in there is either positively courageous or can't smell.) She is a regular visitor to the science library, but often ends up in a gabfest instead of studying because, as she puts it, "Meeting people and getting to know them is one of the most important things in life and I never can resist talking to people when I get a chance."

Barbara Likes Drama, Sports

Besides gabfests Barbee also enjoys going to concerts and plays, especially those that the Jongleurs present. She loves to watch the tennis team in action, but at the last match she created a serious disturbance. When Barbee sat down to join the rest of the spectators, the bench collapsed!

For a short while she had planned an exciting summer working in Glacier National Park in Montana. "A sad thing happened about that, though," laments Barbee, "the wrong man hired me and I was fired before I ever got out there."

Pick a Major — Any Major

Behind the nonchalant air and tongue-in-cheek grin which usually accompanies Chat Reed, a freshman Shreveporter, lies a mind intensely interested in many different fields of learning. Chat classifies himself as an English major, but a French, or history, or psychology major, might be persuaded to think differently. He also likes to debate and hopes to be on the future Centenary debate team.

Current Events, Arts for Chat

Chat's interest and knowledge in all of these fields seems to be due to the fact that he is concerned about the present, what kind of situation the world is in, and why. In harmony with this is his affinity for the smooth jazz of Ahmad Amal, modern novels and drama (especially the plays of Arthur Miller), and the dry sense of humor that this space age has produced. Another of his interests is the organization Young Americans For Freedom, a conservative movement to combat communism.

Chat, a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity, likes to spend most of his spare time reading. He also takes time out for an occasional game of golf or a visit in the country.

Moliere's MISER Ends Drama Season

J. B. P. Moliere's The Miser, will bring to a close the drama season for 1960-61 on Centenary campus. This play is a comic masterpiece of rascality and farce. This springtime show of young love and old villainy will begin its run on May 11, and run through May 20th, with nightly performances at 8:15 P. M., Marjorie Lyons Playhouse.

With the presentation of The Miser the Jongleurs are once again attempting to give to the students of Centenary and theatre-goers of the Shreveport area an opportunity to enjoy an evening of artistic endeavor of the highest quality.

The play is under the direction of Mr. Orlin Corey, and technical designer is Mrs. Irene Corey. Those students cast in the roles of The Miser are:

Elise, Ginger Darnell; Marine, Jane Hebert; Frosine, Ruthanne Cozine; Cleante, Harold Proske; Valere, Bob Shy; La Fleche, John Broadus; Master Simon, Dick Johns; Jacques, Len Udes; Harpagon, George Bryan; First Servant and Clerk to the Justice, Bob Blankenship; Second Servant and Justice of the Peace, Wiley Cameron; and Seigneur, James Foster.

Those students assigned technical positions on the various crews are as follows:

By CAROL REICHELT

Dancing beneath fish nets and sea creatures at the Chi Omega formal were Jere Rainwater, Jerry Jouett, Patsy West, Ford King, Jack Mulkey, Lynn Cannon, Donna Wyrick, Lynn Gully, Beth Catton and Jim Daigle. Dave White met a cute girl from "Little Rock".

Congratulations go to Terrell Rourke and Sharon Blevins who are now dropped.

Suppressed desires were revealed at the Kappa Sigma party on Friday night. Amy Matthews appeared as an old fashioned girl. Fred Schwendimann came as an excellent replica of an English professor. James Goins had an opportunity to wear his red sox. Tally Pledger and Glennie Scott appeared in real "cool" dress of India. George Gilmer and Betty Sims were there.

Gail Southerland reigned as queen of the Dogwood Festival in Plain Dealing. Congratulations Gail.

Congratulations go to Warren West and Jane Ilgenfritz who have announced their engagement.

The Alpha Xi Deltas held their annual founders day banquet recently. Julie Schmitt was given the scholarship award.

Wedding Bells rang for Dale Van Bibber and Denise Freeman Saturday, April 1.

Congratulations to Shelton Powers, who was initiated into A.E.D. and to Barbara Barbee, initiated into Alpha Sigma Chi.

Ocean Springs To Be Site of Biology Trip

The Biology Department will move to the Marine Biological Laboratories at Ocean Springs, Miss., on April 6, for a weekend field trip.

Ocean Springs, under the direction of Dr. Gordon Gurter, operates in association with the Mississippi Game and Fish Commission and LSU. It is a permanent installation and offers summer courses with transferable credit in marine biology. The staff makes available their facilities to college groups during spring months for short demonstrations of general marine biology research.

Eighteen Announce Candidacy For Student Senate Offices

Eighteen students have announced candidacy for the forthcoming Student Senate Elections to be held Wednesday, April 19, from 8:00 a. m. until 2:00 p. m. in the Moore Student Center. Campaign speeches will be delivered in the Haynes Memorial Gymnasium on Tuesday, April 18, at 9:40 a. m.

In the race for Student Senate President are Paul McMahan, junior from Paris, Texas, and Fred Schwenndemann, junior from Coushatta.

Candidates for the office of vice-president are Mike Ramming, junior from Webster Groves, Mo., and Terrell Rourk, junior from Burwick.

Viewing for the position of coed vice-president are Diane Caldwell, junior from Bastrop; Sallie Clingman, junior from Keithville; and Marie Nelson, junior from Monroe.

Candidates Listed

Edith Elliot, junior from Vivian; Jean Netterville, sophomore from Baton Rouge; and Carol Reichelt, junior from Longview, Texas are competing for the office of Secretary.

Candidates for the office of treasurer are Keith Lloyd, sophomore from Minden; and Pegram McCreary, junior from Lake Charles.

Tuesday Schedule

James Goins, Student Senate Chairman for Founder's Day, has announced the following schedule for Tuesday, April 18.

Students will attend their 7:50 classes but all classes between 9:15 and 2:00 will be suspended for the day. This means, however, that afternoon and evening classes will meet.

At 9:30 election speeches will be held in the gym. Everyone is encouraged to attend the campaign speeches and give the candidates all the moral support they can get.

Picnic Lunch

At 12:00 a picnic will be held at Betty Virginia Park. No lunch will be served in the Cafeteria. Box lunches will be provided at the picnic grounds, for all students with meal tickets and town students who purchased a special lunch ticket for the day. Students must furnish their own transportation.

Founder's Day will be climaxed by the presentation of the Centenary Band's Annual Spring Concert in the Haynes Memorial Gymnasium at 8:00 p. m. Admission for the concert will be free this year.

Spring Band Concert Set Tomorrow Night

The Centenary College Band will feature classical and contemporary work, as well as selections from a Broadway Musical at its annual Spring Concert to be held Tuesday, April 18.

The program will open at 8 p. m. in the Haynes Memorial Gymnasium and there will be no admission charge.

Clyde McArty, a trumpet major from Springhill, will be featured as soloist. McArty, who has played in the Centenary College Community Band during the past two summers, also plays trumpet with the Shreveport Symphony Orchestra. The following program will be played:

Overture to "La Gazza Ladra" — Rossini.

Willow Echoes — Simon Clyde McArty, Trumpet Soloist.

Zueignung — Strauss.

Comedian's Gallop — Kabalevsky.

Marcho Poco — Moore.

Antiphony for Winds — Kechley.

Selections from "Flower Drum Song" — Rogers-Hammerstein.

Kiddie Ballet Suite — Herman.

"Children Choirs" Workshop Planned

A Workshop on "Children Choirs in the Church" will be held on Centenary Campus Saturday, April 22 at 2:00 in the Small Chapel. Dr. Federal Lee Whittlesey, Minister of Music at Highland Park Methodist Church, Dallas, Texas will direct the workshop.

Dr. Whittlesey, author of several books and composer of many anthems for Junior choirs, is a guest Professor at S.M.U., and is nationally known for his work with children choirs. All interested students are invited to attend.

Dr. Whittlesey is in Shreveport to direct a mass Junior Choir composed of choirs from eight Methodist churches in the Shreveport-Bossier area on Sunday, April 23rd at 3:30 P. M. at the First Methodist Church in Shreveport.

The High School Handbell Choir from Highland Park Methodist Church of Dallas will be featured. This will be the first time for a handbell choir to appear in Shreveport. These ten high school girls will be the guests of Centenary at lunch Saturday, April 22.

The Centenary College Choir, under the direction of "Cheesy" Voran was recently notified that they will appear in Radio City Music Hall for a minimum engagement of four weeks during this summer. The choir will be featured in the stage show which is produced four times daily, seven days a week.

Centenary Choir Plans Four Week Engagement

The Centenary Choir under the direction of A. C. "Cheesy" Voran will appear on the stage of the Radio City Music Hall for a minimum engagement of four weeks this summer.

On Tuesday, April 11, Director Voran announced to the excited choir members that the Radio City officials had accepted the choir as the choral group to provide a summer replacement for the Radio City chorus. Prior to the Easter holidays the choir was auditioned by Mr. William Irwin, Musical Director for the Music Hall. A private program was presented to him in the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse which featured selections from "Rhapsody" and was presented in full costume.

The choir will participate in the stage show which is presented four times daily between showings of the featured movie. Included in this show is the famous dancing troupe, Rockettes, and several other acts.

Costumes To Be Provided

The engagement will begin the latter part of June with the group arriving in New York a week ahead of the scheduled opening date in order to rehearse music and learn staging details. The theme of the stage show will be determined by the movie scheduled and the choir will be outfitted by the Music Hall in appropriate costumes.

The Music Hall has requested a choir of 28 voices which will be selected from the regular Choir roster, with alternates in each section in order that a rotation system may be used.

This will be the choir's first engagement in New York City and their first tour of any great length since their second trip to the Far East in 1956. The choir has also sung at the Methodist General Conference in Denver last spring and are currently featured on the Protestant Hour Radio Program.

"Miss Shreveport" Court Includes 2 Centenary Girls

Two Centenary freshmen, Linda Dodson and Sara Giglio, were named to the court in the "Miss Shreveport Contest" held in the Municipal Auditorium Saturday, April 8.

Miss Dodson, who is an art major from Camden, Ark., was named first runner up to "Miss Shreveport", Becky Fisher. Accompanying this title are a host of prizes which include a trip for two to a dude ranch in Ocean Springs, Miss., a $300 course at Mister Lynn's Studio, a dinner for two at Sansones restaurant, a tiara, and a dozen red roses. For her talent number, Linda performed a rendition of Gershwin's "Summertime". Her activities at Centenary include Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority.

Sara Giglio, a Shreveporter, was named fourth runner up from a field of eleven contestants. She was awarded her tiara, a dozen red roses and a silver charm bracelet. In the talent division Sara sang "Love Is Where You Find It."

Sara, who is a medical technology major, participated in the Miss Centenary Contest. She serves as secretary of the Biology Club.

Ten Accepted By Medical Schools

The Centenary division of pre-medical and pre-dental science announced last week that ten students applying to various medical and dental graduate schools have been accepted.

Dr. Mary Warters, Professor of Biology and head of the department, commented that she was pleased with the number of Centenary applicants this year, and very pleased with the number of acceptances.

Six of this year's students are completing their four years of undergraduate work here, and are receiving degrees this May. Jerry Rosen is receiving his degree in Natural Science, while Joe Ben Hayes, Janos Voros, Charles Griffith, Jay Lang, and David Graham are receiving Bachelor of Science degrees in Biology.

Circle K Club Is Being Organized

A group of interested male students met Tuesday evening in the cafeteria for the purpose of organizing a local service club to petition Circle K International for a Charter at Centenary College.

Circle K is a college-level men's service organization performing the same functions on the college campus as do their sponsors — Kiwanis Clubs — in the adult community.

Circle K clubs are not social fraternities. They are, in every sense of the word, service organizations — character building groups whose members are banded together voluntarily to render service to campus and community. Their motto, like the motto of Kiwanis is "We Build".

These following boys are petitioning for membership in the local club: John Brewer, Bob Bishoff, Leonard Riggs, William Trimble, Roger Box, David Ewing, Paul Marshall, Larry Jones, Eric Bishop, John Frazer, John Lemmons, Shelton Powers, Jordan Robinson, Mike Mann, Terrell Rourk, Sandy Lawn, Bob Norris, George Williford, Harvey Long, Allen Ford, Don Tyler.

Officers were elected and are as follows: President, Don Tyler, Vice President, George Williford; Secretary, Mike Mann; Treasurer, Eric Bishop; Directors, William Trimble, Sandy Lawn, Terrell Rourk, John Lemmons.

By-laws and an application for charter will be presented at the next meeting.

President Platforms

Many times people question the role of the Student Senate and how it affects the college student. The Student Senate should be a representative group of students who co-ordinate and regulate extra-curricular activities for the student. In order to achieve success, the Student Senate must plan activities which meet the interests of the entire student body. By meeting these interests there should be a greater and more representative amount of student participation. My platform consists of ideas which should help the Student Senate in fulfilling these interests.

1. I will support all activities and events whose outcome will promote a better understanding between the students, faculty, and administration and between the students themselves. Some of the past events which have proved successful are the Student Fair, Mardi Gras, and the recent Homecoming activities.

2. I will appreciate and give just consideration to all ideas that concern the improvement and effectiveness of the Student Senate.

3. I will try to make students more aware of the excellent productions at the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse.

4. I will try to alleviate the problem of a sidewalk between the Cafeteria and Science Building or else try to secure a contract with a reliable Ferry company for rainy days.

5. I will support the policies of the school and perform to the best of my ability the duties required of the president.

Paul McMahan

Grade Average: 2.1.

Qualifications: President of Sophomore Class; Student Senate, 1959-1960; Centenary College Choir; Methodist Student Movement; Treasurer of State Council of Methodist Student Movement; Treasurer of Kappa Chi; Intramurals.

I would call your attention to the section of the Constitution of the Student Senate which defines the duties and powers of the Senate. (Articles IV, Section I) "The Student Senate shall have the power to govern, regulate and otherwise control all Senate and general functions as defined in the Senate Rules, within the framework of the college administrative policy."

In my opinion, the work of this year's Senate has provided a step in the direction of fulfilling the aforementioned duties of the Senate. It would be my purpose, as President, to guide next year's Senate toward an even fuller realization of the Senate's purpose. It is my desire to see the Student Senate on this campus become the active, working manifestation of the desires, opinions, and needs of the student body.

I have been keeping my ears attuned to opinions of the student body on issues which pertain directly to the student body. I think, therefore, that I can truly represent the entire student body, and help to guide the actions of the Senate so that it, too, will be representative of that group. To these ends, I would pledge my most earnest effort, in order to facilitate the eventual attainment of such ends. This 'one-plank' platform is, in my opinion, the only platform on which I can stand, because I believe that the fulfilling of its requirements will be the fulfilling of the actual requirements of the job of President of the Student Senate.

Fred Schwendimann

Grade Average: 3.7.

Qualifications: President of Freshman Class; Recipient of honors both Freshman & Sophomore years from the ROTC; Chief Justice of the Honor Court; Elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities; Member of Omicron Delta Kappa; Grand Master of Ceremonies of the Kappa Sigma Fraternity; President of Alpha Sigma Pi; Member of Alpha Chi.

Kay France To Head PanHellenic Next Year

The PanHellenic Council elected new officers at a meeting on April 4. Serving as President for the '61-62 school term will be Kay France (Alpha Xi Delta), vice-president will be Margetta Spears (Zeta Tau Alpha), and secretary-treasurer Sandra McCuiston (Chi Omega).

The main function of PanHellenic are to promote a spirit of cooperation among the three sororities and to establish rules for formal and open rush. Each fall the council furnishes a PanHellenic Handbook which informs rushees about the sororities on campus and about the rules governing rush. In January the council revised the present rush rules and added new ones that had been suggested by the different sororities and drawn up by a committee from the council representing all three groups. These additions and revisions are available in mimeographed form at present and will be included in the new PanHellenic Handbook for next fall.

On April 22 PanHellenic will sponsor a retreat to which all sorority members are invited. The purpose of this retreat is to give the girls an opportunity to meet members of groups other than their own, to discuss the new rush rules, and to discuss methods of promoting better relations among the sororities. Information concerning the time, place and cost of this retreat may be obtained from any member of the PanHellenic Council. The council urges all those who are eligible to attend.

Students Submit Chemistry Papers

Papers were presented by three Centenary College students at the 53rd annual meeting of the Louisiana Academy of Sciences, held Thursday through Saturday, April 13-15, on the campus of the University of Southwestern Louisiana in Lafayette.

Richard Haynes, senior chemistry major from Shreveport, presented a paper entitled, "Some Aspects of Entropy". He is being sponsored by Wayne Hanson, assistant professor of chemistry at Centenary. Also being sponsored by Hanson is Mrs. Leigh McClure, senior chemistry major from Barksdale, whose paper was called, "Heat of Solution of Chloroform and Acetonitrile".

Dr. John B. Entrikin, head of the chemistry department on the campus, is sponsoring Mrs. Sally McConnell of Barksdale Air Force Base, whose paper is entitled, "Paper Chromatography: An Aid for Students in the Separation and Identification of Organic Substances". Mrs. McConnell is a junior student majoring in chemistry.

The Centenary students presented their papers Friday morning. Accompanying them to Lafayette for the convention, in addition to Dr. Entrikin and Hanson, was Dr. Richard K. Spears and Dr. Virginia Carlton, who is chairman of the physical science section of the Academy.

Students who wish to apply for scholarship assistance for 1961-62 may secure blanks in the office of the vice-president. Each student must fill out an application each year. Full-time Christian Service students must confer with Dr. Webb Pomeroy and secure his signature.

Each year candidates submit platforms to be published in the Conglomerate, platforms filled with detailed and glowing promises which the candidates pledge themselves to fulfill. And every year after the elections the promises remain in the Conglomerate files until the next election. All of the candidates for the various offices are more or less qualified or they wouldn't be running.

I hope that by serving you as your Student Body Vice-President I will have the opportunity to pledge all my efforts and enthusiasms to the following:

I will see to it that the work of the Student Senate is done efficiently, with the best interests of the Student body in mind. Especially will I attempt to organize the student body elections in such a way that voting may be completed in the most efficient manner. I believe that the Student Senate can become a true legislative body; therefore, I will do my utmost in extending the powers of the Senate so that the student body will be able to gain full benefit from its student government.

These things I can work for, but not promise. All I can promise with assurance is to work hard and efficiently as possible to carry out my responsibilities as a Student Senate officer with the good of the entire student body in mind.

Qualifications: Centenary College Choir, Kappa Sigma, Methodist Student Movement, Yoncopin Staff, Intramurals.

1. Increase voting and participation in elections through better publicity.
2. Widen the scope of what should be important campus events such as homecoming, student fair, intramural and varsity athletics.
3. More student participation in disciplinary procedures.
4. Dedicate myself to strengthening the student government so that it may have the prestige it necessitates to accomplish its goals.

I would like to congratulate the Student Senate, the students, and the faculty for the excellent week-end of Gentlemen's Juba. This was the product of careful planning and outstanding school spirit. This talk of school spirit is not to be disregarded as "campaign talk" but as a factor which makes Centenary unique.

I make the above comments to let you know what I feel is the purpose of the senate. The responsibilities of a senate member include such duties as encouraging such activities as Gentlemen's Juba, being the students' voice, working closely with other officers, administrators and the faculty, and informing all students, particularly those off campus, concerning student activities. Effort should also be made to activate student-faculty committees and encourage the fulfillment of their purposes. If elected to membership on the Student Senate I would strive to fulfill these responsibilities.

Sallie Clingman

Grade Average: 2.7.

Qualifications: Pledge Trainer, of Chi Omega, Publicity Chairman and Treasurer of James Dormitory, President of Women's Recreation Association, Intramurals, Cencoe, Vice President of Freshman and Sophomore Classes, Freshman Favorite, Junior Favorite.

The office of Coed Vice-President of the Student Senate is one of representation of all members of the student body. The person who holds this position is one who serves the Senate, not by having a specific platform, but by having a spirit of cooperation and a willingness to help strengthen the relations of the students to the Student Senate.

As Coed Vice-President, I will endeavor to encourage the interest and participation of all members of the student body in every phase of campus activities. Because of my participation in various organizations which offer opportunities for association with students of many varied interests, I believe that I am qualified to represent the student body in this office.

Wisdom — a man should never be ashamed to own he has been wrong, which is but saying in other words that he is wiser today than he was yesterday.

— Pope

A college, university, or academic community must have teachers and students (or, more mature and less mature learners) engaged in disciplined search for truth with freedom to prosecute the search. I feel that this foundation of academic freedom is crumbling at Centenary College. "Thinking in community" and the sense of communication between administration and faculty, faculty and students, students and students, has been utterly lost.

The Student Senate is the one representative unit on campus that could explore and analyze this deterioration, exercise its authority in the cleaning and deodorizing process, and initiate a reconstruction program. Lack of student and faculty response to campus activities is only one outward sign of our sickness.

As a member of the Student Senate, if elected, I pledge myself to the task of initiating a research program to discover the termites in our foundation, exercise authority with the senate to exterminate some of these termites and compromise with others, and work toward providing campus activities designated as desirable by the students. In fulfilling these obligations, I will constantly be aware of the desires, protests and satisfactions voiced by my fellow students.

Horace Jeter To Speak To Gamma Beta Gamma

Alwynelle Self, president of Gamma Beta Gamma, Centenary biology club, has announced the club's sponsorship of a discussion by Horace Jeter, a Shreveport ornithologist, tomorrow night, April 18 at 7 o'clock in Room 202 of the Science Building. In his talk, Mr. Jeter will discuss the work and opportunities in the field of ornithology as he has seen them in his years in Shreveport. In addition to the talk, he will show a color film illustrating his field of work.

Gamma Beta Gamma is very anxious for all interested students to attend this special meeting.

Student Senate Minutes

The Student Senate Meeting was held in the Moore Student Center at 5:45 Wednesday, April 5. The meeting was called to order by the president, Jim Daigle. Others present were Anne McLaurin, Ralph Mason, Brenda Bailey, James Goins, Jean Netterville, G. B. Watson, Barbara Bourdier, Don Tyler, Tim Temple, Yogi Ferrari, Mike Sport, and Miss Alexander.

James Goins reported there was $347.98 in the treasury. He then stated that Billy May would be unable to come Saturday night but Leo Andrews is coming for $1,000.00. He is bringing an eighteen piece band and Nancy Evans who recently joined them as soloist. A motion was made and seconded that there be no admission charge for students. This motion passed.

The Student Fair Committee reported that everything was prepared and then passed out a schedule for senate members to work different hours.

James Goins is chairman of Founder's Day and will have a final report by next meeting.

There being no further business the meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
Brenda Bailey
Student Senate Secretary

Men's Independent Representative Platforms

If elected to the position of Men's Independent Representative to the Student Senate, with your help I will carry out the following platform:

1. To represent you at all Student Senate meetings, always keeping your best interest in mind and working toward the fulfillment of this interest for you.
2. To talk with many of you personally, to find out those issues which you believe to be of importance, and those things which you feel should be done to further promote the Independents and our Centenary student body.
3. To work cooperatively with each member of the Student Senate, to further better student government on our campus.
4. To encourage a more active participation and school spirit among the Independents in school activities and functions.
5. To work always to give to you, the Independents of Centenary College, a larger voice in the government of our school.

With your help and cooperation, we can make the coming year at Centenary a great one.

Alpha Xi Schedules Annual Spring Sing

The sixth annual Spring Sing sponsored by Alpha Xi Delta will be held on Tuesday, May 9, 1961, at 5:30 p. m. in the Moore Student Center. All organizations on campus are urged to enter so that this year's contest can be better than ever before.

A new trophy will begin circulating this year. It too will be permanently retired by the organization winning it the most times at the end of a five year period. Each year during this period the winner will retain it until the following Spring Sing. Chi Omega retired last year's trophy with a record of three wins in five years.

Spring Sing regulations, as announced by Alpha Xi Delta, are as follows: 1) The maximum number of participants (including the singers and accompanist) shall be twenty. The minimum number of singers shall be five. Each person may participate with only one group. 2) Each group's presentation time will be ten minutes. Entries must be turned into LaVerne Burks (James Dorm) no later than Tuesday, May 2, 1961. In case of a duplicate program, the first entry will be given priority. 3) Three judges will be chosen by Alpha Xi Delta. Participants will be judged on the originality of the presentation, vocal quality, and appropriateness of costumes to the selected theme. 4) Any student organization of Centenary College may enter. 5) Any regularly enrolled student that is a present member of the organization may participate.

The Spring Sing will open with a "Sing Along with Alpha Xi" including old favorites such as "Sweet Violets", "Till We Meet Again", "That's Where My Money Goes", and "Oh, Dear, What Can The Matter Be?". Song sheets will be distributed and everyone present can "sing along".

LOST: One Aufait pin. If found, please return to Dot Wise.

The success of Centenary's Student Senate is dependent largely upon the leadership, enthusiasm and cooperation of each of its members.

In carrying out such responsibilities as conduction of all elections, Freshman Orientation, Student Fair, Founder's Day, and Homecoming, it is necessary for the Student Senate to have the support of students and faculty members and the guidance of capable Senate members.

In addition to activities, the Senate members work for, 1) improvement of faculty-student relations, 2) stimulation of student interest, and 3) continued improvement of student government.

The most important responsibility of the Student Senate is to represent YOU, the student body. This is your voice in Centenary's Student Government. You are therefore privileged to vote on the candidates you feel are most qualified.

The office of Secretary of the Student Senate has certain concrete responsibilities such as keeping minutes, making reports, writing letters and publishing them in the Conglomerate. If elected to the office I pledge myself to perform these duties to the best of my abilities. I shall aim for more representative government by encouraging suggestions from any member of the student body.

I do not feel that I can honestly make a list of promises to you, the students. I have no assurance that they would be carried out. All I can promise with assurance is to work diligently with other Student Senate members and to carry out my responsibilities with the interest of the entire student body in mind.

"Forgive and Forget" Says The Library

Do you have any long-overdue library books? Have you found any among your things that were never checked out at all? Do you have a friend who receives little white cards every day saying that he has overdue books at any library?

If so, there is not time to lose. Gather as many of these misplaced, forgotten books as you can find and hurry them to the Main Library in Jackson Hall any day this week.

As National Library Week the time has been designated as "Forgiveness Week" in all libraries in the city. At our campus library, Mrs. Alben has said that the person returning the most books FROM ANY LIBRARY will be rewarded for his diligence in finding them, and everyone who returns an overdue book will be excused from payment of the fine due on it.

Only books and magazines which have been reported overdue or missing in the libraries will be counted in the contest, so start now to uncover all the missing volumes you can.

Trichel To Head Canterbury Club

Madeline Trichel, a junior English major from Shreveport, is the newly elected president of the Canterbury Club. Elected on the same slate were, Vice President, Tom Vaughan; Secretary, Lynah Chambers; Treasurer, Jane Lyles; Marion Johnson, chairman of the Organ Guild; and Tom Vaughan, chairman of the lay readers. Succeeding Dr. Willingham as faculty sponsor is Miss Ruth Alexander. Serving as chaplain is Rev. Alfred P. Chambliss, Jr., minister of St. James Episcopal church; and Miss Patricia Lucas of St. Marks Episcopal church is the new assistant sponsor.

In the coming weeks the club will sponsor a series in Inquirers Classes which will be open to students interested in learning about the church doctrine of the Episcopal Church. These will meet Wednesday at 5:00.

This Week Designated National Library Week

"For a richer, fuller life—READ!" This has been designated as the theme of the 1961 National Library Week which is being celebrated this week, April 16-22. The week's activities for our community were planned by a coordinating committee of representatives of the various libraries participating.

Here at Centenary, the week has been heralded by the appearance in the libraries of cards, bookmarks, and a mobile to remind the students of the special emphasis. In conjunction with the activities, the Conglomerate is running the special blank at the end of this article in which all students are asked to list the "10

Most Valuable Books to Me As a Student", and drop it in the box which will be in the SUB until Thursday, April 20. "Forgiveness Week" will be a special feature at the campus libraries, where all overdue books can be turned in without charge.

National Library Week is sponsored each year by the National Book Committee, Inc., in cooperation with the American Library Association. Its objective is to remind the American people that reading can help them find a greater purpose and meaning to their lives. The week is not an end in itself, but rather serves to spotlight what should be a year-round activity—reading.

Barbara Barbee
Independent Representative

Dorothy Risinger
Independent Representative

My desire for the position of Independent Representative to the Student Senate is prompted by my concern for, and involvement in, the university situation here on the Centenary campus.

The future growth and success of Centenary College depends primarily on the ability of the faculty, students, and administration to achieve and maintain a community feeling. This community feeling is the end result of acknowledging the common purpose of all involved in this university situation. The common purpose here is acquiring the ability to learn. This purpose should pervade every aspect of college life and bring unity and identity to a situation which could be split by different academic departments, social groups, and ideals. This community feeling provides the uniqueness present in a thriving college.

My platform is based on my desire to see the promotion of this community feeling here at Centenary. Not only would this include greater emphasis on academic study but also on participation in the campus activities and on increased social contact between professor and student. In each way will the common goal of acquiring the ability to learn be achieved and the community spirit strengthened.

I will pledge one thing only — that with the common purpose of Centenary uppermost in my mind, I will attempt, if elected, to represent to the best of my ability the Independent student voice in striving for the good of the whole.

Qualifications: Alpha Sigma Pi, vice-president; Gamma Beta Gamma, biology club, vice-president, treasurer; Alpha Sigma Chi, chemistry fraternity; National Methodist Scholarship, 2 years; Methodist Student Movement; Women's Intramurals; Conglomerate staff.

I would like to have the opportunity of working with the Student Senate as a representative of independent members of the student body. If elected, I will strive for greater unity on campus, because I feel that by working together, we of the student body can better achieve that which we desire. I pledge myself to uphold the dignity of the office and to carry out to the best of my ability the obligations and responsibilities of an Independent Women's Representative.

Racketmen Suffer Season's 1st Loss

The Centenary tennis team suffered their first loss last week to one of the nation's leading teams, Lamar Tech, of Beaumont, Texas. The Gents failed to win a match from powerful Tech which features many of South America's finest tennis prospects.

The Gents bounced back quickly from this loss, however, to defeat the University of Southwestern at Lafayette by a 7-0 score. Centenary now touts a 4-1 record on the season.

MATCH RESULTS:

SINGLES—Jerry Jouett, Cent., def Bob Lange 4-6, 7-5, 6-3; Arnold McHone, Cent., def Reggie Lirette 6-0, 6-1; Sonny Elder, Cent., def Frank Minvielle, 6-1, 6-2; John Shankles, Cent., def Ferdie Hebert, 6-4, 7-5; Dave White, Cent., def Larry Case 4-6, 9-7, 6-4.

DOUBLES—McHone and Jouett, Cent., def Lange and Minvielle 6-2, 6-0; Elder and Shankles, Cent., def Hebert and Lirette 6-2, 6-0.

Intramural Softball Opens

The intramural softball season at Centenary opened last week and the first day of competition revealed a field of teams that looks to be the strongest we have seen in the past few years. On opening day the Golden Pheasants defeated Kappa Sigma II on a 10-1 decision and Kappa Alpha rolled over Kappa Sigma 9-2. The Golden Pheasants found a great pitcher in Stan McAfoos and the Kappa Alpha's got a tremendous pitching and batting effort from Ralph "Munchy" Mason who also contributed a long circuit smash in the second inning to break up a scoreless ball game. Ford King Jr. also homered. It looks as if this race will go right down to the wire with three or four fine teams having an excellent chance to cop the pennant. All games will be played on the diamond adjacent to Hardin Hall and the varsity diamond in Centenary Park.

Ten Candidates Run In WRA Elections

Petitions are now in for all candidates seeking W.R.A. offices. They will be voted on Tuesday, April 25, between 8:00 and 2:00 in the Sub. Those vying for offices are as follows: President, Judy Mayo; Vice-President, Carol Mangum, Patsy West and Diane Camp; Secretary, Edith Elliot, Sharon Blevins, and Merrill Ann Snyder; Clerk, Jackie Norman, Jule Ann Young, and Maureen Melbourne.

The final W.R.A. sport for 1961 begins Tuesday, April 18, as the five teams in intramural competition begin softball season. The tourney will get underway Tuesday, as the Independent "Rinkie Dinks" play M.S.M. and Alpha Xi Delta plays Zeta Tau Alpha. Wednesday, the "Rinkie Dinks" play Alpha Xi Delta and M.S.M. plays Zeta Tau Alpha. The Chi Omega team will not play in the opening week of the tourney.

As a candidate for Independent Representative to the Student Senate, I understand the duties of this office to be:

1. To give the Independents a fair representation in student government by voicing their ideas and opinions.

2. To work enthusiastically and creatively for any activity for which the Senate is responsible and to encourage student participation in these activities.

3. To work cooperatively with the administration, faculty, and other Senate representatives for a well-coordinated and progressive student government.

To avoid making any rash resolutions of plans I would like to see executed during the coming year, I will only promise that, if I am elected, I will fulfill the duties of the office of Independent Representative to the best of my ability.

It is my desire to fulfill the position of Representative in the best sense of the word. Since "representing" must include a contact with those being represented, I will try to maintain a close communication with a large number of students, both on and off the campus. It seems useless to enumerate reforms which I advocate; by contact with the student body, I would know and express their desires concerning prevalent campus issues. If I am elected as your Representative, I shall do all within my capacities to speak for you and thus represent you.

MSM Sponsors Beatnik Party

The Beatnik Party sponsored by MSM on Friday, April 14, was highlighted by the spontaneous participation of all who attended. The basement espresso shop set up in the SUB gave the dark and dreary atmosphere known to inspire beatnik thinking. The sale of espresso and mocha java coffee and pizza pies served to complete the conditions necessary for listening to beat poetry and bongo drums brought by the Centenary beatniks to the gathering.

3. Work to sponsor a Parent's Day in the fall semester along with the first Basketball game. This would give the parents of the students a chance to visit our campus and to meet the faculty.
4. Formulate ideas for creating better school spirit for ball games, school dances, and other school functions.
5. Strict enforcement of all freshman rules. A few weeks ago the Student Body voted by a margin of 3 to 1 to continue freshman haircuts. I propose that this be done in connection with Freshman Registration. Immediately after having his picture made for the yearbook, all freshmen boys should be required to advance to a "Barber Shop" to be set up in the Science Building and to be manned by upperclassmen. This would guarantee the cutting of all freshmen boys' hair instead of a minority as in the past.
6. Establishment of a Student Center Activities Committee to handle and coordinate all functions dealing with the Student Center such as dances and recreational facilities. This was recommended by one of the past senates but was never carried out. This committee would consist of representatives from all campus organizations.
7. Promote better relations between all groups on campus.
8. If elected treasurer I pledge myself to the preceding platform and I will represent YOU, the Student Body to the best of my ability.

I would like to become treasurer of the Student Senate because I sincerely believe that the Senate has a definite and worthwhile purpose on this campus. Although Centenary is a small college, the student body is much more segregated into diverse groups than many other schools of this size. The Student Senate is the only medium through which these groups can become somewhat unified. In previous years, the Senate has done many things which help to create an atmosphere of congeniality and unity upon the campus. As a representative of the Student body, I would not only strive to continue these things, but to enlarge and improve upon them. I would also strive to create greater student interest and participation in these events and projects.

I cannot make definite promises on specific issues that I may or may not be able to keep. I can only say with certainty that: (1) I will present to the Senate any suggestions of interest to the student body, (2) I will vote conscientiously and objectively on all issues brought before the Senate, and (3) I will endeavor to establish a rapport between the administration and Student Senate through which the Senate may realize its full potential as a legislative body and as a representative of student affairs.

Music Students May Vie For Scholarship

F. E. Olds & Son is proud to announce its fourth annual "Scholarships in Music" contest which will be open for entries from April 15th to June 15th, 1961.

Past winners of Olds contest have used their scholarship awards to continue their academic careers, and many winning these have been published by the "F. E. Olds & Son Music Education Library" and are now a permanent part of music department libraries across the country.

This contest is open to all juniors, seniors and graduate students in accredited schools or departments of music at the college level. The scholarships are awarded for the theses, term papers or articles completed during the current academic year judged to show the greatest evidence of original thinking, sound research and intelligent objectives, on any subject related to instrumental music.

1st Prize — $500

The first scholarship award is $500, the second award is $350 and the third award is $200. These amounts will be paid on request to any accredited music school or college with accredited music departments against tuition costs of further study. If a graduate winner has received his advanced degree between the date of his contest entry and the date of the award, the award will be made in cash.

The 1961 Olds Scholarship Judging Committee consists of G. C. Bainum, Director Emeritus, Northwestern University Bands, Chairman; and, James Berdahl, Director of Bands, University of California, Berkeley, California; Frederick C. Ebbs, Director of Bands, University of Iowa, Iowa City; Frederick C. Fennell, Conductor — Eastman Wind Ensemble, Chairman — Instrumental Ensemble Department, Eastman School of Music, Rochester, New York.

Further information can be obtained from literature sent to your music school or music department in care of the Dean or Department Head, or by writing to the F. E. Olds & Son Scholarship Committee, 7373 N. Cicero, Chicago 46, Illinois.

Another Centenary Homecoming has come and gone. Open houses, luncheons and the dance were some of the highlights.

Congratulations go to the Student Senate on a successful Student Fair. Congratulations for a successful variety show go to the Student Fair and Jongleurs. Some of the highlights of the show were Jill Landis and Frankie Stokes and their rendition of "Side By Side" and "It's a Sin to Tell a Lie". Al Holland displayed his skill on the accordion and John Williams and Al Pagnato killed the audience with "Brush up your Shakespeare". Dr. Teagarden and Freddie Peters were the "life" of the show with their beat poetry. The grand finale was a skit by Dr. Morgan, Miss Alexander and Jim Daigle.

Congratulations to newly weds, Ann Sherman and Joe Ben LaGrone. They were married during the Easter holidays.

Mary Bostick is now proudly wearing a Phi Gamma Delta pin from the University of Oklahoma. Some of you Shreveporters may know Tom Parker.

Lynn Gulley is to be congratulated on his recent initiation into Kappa Alpha.

Marie Nelson returned to school wearing a fraternity pin from Brown University.

All the wearers of Kappa Sigma pins and drop letters were serenaded recently. We all say "thank you" for a lovely serenade.

Those of you who missed the Homecoming Dance missed a real treat. In addition to a good band, were delighted to hear Nancy Evans sing with the band. All Centenary wishes Nancy god luck in her new career.

Congratulations to Linda Dodson who won second place in the Miss Shreveport contest and Sara Giglio who was a finalist.

Congratulations to Patti McHugh who seemed to be the sole candidate for Homecoming Queen.

The days of Southern chivalry will again be recreated as the KA's turn back the clock to celebrate their Old South weekend. Doug Howard, dressed in the traditional Confederate greys, presents Sammie Kay Smith the invitation which serves as her passport to the days of Scarlet O'Hara.

Old South To Live Again In Kappa Alpha Week-end

Hang on to your Confederate money, boys! The South is rising again. The date for the rebellion to begin has been designated as this Thursday, April 27, and the uprising will continue through Saturday, April 29, under the sponsorship of Kappa Alpha fraternity.

On Thursday, a troop of mounted Confederate soldiers will converge on James Dormitory to deliver personal invitations to their dates for the week-end's activities. Friday night there is an informal "bermuda shorts" party scheduled at the KA house, where a buffet supper will be served to the fraternity men and their guests.

KA's Relive Secession

On Saturday, the afternoon will be highlighted by secession ceremonies, which will be held at 2:00 at the KA house on the corner of East Columbia and Woodlawn. The KA's have extended an invitation to everyone who is interested to watch the excitement either from the hill across the street from the fraternity house or from the lawn of the Symphony House. The ceremonies will include a mock battle between Confederate and Yankee troops, raising the Confederate flag and a rifle salute by Fair Park's Dixie Drill Platoon, awarding of commissions, reading of a proclamation, and a speech by guest Judge Chris Barnett of Shreveport, who is a Kappa Alpha alum.

Plantation Life Is Here Again

After completion of secession ceremonies, the KA's and their guests will adjourn to the Henry Linam home on Robson Road from 3:00-5:00. The oak-wooded yard of that palatial home will provide the setting for the traditional lawn party following secession. The atmosphere will be that of a Southern plantation with the cool, wooded gardens enhanced by the ante-bellum dresses of the girls and the picturesque uniforms of the men in the party. Refreshments will be served at the Linam home by the Kappa Alpha Parents' Club.

"Old South" Ball

Saturday night, the young people will return from the "Old South" to the present day, as they don tuxedos and short formals for the Old South Ball, to be held from 8:00-12:00 at the Young Men's Progressive Club on Cross Lake. Music will be provided by the Red Tops from Vicksburg, who will play from the columned "porch" of an old colonial mansion. French doors will be their background, and the columns on the "porch" will be decorated with ivy. The wide steps leading from the "porch" to the "gardens" where the guests will dance will be trimmed with ivy and roses. The ceiling of the room will be camouflaged with Spanish moss and a picket fence entwined with roses and ivy will complete the decorations. Pictures will be taken in a typical Southern garden setting and refreshments will be served on the balcony overlooking Cross Lake. The Confederate flag will be displayed in the lobby of the building and the thirteen long tables around the dance floor will represent the thirteen states which first seceded from the Union.

The highlight of the dance will be the announcement of the winner of the "Best Beard" contest, the recipient of the Best Pledge Award, and the Kappa Alpha Rose for 1961-1962.

Schwendimann To Head Student Body In '61

Fred Schwendimann, junior, will serve as president of the 1961-62 Student Senate as a result of elections held Wednesday, April 19. Selected for the office of vice-president was Mike Ramming, junior.

Also elected in the first ballots on Wednesday were Keith Lloyd, Treasurer and George "Sandy" Lawn, Men's Independent Representative.

Runoff elections were held Friday, April 21. Competing in the second ballots were Sallie Clingman and Diane Caldwell for coed vice president; Carol Reichelt and Edith Elliott for Secretary; and Barbara Barbee and Jerre Rainwater for Women's Independent Representative. Selected for the offices, as a result of the runoff elections were Diane Caldwell, Edith Elliott, and Barbara Barbee.

Other candidates running for office on the first ballot were Paul McMahan, Terrell Rourke, Marie Nelson, Jean Netterville, Pegram McCreary, Dessa Crawford, Dorothy Risinger, and Ryan Horton.

The student body is to be congratulated for their participation in the elections. It was reported that over 55 percent of the students voted — a great improvement over past elections.

"Holiday In Dixie" To Begin April 26

The thirteenth annual Holiday in Dixie Festival will begin its week's activities on April 26, and last through April 30.

Centenary College is proud to have fine representatives in the festival, two contestants and two queens. Vieing for the crown, from Centenary, are Val Jean Banta and Juanita Donelson. Centenary students, Lyncra Pate and Gail Southerland who are North Louisiana Cotton Festival Queen and Dogwood Festival Queen, respectively, will be present. Also, the current Miss Shreveport, Becky Fisher, will be a visiting queen. Incidentally, Becky will be a Centenary student this fall.

Contestants and visiting queens will be treated royally throughout the week. Contestants, after registering on Tuesday, will leave for Hodges Gardens where they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hodges. On Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Downs Poindexter will have them for a box supper and swimming party at their home on Cross Lake.

Friday afternoon will be spent for auditions by the contestants. Friday evening at 6:45 p. m., the Classic Parade featuring the Cotillion Court, visiting queens, and contestants for "Queen Holiday in Dixie" will begin. That evening at 8:30 p. m., the final judging to select the new queen will begin in the Municipal Auditorium.

Following the contest, there will be a midnight supper at the Captain Shreve Hotel for all those in the festival. The week's events will come to a close with a breakfast on Saturday morning at which Miss Congeniality will be selected.

Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary society for men, tapped four student members and two faculty members during the annual ODK chapel which was held Thursday, April 20. New members include Dr. E. M. Clark, head of the English department; Dr. W. F. Pledger, head of the Sociology Department; Jack Mulkey, Tim Temple, Mike Ramming, and Joe Ben LaGrone.

Omicron Delta Kappa Taps Four In Chapel Thursday

Omicron Delta Kappa, national fraternity recognizing leadership and service in college activities, tapped four new members in Chapel, April 20.

Dr. E. M. Clark, who was introduced by Dr. Jack Teagarden, appropriately set the atmosphere for the announcement of new members with a speech entitled, "Leadership and Leadership".

Ralph Mason, assisted by other ODK members, then conducted the tapping ceremony. New members are: Joe Ben LaGrone, Jack Mulkey, Mike Ramming, and Tim Temple.

3 Seniors, 1 Junior Tapped

Joe Ben LaGrone, a senior from Deadwood, Texas, is a transfer student from Panola Junior College in Carthage, Texas, where he was President of the debate club, president of the student body, and named outstanding student by a faculty vote in his sophomore year. At Centenary he has been active in the Intramural program and has served as vice-president of Alpha Chi. He was just recently named the recipient of a Willson Fellowship to the University of Wisconsin.

Jack Mulkey, a senior from Shreveport, is a member of Sigma Tau Delta, the Yoncopin Staff, and the Jongleurs, and has received a Rotary Fellowship. He was named to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities", and acted as Master of Ceremonies at the Centenary Mardi Gras.

Mike Ramming, a junior from St. Louis, Mo., is a member of the varsity basketball team and Alpha Sigma Pi. He has served as vice-president of Kappa Alpha and sports writer for the Conglomerate.

Tim Temple, a senior from Leesville, is a member of the Choir, Yoncopin staff, and Kappa Sigma, and has served as one of the Mardi Gras Escorts. He has been president of the National Education Association at Centenary and recipient of the NEA award.

Tapped for honorary membership were faculty professors, Dr. E. M. Clark and Dr. W. F. Pledger. Dr. Pledger was officially tapped by his son Tally who is also a member of ODK.

Other persons participating in the program were H. C. Alford, providing the musical prelude and postlude; Richard Herrman giving the invocation; A. C. "Cheesy" Voran, who provided the special music; and Rev. Lothar Kleinhans who gave the benediction.

Schwendimann Elected President of Alpha Chi

The monthly meeting of Alpha Chi was held at the home of Dr. E. L. Ford on Sunday, April 16th. Officers were elected for the coming college year. Fred Schwendimann will serve as president, Dorothy Middlebrooks, vice-president, Sarah Liberto, secretary-treasurer.

Alpha Chi is a national Scholastic fraternity for juniors and seniors who are invited to join. An overall average of 3.5 is a requirement for membership. Dr. E. L. Ford serves as local sponsor. Dr. Woodrow Pate and Dr. Virginia Carlton are associate sponsors. The local chapter has eighteen members.

At the thirty-seventh annual meeting of the Councils of the Societies of Alpha Chi held at Centenary April 7-8th, Dr. Woodrow Pate was elected vice-president of the Regional Council. There are fifty-seven chapters of Alpha Chi.

Student Senate Minutes

The Student Senate Meeting was held in the Moore Student Center at 5:45 Wednesday, April 12. The meeting was called to order by the President, Jim Daigle. Others present were Anne McLaurin, Ralph Mason, Brenda Bailey, James Goins, Jean Netterville, G. B. Watson, Barbara Bourdier, Don Tyler, Buddy Daily, Tim Temple, Yogi Ferrari, Miss Alexander and Dean Allen. Visitors: Paul McMahan, Fred Schwendimann, Diane Caldwell, Sallie Clingman, Marie Nelson, Mike Ramming, Terrell Rourk, Carol Reichelt, Keith Lloyd, Pegram McCreary, Barbara Barbee, Dessa Crawford, Jerre Rainwater, Dorothy Risinger, Ryan Horton, and Sandy Lawn.

James Goins gave a treasury report. The Vaudeville Show netted $378.50 which gave the Jongleurs and Senate $189.25 each. $210.80 was made from the Fair and $142.00 from the dance which gave us a total of $890.53. After the band and other minor expenses were paid there was a balance of $362.67. The Senate of next year will have more money than any of the past Senates.

Buddy Daily reported the keys would be sent to Dean Allen's office.

Letters of thanks were read from Alpha Chi and the Alumni President, Jim Patterson, for the Gentleman's Juba Celebration.

It was decided that candidates running for the Student Senate offices would give their speeches alphabetically beginning with the Independent Representative. There will be a joint meeting with the new and old Senates April 25.

Homecoming will be held February 24 next year. There will be a basketball game in the afternoon.

Under Student Fair news Jean Netterville reported the Choir Cake Walk netted the most Juba Bucks. The faculty will decide on the Most Original Booth. Anne McLaurin and Brenda Bailey volunteered to take the plaque for the engraving.

Don Tyler stated there was a new club called the Circle K that was similar to the Kiwanis Club. He wanted to get the Senate's approval so he could pass it on to the Student Affairs' Committee. The president told him he would have to hand in a written request. Don will bring this to the next meeting stating the purpose of the newly formed organization.

Dean Allen then expressed the college's appreciation for the fine job the Senate did in handling Gentleman's Juba.

The Gentleman's Juba was a tremendous success this year and this was due to the support from the students and faculty. We hope that this celebration will be even bigger and better next year. There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
Brenda Bailey
Student Senate Secretary

Dean Vogel Announces New English Instructor

Miss Patsy Ann Griffin, instructor in English at Arkansas Polytechnic College in Russellville, Ark., for the past year, has accepted the position of instructor in English at Centenary College.

Dean Leroy Vogel said Miss Griffin will arrive on the local campus in time to assist with the summer school program at Centenary and will assume her full-time duties with the start of the 1961-62 academic year in September.

A native of Gurdon, Ark., Miss Griffin will replace Dr. John R. Willingham, professor of English at Centenary, who is leaving to accept a new position at the University of Kansas. Dr. Willingham has been a member of the Centenary faculty since 1954.

Miss Griffin is a graduate of the Prescott, Ark., High School and attended Southern Methodist University of Dallas, Tex. She received her Bachelor of Arts degree in English from the University of Arkansas, where she also obtained her MA degree in 1960. She was a member of the National Collegiate Players at the University of Arkansas, and held a scholarship there for four semesters.

Miss Griffin is a member of the American Assn. of University Women and the American Assn. of University Professors. She is a former stewardess for the Braniff International Airways and also worked for a time as a secretary for a Dallas, Tex., television station.

Clingman To Head Cencoe In '61-'62

The regular monthly meeting of Cencoe was held Thursday, April 13 at the Alpha Xi Delta house. The officers for the next year were elected.

They are as follows: president, Sallie Clingman (Chi Omega), vice-president and treasurer, Edith Elliott (Zeta Tau Alpha), and secretary, Merrill Anne Snider (Alpha Xi Delta).

The new officers will take office at the next meeting at the Chi Omega house.

Don Guynes Receives Special Study Grant

A $4,800 special study grant has been awarded to the Rev. H. Don Guynes, director of religious life at Centenary College, by the Danforth Foundation.

The Rev. Mr. Guynes will use the grant, which also covers full tuition and fees, to work toward the Doctor of Theology degree at the Pacific School of Religion in Berkeley, Calif., starting in September. He holds the BA degree from Centenary and the BD degree from the Perkins School of Theology of Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas.

The Centenary faculty member, who also is faculty sponsor of the Methodist Student Movement and instructor in religion at Centenary, is a former associate pastor of the First Methodist Church of Lake Charles. He took the position at Centenary in the fall of 1959. At Berkeley, he will study under Dr. Charles McCoy, head of the department of religion, stressing religion in the field of higher education.

Provisions of the grant stipulate that the Rev. Mr. Guynes shall attend the Danforth Associate Conference to be held at Stony Lake, Mich., from Aug. 28 to Sept. 3.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"I KNOW HOW ANXIOUS YOU ARE TO SEE ME, FLOYD, BUT I DIDN'T THINK YOUR FRAT WOULD LET YOU PLEDGES OUT ON WEEK NITES!"

More Authority For Student Senate

"The time has come for the voice of the students to be heard." "You underestimate your Senate." "The Student Senate is the one coordinating body on this campus." These were a few of the statements made by candidates during the recent campaign which are indicative of the new awareness of the potentialities of the Student Senate. The few students who attended the speeches heard promises ranging from abolishing 7:50 classes to setting up a petitions' committee to hear student grievances. Suggestions were also made to include student disciplinary action in the powers of the senate and to expand Centenary's homecoming festivities to include a parade and an afternoon basketball game. All of these suggestions would involve a broadening of the student senate's powers.

This new interest in the possibilities that could arise from a more powerful senate government has come from several sources. The most prominent fact to be considered is that this year's senate has been more authoritative and powerful than its predecessors. Students are recognizing the fact that the senate can accomplish definite objectives on this campus. This student pride and interest in the senate will grow if the senate continues to exert itself in student affairs, and if the administration will place its confidence in the senate by allowing them a gradual increase in power. In years to come it may be possible for the senate to control such areas as student housing and student discipline which are already under the jurisdiction of student governments on many other campuses.

A second factor involved in the growing interest in the senate is the fact that Centenary is, as one candidate stated, in an age of transition. The students are becoming more concerned with the administrative policies of the school, and they now desire a voice in determining the future of their school. This is a constructive force growing on the campus which, if properly utilized by the senate and administration, will bring a new meaning to student government at Centenary College.

Gents Nab First Diamond Win 5-3 Over Nichols Colonels

Coach Doug Mooty's baseball team grabbed their first victory of the 1960-61 baseball season last week with an impressive 5-3 decision over the Nichols State Colonels of Thibideaux.

The sidearming freshman right-hander, Jim Pippen showed a strong arm in the late innings which proved to be the difference. The Colonels took a quick lead by going out in front 3-1 in the first inning. The scoreboard showed all goose eggs until the bottom of the seventh when Tom Stirrat, the Colonels extremely fast righthander, began to tire.

With two out in the bottom of the seventh Harry Booras reached first on an error followed by consecutive singles by R. V. Lockwood, Cecil Upshaw, and Terry Everett. Dickie Richard was safe on another error before this big Gent inning ended and the Gents had pushed across four runs. Pippen encouraged by the lead remained strong on the mound and after the final out, the score still read Gents 5, Nichols 3.

The following day Nichols gained revenge on the Maroons with an 11-4 conquest of the home team. The one bright spot of this one was a booming round tripper coming off the bat of Gent first sacker, Terry Everett. This was the last game of this homestand. The Gents then moved on to New Orleans to do battle with Loyola of the South.

PanHellenic Retreat Held Last Saturday

Thirty-five sorority girls attended the PanHellenic Retreat at the YMCA Camp last Saturday, April 22.

The girls left from James Dormitory at 10:00 a. m., and proceeded in a caravan formation of cars to the camp at Forbing, Louisiana. Each girl brought her own lunch, with PanHellenic furnishing the drinks.

Activities at the camp began with informal recreation, including some group singing and exchange of sorority songs. At noon the girls took a break for lunch.

The purpose of the Retreat was not only to promote cooperation and better feelings between the sororities, but also to discuss all rush rules with an emphasis on changes made this year, and possibilities of other changes. Kay France, new PanHellenic president, led the discussion.

After dinner discussion groups were held on various phases of sorority life. The Retreat was closed with a report from the delegates who attended the PanHellenic Workshop in Lake Charles on April 15.

Participating in the workshop were Centenary, McNeese, Northeast, Northwestern and U. S. L. Merrill Ann Snider and Kay France attended from Centenary.

Symposium On Aerospace Scheduled For Saturday

An educational symposium on "Aerospace" will be held at Centenary College, Saturday, April 29, from 8:30 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. in the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse. The symposium will be co-sponsored by Centenary and the Shreveport Air Force Association.

An Air Force aero-space team, under the leadership of Col. Arthur E. Boudreau, will present a program on several subjects dealing with space projects. Subjects include: "A Survey of Astronautics," "Space Boosters and Orbits," "Civil and Military Astronautics Operations," "Project Mercury and Others to Follow," and information on problems faced by the military in space projects development.

To be attended by more than 350 students, educators and industrial leaders from the Ark-La-Tex, as well as scientists of national prominence, the symposium will be aimed at fostering a greater understanding of the need for cooperation between educators, industry, and military planning groups.

Following a briefing during the program, the aerospace team will be questioned by a panel of local education planners, industrialists and editors. Additionally, many prominent educators and industrialists from the local scene will be present to furnish information on programs planned for this area.

First Of Many Symposiums

In discussing plans for the forthcoming symposium, Dr. Mickle stressed that those responsible for elementary and secondary education in the Ark-La-Tex were doing what he termed a "magnificent job" of fostering interest in scientific subjects. "The Science Fair held here recently is evidence that our teachers and our students are doing everything possible to meet the challenge; however, despite those wonderful efforts, many, through no fault of their own, are handicapped, particularly in our smaller schools, because they need first-hand information regarding long-range programs."

"We propose to provide them with information regarding where we are going, and what tools are available for getting there," Dr. Mickle stated. He also stated that this symposium is intended to be the first of many symposiums.

Tennis Personality

By MIKE RAMMING

Playing his last season of intercollegiate tennis competition this year, senior, Arnie McHone has been the Gents number one singles and doubles man since his arrival on the Centenary campus two years ago. Missing the entire season last year due to a broken finger resulting from a basketball injury, Arnie has come back strong this season. He has been defeated only twice this year, these losses coming at Louisiana Tech and Lamar Tech.

McHone is an ex-G. I. and was one of the U. S. Navy's finest players. He traveled all over North and South America playing in tennis tournaments for the navy. Prior to his service hitch Arnie played for Lincoln Memorial University in Tennessee where his coach was, as now, Dr. Sidney Rice. He is a native of Asheville, North Carolina. Arnie is a chemistry major and will graduate this spring.

Carol Reichelt Elected President Of SNEA

Carol Reichelt was elected president of SNEA in a recent election. Dorothy Middlebrooks — vice-president, Jacque Rosett — Secretary, Marie Armintor — Treasurer, and Sara Hitchcock — Reporter, are other elected officers.

SNEA end-of-school banquet will be held on Friday, May 5, at Sansone's Restaurant. Installation of officers for the coming year will be held at this time. SNEA members are asked to pay $1.00 and guests $2.50 for the meal.

Tuesday, April 11, was the regular meeting of the SNEA. Mr. Paxton Moreland spoke to the group about the Louisiana Code of Ethics. The officers led the group in a ceremony and climaxed the evening with each SNEA member signing the Code of Ethics. Refreshments were served to those present.

April 14 and 15 several of the NEA members journeyed to Northwestern State College, Natchitoches, to attend the state NEA meeting. Linda Byrd Sartor, Carol Reichelt and Margaret Covington attended.

Graduating Seniors Required To Take Graduate Examinations

Centenary College is one of a selected group of American colleges and universities chosen to participate in the Graduate Record Examinations program of the Educational Testing Service this year.

Dean Leroy Vogel has named Dr. E. M. Clark, head of the department of English, to supervise Centenary's participation. The examinations will be given on the local campus from 10:30 to 11:10 a. m. and from 1-5 p. m. on Wednesday, May 17, both sessions to be held in the Science Building.

Dr. Clark said Centenary has administered the Graduate Record Examinations previously but only to students entering graduate schools which required such examinations. The students had to finance the administration of the examinations under the former program. This year, the tests will be administered without cost to either Centenary or the students here, and all senior students will be asked to take the examinations.

Purpose of the program is to give the participating schools a basis on which to evaluate themselves and their students and to tell each student how he ranks in comparison with other students. Even students not planning to enter graduate schools will take the examinations so that results will be available in the event they wish to do graduate studies later, Dr. Clark said.

The examinations cover the areas of the humanities, social sciences and natural sciences. Dr. Clark said there is a possibility that the examinations will continue to be given to all Centenary seniors on a permanent basis in the future.

James Elects Dorm Council

Kay Cooper, a junior English major, was recently selected to head the James Dormitory Council for the coming academic year.

Serving with Kay will be Vice-President, Diane Camp; Secretary, Cookie Burnett; Treasurer, LaVern Burks; and Publicity Chairman, Jacque Rosett. The senior Representative is Sallie Clingman, and the Junior Representative is Patsy West.

The Sophomore and Freshman representatives will be elected next fall.

Shelton Powers Selected For Summer Research

Shelton Powers has been chosen to do summer research for the Products Development Division of General Foods Corporation in Hoboken, New Jersey.

Shelton will be given a research problem by General Foods commensurate with his education and experience, and will have a well-equipped laboratory at his disposal for the solution of this problem. While in Hoboken, he plans to complete eight hours of physics at Stevens Institute of Technology. The research should require approximately thirteen weeks, and will begin June 1.

Powers, a junior pre-med student from Marshall, Texas, was a 1960 delegate to the Louisiana Heart Association Convention in New Orleans. He is presently active in Alpha Epsilon Delta, honorary medical fraternity, and Alpha Sigma Chi, honorary chemical society. He is also a charter member of the newly organized Circle K Club.

WRA Schedules Elections Tomorrow

The Women's Recreational Association has announced that election of new officers will take place Tuesday, April 25, between 8:00 and 2:00 in the Sub. Candidates for the various offices are: President: Judy Mayo; Vice President: Carol Mangum, Patsy West, and Diane Camp; Secretary: Edith Elliott, Sharon Blevins and Merrill Ann Snider; Clerk: Jule Ann Young and Maureen Melbourne; Reporter: Jackie Norman.

Softball got underway last Tuesday as M.S.M. defeated the Independent "Rinkie Dinks" on Tuesday and went on to claim a win over Zeta Tau Alpha, Wednesday. Also on Wednesday the "Rinkie Dinks" evened their record to one win — one loss as they came back to defeat Alpha Xi Delta by a very close one run margin.

Hats

One of the organization editors of the Yoncopin is this week's featured personality in "Hats Off". She is a sophomore from Rayville and is currently acting as vice-president of the sophomore class.

As an active participant in Greek and other school activities, she has gained much popularity on campus. This year she is a cheerleader for the Gent basketball team, sophomore representative to James' dorm council, and a member of Chi Omega. She also takes part in intramurals and M.S.M.

Perhaps her most time-consuming activity, however, is that of organization editor for the Yoncopin. In this capacity, she plans and makes pictures of all organizations on campus other than Greek fraternities, and arranges them on drafts the way they will appear in the Yoncopin.

As the time nears for the arrival of the 1960-61 Yoncopin, members of the staff deserve special credit; therefore, this week, The Conglomerate takes hats off to Charlotte Stodghill.

SHREVEPORT

Class officers Don Adair, Sandra Stokes, and Sara Hitchcock, are taking time out from their busy schedules to meditate and evaluate upon the many activities which have occurred on Centenary's campus during the past year.

Class Officers Evaluate Year

By SANDRA McCUISTION

Spring elections mean that the year is drawing to a close; the time for evaluation has come. This week the Conglomerate has three students, who have served for the past two semesters as class officers, to give their views about life around big C during the past year.

Sandra Stokes is a freshman this year at Centenary and a native Shreveporter. She is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha and is majoring in elementary education. For the past year she has served as secretary of the freshman class. "I came from a large high school," says Sandra, "and one of the things that I really like about Centenary is the fact that it is a relatively small school, and, therefore, a more friendly one." Although the atmosphere here is friendly, Sandra believes that the students don't take advantage of the times when they do have a chance to get together as a body. "If a bigger Homecoming were planned," comments Sandra, "then maybe more students would take part in it, or at least the opportunity of participation would be there."

Sandra hopes, along with all the rest of the members of the freshman class, that as Mardi Gras grows to be more of a tradition here at Centenary, that more people will attend. The Freshman class did a wonderful job of it this year, and future prospects look bright. Sandra is definitely for keeping the tradition of haircuts for the Freshman boys, and regrets that the traditional fishpond ceremonies have been abandoned. Sandra can remember all too well carrying loads of trays for the basketball team in order to avoid being dunked!

Haircuts Must Stay

Don Adair is another Freshman this year from East Bernard, Texas. (For those of you who would like to know where East Bernard is, look around about fifty miles out of Houston — you may see it, then again, you may not.) Don is a pre-medical major, takes an active part in the Men's Intramural Program, and has served as treasurer of the freshman class for the past year.

"No ifs and buts about it," declares Don, "the freshman haircut has got to stay!" Don, who is a firm believer that the haircut is the most distinguished mark of a freshman, contends that he was really glad to get his cut! He did relent a little on the fishpond dunking issue and decided that we could get along without it. Don took an active part in the planning of Mardi Gras this year, and adds his hope that it will become a function in which all students will participate. He would also like to see such activities as the Charity Bowl game become a tradition, too.

Don believes that student elections here are run well and the only thing wrong with them are the people that do not participate in them. There is a need, Don and many others feel, for student unification in the support of these elections, and this, of course, can only be achieved if everyone will get out and VOTE!

Since the Conglomerate's main function is to be the voice of the students, it would now like to "Voice" a complaint for Don. Attention Science Library: You do not stay open long enough for poor, struggling pre-med majors who spend most of their time there. — O. K. Don?

Include The Town Students

Sara Hitchcock, a junior education major from Shreveport, is current vice-president of Chi Omega, active in NEA, and a member of the Yoncopin staff. As secretary of the Junior class, Sara has had a hand in planning many of the school's activities. "However," comments Sara, "there needs to be more class functions which would bring people in one classification closer together. The officers other than the president have little opportunity to serve when the class is not active as a group."

As a town student herself, Sara wishes that all of the town students would take a more active part in campus functions, and hopes that more activities can be planned which would include them, such as haircuts for freshman boys living in town, as well as for the dorm students.

Sara voices the opinion of many students when she says that she hopes Homecoming will grow larger every year and become an established tradition here. Recalling the Freshman Follies of last year, Sara believes that it would be a good idea if each new Freshman class put on a project of this nature because it presents an opportunity for all of the members of a class to work together and promotes a spirit of unity that carries over into future years.

Here's an encouraging word for the hard-working and long-suffering chapel committee. Sara (and she is not alone in this belief) thinks that chapel programs and Lyceums, on the whole, have improved this year. Maybe this is because Sara has taken a positive attitude toward such functions instead of the negative one that seems to be prevalent, and, after all, progress can come only by taking a positive attitude toward the problems at hand.

MSM To Sponsor P. W. Turner Play

On Wednesday, April 26, at 7:00 p. m., the Methodist Student Movement will be host for the presentation of P. W. Turner's first play, Christ in the Concrete City, in the Moore Student Center.

Centenary students may remember Mr. Turner as the author of Cry Dawn in Dark Babylon, a play which was presented on campus by the Jongleurs and toured through many churches in Louisiana.

Students from Mangum Memorial Church will produce and enact the play, and the Centenary faculty and student body is cordially invited to attend this presentation of Christ in the Concrete City.

Chi Omega State Day, better known as the "Hooters Convention", was held on the Centenary campus for the four chapters in the state. And Lon, it was not "steak" day!

We wish to congratulate Ada Koenig, who announced her recent engagement to Tim White at a candle light ceremony. Also a belated congratulations to Anne McEachern who is engaged.

Dr. Morgan, Mr. Hickcox, Miss McKnight, and Mr. Corey were a few of the teachers seen at the Chi Omega's "Apple Polishing" lemonade party for the faculty.

Finishing out the year with a banquet, the Gent basketball team awarded trophies to their outstanding players. Watching the presentations were Harry Wuennenberg, Patty McHugh, Yogi Ferari, Grace Jackson, Mike Ramming, Sandra Bodie, John Lukasik, and Diane Mollet. Congratulations go to Ford King for the highest percentage of rebounds, and Soup Moore for the highest percentage of free throws.

Congratulations are in store for seven new Phi Beta pledges: Linda Allen, Shirley Burnett, Nancy Leckey, Sandra McCuiston, Jacque Rosett, Julie Schmidt, and Jule Anne Young.

Many Centenary students stood in long lines to see the film "Gone With the Wind". Among them were: Clarene Carver, Gary Reaves, Jean Netterville, and James Goins. We understand Jerre Rainwater had to meet Jerry Jouett inside the theater!

Saturday night many couples were seen watching television at the Kappa Sigma house. Among these were Ginger Darnell, Ez Fatter, Colleen Cathey, and Jack Green; also Robert Gilliam and Sally Givens to whom he is now dropped!

Some Centenary students who can't wait until the summer vacation begins are those who have been selected to be in the play "Job" this summer. These are Grace Jackson, Virginia Bobbitt, Jim Foster, Hal Proske, Bob Shy, George Bryan, and Don Farley. Congratulations!

Good luck to those excited "Greenhorns" who are going to set New York on fire this summer. Everyone is expecting many postcards from the Choir!

Perhaps these six girls, newly selected Maroon Jackets, are anticipating the day when they will first appear on campus wearing the summer wescott of the Maroon Jackets. They are, left to right: standing, Sara Hitchcock, Jean Netterville, and Kay Cooper; seated, Betty Jo Towery, Judy Rhodes, and Jane Rhodes White.

Maroon Jackets Announce 6 New Members In Chapel

Six Centenary girls were officially accepted into Maroon Jackets at Chapel last Thursday, April 27. They are: Kay Cooper, Sara Hitchcock, Jean Netterville, Judy Rhodes, Betty Jo Towery, and Jane Rhodes White.

Maroon Jackets is an honorary organization for senior girls, recognizing outstanding leadership and service in college activities and the maintenance of a 3.0 overall grade average.

President of this year's Maroon Jackets, Carole Ann Solomen, presided at the meeting, introducing twenty-one former Maroon Jackets attending the chapel, and explaining the purpose of Maroon Jackets. Assisting her in the program were other Maroon Jackets: Invocation, Sandra Whitlock; Special Music, Edith Elliott; Scripture, Linda Rosett; Introduction of the Speaker, Janet Gholson; and Benediction, Judy Hebert.

Guest speaker for the chapel was Miss Ruth Alexander, Association Professor of Speech at Centenary. Recognition of the new Maroon Jackets followed Miss Alexander on the program. The excitement mounted as each Maroon Jacket stepped forward to call out the name of a new Maroon Jacket.

Kay Cooper, an education major from Sulphur, has been active as Vocations Chairman and President of Chi Omega, Vice-President and President of James Dormitory, member of the Honor Court, sophomore section leader of the Choir, ROTC Sponsor, Vice-President of the Junior Class, Yoncopin Beauty, and member of Intramurals, Alpha Sigma Pi, and the Conglomerate staff.

Another education major, Sara Hitchcock, native of Shreveport, has served as Vice-President, Assistant Secretary, and Chaplain of the Pledge Class in Chi Omega, and is a member of the Methodist Student Movement, SNEA, Intramurals, Secretary of the Junior Class, Junior PanHellenic, and the Yoncopin staff.

The youngest member of the group, Jean Netterville, is a religion major from Baton Rouge. She is active as Publicity Chairman of James Dormitory, Secretary of the Methodist Student Movement, Wardrobe Chairman of the Choir, Independent Representative to the Student Senate, and a member of Intramurals and the Chapel Committee. She has participated in the Freshman Follies and was a member of the Mardi Gras Court.

Judy Rhodes, a social science major from Shreveport, has served as Co-Treasurer and President of Zeta Tau Alpha and President of the Pep Squad. She is a member of Alpha Sigma Pi, Sigma Tau Delta, SNEA, and Intramurals.

Betty Jo Towery, also from Shreveport, is a Music Education Major. She has been Assistant Pledge Trainer, Standards Chairman, and Vice-President of Zeta Tau Alpha, and Treasurer and Pledge Trainer of Phi Beta.

Jane Rhodes White, "the other Rhodes twin", is also a social science major. She has served as Co-Treasurer of Zeta Tau Alpha, and is a member of Alpha Chi, Alpha Sigma Pi, Sigma Tau Delta, Pep Squad, Intramurals and SNEA.

Following the Chapel ceremonies, the new Maroon Jackets, their parents, and former Maroon Jackets were honored at a luncheon in the Centenary Cafeteria.

After dinner new officers for next year were elected. They are: President, Edith Elliott; Vice-President, Jean Netterville; Secretary, Kay Cooper; and Treasurer, Jane Rhodes White.

"Miser" To Open May 11, Two Matinees To Be Given

When the curtains at the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse open on May 11, Centenary College will have its first look at one of France's most famous comedies, Moliere's immortal "The Miser".

In a fairyland setting described by director Orlin Corey as "a shower-shiny dream of a spring garden . . . a color dappled memory, all drape and transparency," Moliere's nearly mad miser runs amuck. True love runs its troubled yet triumphant course, and witless comic servants create anew scenes so famous that they have been acted somewhere in the world, every night since the original Paris premier, 293 years ago. When the Coreys were last in Paris, two years ago, "The Miser" was the same sellout it has always been for centuries.

Novel Talents Required

This production of the Jongleurs is requiring a number of novel talents, ranging from wig making to the construction of furniture, and metal sculpture. The latter is an assignment of David Gibson and Bob Shy, who have wrestled, molded, and welded sixty feet of copper tubing into a delicate chandelier, designed by Mrs. Corey from seventeenth century French originals. This fixture is a central feature of the setting. So attractive is the finished work that a recent Houston visitor in the Playhouse inquired about its price, wishing to place it in her home.

Years In The Making

"The Miser" has been worked upon by director Corey, intermittently for a decade, he admits. Ten years ago he produced the no less famous grandsire of this comedy, a raucous Roman comedy, often translated as "The Pot of Gold." Written by the celebrated Latin comic, Plautus, two centuries before Christ, Corey took the play at Baylor, "shaved its Roman whiskers, put it in a new suit of clothes, and gave it a half dozen original tunes." Scheduled for six performances, the new version ran for 18 performances, and was halted only by the press of other productions in the Baylor theater. Moliere, 2,000 years later, naturalized the Roman plot into a Parisian setting. He expanded the miser into one of the finest psychological studies ever made of suspicion and cupidity. His comic servants have been the models of generations of comedians, including Groucho and Harpo Marx, Danny Kaye, and Charlie Chaplin.

When the Jongleurs open "The Miser" on May 11, for its run through May 20th, they will be restoring Louisiana's original playwright to our time. Over two centuries ago, when Louisiana was French, Moliere was the first dramatist to have his work performed here.

Sororities Hold Spring Banquets

Alpha Xi Delta, Chi Omega, and Zeta Tau Alpha are holding their annual spring banquets during April and May. The purpose of the occasions is to bring the parents of the girls closer to the sorority and to give them a chance to become better acquainted.

Alpha Xi Delta held a Father-Daughter banquet Friday, April 28, at 6:00 p. m. at their house. The mothers of the girls prepared and served the meal. Each senior member of the group received a sterling silver spoon with the Alpha Xi Delta crest on it. The new officers of the 1961-1962 Mothers Club were presented also.

Monday, May 8, at 6:30, the Chi Omegas will entertain their mothers at an informal supper party. The Mothers Club is sponsoring the event and its new officers will be introduced at that time.

The Zeta Tau Alpha Mothers Club will sponsor a Mother-Daughter banquet Saturday, May 6, at 12:00 noon. In addition to this banquet, the girls are holding a birthday banquet to celebrate the birthday of the chapter. Supper will be served at Smiths Cross Lake Inn, May 5, at 6:00. Zetas will wear white cocktail dresses. An award will be presented to the outstanding senior girl and each senior will receive a piece of her silver pattern.

Sammie Kay Smith
Kappa Alpha Rose

"... Two dreamy eyes of blue, a wealth of golden hair . . ." can well describe the Kappa Alpha Rose for 1961-1962. Sammie Kay Smith, a Junior from Hemphill, Texas, was named to the honor at the annual Kappa Alpha Old South Ball which was held last Saturday, April 29 at the Young Men's Progressive Club on Cross Lake. Sammie Kay, who attended Gulfport College in Gulfport, Mississippi, for one year before coming to Centenary, is majoring in secondary education and is a member of National Education Association and of Chi Omega social sorority.

Other announcements made at the dance were the recipients of the Best Beard and the Best Pledge Awards. The Best Beard Award, which is self-explanatory, went to Doug Howard, who has been laughingly called "Abe" for his fine growth. The Best Pledge Award, given on the basis of Scholarship, Attitude, Leadership, and Service, to the most outstanding pledge of the year, went to Eric Bishop.

"The Miser's" Misses, Centenary coeds Ginger Darnell and Jane Hebert, romantic interest in the forthcoming Moliere comic classic at the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse, surround Harpagon, the Miser, portrayed by George Bryan.

A Stand For Liberal Conservatism

Recently it seems as though our campus has been given its fair share of politics and organizations and such. We live in a state governed, shall we say, by politicians, and this particular period in the history of the world is fraught with conflicting opinions. This isn't a conflict of ideas to be decided on the east side of New York or on the shores of Lake Geneva. We must give recognition and agreement to John Donne, although it is hard sometimes to understand just why a clod washed away from the continent makes us over here all the less fortunate.

This anxiety for "the world" is concerning those who read the papers, or even those who read only the comics. Our president has told us of the need to act on the question of foreign intervention in Southeast Asia. To the South, "Yankee Imperialism" is blamed for crop failure. We have heard of the threat to our nation even closer to home by groups, however outspoken, that the deterioration is going to destroy us from within. As it should be, there is considerable interest in the plight of social standards here in the South.

There are those who approach us with alternatives. Are you a liberal, a conservative, or an American, to be facitious? The ultimatum is thrust out that we cannot be a mixture of the two and that the differences border on being a "card-carrying" communist or worse. We must state all our views in the light that we support all the conservative or all the liberal ideas, with little or no discrimination on all the many issues facing a citizen. We might say something conservative and right away Barry Goldwater is supposedly our hero. The same can be said of liberalism. Liberalism, in a predominantly conservative atmosphere such as this, is often considered another name for socialism. The two terms are thought to be interchangeable.

Perhaps this is not as acute on the campus, but in the world of our parents, the motivation for integration or segregation is either communistic on one hand, or religious on the other. It is demanded that a person declare himself either for federal aid to education, or that he despise federal intervention in an instance where it is necessary.

The purpose of this writing is not to urge with wild-eyed enthusiasm the support of one side or the other. The writer is merely asking in a small voice that those who take the time to form opinions be very careful and not fall victims to labeling themselves or someone else as a liberal or a conservative. Labels are awkward, and, most of the time, misleading. Few know exactly what the labels mean, and some could care less, as long as the person knows who is for and who is against. When asked one's political opinion on subjects, perhaps it would be safe to take the stand of liberal conservatism or vice-versa.

Many criteria can be advanced to lead opinion forming to one side or the other, to persuade or dissuade. To be honest with ourselves when we feel the need to take a stand, we must begin with an open mind; then proceed with close scrutiny of the aims and objects or motives behind thinking one way or the other. This is applicable to ideas and groups as well. In the final analysis, we should judge by whatever moral standards we have at our disposal. If we can honestly say that what we decide is right and moral, and we are sincere in the decision, we need fear no conflicting decisions, no matter how strongly they are voiced.

If wise decisions are made, the middle of the road will have quite a few new travelers.

Playhouse Matinees Announced; Concrete Sidewalks Completed

This week Centenary College officially opened a "new-through-way" to the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse. In response to the petition of students who see plays or take classes in the Playhouse, the College has replaced all of the slippery and treacherous board walks with new concrete ones. Moreover, a new concrete path glides around the cafeteria, toward the Playhouse.

"Hereafter," says Beverly Smith, public relations director for the Jongleurs, "Centenary students will find it an easy matter of about a minute to go from the door of the cafeteria to the Playhouse, in any kind of weather."

When students reach the Playhouse on the new sidewalks, they will find another new policy about the next major production, the Moliere comedy, "The Miser". The Jongleurs announce that two matinees are planned for this play "at the suggestion and request of several student groups." In addition to a one-third discount on reserved tickets, extended to Centenary Students this year, the new matinees' policy will make it easier for many students to catch plays during the week. "The Miser," opens on May 11, at 8:15 p.m., and continues nightly through the 20th, except for two matinees, Monday, May 15, and Wednesday, May 17, at 3:00 p.m. On matinee days, no evening performances are now intended.

Terry Smith Receives Arizona Assistantship

Terry Wayne Smith, a senior physics major at Centenary College, and a native of Shreveport, has been awarded a $2,000 graduate assistantship to the University of Arizona, Tucson, to work toward an advanced degree in physics.

Smith is a 1957 graduate of Byrd High School and expects to complete requirements for his Bachelor of Science degree at Centenary in August.

Terms of the assistantship stipulate that all tuition and fees shall be waived for Smith by the Arizona institution, which also designated him as an alternate for an outright fellowship. The graduate assistantship will entail assisting with the teaching of physics while working for his advanced degree.

At Centenary, Smith has maintained a straight "A" average in physics and above average grades in his other academic subjects. He has been cited on the dean's honor list and is a former president of the student chapter of the American Institute of Physics. He expects to enter the University of Arizona in September.

State BSU Plans Mission Project

The Baptist Students of Louisiana are undertaking the most challenging program of summer missions they have ever attempted. They are raising money over and above their tithes and offerings to their respective churches to send nine fellow students now in various colleges in Louisiana on a mission project called "Around the World with Christ this Summer." The entire project represents a budget in excess of $4,000.00. The Shreveport college students have raised $81.00 of their $400.00 goal for this project. Their efforts consist of washing cars, baby sitting, yard work, and house cleaning for $1.00 an hour. They will have a general work week May 1 through Saturday, May 6.

The students will send Steve Taylor of LSU and Guy Jenkins of Southeastern to Hawaii, Maunsel Pearce of Tulane Med and Chester Todd of LSU Med to Ghana, Jo Ann Cain of Louisiana College and Clint Blue of Northwestern to Jamaica. Gwen Blacklock of Louisiana Tech and Louise Carruth of Louisiana will serve in the states of Arizona and Ohio.

The same spirit of giving is reflected by the spirit of the students themselves. A typical statement was given by one of the group when he was interviewed by the Committee and stated, "I am anxious to see what God will do with my life this summer." They are indeed going "Around the World with Christ this Summer."

Orlin R. Corey, Chairman of the Speech and Drama Department, announces that there will be a compulsory meeting of all speech and drama majors at the Playhouse at 10:30, May 2.

Those who have not yet decided on their major and are considering speech and drama are also invited to attend.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

Student Senate Minutes

The Student Senate Meeting was held in the Moore Student Center at 5:45 Wednesday, April 19. The meeting was called to order by the president, Jim Daigle. Others present were Anne McLaurin, Ralph Mason, James Goins, Jean Netterville, G. B. Watson, Barbara Bourdier, Dan Tyler, Yogi Ferrari, Mike Sport, Dean Allen, and Miss Alexander.

James Goins reported there was $362.67 in the treasury.

James Goins was commended for Founders' Day plans.

Jim Daigle then presented Mrs. Nicholas a gift in appreciation for all she has done for us this year.

Yogi Ferrari and G. B. Watson gave suggestions for the alleviating of the parking area for next year.

There being no further business the meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
Brenda Bailey
Student Senate Secretary

Christian Science Film To Be Shown May 2

On Tuesday, May 2, at 10:30 a.m. in room 114 of the Science Building, a 30 minute film entitled "The Story of Christian Science" will be shown. The film answers some of the commonly asked questions about Christian Science: What does it teach about the nature of God? About evil? Do Christian Scientists consider healing to be the most important part of their religion?

Cooksey Awarded T. U. Fellowship

A $1,800 fellowship for graduate study at the University of Texas in Austin has been awarded to Albert B. Cooksey, Jr., a senior student at Centenary College.

Cooksey, a native of Shreveport, is slated to receive the BS degree in accounting and in physics from Centenary in May. He will begin work toward his master's degree in accounting at the Texas institution next fall.

A 1957 graduate of Fair Park High School, he has been active in a number of organizations on campus. He is secretary and treasurer of both Delta Tau Omicron, honorary commerce fraternity, and of Alpha Chi, honorary scholastic society for junior and senior students. Cooksey is also a member of the student division of the American Institute of Physics.

Baseball Gents Drop Pair

The Centenary Gent diamond crew journeyed to New Orleans last week to play the Wolfpack of Loyola University. The home club whipped the Gents handily by 16-1 and 8-1 scores. Terry Everett and Jim Phippen were the losing pitchers for Centenary.

The Gents, acutely plagued by injuries, were without the services of Dickie Richard and David Graham. Coach Mooty was able, however, to draft three players for the trip. They included Jimmy Williams, Ford King Jr. and Ralph Mason. These players made a creditable contribution even though they had not been able to train for the competition. Mason and King have joined the team for the remainder of the season. The injured players have now returned to practice and appear to be well manned. This, coupled with the addition of two players, should strengthen both the offensive and defensive walls of the Gents lineup. This added punch has Gent players and fans alike hopefully anticipating some additions to the win column during the remainder of the season.

Granger Elected Pres. Hardin Hall

Gail Granger, a sophomore from Lake Charles, La., was recently elected as President of the Hardin Hall Dorm Council for the next academic year.

Joining Gail on the Council will be Vice-President, Lynn Cannon; Recording Secretary, Marilyn Pendleton; Treasurer, Amy Matthews; and Publicity Chairman, Kay King. The Senior Representative is Kay France; Junior Representative, Roxie Lewis; and Sophomore Representative is Patti McHugh.

The Freshman Representative will be elected next fall.

Scalf To Present Sr. Recital May 1

John Robert Scalf, Jr., a music major at Centenary College, will present his senior piano recital at 8:15 p. m. Monday, May 1, in the Brown Memorial Chapel on the local campus.

The recital, to be presented in partial fulfillment of requirements for the bachelor's degree in music, will be open to the public without charge.

Scalf has been studying for the past three years with Joseph M. Running, director of the school of music and professor of piano. He previously studied with LeRoy Anspach, predecessor of Running in that position at Centenary, and with Marshall Bretz of Louisiana Polytechnic Institute in Ruston.

At Centenary, Scalf is a member of Pi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, honorary music society for male students, and Alpha Chi, honorary scholastic organization for outstanding juniors and seniors. He is also active in intramurals. Scalf is a graduate of Ruston High School.

The recital program will be as follows:

Prelude and Fugue in E Major, Book I — Bach.

Prelude and Fugue in A minor, Book II — Bach.

Andante con Variazioni in F minor — Haydn.

Second Piano Sonata (1936) — Hindemith.

Sonata in A minor, Opus 164 — Schubert.

Three Preludes (1948) — Martin. L'isle Joyeuse — Debussy.

For the first time this year, a freshman, from Shreveport, is the recipient of "Hats Off". She has shown outstanding initiative and capability on the Conglomerate staff and in other activities as well.

Several times this year, she has written the Personalities column, the front page story, and innumerable short stories. Outside the writing department, she writes cutlines, sub-heads, and headlines, and acts as general "flunkie" at the tedious task of layout. Her good humor is indispensable to the Conglomerate office.

Her desire to see a job well done is further demonstrated by the fact that she is on the Dean's Honor Roll and is a member of Alpha Sigma Pi.

She has served this year as president of the Chi Omega pledge class and will act next year as junior Pan-Hellenic representative. She is also a member of the Newman Club and is active in intramurals. We may all recall "Mighty Martin" in the Powder Puff Bowl.

Rarely do we find so many good qualities wrapped up in such a small package, (and in a freshman package at that). For these reasons, her willingness to work, her capabilities, and her sense of humor, we take Hats Off to . . . Melanie Martin.

YOUNG EXECUTIVE SHOP, SECOND FLOOR

Looking lazy and contented on the bank of a nearby bayou, John Lukasik, Ford King, and Don Ensley take time out from classes to enjoy more important things like fishing!

Spring Comes and Round Ballers Go Fishing

By MELANIE MARTIN

Spring is sprung . . . but definitely! A general survey of the campus activities at this time reveals some interesting things about some interesting people. For instance, those basketball players whom you may have missed around the "campi" haven't signed professional contracts at all; they've just been spending their leisure time at their favorite pastime — FISHING!

Several times a week, such well-known Gents as Jackie Crawford, Don Ensley, and Ford King can be spied with tackle in hand, slipping off to commune with nature at some nearby lake or pond. Even John Lukasik seems to be getting into the swing of things.

Jackie Crawford, the 6'8" short captain of the Gents this year, a P.E. major with a wife and son, finds (or makes) time to go fishing two to four times a week. Jackie, who hopes to play some professional basketball and eventually coach a team of his own, likes to fish "Lake Bistineau, Wallace Lake . . . any place that might be good," and when he fishes he likes to "fly fish — that's my favorite, spin fishing is second."

Fishermen Fool Detectives

In the years that he has been fishing, Jackie has had several funny experiences. "Once Wayne Dubose and I went out on a Thursday and stayed gone until Sunday afternoon. Our families had detectives and state police out searching and we were sitting out on the lake the whole time."

"Once Buddy Daily and I went fly fishing and Buddy got his fly hung in a tree. We pulled the boat over close to the tree and Buddy stood up and caught hold of a limb to pull the boat over closer. The boat promptly capsized." Another time, according to Jackie, he ran into a stump and his boat sank to the bottom of the lake. "The funniest thing that ever happened was when I capsized the boat while trying to land a fish. On second thought I guess it wasn't so funny — I caught the fish and lost $15.00 worth of gear."

Well-Coordinated Fisherman

Ford King is a Junior from Big Sandy, Texas, majoring in math. He is becoming well-known as the first Centenary baseball player to be put out at first when he had a good base hit. When asked about fishing, Ford said he likes to fish in "lakes", specifically Dam B in Texas. "I go every chance I get."

He says he hasn't had any real mishaps because "I'm pretty coordinated; I don't fall out of boats," and "The funniest thing that ever happened to me was Patsy." Actually some pretty funny things have happened to him with relation to fishing. "Once I was running a trot line with a real crazy guy. He was standing in front of the boat holding the line and he thought he saw a stick in the line, so he shook it off. As it swam away, we could see that it was a huge drum" (which is a fish, believe it or not).

I understand that Ford had another funny experience that he didn't tell me about. I guess it's pretty embarrassing to fish for 8 hours with the World Champion Fresh Water fisherman and not catch any fish, eh, Ford? I understand it would have been in a film shown on television throughout the Middle West, too.

Future Professional Fisherman

Don Ensley, "World Champion, Jr.," a junior from Joplin, Missouri, is probably partially responsible for a good deal of the sudden enthusiasm for fishing with all these Gents. Don, who fishes the lakes of Canada for at least three weeks each summer with his father, loves to fish so much that he plans to be a professional fisherman after graduation next year.

"The biggest fish I ever caught was a 22 lb. Northern Pike, which I got up in Canada. The most exciting day I've ever had though was last summer when I caught my first Muskie (That's quite a trophy fish, for those of you who have never heard of it, and is very hard to catch). Usually, if you fish all day and catch two Muskees, you have had a great day of fishing — that's how hard they are to catch."

"Last summer my father was making a movie, so I took Ford and Luke and went to Table Rock, Missouri, to fish with him while he was filming it (and also to get in the picture).

The first day we were there I wore the funny hat I have on in the Personality picture, and it blew off my head. We had to cruise all over the lake to pick it up. The next day, Luke wore the hat and the same thing happened. The bad part was that we had the same guide both days and he nearly went out of his mind over that simple little hat."

This summer Don has big things planned as he hopes to go with his father to Kenora, Canada, from where he will fly back to Barney's Resort on one of the many Canadian lakes to fish. From this resort, they will be able to watch the northern lights and experience a real Arctic life.

New Initiate

Last but not least of these hardy men of the outdoors is John Lukasik, a Sophomore from Irvington, New Jersey. Luke, as he is called, is a "city slicker", who had never been fishing at all until he made the trip with Don and Ford to Table Rock last year. This was quite an initiation into the sport, however, for when he went out with Mr. Ensley, "We had to get up at 4:00 in the morning — every morning. That was something new for me. I was in the boat with Mr. Ensley and we were fishing away when it started snowing this furious storm. We stayed out there all day casting in the snow. My fingers were numb and I felt like jumping overboard and swimming back to shore."

"I caught a 1½ pound bass and thought it was the biggest thing I'd ever seen. A disappointment to me was the time when I had a big fish on the line and was pulling him in. Mr. Ensley had his camera all set to take a picture and I pulled the line up too high. The fish jumped off and I was left before the camera with an empty line." (Could this have been the proverbial "one that got away"?)

Luke, like Ford, is majoring in math. He is active on campus in Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Carol's Corner

By CAROL REICHEL

Congratulations to the new Student Senate officers for the new year. Heading the slate is Fred Schwendemann, President. Diane Caldwell and Mike Ramming will serve as vice presidents.

Keith Lloyd will take care of the money and Edith Elliott will keep the minutes. Barbara Barbee and Sandy Lawn will represent the independents on campus. Good luck for a successful year.

Correction of last week's column — Ford King was awarded the Scholarship award and Jackie Crawford received the rebound award at the recent basketball banquet.

The Kappa Sigmas entertained Hawaiian style last Saturday night. Grace Jackson, Diane Mollet and Beverly Smith came in genuine grass skirts. Jerry Jouett received the award for having the smallest costume. Muu Muus were the rage of the party also. Sara Hitchcock, Patti McHugh and Joan Williams were right in style. Probably the most popular costumes were sarongs made from one piece of cloth. Simply amazing! Real flower leis arrived on Lon McAnally, Kay Cooper, Mary Allen and Theo Kleinman.

The Kappa Alphas will return to the state of being recognizable now that the Old South Ball is over.

Mary Anne Youngblood and Loretta Lowery receive our congratulations. Mary Anne was a princess in the recent Plantation Ball. Loretta was a duchess in the Holiday in Dixie celebration.

The newly organized W.A.R. club met recently and elected officers.

What does the Miser find as he opens the old treasure chest? We can't tell you that, but we will say that you can find love, laughter, and excitement in "The Jongleurs' " production of "The Miser", May 11-20.

World Renowned "Miser" Promises Matchless Fun

The Marjorie Lyons Playhouse will come to life once more on Thursday night as Molière's springtime comedy, "The Miser", promises to tickle the very funny bone of its opening night audience.

With a plot, surely influenced by the style of the great Roman comic, Plautus, and developed through the masterful work of Molière in the 17th century, "The Miser" brings to the stage a light and wonderful picture of the follies of men. Mistaken identities, love forlorn, and matchless wit are a few of the ironical aspects which have brought "The Miser" world-wide and immortal fame.

The tradition for "The Miser" was developed from the raucous Roman customs in to the Commedia Dell' Arte, a group of itinerant actors and singers. These people travelled over Europe practicing as one character only and living the lives of the part they portrayed. Many of these characters live on today such as "Punch and Judy" and "Pantalone". It is from Pantalone that we get our word, "pants", and very fitting too, as Pantalone was the conniving, flirtatious ancestor of Harpogon, the Miser. Many of the other characters in "The Miser" have this Commedia Dell' Arte ancestry and its influence is seen throughout all of Molière's plays.

Springtime Setting

The setting for this comical drama suggests the light airiness and greenery of Spring. It is designed with the spirit of French painters, Watteau and Fragonard. Instrumental in achieving this effect on stage and in the auditorium, are the use of lights and a thin green curtain peppered with flowers.

The center of interest in the set is a chandelier molded from copper tubing and designed from a print of a 17th century French original. The furniture, which is also constructed exclusively for "The Miser", is stylized to fit into the springtime setting. It is realistic only to the point that it portrays the French period. The house also is of a simpler style, although it suggests all of the grandness of French architecture.

Exaggerated Wigs

Original costumes and wigs complete the scene as the Miser and all of his crew accept the task of delighting their audience. As in all other productions at the playhouse this year, the costumes are designed by Mrs. Corey and are perfectly in keeping with the time and setting of the period. An exceptionally interesting aspect of the casts' wardrobe is the exaggerated wigs. They emphasize the lightheartedness of the play perfectly with their gay colors that accent the players' characters. Mrs. Corey has designed each wig so that it will symbolize the character of the person in the play.

After many months of making costumes, constructing sets, and rehearsing, not to mention the years of designing and planning for it, "The Miser" will be presented. Few people will ever have the opportunity to see a production of this type twice; however, the Miser and all of his character cohorts will be on Centenary's campus for ten days. Performance time begins at 8:15 P. M., May 11-20 with the exception of two 3:00 matinees, Monday, May 15, and Wednesday, May 17.

The Miser, himself, invites you to attend.

Val Jean Banta Named Princess Holiday in Dixie

Val Jean Banta, 1961-62 Miss Centenary, was named princess in the Queen Holiday in Dixie contest held Friday, April 28. She was the only runner-up selected in the contest.

Val Jean, who is from Shreveport, transferred from Louisiana Tech in January.

Juanita Donelson, also from Shreveport, was a finalist and the winner of the bathing suit division of the contest. Juanita is a Chi Omega pledge and reigned as the 1960 Miss Shreveport.

The contest was held in conjunction with the annual Holiday in Dixie celebration. Local people served as judges and some 2,000 persons filled the Municipal Auditorium for the event.

Alpha Xi Deltas are shown in the midst of practicing for their "Sing Along With Alpha Xi" program planned tomorrow in the Sub. Several campus organizations will be competing in the Spring Sing for the first-place trophy.

Choir Record Sales Begin

The first shipment of the 12" LP recording put on tape by the Centenary College Choir in March has arrived on campus and sales are in full swing under the direction of Paul McMahan, sales manager.

Recorded by a mobile branch of the RCA Camden company in the Brown Memorial Chapel, the record consists of a sacred side including the selections: "I Was Glad When They Said Unto Me," by Parry; "Brazilian Psalm," by Berger; Chorus I from the "Requiem," by Brahms; "O King All Glorious," by Willan; and a secular side including: "The Sound of Music (Medley)," by Rodger-Hammerstein II; "Aminte," by Ahrold; "De Camptown Races," by Foster; "West Side Story (Selections)," Bernstein; and "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor" by Lazarus and Berlin.

Piano accompaniment is supplied by regular Choir accompanists, Patricia McFarland and Sandy Lawn. William Teague accompanies the Choir on the organ.

The records are cased in an attractive jacket with a color photo of the Choir on the front and short histories of the College and the Choir on the back. They can be obtained from any Choir member or from Cheesy's office on the 2nd floor of the student center for $4.00. A certain number of records are available already packaged for mailing for $4.35.

Movie On Communism Scheduled Tomorrow

"Abolition," a movie on Communist subversion in the United States, will be shown tomorrow, May 9, in Room 114 of the Science Building, at 10:30 A. M. The showing, being offered for students of the class on Political Parties by Dr. Overdyke, will be free of charge and open to the general public. Everyone interested in an enlightening and interesting movie is invited.

Alpha Xi's Spring Sing Set For Tomorrow

Spring is here and to Centenary that means many events. One of these is the Alpha Xi Delta Spring Sing. Tomorrow at 5:30 p.m. in the Moore Student Center the big event will begin.

Spring Sing is not only a source of pleasure but also a chance for real competition. The groups and themes competing this year are: Chi Omega - "Day at Centenary," Phi Beta - "Round the World," Aufait - "Fun International," Zeta Tau Alpha - "South Sea," Kappa Sigma - "Girls," and Kappa Alpha and James Dorm are the mystery groups since their themes have not been announced.

The participants will be judged on the originality of the presentation, vocal quality, and appropriateness of costumes to the selected theme. This year a new trophy will be awarded. This trophy will again be circulated for five years. The group winning the most during this period will retire the trophy as Chi Omega did last year. That was their third win in five years. The other two wins were in the Spring of '56 and '57. Zeta Tau Alpha won once in 1958 and Kappa Sigma won in 1959.

While the judges are selecting a winner, Alpha Xi Delta will provide fun for all with a "Sing Along." They will present such songs as "Sweet Violets," "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," "By the Light of the Silvery Moon," "Red River Valley," and a specialty. Song sheets will be passed out so that all may participate.

With the groups that have entered there should be stiff competition and fun for all tomorrow at the Spring Sing. SEE YOU THERE!!!

Senior Art Exhibit To End Saturday

An exhibit of the works of Linda Brown Evers and Marilyn Pang Tonymon, both senior art majors at Centenary College, opened Tuesday, May 2, in the Moore Student Center and will remain in place through Saturday, May 13.

Mrs. Tonymon, who lived in Greenville, Miss., until about two years ago, studied art at Greenville High School and at Mississippi State College for Women. She received honorable mention in the 1960 Holiday in Dixie art show, Sunday painter's division. At Centenary, she is treasurer of Kappa Pi, honorary art organization.

Mrs. Evers, a native of Shreveport, studied art at Byrd High School. She also took private lessons in art from Mrs. Elizabeth Harris and studied art at Baylor University.

Both artists now are students of Willard Cooper, head of the art department, at Centenary. They expect to earn their degrees this spring.

The exhibit, open to the public without charge, involves work done in oil, watercolor, pastels, egg tempera, casein, encaustic, Chinese ink, charcoal, and other media. The public may view the display during regular class hours on the local campus.

"Peace" or "Cold War"?

Jack Kennedy, the Ward Bond of the New Frontier, has sent out a call to capture the imagination of every youngster with his offer of overseas employment with other youngsters. The allure of this proposal is heightened even more when these "pony express riders" hear that they will be serving humanity in the most natural and effective way. This modus operandi will be as individual American young people giving of their youth to better the lot of the world, or at least, that part of the world that wants individual American young people.

The immediate reaction to Sergeant Shriver, an almost-Kennedy, and his staff, eager to find those Americans 18 and over, is a reaction of admiration for the all-too-often neglected concern fostered by the United States in the welfare of those in the emergent African independents. The President has said that such a corps of dedicated students will have as their goal "to work modern miracles for peace in dozens of underdeveloped lands." This won't be any government financed trip to Hawaii, or Paris, or a breeze through the beautiful Southeast Asia countryside in one of Dad's Impalas. The volunteers are going to work, and special gifts from home will be kept to a minimum. Fraternization with the nationals will be an important objective. The purpose of which is that the natives of a clime might know just exactly what Americans are and how they feel about marriage, Casey Stengel, hot dogs, life on Mars, pizzas, etc.

There can be envisioned a picture of youthful Americans and youthful Kikuyus, or Turks, or Filipinos engaged in almost any sort of an exchange, with the obvious exception of ideas about the American policy in Cuba, or the American reluctance to admit Red China to the U.N., or the American concept of freedom, or capitalism, or the results of Communistic infiltration in government, or the Marxist doctrine, or the Monroe doctrine, or the United States and colonialism.

On the surface it would appear absurd to believe that such a person as a Peace Corps volunteer would be considered a free political agent in the country in which he served. That is to say, a volunteer, even though an American, would not be expected to reflect the basic concepts of American policy. And looking closer, it would seem almost imperative that an understanding of American policy would be a prerequisite for service overseas.

Sergeant Shriver has other ideas. A few weeks ago, the National Student Association met in Washington under the aegis of the Peace Corps Conference. Many long hours went into the lower level talks, and several interesting ideas were brought out by the speakers and Mr. Shriver, and strangely enough, the same ideas were put into the form of resolutions. Among the most interesting is that the "agency would have no political mission. The recruits would not have diplomatic or military status, they will be like civilian visitors on extended visas." Mr. Shriver suggested, and the same subsequently adopted, that there would be "no special political tests of oath, affidavit and security investigation."

A New York University student from Uganda stated, "you help others because it is right. The Corps should not be spokesmen for the U.S. government. You should make it a strict rule that they will not act like diplomats." The students recommended that the Peace Corps should stay out of the Cold War and sail a "humanitarian" course instead. The agents should act as individuals and not as representatives of the United States.

The question immediately arises, should the Peace Corps be a humanitarian effort, or a political weapon? Should someone other than a person that believes in the basic tenets of the American idea of democracy, however elusive that might be, be sent as a representative of the United States? And it is unreasonable to say that an American sent by America, wearing American clothes, and speaking with an American accent won't be considered an American? The vision of a detached entity spreading humanitarianism around with wide-eyed eagerness is pushing it just a little.

It is inevitable that the Corps will be a part of our policy opposed to the USSR-Red China bloc. In this case realism is a thing called propaganda. The administration has spoken at length of taking definite action in an offensive manner, in contrast to being defensive. The fact to be understood is that such a group of dedicated young Americans out on a lark for humanity is something to be wary of.

Perhaps a definition should be advanced. This extension of the humanitarian concern of the United States will have as its title, the "Peace" Corps.

Perhaps the President pondered over naming the Corps before he presented Humphrey's idea. Possible choices might have been, "Co-Existence Corps", "Americans Abroad Corps", "Humanitarian Effort Corps", "New Frontier Corps", or "Students-Who-Flunked-Out-And-Couldn't-Join-Up-With-The-Cubans-At-Ft.-Lauderdale-Corps."

Are we in peace, or co-existence, or a cold war? The fitting name for the venture is the "Cold War Corps." Maybe after we have won, assuming of course that we want to win, we can have a Peace Corps.

Publication Applications Due

All students who are interested in applying for the position of editor or co-editor of the Yoncopin or editor, co-editor, or business manager of the Conglomerate are asked to submit their applications in the form of a letter addressed to Mrs. McDonald, chairman of the Publications Committee.

MSM Holds Retreat For Program Planning

The Methodist Student Movement Council-elect held a planning retreat for next year's programs, projects, and publicity at the Been-Aire Camp on Lake Bistineau, on Friday, April 28.

The group left the campus around 7:30 p. m. on Friday and returned Sunday at noon. The council took time out between meetings for such activities as a cookout Friday evening over an open bonfire and a Lake-side Worship service Sunday morning. Don Farley surprised everyone with his delicious buckwheat cakes, served Saturday morning.

The program emphasis planned for next year will be "The Church's Mission in the United States." It will be three-fold: (1) "Nurture of the Covenant Community", (2) "The Church in Service", and (3) "The Church in Witness". One of the projects planned will be an overnight Halloween Party at Caney Lake, with the Council remaining to make plans for a Retreat.

Hardin Hall Has Fun With Skit Party

Hardin Hall girls held their annual end-of-the-year skit party in the dormitory last Wednesday at 10:30 p. m.

Each wing of the dorm had been planning for over a week to come up with a skit idea which would earn them first prize — no room check for a week. Skits were varied and colorful including a mock Kangaroo court, a spoof on the Academy Awards called the "Peppy Awards" with winners in the various categories receiving a piece of peppermint candy, and a Ku Klux Klan Court which tried guilty offenders in the dorm. The second-floor south wing took first place honors, however, with their skit about "Fanny Freshman" and the trials and temptations of college life.

Guests of honor were Dean Lineberger and Mrs. Carter, who assisted Mrs. Hayes, the housemother, with the judging of the skits. Refreshments were served and pandemonium reigned as Mrs. Hayes announced that all girls would be free from room check for a week.

Cencoe Selects 17 Members For 1962

Cen-Coe, which stands for Centenary Coeds, is a selective body of coeds from the three national sororities on the Centenary campus. Each sorority may have eight delegates to this organization, and they are chosen by the members of Cen-Coe on the basis of loyalty and service to the sorority and campus. These twenty-four girls work together to promote friendship and cooperation among the three sororities. For the fall term there will be seven members returning and seventeen new members joining the organization.

The newly chosen members of Cen-Coe from Alpha Xi Delta are: Martha Kelley, Jo Ann Mills, and Julie Schmidt. Representing Chi Omega will be: Kay Cooper, Linda Kay Ellington, Sara Hitchcock, Sandra McCuiston, Margaret Reeves, and Patsy West. Those chosen from Zeta Tau Alpha were: Mary Bostick, Diane Caldwell, Edith Elliott, Anne McEachern, Judy Rhodes, Betty Sims, Margetta Spears, and Betty Jo Towery.

These new members will attend their first Cen-Coe meeting on May 11, 1961 at the Chi Omega House at 5:30 P. M.

Dr. Ford Honored by AX At Open House April 30

Sunday, April 30th, the Centenary chapter of Alpha Chi honored Dr. Ford with an open house held at his home on Alexander Street. Dr. Ford has been sponsor for Alpha Chi since the chapter was established here in 1937.

Many of the students who have had the privilege of enjoying fellowship with Dr. Ford in this fraternity during these years gathered to express their appreciation for his devotion to the college student. Members from the Class 1937 through Class 1962 called between the hours 2 P. M. till 4 P. M. Members were greeted by Joe Ben LaGrone and Albert Cooksey, current officers.

John Williams, president of Alpha Chi for the current year, presented Dr. Ford with an engraved guest book in appreciation of the many hours members of Alpha Chi have enjoyed as guests in his home.

Dorothy Middlebrooks, vice-president for the coming year, presented Mrs. Ford with an orchid as an expression of gratitude for her role as the gracious hostess.

Mr. George M. Hearne, III, Class 1940, presented Dr. Ford with a high fidelity FM-AM radio with a large gift card attached, as a token of appreciation from all present and alumni members of the Centenary chapter of Alpha Chi.

Calling members were asked to sign the guest book by Pat Corrington and Jane Rhodes White.

Refreshments were served by Leigh McClure, Eleanor McFarland,

Barbara Bearden, Pat Dorsett, and Ruth Raush.

Assisting with the plans for the surprise party were Sarah Liberto, secretary, and Salley McConnell, Fred Schwendimann, William Foster, and John Robert Scalf.

John Gullo To Head Delta Tau Omicron

John Gullo, a junior student from Shreveport, has been elected president of Delta Tau Omicron, honorary business and commerce fraternity.

Mrs. Dorothy Middlebrooks has been chosen vice-president and Arthur Hale has been elected secretary-treasurer.

Outgoing officers, who will graduate in May, are: James Parker, Jerry Smith, and Albert Cooksey. All three plan to work for their Master of Professional Accounting degree at the University of Texas. Mr. Parker and Mr. Smith have both received cash scholarships from the university and Mr. Cooksey a university fellowship.

Faculty sponsor of the society is Dr. W. W. Pate, head of the business and economics department. Associate sponsors are Mrs. Opal P. Menefe and Mr. Dale Armstrong.

John Vasilopoulos collects a hit for Kappa Alpha. However, the KA's came out on the short end of the score as the "Golden Pheasants" defeated them to take first place in the boys' intramural softball tourney.

Pheasants Lead In Softball

The Golden Pheasants took an undisputed hold on first place in the men's intramural softball league last week with a 2-1 victory over Kappa Alpha. The two teams had been in a first place deadlock prior to this deciding tilt.

Stan McAfoos, the Pheasants fireballing moundsman, turned in a masterful performance as he allowed the Kappa Alpha's only four scattered hits. John Vasilopoulos rapped two safeties for the losers.

The Pheasants picked up the two runs they needed to win in the fourth inning. Andy Teal pushed Joe Ben LaGrone across the plate with the winning run on a single to centerfield.

Pegram McCreary held the Pheasants well in check during the early innings as well as getting some fine defensive help from his mates. The loss threw the Kappa Alpha's into a second place tie with Kappa Sigma. The Cossa's Robbers round out the field in third place.

There will be a meeting of all students interested in industrial technology and applied science in room 4 of the science building on Tuesday, May 9, at 10:30 A. M. Officers for the Centenary Technological Society for the coming year are to be elected. Mr. James Taylor of the L. L. Ridgway Co. will discuss "Drafting for Better Reproduction."

Science Clubs Take A Holiday

Members of Alpha Epsilon Delta, the honorary pre-med society, and Gamma Beta Gamma, the Biology Club, took an afternoon off from lab work and tried their hand at swimming, boating, and water-skiing at Lake Bistineau on Saturday, May 6.

The Biology Club left the campus Saturday morning at 10:00 a. m. for Lake Bistineau State Park where the members, friends and family treated themselves to hamburger cooked over an open fire.

The pre-med society left later that day, about 1:30, for Charles Griffith's camp on the Lake. The most fun of the afternoon was watching some of the members of the group try their hand at water-skiing for the first time. AED treated themselves to a barbecue supper, which climaxed the afternoon fun.

Accompanying the groups were Dr. Wilkins, sponsor of the Biology Club, and Dr. Warters, sponsor of AED.

Judy Mayo To Head WRA

The Women's Recreational Association has announced its new slate of officers as chosen by the members of the association in the elections which were held last week.

Heading the group for the year 1961-1962 will be Judy Mayo. Assisting her will be Patsy West, Vice-President; Merrill Ann Snider, Secretary; Maureen Melbourne, Clerk; and Jackie Norman, Reporter.

Officers completing their term for this year are: Sallie Clingman, President; Jule Ann Young, Vice-President; Indi Nichols, Secretary; Judy Thurmon, Clerk; and La Verne Burkes, Reporter.

The new officers will attend their first meeting of the council today.

Intramural softball is in full swing now with only a possible two weeks of play remaining on schedule. M.S.M. is currently leading the league with three wins and no losses. On April 24, they defeated Zeta Tau Alpha. Last Tuesday they also defeated Alpha Xi Delta to give them their 3 wins against no losses record. On the same day the Chi Omega team, playing their first game of the season, outscored the Independent "Rinkie Dinks". Wednesday, Zeta Tau Alpha, having lost earlier to M.S.M., came back strong to put down Chi Omega to even both team's record at one win and one loss.

The standings to date are:

	Won	Lost
M.S.M.	3	0
Zeta Tau Alpha	1	1
Chi Omega	1	1
"Rinkie Dinks"	1	2
Alpha Xi Delta	0	2

why the blue suit with the gold bars?

You're needed... just as your father and grandfather were. It's an obligation that a lot of qualified college men have to meet... that of serving your country, when and where you are needed.

And the Air Force needs college-trained men as officers. This is caused by the rapidly expanding technology that goes with hypersonic air and space flight. Your four years of college have equipped you to handle complex jobs. You have the potential to profit from advanced training... then put it to work.

There are several ways to become an officer.

First there is Air Force ROTC. Another program, relatively new, is Officer Training School. Here the Air Force commissions certain college graduates, both men and women, after three months' training. The navigator training program enables you to win a flying rating and a commission. And, of course, there's the Air Force Academy.

An Air Force officer's starting salary averages out to about what you could expect as a civilian. First there's your base pay. Then add on such things as tax-free rations and quarters allowances, free medical and dental care, retirement provision, perhaps flight pay, and 30 days' vacation per year. It comes to an attractive figure. One thing more. As an officer, you will become eligible for the Air Force Institute of Technology. While on active duty many officers will win graduate degrees at Air Force expense.

Why not contact your local Air Force Recruiter. Or write to Officer Career Information, Dept. SC15, Box 7608, Washington 4, D.C., if you want further information about the navigator training or Officer Training School programs.

Edwina Hubert seems stumped by Carolyn Denison's personality problem. We feel certain our diligent young psychologist will not give up easily. Perhaps the answer can be found in the third volume of Freud, Edwina.

A Case Of Mind Over Matter— With Emphasis On The Mind

By SANDRA McCUISTION

Carolyn Denison hails from a rice farm in Iowa, Louisiana, near Lake Charles. A sophomore this year, Carolyn is active in MSM as Projects Chairman, serves as vice-president of Kappa Chi, and participates in intramurals. She has served as representative to James Dorm council and is a member of Alpha Sigma Pi.

A psychology major, Carolyn really became interested in her field while working at Istrouma Methodist Camp last summer as waterfront director and recreation director. For a short time she had the opportunity to work with a group of girls from the children's home in Ruston and during this period became aware of the handicaps these girls had in personality adjustment. Carolyn's desire to help young people with personality adjustment was also stimulated when she attended a national work camp owned by a community center in Louisville, Kentucky. At this camp she came in contact with many of the children from the center and became familiar with many of their problems. This summer she hopes to broaden her experience in this area by working at the children's home in Ruston as a direction of recreation.

"My plans for a vocation haven't been really solidified yet," comments Carolyn. "I want to go on to graduate school and get my masters degree in either psychology or religious education. If I decide to get a masters in psychology, I will go into counseling work in a clinic; if I decide to go into full time religious work as a director of Christian Education my psychology courses will still be useful."

Interested In Sports

As seen by her activities, Carolyn is very interested in sports and outdoor activities. Last semester she coached a girls basketball team at Creswell school. "The most difficult part about that job," states Carolyn, "was standing patiently on the sidelines while the girls played and not calling orders to them throughout the game. It's harder than you think to let people learn through their own experience." Recently Carolyn attended a regional Methodist Recreational Workshop in Camp Eagen, Oklahoma. Carolyn says she had a wonderful time, but had a little trouble explaining to people where she was from. "I'd tell them I was from Iowa," recalls Carolyn, "and they'd ask me why I was so far South. I couldn't convince them that Iowa was in Louisiana! Some poor souls thought I was from Denison, Texas. I finally threw my name-tag away and decided to be the "mystery girl." Carolyn would also like very much to attend an interdenominational work-camp in either Europe or Africa some summer before she graduates.

Student Philosopher

Edwina Hubert is a junior from Meridian Mississippi. She comes to Centenary as a transfer from Belhaven College in Mississippi.

Another psychology major, Edwina explains her interest in psychology in this way: "Ever since I can remember people have been coming to me with their problems. In most cases, I've been able to point out solutions to them which they simply couldn't recognize by themselves. In this way I don't just give help to them; I help them to help themselves, which is the main objective of a psychologist." Edwina plans to continue her study of psychology in graduate school and use her knowledge in writing literature for adolescents. "I like to 'philosophize' when I write and my favorite forms are free verse or writing a series of epigrams." A hard-working member of the CONGLOMERATE staff, Edwina would like to use her interest in journalism as an outlet for creative writing, which, in turn, will give her experience in her future vocation as a writer.

Palm Reading On The Side

"Of course, being a psychology major can make you appear to be an expert psychiatrist in the minds of some people," comments Edwina, who was reading, by the way, A Mind That Found Itself at the time of her interview. "I've been asked to analyze handwriting, give psychological tests, read palms, all sorts of things. Sometimes I kid along with the people who ask me to do these things and they believe every word I tell them! I really take psychology more seriously than that, but I do think it reflects how little people know about the field when they ask an inexperienced person for expert advice."

Besides her favorite past-time, which is reading, Edwina enjoys swimming and tennis. In fact, her swimming ability helped her to achieve quite a distinction: she was the first girl to go into the Y.M.C.A. pool in Atlanta, Georgia. "Of course," Edwina hastens to explain, "I was teaching a girls' swimming class — the first of its kind to be held at the YMCA pool."

Edwina was state tennis champion in high school and now continues to use her skill with a racquet in a women's tennis club here in Shreveport, Edwina hastens to explain, "I the East Ridge Country Club.

WRITE FOR BROCHURES

Carol's Corner

By CAROL REICHEL

It seems that CONGRATULATIONS is the big word on the Centenary campus this week.

Val Jean Banta is to be congratulated for being named princess in the Holiday in Dixie Contest. Juanita Donelson was named winner of the bathing suit competition.

Gerry Rawlison and Sandra Poss joined in the festivities as members of the cotillion court. Gail Southerland was a visiting queen in the festival.

Congratulations to Sammie Kay Smith, new Kappa Alpha Rose.

New Maroon Jackets, Kay Cooper, Sara Hitchcock, Jean Netterville, Judy Rhodes, Betty Jo Towery and Jane Rhodes White receive our congratulations. Edith Elliott has been elected new Maroon Jacket president for next year.

Tim Temple, Fred Schwendimann and Dr. Teagarden recently attended a national Omicron Delta Kappa meeting at Stillwater, Oklahoma.

The order of Kappa Alpha has once again joined the union after seceding for their annual Old South celebration. Joining in the celebration were Melanie Martin, William Trimble, Sandra Stokes, Tommy Brewerton, Larry Jones, Jane Jones, Nancy Lecky, Lynn Gulley, Ann Morineaux, Jon Oliver, Charlotte Stodghill and Tommy Hadley.

Happy birthday to our dear editors of the Yoncopin and Conglomerate, Margaret Reeves and Maury Johnston. Today is the day.

Sociology Class Trip Scheduled

Dr. Pledger, head of the sociology department, has announced a field trip to be made Tuesday, May 9, to the Central Louisiana hospital and the State Children's Colony at Pineville. Those making the trip are members of the Social Institutions class and other interested students.

The trip is being made in connection with the study of welfare as a social institution which is being conducted by the class of social institutions. They will endeavor to answer the question "How society deals with those who are mentally disturbed and retarded?"

As the end of the 1960-61 school year draws near, it behooves all Centenary students to give special credit where credit is due. We should acknowledge those who have made our publications possible, especially when their efforts involve producing a weekly newspaper.

To fully appreciate one in this capacity, we must gain insight into the responsibility which this job entails. The editor of The Conglomerate performs a multitude of odd jobs in addition to playing master overseer from beginning to end. She, (in this case), tracks down absent minded reporters, corrects dangling participles, fights the printer, pads short stories, confuses the lay out, takes all blame for misspelled names, and suffers from the traumatic shock when the paper does not come out on Monday.

Although her life could well be divided between classes, bed, and the Conglomerate office and still be overdrawn, she chooses to divide it into even smaller categories.

This year's Conglomerate head is also active in Chi Omega as social chairman and in Westminster Fellowship. This summer she will be a counselor at Geneva Glenn Camp near Denver, Colorado. Some rest!

One of her greatest contributions to The Conglomerate this year has been the impartial representation of the campus organizations. So, for her efforts in this realm and for all her trials and tribulations, we want to thank . . . Maury Johnston, co-editor of The Conglomerate.

With their rendition of "Aloha," "Little Grass Shack," and other Hawaiian Songs, the entry of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority captivated the hearts of both the judges and the audience at the recent Spring Sing. They were awarded first place on the basis of harmony and appropriateness of costume.

ZTA Wins Spring Sing With South Sea Motif

Zeta Tau Alpha was awarded the first-place trophy for the 1960-61 Spring Sing, with the winning theme of "The South Seas".

Colorfully arrayed in flowered sarongs, grass skirts, and leis, the Zetas presented a medley of South Sea music, beginning with "Hello, Aloha," and ending with "Aloha". With the strumming of an ukelele, and a hula, performed by Mary Bostick and Lyndra Pate to tune of "The Little Grass Shack", plus a solo of "Bali Hai" by Barbara Boudier, the South Seas were delightfully brought to mind.

Three other groups were entered in Spring Sing, making the competition keen. Aufait, entering for the first time this year chose as its first theme, "Fun International". Their presentation featured Amy Matthews singing "Tour-ra-Loura-Lour-ra", Dorothy Risinger singing "The Last Time I Saw Paris", Lorene Crenshaw singing a Japanese number which stole the show as she emerged dressed in traditional hopi coat, and the entire group singing "California, Here I Come".

Chi Omega presented "A Day at Centenary", with their girls acting out the activities of the day. Selections included "Wake Up!", "I Want to Be Happy", "September Song", "I Feel Pretty", "Why, Oh Why, Oh Wherefore", sung by that well-known trio of Landis, Cooper, and McCuiston, and "When Day is Done". Pat Byrd portrayed a well-known figure in the Cafeteria for the skit.

Kappa Sigma suggested a "Whiffenpoof" theme with their presentation. Beginning with "The Halls of Ivy", soloist Terrell Rourk. They then sang April Showers, and ended with their favorite song, "Kappa Sigma Sweetheart".

While the judges were making their decision, Alpha Xi Delta, the sponsor of Spring Sing, lead a "Sing Along". Song Sheets were passed out and selections included "Sweet Violets", "By the Light of the Silvery Moon", and "Red River Valley".

Band to Present Concert Tonight

Martial music, popular works, selections from a Broadway musical and light classics will be included on the program when the Centenary College band presents its annual spring open-air concert at 7:30 p. m. tonight in the amphitheatre on campus.

The program will be open to the public without charge. In the event of rain at concert time, it will be cancelled rather than postponed or moved indoors, according to Director Causey.

A trumpet trio, consisting of Clyde McArty, Richard Tubbs, and Don Townsend, will be featured. McArty, a junior, also plays with the Shreveport Symphony and has been presented on previous band programs. Both Tubbs and Townsend are freshman music students at Centenary.

The program follows:
Fairest of the Fair March — Sousa.
Raymond Overture — Thomas.
The Three Cardinals — Davis.
Ballet Parisien — Offenbach.
Selections from "Victory at Sea" — Rodgers-Hammerstein.

Chicago Tribune March — Chambers.

Cake Walk from "Suite of Old American Dances" — Bennett.

Holiday for Winds — Osser

An American Weekend — Morrissey.

Summer Band Concert To Begin Tuesday, June 6

The Centenary-Shreveport Summer Band will launch its fifth annual series of outdoor "pops" concerts on Tuesday, June 6, in the Greek amphitheatre on the campus.

This summer's series of nine concerts on consecutive Tuesday evenings will be sponsored by the recreation department of the city of Shreveport, Centenary College, and Local No. 116 of the American Federation of Musicians, which is cooperating with the Music Performance Trust Fund.

Concerts Free of Charge

Director B. P. Causey said this year marks the first time that the city has cooperated in making the concerts possible. In previous years, the Music Performance Trust Fund and the local AF of M group joined with Centenary in sponsoring the outdoor concerts, all of which have been open to the public without charge.

Concert dates will be June 6, June 13, June 20, June 27, July 4, July 11, July 18, July 25, and August 1 this year. Like all the preceding concerts, those presented this summer will be free to the public.

Fifty-Piece Band

Starting time for each program will be 8 p. m., and in the event of rain at concert time, the program for that date will be cancelled. However, an effort will be made to re-schedule rained-out programs at the conclusion of the regularly scheduled series.

The band will consist of about fifty pieces, and the musicians will include regular members of the Centenary College band, local professional musicians, including some of the directors of school bands in Shreveport and its environs, and a few high school band members.

Director Causey said each of the programs, with the exception of the opening and closing concert, will be built around a central theme. The opening and closing concerts will consist of varied music. One program, he explained, will consist entirely of marches, one will include popular and swing music, one will be entirely music by American composers, and one will consist solely of Spanish music, including rumbas, tangos, and sambas. At least one concert will feature music drawn from Broadway musicals, and one will follow the pattern of an old-fashioned concert in the park.

Director Causey

Causey, who holds the BA degree in music from Northwestern State College in Natchitoches and the MM degree from Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., has been a member of the Centenary faculty since 1941. He has studied with Ernest Williams, formerly first trumpet player with the Philadelphia Orchestra, and with Frank Simon, formerly with the Sousa band and later with the Armco band in Cincinnati, Ohio. Causey has played with a number of nationally known bands and during his service with the U. S. Coast Guard during World War II, he directed a military band in Maine.

Results of Library Poll Released

Mrs. Alice Alben, Centenary's head librarian, has announced the winner in the recent poll to find out the "Ten Most Valuable Books to Me as a Student". Diana Laney, a freshman from El Dorado, Arkansas, received $2.00 credit at the school bookstore for her complete list. Diana is a member of Aufait, the local organization for independent women, and recently received the Alpha Chi award as the freshman with the highest grade average.

Named in the poll as the most valuable books to everyone were the Bible and the Dictionary. Other listings included: Roget's College Thesaurus, Robert Graves' Greek Myths, Tolstoy's War and Peace, Huxley's Brave New World, Wolfe's Look Homeward Angel, Bernstein's The Joy of Music, Virgil's Aeneid, Stone's Lust For Life, Gibran's The Prophet, Hardy's Jude the Obscure, Crane's Red Badge of Courage, Dostoevski's Brothers Karamazov, and Overstreet's The Mature Mind.

Chess Forms Theme of Kappa Sig Formal

The annual Kappa Sigma Black and White Formal was held Saturday, May 13, 1961, from 8-12 p. m., at the Palmetto Country Club.

Preceding the dance, a reception for the Sigs and their dates was held at the Junior League House from 6:30-7:30 p. m.

The theme of the dance was "The Game of Chess", carried out with large cut-outs of black and white chessmen. The flower of the dance was the magnolia. Photographs were taken in a garden setting of magnolias.

The band for the occasion was John Schexneildre's famous "Roller Coasters".

One of the highlights of the evening was the announcement of the new Kappa Sigma Sweetheart for the year, 1961-62. The officers for the year were also presented at this time.

A number of alumni were present for the annual event along with the faculty advisor, Mr. Charles A. Hickcox, and chaperones, Dr. and Mrs. Rice, and Dean and Mrs. Allen.

Dorothy Wise Elected President Of Aufait

Aufait, an organization for independent women, has announced the election of officers for the coming year.

Serving as president will be Dorothy Wise with Amy Matthews assisting her as vice-president. Also elected as officers for the 1961-62 term were Dorothy Risinger, secretary and Diana Laney, treasurer.

Current officers are Sarah Liberto, president; Lorine Crenshaw, vice-president; Amy Matthews, secretary; and Annette Shirey, treasurer.

Presenting the 1960-61 YONCOPIN to Dean Vogel are Margaret Reeves and Gene La Caze co-editors of the yearbook. The YONCOPIN, which is dedicated to Dean Vogel, features an Old South Theme in honor of the 100th anniversary of the Civil War.

The Bill of Rights affirms the necessary requirements for the formation of a more perfect union, for the establishment of justice, for the provisions for defense, for promotion of the general welfare, and for the security of liberty. These basic guides, if followed faithfully, would lead the nation to its end, that being democracy and freedom for all individuals.

Underlying the freedoms enumerated in the Bill is the idea that each citizen shall have the right to express his opinion. No one shall be denied the privilege of saying what he thinks is right and criticizing just what he thinks is wrong.

(Fortunately, we have little choice to make. You're either a Democrat and a liberal, or you're a Republican and mixed-up. There is a possibility that you might be an independent, but who can fight organized labor or the farmers?)

The monotony is regretted but of necessity the background must be set. The South is not known for its clear-headed politicians. The South is not known for being in agreement with the rest of the nation on quite a few subjects. The South contains the roots of many national organizations that never prosper outside the South. The position the South has, for the nation, and, eventually, for the world, is not one of esteem. These are the results of the ideas harbored by our citizenry about what is right and what needs criticizing.

This is the Right that is referred to above, that of voicing opinions. The Southern members of Congress voice opinions, so do Southern state legislatures, members of private school organizations, parents in New Orleans, and Southern citizens of the United States.

This opinion-making in the South has led to disagreement in the high places (rank-wise) of the government. Some politicians are elected only on the strength of their opposition to the ideas expressed in the South.

This is not an attempt to judge the ideas of the citizens of the South. For if they hold the honest opinion that their ideas are a result of some moral conviction, far be it from anyone to be the judge of their worthiness. Rather, this is a defense of what Supreme Court Justice Black would call the "absolutism" of the Bill of Rights. Justice Black would, under his strict interpretation of the Bill, uphold everyone's right to the expression of opinion, and the right to take the legal action necessary to see that something is done about the situation.

The moral convictions of a tree-farmer in Claiborne Parish might not be the same as those of a trawler in Maine, but the fact remains that that tree-farmer has the same right to express his viewpoint on any subject as does the trawler. The farmer in Louisiana is represented in a state legislature, in the organizations to which he belongs, and in his own announcements of opinion.

When criticism is leveled at the Louisiana State legislature, Governor Davis, the Citizens Councils, the Birch Society, the State Sovereignty Commission, the irate parents of New Orleans, or any citizen individually, the person criticizing is assuming that his moral convictions are superior to another's, and would deprive the other of his idea simply because he didn't agree.

A conservative's criticism of a liberal is just as valid as a liberal's criticism of a conservative, if such ambiguous terms may be permitted. The policy of the United States is determined by the views of the administration. This is well and it is natural, for the administration represents the majority viewpoint in the United States.

But the same holds equally true on the state level. The majority opinion is the policy towards federal aid to education, a new governor's mansion, or Yuri Gagarin.

In both these levels, that of the state and of the United States, it is necessary that the majority see that in expressing the views of the main part of the population the views of the minority are not made ineffective. What may be a majority in Louisiana might just as easily be, and very often is, contrary to the majority opinion of the United States.

The decision to be made is who has the right to the freedom of expression of moral convictions and, whether it is to be curbed, or whether it is to be given full expression, be it of the majority or of the minority.

W. C. Johns Speaks At N. E. A. Banquet

The Centenary chapter of the Student National Education Association climaxed its year Friday, May 5th, with a banquet held at Sansones Restaurant. Mr. W. C. Johns, Assistant Superintendent in charge of personnel for Caddo Parish School Board was the featured speaker, his topic being "Beginning Teachers."

The outgoing officers were recognized and each gave a brief summary of the year pertaining to his office. The outgoing officers included —

Tim Temple, Leesville — President.
Linda Sartor, Atlanta, Tex. — Vice-President.

Anne McLaurin, Mansfield — Secretary.

Beverly Wingo, Wills Point, Tex. — Treasurer.

Genevieve Compton, Elton — Reporter.

The new officers were introduced as follows:

Carol Reichelt, Longview, Tex. — President.

Mrs. Dorothy Middlebrooks, Shreveport — Vice-President.

Jacque Rosett, Shreveport — Secretary.

Marie Armintor, Shreveport — Treasurer.

Sara Hitchcock, Shreveport — Reporter.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation of a gift in appreciation of his many services to SNEA to Dr. A. J. Middlebrooks, the founder of the Centenary chapter and present sponsor of SNEA.

Joel Johnson Heads AED Slate For '61

Alpha Epsilon Delta, the honorary pre-med society, installed its new officers for next year at an installation dinner in the Centenary Cafeteria, at 5:30 p. m., May 11, 1961.

Members of the organization met at the cafeteria and prior to the installation after dinner, old officers presented the duties of their offices to the group.

New officers are: President, Joel Johnson; Vice-president, Keith Lloyd; Secretary, Kay King; Treasurer, Ann Montgomery; Historian, Sally McConnell; and Reporter, Shelton Powers.

Math Club Organized

Organization of a new Math Club began last week at Centenary. Its purpose will be to stimulate interest in mathematics and its application.

Membership will be open to those students who have successfully completed Math 101 or other advanced courses, or those who meet with the approval of the membership committee.

Faculty sponsors are Mr. Danvers and Miss McKnight, who gave willing assistance to students when they suggested the formation of a Math Club.

A constitution committee, including John Frazer, David Ewing, and Judy Martin, has been appointed, and they will report at the next meeting to be held Wednesday, May 17, at 7:00 p. m. in Mrs. Self's office in the Science Building.

All interested students are invited to attend the meeting, or speak to either Miss McKnight, Mr. Danvers, or Barbara Hubbard about membership.

LET US APPLAUD

We at Centenary are most fortunate in having critics and commentators par excellence among the common herd. These honorable mentions are the rest of us average contemporaries with remarks, slogans, and what appears to be complete philosophies, slapped, as they were, on a large number of campus posters and signs. The majority of these cute remarks attack groups and organizations, but now and then a particularly industrious cavalier will devote valuable time and energy in drawing an allusion to an individual's posters, as in elections, and then still more time adding this spicy comment to the appropriate posters, feeling that he has a duty to the student body in revealing The Truth. There is no doubt that a proclamation of the second-coming would soon have the regulation number of comments hastily penciled on the margin.

Perhaps the best thing about this form of expression is that it underlies a basis of the American Philosophy, that of the "Freedom of Speech." Doing this allows the poor, retiring, timid member of the student society tremendous freedom in saying things he would never be able to say in public. This also gives him a chance to practice his English, for he is obviously an English major. This fact is so obvious when one notes the superb grammatical form, consistency, and the beautiful marriage of word and idea.

All this builds a debt on our part to this anonymous critic of great esteem. If he would but expose himself so we might all give him the thanks he so deserves! Until he does, however, which may prove to be a rather lengthy time, let us applaud.

Student Senate Minutes

The Student Senate Meeting was held in the Moore Student Center at 5:45 Wednesday, May 3, 1961. The meeting was called to order by the President, Fred Schwendimann. Others present were Mike Ramming, Diane Caldwell, Keith Lloyd, Edith Elliott, Sandy Lawn, Barbara Barbee, Tim Temple, Ralph Ferrari, Mike Sport, Don Tyler, Miss Alexander, and Dean Allen.

Keith Lloyd reported that we have a balance of $328.43 in the treasury.

Ralph Ferrari reported for the committee on parking. Cars will have decals next year to permit them to be parked on campus.

Fred Schwendimann read a letter about a meeting of the Intercollegiate Leadership Institute which will be in June. It will be posted on the Bulletin Board for anyone who is interested in going.

A revised copy of the rules for the Freshman Handbook was given to each member by Dean Allen.

It was decided that a student barber shop be set up at Registration so that every male freshman would have to have a haircut before he could complete registration. It was also decided that a limited number of barbers be chosen for that purpose before the end of this year. The freshmen rules will be suspended after the "Tug-o-War."

It was decided that there should be a limit placed on the activity of T.V. cameramen at activities on campus.

It was decided that no organization could have a "jail" booth at the Student Fair next year.

The Student Senate will have a party for the seniors after Commencement.

There being no further business the meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
Edith Elliott

Jean Netterville, a member of the girls MSM softball team, exhibits the determination which has helped the MSM team capture first place in the Women's Intramural Softball Tournament.

MSM Cops Softball Title

The Women's Recreation Association Intramural season came to a close last week as M.S.M. defeated Chi Omega in the final softball game of the year.

M.S.M. collected five runs last Wednesday to beat the hardworking Chi Omega team 5-4 in the bottom of the sixth inning. This gave M.S.M. their fourth win for the season against no losses assuring them of first place rank.

The standings at the end of the season find M.S.M. in first place with four wins — no losses, the "Rinkie Dinks", Zeta Tau Alpha, and Chi Omega all tied for second place with two wins — two losses, and Alpha Xi Delta, third with no wins — and four losses.

As all of the sports for the 1960-61 Intramural season have been completed, members of W.R.A. anticipate the awarding of the Sweepstakes trophy to the team who has compiled the greatest number of points throughout the year. This award will be made on General Awards day in Chapel, Thursday.

Gents Top Louisiana College 5-2

Centenary won its second game of the season with an impressive 6-2 win over the Wildcats of Louisiana College at Pineville, Louisiana. Once again turning in a sterling mound performance was the Gents sidearming righthander, Jim Pippen. The freshman hurler from Crossville, Illinois had a no-hitter going into the sixth inning when he allowed the first of only two hits that the Wildcats were able to muster.

The Gents took advantage of their first scoring opportunity in the early going as Ralph Mason singled in two runs on a lined shot to center field. Two innings later Centenary receiver R. V. Lockwood singled in another tally for the Gents. Allen Ford then drew a walk. With two men on the basepaths, first sacker Terry Everett banged a double to left field scoring two more runs.

The Gentlemen collected their sixth and final run for the day in the top of the ninth inning as Fred Shew-make singled, stole second and then scored on a line drive single to center coming from the bat of R. V. Lockwood.

Again in this one much of the Gents attack came from the rookies, the freshmen on the Varsity. They could provide a strong nucleus for the 1962 baseball Gentlemen.

Meet The Gents

Jim Pippen is one of the Gent's freshman standouts on the diamond this year. Pippen, a sidearming right hander from Crossville, Illinois is the proud possessor of the Gents victories this year as he pitched the entire nine innings in masterful wins over Nicholls State College and Louisiana College.

Pippen has proved valuable to Coach Mooty and the Gent nine not only as a pitcher, but also as a shortstop. When not drawing the mound assignment Jimmy becomes the Centenary shortstop where he has performed capably. Pippen has also impressed with the bat and shattered the theory that pitchers can't hit. Jim has been among the leading lumbermen for the Maroons during the entire season. Jim was a starter on the impressive Freshman Basketball team last winter and has proved himself a versatile athlete. He is a physical education major.

Members of the working class, Johnny Evans, Bill Johnson, Bill Martin, and George Hamilton, are a few of the many Centenary students who hold a diverse number of positions to help pay for their college educations.

Off-Campus Jobs Scatter Students

Our personalities this week have two things in common; they are all residents of Shreveport, and, subsequently, they all have off-campus jobs. Johnny Evans, George Hamilton, Bill Johnson, and Bill Martin are four of those creatures who manage to go to school and handle a time-consuming job at the same time.

George Hamilton is a senior majoring in Geology. His off-campus job is with the American Photocopy Equipment Company here in Shreveport which takes him all over this part of the state and checking and servicing business machines.

"I take orders for people and fix machines when they are broken. I don't really know anything about the machines, but I can usually tinker with them until they run better. I have to use my own car for 'house calls', and once I was pretty disgusted when I went all the way out to Marshall to check a woman's machine and got there only to find that she hadn't plugged it in. The company I work for offers free service and people call for the least little thing — especially those secretaries!" (I don't know why you mind that, George, since you told me your hobby is GIRLS!)

"The first time I went out to check a machine, I took it all apart because it had a little noise in it or something. When it was in a million little pieces, I found that I couldn't put it back together and the only other man who knew how to fix it was out of town. The poor man had to do without his machine for nearly a week before the guy got back to fix it."

George, who has managed despite long work hours to remain active on campus, has served as No. 4 and Social Chairman of Kappa Alpha social fraternity.

Beard Causes Trouble

Bill Johnson, a junior majoring in business, works for the Bossier-Shreveport Vending Machines Company. His duties with the firm center around the collection of money from certain vending (?) machines in the Bossier-Shreveport area. "You know those little rockets, horses, chuck-wagons, and such things that you see in grocery stores and other places around town? Well, I go about twice a week and collect the money from them. My job really isn't too interesting." Bill does get some funny comments when he has to ride some of the kiddy machines to make sure they are in good condition.

"I am a friend of all the kids because I give them free rides. I travel to Marshall, Carthage, Minden, Homer, and Plain Dealing, as well as all over Shreveport in a nice company car which they give me to use. The strangest thing that ever happened while I was making these runs was when I was growing a beard for Old South. None of the store owners would believe that I was the man who was supposed to get the money, and I had to show them my keys and my little record book before they would believe me. That's the only funny thing that has ever happened about my job, though. I'm very serious about my work."

Johnny Evans, Inc.

Johnny Evans is a "half-Senior" majoring in Pre-Law. "I work for myself, for Johnny Evans Incorporated." Johnny leads his own combo. Actually he leads two different groups, both under the same name. He also teaches five days a week. "I have about fifteen students eager (?) to learn how to play the guitar, bass, and banjo."

"I remember that once a friend of mine was playing an electric guitar and singing on the same program I was on. There are two different currents running to work an electric guitar and a microphone, and a singer always has to be careful not to touch the mike or he will get shocked. Well, this boy touched the mike with his nose, and a spark about six inches long shot out; he burst forth with some language which should never have been on the air (and it was a CBS broadcast!)."

"I guess the most exciting thing that ever happened to me was when I was working with Tommy Sands after he had become famous. We were mobbed, and a crowd of screaming girls tore my sleeve off, thinking I was Tommy Sands' brother."

"By the way, I am forming a new club for anyone interested. It is a 'Psychosis of the Month' club to compare sicknesses — kind of a national 'mental unhealth' organization. We meet at the Chef every Friday afternoon from 1:30 til . . . and we have a very special diet."

Johnny is very active on campus despite his many duties with his guitar. He serves as President of Sigma Tau Delta, President of Alpha Phi Omega, and is a member of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia and Kappa Sigma social fraternity. "I have a hard time maintaining my terrific 2.0 grade average."

Myrtle — The Mess

A business major, Bill Martin is a freshman who divides his time every week between school and a local gas company building. There he devotes 32 hours a week to sorting and delivering mail. Probably the most interesting things that have happened to Bill with regard to his job have been in connection with his car(s).

"I work from 7-9 every weekday morning and on Tuesdays and Thursdays I have a 9:15 class, so it's really a tight squeeze. Up until last week I was driving a 1948 Ford (called Myrtle) to and from work, and it would never start. When I finally got a new battery so it would start, I began to have flats (always on Tuesdays and Thursdays). Then on Tuesday I gave a guy a push and we locked bumpers, so it took me about 45 minutes to get to work. My poor professor has quit asking me why I'm late to class. She just doesn't expect me on time anymore."

"The worst mistake I've ever made at work was the day I put the treasurer of the company's mail in the secretary's box. When he came down he was pretty upset; it was the first time in fifteen years that he hadn't gotten any mail."

Somehow Bill manages to stay on campus long enough before going back to work from 1:30-5:30 every afternoon to fulfill the job of circulation manager for the Conglomerate. He is also active in the Newman Club and Kappa Sigma fraternity.

By CAROL REICHEL

Congratulations to Zeta Tau Alpha for winning the annual Alpha Xi Delta Spring Sing. The South Sea Island costumes were lovely. The highlight of the skit was a hula performed by Lyndra Pate and Mary Bostick.

Everyone seemed to enjoy Spring Sing especially the Sing Along led by the Alpha Xi's.

Keep this under your hat — Judy Thurmon and Al Pius are all wet. At their recent visit to Lake Bistineau, they overturned a canoe.

The Kappa Sigs recently had a Shrimp Party. We understand that it was quite a party, but how did the G. M. get a black eye?

Cross Lake was the scene of a gathering of Centenary students recently. Dianna Ammons was seen paddling Don Ensley down the lake while he fished. Soup Moore and Betsy Gould were regular old cowhands on the horses. Ann McEarchen, Bill Maxwell, Jerry Jouett and Jerre Rainwater kept a bridge game going.

Lake Bistineau also attracted members of Alpha Epsilon Delta who skied and swam at their annual outing. Keith Lloyd, Butchie McCuistian, Sandy Whitlock, Dr. Wartens and Mrs. Brown were a few who joined in the fun.

Congratulations to Lucille Walsh, who is now wearing Dave White's Kappa Sig drop letters.

Drummond's Centenary Girl of the Month

Sallie Clingman, a junior Medical Technology major from Keithville, has been chosen Centenary Girl for the month of May. Sallie has climaxed a year of activity upon campus by being selected Cencoe President and Junior Representative to the James Dormitory Council. She is the out-going president of WRA, pledge mother of Chi Omega Sorority, was chosen Junior Class favorite and was vice-president of the Junior Class.

The Centenary Girl of the Month was chosen by a committee of one member from each of the Greek organizations on campus and two independent representatives. This committee meets each month and selects a girl on the basis of her outstanding accomplishments during the preceding or current month.

124 Seniors to Receive Degrees at Commencement

One hundred and twenty-four Centenary students are breathing sighs of relief now that their finals are over and graduation is just a few days off.

As the seniors wait for that glorious day of Baccalaureate and Graduation, activities have been planned for them. Dr. and Mrs. Mickle were hosts to all graduating seniors at their home for a tea on Tuesday, May 16 from 4:30 to 6:30 p. m. and the American Association of University Women honored all women graduates at a luncheon on Saturday, May 20. Then, senior honors chapel on Tuesday, May 23, and graduation exercises on May 27 at 10 a. m. will take seniors away from their busy job of packing up the memories of four years of college.

The Baccalaureate service will be held in the Brown Memorial Chapel on Sunday, May 28 at 9:00 a. m. Seniors will appear in their caps and gowns to hear Dr. Aubrey G. Walton, Bishop of the Louisiana Conference of the Methodist church, deliver the message.

Aufait Garden Party

Sunday afternoon, from 3:30 to 5:00, Aufait will be host to the graduating seniors, their families, and the faculty, at a garden party in the Crumley Memorial Gardens.

The 136th commencement ceremonies of Centenary College will be held Sunday, May 28, with the baccalaureate service slated for 9 a. m. in the Brown Memorial Chapel and the graduation rites at 8 p. m. in the outdoor amphitheatre.

Walton To Preach

Dr. Aubrey G. Walton of New Orleans, resident bishop of the Louisiana area of the Methodist Church, will preach the baccalaureate sermon.

Music for the baccalaureate will be provided by William C. Teague, at the organ and the Centenary College Choir will lead the singing of the hymns and for special music will present Parry's anthem, "I Was Glad When They Said Unto Me".

The commencement ceremonies will open with the playing of Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance" by the Centenary College Band.

Two Honorary Degrees

The Hon. Sam Houston Jones, who served as governor of Louisiana from 1940 to 1944, will deliver the commencement address. Degrees and honors will be conferred by Dr. Mickle with Dean Vogel assisting. Candidates for graduation include five for the Bachelor of Music degree, 32 for the Bachelor of Arts degree, and 87 for the Bachelor of Science degree.

Two honorary degrees will be conferred this year. Jones will receive the honorary Doctor of Laws degree, and Dr. Henry Arbery Rickey, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Houma, will receive the honorary Doctor of Divinity degree.

Dr. Ford Honored

The ceremonies also will include the presentation of a scroll to Dr. E. Lee Ford, who is retiring from his position as head of the department of modern languages at the conclusion of the current school year. Dr. Ford has been a member of the Centenary faculty since 1929.

James N. Patterson, president of the Centenary Alumni Assn., will induct members of the graduating class into the association. The choir and the band will then lead in the singing of the Alma Mater, after which Dr. Cooke will give the benediction. The band will play Goldman's "University Grand March" for the recessional.

Honors to be Given In Chapel Tomorrow

The last Chapel program of the year will be appropriately dedicated to the Seniors of the 1961 graduating class. Chapel will be Tuesday, May 23, at 10:40 and all graduating seniors will be present in their caps and gowns.

The main part of the program will be devoted to the presentation of specific honors to deserving seniors. Those seniors with a 3.5 overall average or better will be presented for degree honors of cum laude, magna cum laude, and summa cum laude, by Dean Vogel.

Campus Recognitions

The Cencoe award will be presented to a senior girl, who, by vote of Cencoe members, has given the most outstanding service to Cencoe. The Sigma Tau Delta award, in the form of a plaque, will be given to the senior with the highest overall average in the humanities. The Stella H. Petty award, a gold key engraved as a memorial award, will go to the senior who has made the greatest contribution in the field of social work.

The Society of Louisiana CPA will present an award to the senior accounting major with the highest overall average. The Wall Street Journal recognizes the outstanding senior student in Commerce with a medal and a year's subscription to the Wall Street Journal. The ROTC will for the last time, present certificates of recognition to senior ROTC students.

Scholarships Awarded

An award from the Kiwanis Club will go to the senior boy who has done the most to establish the Circle K on the campus. Chi Omega will present a check for $25.00 to the student with the highest overall average in the social sciences. The American Association of University Women will confer membership in the AAUW to two deserving women graduates.

The R. E. Smith award will be presented to the senior who has done the most to promote religion and religious activities on campus. Alpha Sigma Chi will present a check to the senior with the highest average in chemistry and have his name engraved on a plaque in the Science Library. Zeta Tau Alpha award goes to the girl majoring in the Natural Sciences with the highest average in the Sciences.

The Ellis H. Brown Leadership awards will go to the senior man and woman who have shown qualities of outstanding leadership. Kappa Alpha will present the Bonneau Peters Award to the outstanding senior in Kappa Alpha. Chi Omega will present the Peggy Roundtree award to the graduating Chi Omega who best exemplifies the spirit of Peggy Roundtree. The John A. Hardin Memorial Award in Mathematics will recognize original and creative work in Math among senior Math majors, taking into consideration other courses completed.

Following the presentation of honors, Dr. Mickle will address the seniors. Following the chapel seniors will meet with Dean Allen to discuss senior rehearsal for graduation.

Awards Given May 18 In General Honors Chapel

General Honors Chapel, held last Thursday, in the Brown Memorial Chapel, featured awards for excellence in various fields of academic endeavor, publications work and athletics.

Mrs. Margaret McDonald, director of the News Bureau presented inscribed keys for excellence in Journalism to Sandra Poss and Charlotte Stodghill, organization editors of the Yoncopin and Edwina Hubert and W. Robert Ross, members of the Conglomerate staff.

Dr. E. Lee Ford, head of the department of modern languages presented French awards to the following students: Jack Mulkey, Gay Griffith, Louie Griffith, Harold Proske, Joanne Mills, Melanie Martin, Lorena Young, Chat Reed, Sandra McCuiston, Carolyn Denison, and Kay Cooper. The awards consisted of books, inscribed medals and certificates.

Tommy G. Head, Jr., received the Freshman Achievement Award in mathematics, which is presented each year to the freshman student who displays outstanding scholarship and progress in mathematics.

Dr. R. Leonard Cooke cited the recipients of the National Methodist Scholarships which covered full tuition and fees for the previous academic year. This year's recipients were Barbara Barbee, Mary Kathleen Brian, Rita Jewel Ellison, Jane Herbert, Jean Netterville, and Judy Smith.

Phi Sigma Iota Awards, certificates testifying to excellence in romance languages, were presented by Dr. Ford to Jane Lyles, Ann Voss, Edward Pledger, and Carole Van Hoose.

The Alpha Epsilon Delta award, an inscribed pin given annually to the AED initiate with the highest grade average, was given to Keith Lloyd by Rod Yeager, president of the organization. John Frazer received the Freshman Chemistry Award, a copy of "The Handbook of Chemistry and Physics", as the freshman student who made the outstanding record in that subject. Dr. John B. Entrikin, head of the chemistry department, presented the prize, which is provided by the Chemical Rubber Company.

Dr. W. W. Pate, head of the department of commerce and economics, cited the following members of Delta Tau Omicron, honorary commerce and business fraternity: James Parker, president; Jerry A. Smith, vice-president; Albert Cooksey, Jr., secretary-treasurer; Max Prescott, Dorothy Middlebrooks, John Gullo, and Arthur Hale.

This year's Centenary Lady and Gentleman, Anne McLaurin, and Ralph Mason, received gifts of jewelry from J. W. McCrary, local jeweler, in recognition of the honor paid them by their fellow students in according them the titles.

Members of the Honor Court were cited by Dr. Virginia Carlton, head of the department of mathematics, as follows: Fred Schwendimann, chief justice; Linda Rosett, clerk; Gen Compton, Kay Cooper, Al Holland, and Jim Hughes.

Traditional keys were presented by Jim Daigle, president, to those who served on the Student Senate during the past year. Recipients were Ralph Mason, vice president; Ann McLaurin, coed vice-president; Brenda Bailey, secretary; James Goins, treasurer; Jean Netterville, independent women's representative; C. B. Watson, independent men's representative; Barbara Bourdier, PanHellenic representative; Don Tyler, interfraternity representative; Buddy Daily, Tim Temple, Ralph Ferrari, and Mike

Observation And Speculation

CUBA

Several months ago in the midst of the campaigns the country was treated to performances by the two candidates before television cameras. The two gentlemen expostulated on the subjects facing the nation at the time, and those which would be of importance to the man elected to the Presidency. Quite a bit was said by the two in relation to Formosa and Cuba and the policy of the United States toward the two countries. These exchanges took place before the elections and therefore, before the conferences between Pres. Kennedy and then-Pres. Eisenhower. There is possible speculation as to what actually would have been said had the situation been fully understood by both sides at the time of the debates.

"GAGA"

Even though the CIA has accepted the orbital feat of the Russians, and though the world in general has named Yuri its hero, there is some grumbling going on in different locales about the factual events. The British question the timetable the Russians published, and a Russian scientist in Italy, one who supposedly knew what was happening, didn't know that the Vostok didn't have a porthole. The Communist Party organ in London, The Daily Worker, let the news break a day early that the son of a well-known Russian airplane designer had completed a successful orbit of the earth and was suffering the psychologist after-effects. (These after-effects could be interpreted as anything.) Gagarin isn't the son of a designer and he came to earth with "no bruises". The Soviet's equivalent of Life, the USSR Illustrated Monthly, has the full report of his family, typically bourgeoisie, and includes several photos of the "cosmonaut" and his ship. The pictures look to be more retouching than anything else, and the report of the process of launching ends with Yuri climbing into something looking all the world like a dragline cabin and the words, "and in the next hours, his deeds were known to all the world." Alas, but who is to question the truth of propaganda?

INTELLECTUALISM, ETC.

In the press recently ("Pogo" and a locally syndicated column in the evening paper) there has been mention of intellectualism and the detrimental effect it has on "national welfare" and "safety", and a complete description of how intellectualism undermines the nation. Not only are these inferences the most libelous type of name-calling, but they take it for granted that something else would be more acceptable. Whether this other thing is superstition or ignorance, it is not discussed. Just the satisfaction that the writer must have gained from being able to denounce something is evident. Following the same lines of reasoning, intellectuals could just as well condemn newspaper columnists, or politicians, or academic censorship as being a harmful influence to the nation and not have to give any valid reason other than disagreement. Criticism is not just spleen, it is a well-founded conflict of ideas, and a critic necessarily advances something more than hatred.

LOBBYING

In the news some of the behind-the-scenes goings-ons have been reported, and it sounds as if the administration is out to get a few heads. Several of the right-hand men from the White House have explained their methods of "friendly persuasion" as they use it on the members who seem to be on the edge of disagreement with them. The threats fly back and forth, and intimidation is the order of the day when a strategic roll-call is scheduled. The House Rules Committee voting is one of the more well-known examples. Rep. Brooks received many telegrams and heard the opinions of his constituents, and then, due to persuasion by the administration, decided to ignore the wishes of the people back at home in preference to keeping the influence he has on a House Committee. The proponents of the wage bill had several nice little riders they could attach almost at will that would eliminate such people as tobacco processors, and cotton gin operators from the benefits of the legislation. Appropriations is a very good field of persuasion. Should the representatives in Congress be swayed by the administration footmen, the AFL-CIO lobbyists, or should they pay more attention to their mail?

RESPONSIBILITIES

Just one question here. If a person has a right, or a duty, or a responsibility removed from his realm of action to a place far from his power, will that person be in a position to accept that right, duty, or responsibility again when the person who took it from him deems it the right time to take such action? Is it a wise thing to do to legislate freedom from responsibility?

Childrens' Lit Award Winners Announced

Mrs. Hughes, who teaches the Children's Literature Class, has announced the winners in the Creative Story Competition. Each student in the Children's Literature Class is required to write and illustrate an original story. The awards are given on the basis of the three awards given in the publishing field to children's books, The Newberry Award, the Caldecott award, and the Follett Award. The Newberry is given on the basis of overall creative writing ability; the Caldecott is based on superior art work with an interesting story to accompany the illustrations; and the Follett Award is based on the appeal to children.

The following students have been named winners.

Mock Newberry Award:

1st place: "Scampy" by Joyce Camerer.

2nd place: "Vacation at Isle of Palm", by Lucy Furr.

3rd place: "A Real Surprise", by Betty Schmitt.

4th place: "The Desert Flower", by Julia Lawrence.

Mock Caldecott:

1st place: "Peppey Bug" and "Doodle Bug", by Hazel Ziedman.

2nd place: "Suzy, the Story of a Seed", by Carol Reichelt.

3rd place: "The Pencil and the Eraser", by Aurora Barriga.

4th place: "Texas the Big", by Hazel Hagin.

Mock Follett:

1st place: "Charley the Mole", by Ann Voss.

2nd place: "Quest of Cazador", by William Foster.

3rd place: "Ester", by Shery Lester.

Biology Club Elects Barbee President

Gamma Beta Gamma, biology club, has elected Barbara Barbee, president; Mike Mann, vice-president; Douglas Horton, secretary; and Harold Bounds, treasurer for the next school year. Gamma Beta Gamma places emphasis on the advantages of a biologically related career. Its programs and projects are designed to foster greater interest among a membership which is aspiring to a degree in the biological sciences. Plans for the coming year include a number of field trips, active participation in the regional science fair, and sponsorship for a selection of speakers whose careers in biology have equipped them with the ability to advise students.

Walter Low Accepted By A & M Vet School

Walter Low, a sophomore Biology major from Jennings, Louisiana, received his acceptance to the Texas A & M School of Veterinary Medicine on May 12.

Louisiana has a contract with Texas A & M to take nine men from Louisiana with the stipulation that the state will pay the out-of-state tuition. Walter is one of those nine men and, in addition, has been approved as an alternate to Oklahoma State University. Oklahoma accepts only one student from Louisiana.

Walter will begin four years' work at Texas A & M in September of this year. He is a graduate of Jennings High School and there obtained his State Farmer degree, which is the highest degree obtainable in the Future Farmers of America.

At Centenary, Walter is a member of Alpha Sigma Chi, and secretary of the Men's Intramural Council.

Sport, presidents of the senior, junior, sophomore, and freshman classes, respectively.

The Air Force Commendation Medal and Citation was presented by Col. Ralph W. Stanley to Jack Shattuck of Bossier City, a retired Air Force man now enrolled as a student at Centenary, in recognition of his contributions to the Air Force.

Cheerleaders who were presented letters for their service to the basketball program were Diane Camp, Beth Catton, Charlotte Stodghill, Judy Thurmond, Patsy West, and Becky Graham. Miss Mary Frances Estes presented these awards.

Special awards to members of the varsity basketball team were presented by Coach Orvis Sigler to Jackie Crawford, leading rebounder and team captain; Ford King, Jr., highest scholastic average, and Willard Moore, highest free throw percentage. These three also received varsity letters along with Dale Van Bibber, Don Ensley, Harry Wuennenberg, John Lukasik, Riley Wallace, Ralph Mason, and John Vasilopoulos.

Freshman basketball letters were presented to Cecil Upshaw, Jimmy Williams, Stan McAfoos, Jim Pippen, R. V. Lockwood, Eddie Boddie, Jackie Jackson and Dennis Kile.

Receiving Sweepstake trophies were Kappa Sigma and Chi Omega for Intramurals.

Student Senate Minutes

The Student Senate Meeting was held in the Moore Student Center at 5:45 Wednesday, May 10, 1961. The meeting was called to order by the President, Fred Schwendimann. Others present were Ann McLaurin, G. B. Watson, Diane Caldwell, Keith Lloyd, Edith Elliott, Sandy Lawn, Barbara Barbee, Tim Temple, Dean Allen, and Miss Alexander. The minutes were read and approved.

Keith Lloyd reported that we have a balance of $319.30 in the treasury. Diane Caldwell reported that the refreshments for the senior party should not cost more than $15.

Keith Lloyd and Tim Temple are to be in charge of the "Hair-cut Project" for registration.

Ann McLaurin read some suggestions that would help to include more town students in campus activities. G. B. Watson suggested that information concerning Homecoming and other major events be mailed to town students. It was also suggested that posters be put up on election days.

It was reported that soon there will be a juke box for the Sub.

It was decided that the Student Senate of Centenary would join Susca and the National Association of Student Governments.

Orientation for Freshmen will begin September 19, 1961. There will also be orientation for transfer students. Those to serve on the orientation committee are: Fred Schwendimann, Edith Elliott, Sandy Lawn, Kay Cooper, and Chat Reed.

There being no further business the meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
Edith Elliott
Student Senate Secretary

Cozine Elected Sexton President

Ruthanne, "Cozy", Cozine, a junior from Frankfort, Kentucky, was recently elected president of the Sexton Dormitory Council. Serving with Cozy on the council for the next academic year will be Vice-President, Noel Hudson; Secretary, Nancy Lecky; Treasurer, Donna Wyrick; and Publicity chairman, Beverly Smith.

The Senior, Junior, Sophomore, and Freshman Representatives will be elected next year.

Johnny Evans Elected Sigma Tau Delta President

Sigma Tau Delta, honorary writing fraternity, announced its new slate of officers for the coming year. Johnny Evans will serve as president; Pat Corrington, vice president; and Laurie Kruger, secretary-treasurer. This fraternity emphasizes ability in creative writing and analysis. Those interested in professional careers which relate to these fields meet each week under the sponsorship of the English department to discuss their ideas and share analysis of current and classic works.

Baseball, Tennis Teams End Season

The Centenary Gents have closed the 1961 chapter of the spring sports book. Let's look briefly at the season in retrospect.

The baseball team finished up last weekend on a rather optimistic note as they split a two game series with Ouachita Baptist College of Arkadelphia, Arkansas. The Gents won the opener at Arkadelphia behind the five hit pitching of Jim Pippen and the sparkling stick work of catcher R. V. Lockwood, who picked up four hits in five trips to the plate. Pippen latched on to his third win of the season against two losses. The final score read Gents 8, Ouachita 2.

The next day in Shreveport Ouachita gained revenge by drubbing the Gents 6-1. Cecil Upshaw allowed the Arkadelphians only five hits but didn't get much offensive help from his mates with the exception of another big day for Lockwood who once hit safely four times giving him eight hits in nine at bats for the two days activities. This pushed Lockwood's season batting mark well over .300.

Mason Is Leading Batter

Ralph Mason was the leading batter for the Gents sporting a .390 figure. Although the Gents won only three games this spring, the picture for next year is bright as most of this year's squad consisted of freshmen and sophomores.

Moving over for a look at the tennis picture we find the Gent net squad with a final record of nine wins against four losses. Two of these defeats came against the national champions, Lamar Tech. Another came at the hands of McNeese State, champions of the Gulf States Conference and one of the nation's leading net teams.

The sports department of the Conglomerate salutes the members of the spring sports squads at Centenary on a job well done.

Alpha Sigma Chi Elects Officers

Charles Lowry, sophomore chemistry major from Shreveport, has been elected president of Alpha Sigma Chi, honorary chemistry fraternity, for the coming year. Election of officers took place at the home of Dr. John B. Entriakin where the members were guests at the backyard buffet. Other officers elected at the meeting are Harold Bounds, vice-president; John Frazier, secretary; and Keith Lloyd, treasurer. Fall initiation will be held in October. To be eligible one must have the equivalent of 12 hours in chemistry and a 3.0 grade point average.

Carol Reichelt Named Kappa Sig Sweetheart

Carol Reichelt, a junior hailing from Longview, Texas, was named Kappa Sigma Sweetheart for 1961-62, at the annual Black and White Formal held on Saturday, May 13, 1961, at Palmetto Country Club.

Other announcements made at the dance included that of Best Pledge, Chat Reed, and officers for the fall semester. They are: George Gilmer, Grand Master; Tim Temple, Grand Procurator; Keith Lloyd, G.M.C.; Bob Ross, G.S.; Ken Gorden, G.T.; Chat Reed, Guard; Leonard Riggs, Guard; Ez Fatter, John Brewer, George Gilmer, Inter-fraternity Council; Keith Lloyd, Roger Box, Intra Murals; Bob Bishoff, House Manager; Terrell Rourk, Song Leader; Dave White, Pledge Master; Terrell Rourk, Asst. Pledge Master; Hoyt Bain, Johnny Evans, Social-Rush Co-Chairmen.

McHone Accepts AEC Position

Arnold McHone, a senior from Asheville, North Carolina, has accepted a position as chemist in the Works Technical Department of the United States Atomic Energy Plant in Augusta, Georgia.

This plant is under the administration of the I. E. DuPont Company as a sublet of A. E. C.

McHone, graduating this May with a Bachelor of Science degree in Chemistry, will begin work upon receiving his clearance papers from the Federal A. E. C. After such clearance, he will be situated in Augusta at the Savannah River Plant.

While at Centenary, Arnie has been active on the basketball team and the tennis team, and has participated in the Intramural program, serving in this capacity as Intramural Council President.

8 Chosen For Summer Work With Coreys On "Book of Job"

Eight Centenary students will take part in the summer production of "The Book of Job" in the Pine Mountain State Park Amphitheatre in Kentucky. The students are Grace Jackson, Virginia Bobbitt, Don Farley, Harold Proske, Jim Foster, George Bryon, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Shy.

The play, produced and directed by Mr. Orlin Corey and designed by Mrs. Corey has an interesting history. Under the auspices of the British Drama League, Mr. and Mrs. Corey were asked to tour a play of their choosing throughout churches in England. At the same time, the State Department asked them to present a play at the Brussel's World's Fair. Because the play was to be given in church sanctuaries, most of which were not accustomed to drama, the Coreys felt that it should be a biblical play. After much consideration, they chose the story of Job and, with Mr. Corey's adaptation, "The Book of Job" was born.

The English churches motivated the design, a design that is at home in a church setting. Mrs. Corey chose to carry out the great Byzantine mosaic design in staging, costumes, and make-up.

"Job" toured England for a month. Then there came a request from the Kentucky State government for "Job" to be presented at the Southern Governor's Conference in Kentucky. Though presented with a limited cast, "Job" made such an impact that, as a result, the Coreys were asked to present the play at the outdoor amphitheatre in Pine Mountain State Park. And "Job" has run there every summer since. This summer "The Book of Job" will run June 22nd through September 4th. Performances will be every evening, except Sunday, "rain or shine!" as Mrs. Corey says.

The setting is a natural amphitheatre which seats 3,000 people. Natural rock terraces slope down to the reflection pool and the flat stage area. Immediately behind the stage, a natural limestone cliff soars upward almost perfectly straight for 80 feet. The mosaic design of the costumes and make-up twinkle in the reflection pool in front of the stage.

Joy Lambert Receives Library Scholarship

Miss Doris Joy Lambert of Minden is the recipient of a $2,000 scholarship award for graduate study leading to a Master's degree in library science.

Miss Lambert will be graduated from Centenary College in Shreveport in May, having completed requirements there in January for her bachelor of arts degree with a major in drama and minor in English.

Scholarship recipients will work for two years in a library serving rural areas in Louisiana.

Patti McHugh to Serve on MB College Board

Patti McHugh, Hardin Hall freshman, has been named to the Maison Blanche College Board, store officials announced in New Orleans this week.

The MB College Board is composed of New Orleans girls who are students at leading colleges throughout the country. The function of the College Board is to coordinate and select college fashions, produce store fashion shows for students, and participate in other Maison Blanche promotions in connection with back-to-school activities.

Patti will represent Centenary on the College Board and will work with the other Board members in various Maison Blanche stores in New Orleans during the latter part of the summer.

Recently elected Sophomore Representative at Hardin, she is a Zeta Tau Alpha pledge. Patti previously attended St. Martin's Protestant Episcopal School in Metairie, Louisiana.

YOUNG COLLEGE MEN

Here is your opportunity to earn over $3,000 in the summer months. An opportunity to travel overseas, to meet new people and to earn enough money to pay your scheduling for an entire year. This is a multi-million dollar corporation offering 30,000 in cash scholarships and grants — plus an all expense paid trip to Europe for two, a fabulous bonus agreement and location choice. Men accepted will learn marketing and sales promotion and receive high level executive management training.

FOR PERSONAL INTERVIEW

CALL 424-6161 SHREVEPORT

Jane Ilgenfritz, James Goins, and Annette Shirey look down on an empty amphitheatre which will be filled with 124 graduating seniors and many friends and families of the graduates on May 28th. Perhaps these three seniors can visualize themselves walking across the stage that night to receive the coveted diploma.

Weddings, Choir Trips Form Summer Plans For Seniors

James Goins, who hails from Leesville, is a senior majoring in business. The knowledge of finance that James has gained from his major field has probably come in very handy this year since he served as treasurer of the Student Senate and treasurer of the Centenary College Choir. A member of Kappa Sigma, James has also worked on the staff of the Yoncopin.

When asked what sort of work he'd like to do in the business world, James will probably grin and answer, "Right now, any!" In fact, as the rest of us are leisurely reading this paper, James may be out "pounding the pavement" in search of a job. He'd like to find one that deals with financial matters, management, or public relations. Any offers? ? ?

For James, some of the most outstanding aspects of college here at Centenary have been fraternity life and participation in the choir. "Especially this year," comments James, "the choir has had a great spirit of unity and cooperation." James is one of the lucky choir members that are going to New York this summer. His reply to the question, "What do you plan to do in New York?" is probably representative of the answers given by all the rest of the group, "I want to see as much as possible in the shortest time as possible, since our 'days off' may be somewhat limited!" This is NOT a complaint, just a realization of the hard task that lies ahead.

By being a Personality this week James did learn one thing. He has worked in the Jackson Hall Library for three years and never knew until he was being interviewed there how popular the periodical room is. The periodical room has no facilities for studying, true, but Jerry Jouett, Jean Netterville, Jerri Rainwater, and Don Tyler were among those who stopped in to chat awhile!

"Flying Fritz"

Jane Ilgenfritz, who doesn't look nearly old enough to be graduating, much less to be engaged, will graduate with a BS degree in biology. Despite her small size and large freckles, "Flying Fritz" has managed to take part in quite a few activities on Centenary's campus. During the past year she has served as president of Chi Omega and of the PanHellenic Council. She is a member of Cen-coe, a member of the Yoncopin staff, and has participated in intramurals. ("I lost everything I played," laments Jane, "but at least I tried!") She has also had great pleasure in being Kappa Sigma Sweetheart for the past year.

On June 14, Jane will marry Warren West, who, as you probably know, graduated from Centenary two years ago. They will make their home in Shreveport this summer; Jane plans to work for a local photographer and learn how to cook. "I get petrified when I think about actually preparing a meal," shudders Jane, "however, they say that anyone who can read nowadays can cook!" That sounds like a nice, cheerful outlook, Jane, just keep on thinking that.

Breadwinner For The Family

In the fall the Wests will move to New Orleans, where Warren will continue his studies in medical school and Jane will enter Toumo Infirmary for a year of internship in medical technology. At the conclusion of the year Jane plans to enter full-time work as a medical technologist and "bread-winner" of her family until Warren finishes school.

Jane has enjoyed her four years at Centenary, particularly because she believes it has given her the opportunity to participate in a great many activities and thus get to know most of the students. "It is just the right size school to get involved in instead of just being a number," maintains Jane. This has probably been true of Jane because she has had the interest and energy to get involved in campus life, and she has stuck to the theory that the only way to get something out of college is to put all that you can into it.

One Major Isn't Enough

Annette Shirey, also a senior, comes from Ennis, Texas. During her stay here, she has been active on the Conglomerate staff as reporter for the playhouse; she has served for two years as treasurer of Aufait, participated in Westminster Fellowship, and is a member of Phi Beta and Alpha Psi Omega.

Annette has a double major of history and speech, but is graduating with a degree in public speaking. She plans either to teach school next fall or to do a series of lectures for the Beta Gamma Literary Society, which is under the auspices of the Twentieth Century Club. These lectures would include book reviews, historical, and other types of lectures.

Summer Romance That Lasted

Annette plans to be married June the ninth, so her decision will probably be influenced somewhat by her husband! Annette is a living, breathing example of summer romance that lasted. Several years ago, Annette and her fiancé met at a Presbyterian convocation in Pensacola, Florida. In the years that followed, they met there again every summer, and this year they plan to attend as man and wife. Annette's prospective bridegroom originally comes from Germany, and now serves as minister to the First Presbyterian Church in Durant, Miss. Annette lived for a time in France and England, when her father served there right after World War II, but she did not have the opportunity to visit many places because of the conditions brought on by the war. She and her husband plan to visit his homeland in a year or two, and Annette plans to do real sight-seeing this time.

Annette has appreciated the general atmosphere here at Centenary, especially the opportunity to meet people with diversified interests. The most outstanding aspect of college life here, Annette believes, is the close relationship between faculty and students. "It's something that students here really don't prize enough. It's really a wonderful thing to know your professor as a friend out of class, too. I've been to a very large university, and, of course, the closeness just wasn't there."

Finals! Graduation! Summer School! Just loaf! These are words that are floating on the air at this time of year.

To all the graduating seniors we would like to say a sincere congratulations and best of luck. To others we say welcome back next year.

Congratulations are in order for the new Kappa Sigma officers who were announced at their recent formal. George Gilmer is president. Tim Temple is vice-president, Bobby Ross, secretary, Ken Gordon — treasurer, Keith Lloyd — Grand Master of ceremonies and Dave White — pledge master.

Seen dancing at the Palmetto Country Club were Tally Pledger, Jacque Rosett, Loreta Lowery, Lee Bones, George Williford, Jill Landis, Allen Ford, Geneva Jones, Betty Thornton, Jimmy Mitchell, Mary Allen, Theo Kleinman, Kay Cooper and Barry Nelson. A big round of applause goes to Lon McAnally who was in charge of the decorations.

Round and round it goes, where it stops — This seems to have been the case of the recent ZTA Candle ceremony. The Ceremony announced the pinning of Colleen Cathey and Jack Green. Page Tiller and Barry Petree are now dropped. And Mary Ann Moore has an engagement ring.

More engagement news — Ann Voss has a new sparkler. Leland Wade and Martha Kelley are now engaged and Phyllis Heller and Tommy Carter announced their engagement last week.

A recent trip to Hodges Gardens was enjoyed by a group of Centenary seniors. Seen sunning on the raft were Jill Landis, Anne McLaurin, Frankie Stokes, Brenda Bailey, and Jane Ilgenfritz. We understand that Margaret Reeves and Sallie Clingman went along as juniors to do the work.

We wish the Choir a successful New York trip.

And we wish all of you a Happy Summer.

Talk to Head Kappa Chi State

Kappa Chi, fraternity for all those interested in Christian vocations, has announced its new officers for 1961-62. Gordon Talk, a sophomore from Baton Rouge, will head the group next fall. The other officers include Bill Nelson, vice-president; Clarene Carver, Secretary; Carolyn Carver, Treasurer; Bob Richards, fellowship chairman; Earnest Heard and Dorothy Risinger, co-Quest chairmen; and Beverly Crawford, project chairman.

The 1960-61 activities were climaxed on May 5 at 7:30 with the annual Banquet which was held at Worms Hill Top Inn. Mr. Hinch, the guest speaker of the evening, spoke on his trip to Europe and Russia.

At this time Kappa Chi announced that Carolyn Denison was the Kappa Chi dream girl. Carolyn was chosen by the boys of the organization for her service this past year.

Choir Elects McMahan Pres.

Paul McMahan, a junior from Paris, Tex., was selected president of the Centenary College Choir for the 61-62 term at their regular rehearsal on Thursday, May 11.

Serving with Paul for the coming year will be Vice-President, Fred Schwendemann, a junior from Couchatta; Co-Ed Vice-President, Kay Cooper, a junior from Sulphur; Secretary, Jean Netterville, a junior from Baton Rouge; and Treasurer, Barry Nelson, a junior from Shreveport.

These five will form part of an "official family" of twelve that meets to discuss Choir plans and problems. Other members will be a section leader from each of the four sections, to be elected at Choir Camp in August; the two accompanists, and director "Cheesy" Voran. This new slate of officers will begin their duties in September; the 1960-61 members will serve during the Choir's trip to New York City this summer.

Hats

Although the 1960-61 school year is over, we will all remember what this year has brought along with the many people who constitute the Centenary student body. One of the factors which assures this happy memory is the 1961 Yoncopin and its many pages of delightful recollections.

At this time The Conglomerate acknowledges the two students who have worked hardest and assumed the responsibility of the 1961 yearbook, the co-editors of The Yoncopin. Their job is a massive one which employs most of their time from the beginning of school to the mailing of the drafts, as they work to secure pictures, facts, and bits of humor for an effective reverie. Their reward is a satisfied student body.

They also display an interest in other activities at Centenary. Margaret is treasurer of Chi Omega and a member of Cencoe, member of the Publications Committee, and participant in intramurals. Next year, she will again serve the Yoncopin as editor-in-chief.

Gene is a member of Kappa Sigma and has acted in his fraternity as Grand Scribe. He has been a member and officer of the Pershing Rifles. This year, he is a lieutenant in advanced R.O.T.C.

R.O.T.C. Both of these students have worked hard this year toward the satisfaction of Centenary students and it is for this reason that the final issue of The Conglomerate pays tribute to . . . Margaret Reeves and Gene Lacaze . . . for a job well done.
